q This small nomber, which seemed to be consumed, and yet according to Gods decree is saued, shalbe sufficient to fill all the world with righteousnes.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shall ouerflowe with righteousnes.

r God will destroy this land as he hath determined, and after saue a small portion.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shal make the consumption, euen [r] determined, in the middes of all the land.

s As the Egyptians did punish thee.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Tion, be not afraide of Asshur: he shal smite thee with a rod, and shall lyft vp his staffe against thee after the maner of [s] Egypt:

t Reade Chap. 9.4.

25 But yet a verie litle time, & the wrath shalbe consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

u When the Israelites passed through by the lifting vp of Moses rod, and the enemies were drowned, Exod. 14.28.

26 And the Lorde of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of [t] Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the [u] Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

x Because of ỹ promes made to that kingdome, whereby Christs Kingdome was prefigured.

27 And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: & the yoke shalbe destroyed because of [x] the anoynting.

28 He is come [y] to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmath shall he lape vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraide: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will stap at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem to confirme the faithful, when it shoulde come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be deliuered.

33 Beholde, the Lorde God of hostes shal cut off the [z] bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the hie shalbe humbled.

z Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shall all be led away captiues.

34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Ishai. 2 His vertues and kingdome. 6 The frutes of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuitie vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ for as Dauid came out of Ishai a man without dignitie: so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house, as out of a dead stocke, Chap. 53.2.

BVt there shall come a [a] rod forth of the stocke of Ishai, & a graffe shall growe out of his rootes.

b All these properties can agree to none but onely vnto Christ: for it is hee that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull and mortifieth their concupiscences: & to the wicked he is the sauour of death and to them that shall perish so that all the worlde shalbe smitten with this rodde, which is his worde.

2 And the Spirite of the Lorde shall rest vpon him: the Spirite of wisdome and vnderstanding, the Spirite of counsel and strength, the Spirite of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him ỹ prudent in ỹ feare of the Lorde: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall [b] smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall be the girdle of his lopnes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.

c Men because of their wicked affections are named by the names of beastes, wherein the like affections reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutuall charitie, that they shalbe like lambes, sauouring and loving one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65.25.

6 The [c] wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shal lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lion, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shal leade them.

7 And the kowe and the beare shal feede: their yong ones shall lye together: and the lion shall eate strawe like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, & the weaned childe shall put his hande vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lorde, as the waters couer the sea.

e He propheciseth of the calling of the Gentiles.
f That is, his Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal. 132.14.
g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and nowe promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans, and them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefely meant of Christ, who calleth his people, being dispersed through all the world.
h Here he describeth the conflicte that shalbe in his Church, and their victorie against their enemies.

of the Lorde, as d the waters that couer the sea.
10 And in that day the roote of Jshai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the e people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his f rest shalbe glorious.
11 And in the same day shall the Lorde stretch out his hande g againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.
12 And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Jsrael, and gather the scattered of Judah from the foure corners of the worlde.
13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Judah shal be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie h Judah, neither shall Judah vexe Ephraim:
14 But they shal flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims towarde the West: they shall spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shalbe the stretching out of their handes, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.
15 The Lorde also shal vtterly destroy the i tongue of the Egyptians sea, & with his mightie winde shal lift vp his hand k ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shoes.
16 And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Jsrael in the day that he came vp out of the lande of Egypt.

i Meaning, a corner of the sea, that entreth into the lande, and hath the forme of a tongue. k To wit, Nilus, the great riuer of Egypt, which entreth into the sea with seuen streames.

CHAP. XII.

A thankesgiuing of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

a He sheweth how the Church shal praise God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.
b Our saluation standeth onely in God, who giueth vs an assured confidence, constancie and occasion to praise him for the same. *Exod.*15.2. *psal.*118.14.
c The graces of God shalbe so abundant, that ye may receiue them in as great plentie, as waters out of a fountaine that is full. 1.Chron. 16.8.
d Ye that are of the Church.

1 AND thou a shalt say in that day, O Lorde, I will praise thee: though thou wast angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.
2 Beholde, God is my b saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lorde God is c my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.
3 Therefore with ioy shal ye draw waters out of the welles of saluation.
4 And ye shall say in that day, * Praise the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.
5 Sing vnto the Lorde, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the worlde.
6 Crie out, and showte, d O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy one of Jsrael in the middes of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

1 THE a burden of Babel, which Jsaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.
2 Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the b hande, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.
3 I haue commanded them that I haue c sanctified: & I haue called the mightie to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my d glorie.
4 The noyse of a multitude is in the mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lorde of hostes nombreth the hoste of the battell.
5 They come from a farre countrey, from the ende of the heauen: euen the Lorde with the e weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole lande.
6 Howle f ye, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almightie.
7 Therefore shal all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shal melt,
8 And they shalbe afraide: anguish and sorowe shall take them, and they shall haue pane, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shalbe amased at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like g flames of fire.
9 Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruell, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the lande waste: and he shal destroy the sinners out of it.
10 For the h starres of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shalbe darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.
11 And I will visite the wickednes vpon the i world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the k proude to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.
12 I will make a l man more precious then fine golde, euen a man aboue the wedge of golde of Ophir.
13 Therefore I wil shake the heauen, and the earth shal remoue out of her place in the wrath of the Lorde of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.
14 And m it shalbe as a chased doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: euery man shall turne to his owne people, a That is, the great calamitie, which was prophecied to come on Babel, as a most grieuous burden, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues, wherewith God would smite these strange nations, (whom they knewe) to declare that God chastised the Israelites as his children, and these other as his enemies: and also that if God spare not these that are ignorant, that they must not thinke strange, if he punished them, which haue knowledge of his Lawe and keepe it not.

b To wit, to the Medes and the Persians.
c That is, prepared and appointed to execute my iudgements.

f Ye Babylonians. g The Babylonians anger, & griefe shalbe so much, that their faces shal burne as fire. h They that are ouercome, shal thinke all the powers of heauen and earth are against them, Ezek. 32.7. ioel. 3.15. mat. 24.29. i He compareth Babylon to the whole world, because they so esteemed themselues by reason of their great empire. k He noteth the principall vice, whereunto they were most giuen, as are all that abound in wealth. l He noteth the great slaughter that shall be, seeing the enemie shall neither for golde, or siluer spare a mans life, as verse 17. m Meaning, the power of Babylon with their hyred souldiers.

16 *Their *children also shalbe broken in peeces before their eyes: their houses shalbe spoyled, & their wiues rauished.

n This was not accomplished when Cyrus tooke Babylon, but after the death of Alexander the great.

17 Behoolde, I wil stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regarde siluer, nor be desirous of golde.

18 With bowes also shal they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruite of the woombe, and their eyes shal not spare the children.

Gen.19.24. ierr.50.40.

19 And Babel the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie & pride of the Chaldeans, shall bee as the destruction of God *in Sodom and Gomorah.

o Who vseth to goe from countrey to countrey to finde pasture for their beastes, but there shall they finde none.

20 It shal not be inhabited for euer, neyther shall it bee dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shal the °Arabian pitche his tentes there, neyther shall the shepheardes make their foldes there.

p Which were eyther wilde beasts, or foules, or wicked spirites, where by Satan deluded man, as by the fairies, gobblins, and such like fantasies.

21 But *Ziim shal lodge there, and their houses shall be full of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyres shal daunce there.

22 And Iim shall crie in their palaces, & dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is readie to come, and the daies thereof shal not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

1 FOr *the Lorde will haue compassion of Iaakob, & will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger b shal ioyne him selfe vnto them, and they shal cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

a Hesheweth why God will haste to destroye his enemies: to wit, because he wil deliuer his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shalbe ioyned with the Church and worship God.

2 And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for c seruants & handmaydes: and they shal take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

c Signifying that the Iewes should be superiors to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby al are broght to the subiection of Christ, 2.Cor. 10.5.

3 And in that day when the Lorde shall giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou didest serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the king of Babel, & say, Howe hath the oppressor ceased? and the golde thirstie Babel rested?

5 The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did d not let.

d That is, hee suffred all violence and iniuries to be done.

7 The whole world is at *rest & is quiet: they sing for ioy.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

10 All they shall crye, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

g Instead of thy costly carpets & couerings.

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, and the sounde of thy violes: the wormes is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 Howe art thou fallen from heauen, O *Lucifer, sunne of the morning? and cut downe to the grounde, which didest cast lottes vpon the nations?

b Thou that thoughtest thy selfe most glorious, & as it were placed in the heauen: for the morning starre, that goeth before the sunne, is called Lucifer, to whome Nebuchad-nezzar is compared.

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascende into heauen, & exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the i North.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, wherein the Temple was on the North side, as Psal 48.3. whereby he meaneth that they fight against God, when they persecute his Church, and would set themselues in his place.

14 I will ascend aboue the heyght of the clouds, and I wil be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt bee brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall *looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, & that did shake the kingdomes?

k In marueiling at thee.

17 He made the world as a wilderne, & destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not l the house of his prisoners.

18 All the kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art m cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the rayment of those that are slayne, and thrust thorow with a swoord, which go downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

m Thou wast not buried in the sepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyrannie was so abhorred.

20 Thou shal not bee ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slayne thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowmed for euer.

n He calleth to the Medes and Persians and all those } should execute Gods vengeance.

21 *Prepare a slaughter for his children, for p iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the lande, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 For I will rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant & the sonne, and the nephew, saith the Lord:

23 And I will make it a possession to the *hedgehog, and poles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

o As I haue begun to destroy the Assyrians in Sancherib, so wil I continue, and destroy them wholy, when I shal deliuer you from Babylon.

24 The Lorde of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, & as I haue consulted, it shal stand:

25 °That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my lande, and vpon my mountaines wil I treade him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from p them, and his burden shall bee taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations, 27 Because the Lorde of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shal turne it awap?

28 ¶ In the yeere that king Ahaz dyed, was this q burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole r Palestina) because the rodde of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrise, and the fruite thereof shalbe a fiery flying serpent.

30 For the s first borne of the poore shalbe fed, and the needie shall lye downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and t it shal slap thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, crp O citie: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the u North a smoke, and none shalbe x alone, at his time appointed.

32 What shal then one answer y the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath stablished z Sion, and the poore of his people shal trust in it.

r He willeth the Philistims not to reioyce because the Iewes are diminished in their power: for their strength shalbe greater then euer it was.
s The Israelites, which were brought to most extreme miserie.
t To wit, my people.
u That is, from the Iewes, or Assyrians: for they were both North from Palestina.
x But they shall be all ready, and ioyne together.
y Which shal come to enquire of the state of the Church.
z They shal answere, that the Lorde doeth defende his Church, and them that ioyne themselues thereunto.

b The chiefe cities, whereby the whole countrey was meant.
o The Moabites shal flee to their idoles for succour, but it shal be too late.
d Which were cities of Moab.
e For as in the West partes the people vsed to let their heare grow long, when they mourned, so in § East parts they cut it off.
f The Prophet speaketh this in the person of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgemēt of God ý should come vpō them.
g Meaning, that it was a city that euer liued in pleasure, and neuer felt sorowe. h He describeth the miserable dissipation, and flight of the Moabites.

1 THe a burden of Moab. Surely b Ar of Moab was destroyed, & brought to silence in a nyght: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 c He shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hye places to weepe: for d Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all e their heades shall bee baldnes, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they bee girded with sackecloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall crye, and Elealeh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warryers of Moab shall thoute: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine f heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, g an heifer of three yere olde: for they shal go vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: & by the way of Horonaim they h shal rayse vp a cry of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shalbe dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, & their substance shall they beare to the i brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elim, 9 Because the waters of Dimon shalbe full k of blood: for I wil bring more vpon Dimon, euen lyons l vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

i To hide them selues, and their goods there.
k Of them that are slayne.
l So that by no meanes they should escape § hand of God: thus wil God punish the enemies of his Church.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

1 SEnd a pee a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wildernesse, vnto the mountayne of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a bird that b flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shalbe at the foordes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: c make thy shadowe as the night in the middap: hide them that are chased out: bewrap not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner d shall ende: the destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressour shall cease out of the lande.

5 And in mercie shall the throne be prepared, and e he shall sitte vpon it in stedfastnesse, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hasting iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is verie proude) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, & his indignation, but his f lies shal not be so.

7 Therefore shal Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shal houle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall yee mourne, yet they shalbe striken.

8 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: h the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto i Jaazer: they wandred in the wildernes: her goodly branches stretched out themselues, and went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wil k I weepe with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruites, & vpon thy harueste l a shouting is fallen.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull fielde: and in the c He sheweth what Moab shoulde haue done, when Israel their neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would giue no shadowe nor comfort, they are nowe left comfortlesse.

d The Assyrians shal oppresse the Israelites but for a while.
e Meaning, Christ.
f Their vayne confidence, and proude bragges shall deceiue them, as Ierem. 48.2.
g For all your mourning, yet the citie shalbe destroyed, euen vnto the foundations.
h That is, the Assyrians, & other enemies.
i Meaning, that the countrey of Moab was now destroyed & all the precious things thereof were caryed into the borders, yea, into other countries, and ouer the sea.
k He sheweth that their plague was so great, that it would haue mooued any man to lament with them, as Psal. 141.5.

A Prophecie of the deſtruction of Damaſcus and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

b The chiefe citie of Syria.
c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.
d It ſeemeth that the Prophete woulde comfort the Church in declaring the deſtruction of theſe two Kings, of Syria & Iſrael, when as they had conſpired the ouerthrowe of Iudah.
e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude, and alliance with other nations: therefore he ſayth that they ſhalbe brought downe and the Syrians alſo.
f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boaſted themſelues of their nobilitie, proſperitie, ſtrength and multitude.
g As the abundance of corne doeth not feare the harueſt men that ſhoulde cut it downe: no more ſhall the multitude of Iſrael make the enemies to ſhrinke, whom God ſhall appoint to deſtroy them.
h Which valley was plentifull and fertile.
i Becauſe God woulde haue his couenant ſtable, he promiſeth to reſerue ſome of this people, and to bring them to repentance.
k He ſheweth that Gods corrections euer bring forth ſome fruite, and cauſe his to turne from their ſinne, and to humble themſelues to him.

2 The cities of b Aroer ſhalbe forſaken: they ſhalbe for the flockes: for they ſhal lie there, and none ſhall make them afraide.
3 The munition alſo ſhal ceaſe from c Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damaſcus, & the remnant of Aram ſhalbe as the d glory of the children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.
4 And in that day the glory of e Iaakob ſhalbe impoueriſhed, and the fatnes of his fleſh ſhalbe made leane.
5 And it ſhalbe as when the harueſt man gathereth f the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he ſhall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of g Rephaim.
6 Yet a gathering of grapes ſhall i be left in it, as the ſhaking of an oliue tree, two or three berries are in the top of the vpmoſt boughs, and foure or fiue in the hie branches of the fruite thereof, ſayth the Lord God of Iſrael.
7 At that day ſhall a man looke to his k maker, and his eyes ſhall looke to the holy one of Iſrael.
8 And he ſhal not looke to the altars, the works of his owne hands, neither ſhal he looke to thoſe things, which his own fingers haue made, as groues and images.
9 In that day ſhall the cities of their ſtrength be as the forſaking of boughs and branches, which l they did forſake, because of the children of Iſrael, & there ſhalbe deſolation.
10 Becauſe thou haſt forgotten the God of thy ſaluation, and haſt not remembred the God of thy ſtrength, therefore ſhalt thou ſet pleaſant plants, and ſhalt graffe ſtrange m vine branches:
11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſeede to flouriſh: but the harueſt ſhalbe gone in the day n of poſſeſſion, and there ſhalbe deſperate ſorowe.
12 o Ah, the multitude of many people, they ſhall make a ſounde like the noiſe of the ſea: for the noiſe of the people ſhal make a ſounde like the noyſe of mightie waters.
13 The people ſhall make a ſound like the noiſe of many waters: but God ſhal rebuke them, and they ſhall flee farre off, and ſhalbe chaſed as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlewinde.
14 And loe, in the euening there is p trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that ſpoile vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

1 As the Canaanites left their cities, when God did place the Iſraelites there, ſo the cities of Iſrael ſhal no more be able to defend their inhabitants, then buſhes, when God ſhall ſend the enemie to plague them.
m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreis.
n As the Lorde threatneth the wicked in his lawe, Leui. 26.16
o The Prophet lamenteth, conſidering the horrible plague that was prepared againſt Iſrael by the Aſſyrians, which were infinite in nomber, and gathered of many nations.
p He addeth this for conſolation of the faithful, which were in Iſrael. q He compareth the enemies the Aſſyrians, to a tempeſt, which riſeth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemie of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

1 Oh, the a lande ſhadowing with wynges, which is beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia,
2 Sending ambaſſadours by the ſea, even in veſſels of b reedes vpon the waters, ſaying, c Go, ye ſwift meſſengers, to a nation that is ſcattered abroade, and ſpoyled, vnto a terrible d people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by lyne and lyne, euen troden vnder foote, whoſe lande the e floods haue ſpoyled.
3 All ye the inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, ſhall ſee when f he ſetteth vp a ſigne in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye ſhall heare.
4 For ſo the Lorde ſaide vnto me, I will reſt and beholde in my tabernacle, as g the heate dyping vp the raine, and as a cloude of dewe in the heate of harueſt.

a He meaneth that part of Ethiopia, which lieth toward the Sea, which was ſo full of ſhips, that the ſayles (which he compareth to wings) ſeemed to ſhadowe the ſea.
b Which in thoſe countreys were great: in ſo much as they made ſhippes of them for ſwiftneſſe.
c This may be taken that they ſent other to comfort the Iewes, and to promiſe them help againſt their enemies, & ſo the Lord did threaten to take away their ſtrength that the Iewes ſhoulde not truſt therein: or that they did ſolicite the Egyptians, and promiſed them ayde to go againſt Iudah.
d To wit, the Iewes, who becauſe of Gods plagues made all other nations afraide of the like, as God threatned, Deut. 28. 37.
e Meaning the Aſſyrians, as Chap. 8. 7.
f When the Lorde prepareth to fight againſt the Ethiopians.
g I will ſtay a while from puniſhing the wicked.
h Which two ſeaſons are moſt profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby he meaneth, that he will ſeeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but he will ſuddenly cut them off.

5 For afore the harueſt when the floure is finiſhed, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he ſhall cut downe the branches with hookes, and ſhall take away, and cut off the boughes:
6 They ſhalbe left together vnto ꝓ foules of the mountaines, and to the i beaſtes of the earth: for the foule ſhall ſommer vpon it, & euery beaſt of the earth ſhall winter vpon it.
7 At that time ſhal a k preſent be brought vnto the Lorde of hoſtes, (a people that is ſcattered abroad, and ſpoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whoſe lande the riuers haue ſpoiled) to the place of the Name of the Lorde of hoſtes, euen the mount Zion.

i Not onely men ſhall contemne them, but the bruite beaſtes.
k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue that litle remnant as an offring vnto himſelfe.

CHAP. XIX.

18 Of their conuerſion to the Lord.

1 The a burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lorde b rideth vpon a ſwifte cloude, & ſhall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt ſhalbe moued at his preſence, and the heart of Egypt ſhall melt in the middes of her.
2 And I will ſet the Egyptians againſt the Egyptians: ſo euery one ſhal c fight againſt his brother, & euery one againſt his neighbour, citie againſt citie, and kingdome againſt kingdome.
3 And the d ſpirite of Egypt ſhall faile in the middes of her, and I will deſtroy their counſell, and they ſhall ſeeke at the idoles, & at the ſoꝛcerers, and at them that haue ſpirits of diuination, and at the ſouthſayers.
4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hande of cruell lordes, and a mightie king ſhal rule ouer them, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes.
5 Then the waters of the ſea ſhall e faile, and the riuer ſhalbe dried vp, & waſted.
6 And the f riuers ſhall goe farre away: the riuers of defence ſhalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges ſhalbe cut downe.
7 The graſſe in the riuer, and at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer, ſhall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more.
8 The fiſhers alſo ſhall h mourne, and all they that caſt angle into the riuer, ſhall lament, and they that ſpread their net vpon the waters, ſhalbe weakened.
9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers ſoꝛtes, ſhalbe confounded, and they that weane nets.
10 For their nettes ſhalbe broken, and all they, that make pondes, ſhalbe peaſie in heart.
11 Surely the princes of i Zoan are fooles: the counſell of the wiſe counſellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: howe ſay ye vnto Pharaoh, I k am the ſonne of the wiſe? I am the ſonne of the ancient Kinges?
12 Where are nowe thy wiſemen, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lorde of hoſtes hath determined againſt Egypt?
13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of l Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the m corners of the tribes thereof.
14 The Lord hath mingled among them the ſpirite n of errours: and they haue cauſed Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.
15 Neither ſhal there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may o doe, nor the taple, the branch nor the ruſh.
16 In that day ſhall Egypt be like vnto women: for it ſhalbe afraide and feare becauſe of the mouing of the hande of the Lorde of hoſtes, which he ſhaketh ouer it.
17 And the land of Iudah ſhall be a feare p vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, ſhalbe afraide thereat, becauſe of the counſell of the Lorde of hoſtes, which he hath determined vpon it.
18 In that day ſhal fiue cities in the land of Egypt q ſpeake the language of Canaan, and ſhall r ſweare by the Lorde of hoſtes: one ſhalbe called the citie of deſtruction.
19 In that day ſhall the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and s a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.
20 And it ſhall be for a ſigne and for a witnes vnto the Lorde of hoſtes in the land of Egypt: for they ſhall crie vnto the Lord, becauſe of the oppreſſers, and he ſhall ſende them t a Sauiour and a great man, and ſhall deliuer them.
21 And the Lorde ſhalbe knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians ſhall knowe the Lord in that day, and do u ſacrifice and oblation, & ſhall vow vowes vnto the Lorde, and performe them.
22 So the Lord ſhal ſmite Egypt, he ſhall ſmite and heale it: for he ſhall returne vnto the Lorde, and he ſhalbe intreated of them and ſhall heale them.

i Called alſo Tanes, a famous citie vpon Nilus.
k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perſuaded the King that he was wiſe, and noble, and his houſe was moſt ancient, and ſo he flattered himſelfe, ſaying, I am wiſe.
l Or Memphis, others Alexãdria, and nowe called the great Cairo.
m The principall vpholders thereof are the chiefeſt cauſe of their deſtruction.
n For the ſpirit of wiſedome he hath made them drunken & giddie with the ſpirit of errour.
o Neither the great nor the ſmall, the ſtrong nor the weake.
p Conſidering the occaſion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their truſt in them, and were therefore now puniſhed, they ſhall feare leaſt like light vpon them.
q Shal make one confeſſion of fayth with the people of God: by the ſpeach of Canaan, meaning, the language wherein God was then ſerued.
r Shall renounce their ſuperſtitions, & proteſt to ſerue god aright.
s Meaning, of ſixe cities fiue ſhould ſerue God, and the ſixt remaine in their wickednes: & ſo of the ſixth part there ſhould be but one loſt.
t There ſhalbe euident ſignes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of ſpeache is taken of the Patriarkes and ancient times, when God had not as yet appointed the place, and full maner howe he would be worſhipped.
u This declareth that this prophecie ſhoulde be accompliſhed in the time of Chriſt.
x By theſe ceremonies he cõprehendeth the ſpirituall ſeruice vnder Chriſt.

a Reade Chap. 13.1.
b Becauſe the Egyptians truſted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnes of their men, the Lord ſheweth that he wil come ouer all their munitions in a ſwift cloude, and that their idoles ſhall tremble at his comming, & that mens hearts ſhall faint.
c As he cauſed the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to deſtroy the Church of God, 2. Chro. 20, 22. chap. 49. 26.
d Meaning, their policie, and wiſdome.
e He ſheweth that the ſea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themſelues moſt ſure, ſhould not be able to defend them from his anger, but that he would ſende ſ Aſſyrians among them, that ſhould keepe them vnder as ſlaues.
f For Nilus ranne into the ſea by ſeuen ſtreames, as though they were ſo many riuers.
g The Ebrewe worde is mouth, whereby they meane the ſpring, out of the which the water guſheth as out of a mouth.
h The ſcriptures vſe to deſcribe the deſtruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, fleſh, fiſh, and ſuch other things, whereby countreys are enriched.

23 In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Assyria, & Assyria shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Assyria: so the Egyptians shal worship with Assyria.
24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Assyria, euen a blessing in the middes of the land.
25 For the Lorde of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed bee my people Egypt and Assyria, the worke of mine handes, and Israel mine inheritance.

y By these two nations, which were then chief enemies of the church, he sheweth that the Gentiles, and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one folde vnder Christ their shepheard.

CHAP. XX.

2 The three yeres captiuitie of Egypt & Ethiopia described by the three yeres going naked of Isaiah.

1 In the yeere that [a] Tartan came to [b] Ashdod, (when [c] Sargon king of Assyria sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it, 2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loose the [d] sackecloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.
3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia, 4 So shall the king of Assyria take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttocks vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.
5 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of [e] Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt [f] their glory.
6 Then shall the inhabitant of this [g] Ile say in that day, Beholde, such is our expectation, whither we fled for helpe to be delmered from the king of Assyria, & how shal we be delmered?

c The Ebrewes write y Sancherib was so called.
d Which signifieth that the Prophet did lament the miserie that he saw prepared, before y three yeres, that he went naked and bare footed.
e In whose ayde they trusted.
f Of whom they boasted, & gloried.
g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 And of Arabia.

1 The burden of [a] the desert sea. As the whirlewindes in the South vse to passe from the wildernes, so shall it [b] come from the horrible land.
2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The [c] transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp [d] Elam, besiege Media:
I haue caused al the mourning [e] thereof to cease.
3 Therefore are my [f] loynes filled with sorowe: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, &
I was amased when I saw it.
4 Mine heart failed: fearefulnes troubled me: the night [g] of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me.
5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: [h] arise, ye princes, anoynt the shield.
6 For thus hath the [i] Lord said vnto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.
7 And he saw a charet with two horsemen: [k] a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camel: and he hearkened and took diligent heede.
8 And he cried, A [l] lion: my Lord, I stand continually vpon the watche towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:
9 And beholde, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And [m] he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.
10 O my threshing, & the [n] corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, haue
I shewed vnto you.
11 The burden of [o] Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of [p] Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?
12 The watchman sayde, The [q] morning commeth, and also the night. If ye will aske, enquire: returne and come.
13 The burden against Arabia. In [r] the forest of Arabia shall ye tarie all night, euen in the wapes of Dedanim.
14 O inhabitants of the lande of Tema, bring forth [s] water to meete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread.
15 For they flee from the drawen swordes, euen from the drawen sworde, and from the bent bowe, and from the grieuousnes of warre.
16 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Yet a yeere [t] according to the yeeres of an [u] hireling, and all the glorie of Kedar shall faple.
17 And the residue of the nomber of the strong archers of the sonnes of [x] Kedar shalbe fewe: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

d By Elam, he meaneth the Persians.
e Because they shal finde no succour, they shal mourne no more, or, I haue caused them to cease mourning, whome Babylon had afflicted.
f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.
g He propheci-eth the death of Belshazzar, as Dan. 5. 30, who in the middes of his pleasures was destroyed.
h Whiles they are eating and drinking, they shalbe commanded to runne to their weapons.

q He describeth the vnquietnesse of the people of Dumah, who were nyght and daye in feare of their enemies, and euer ranne to and fro to enquire newes.
r For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and hee appoynteth what waye they shall take.
s Signifying that for feare they shall not tarie to eate or drinke.

x Which was the name of a people of Arabia: & by the horrible destruction of all these nations, he teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remayne in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. 15 A threatning against Shebna, 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaines, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophetes, which were alwayes there, whome they named Seers.

b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house toppes for feare of their enemies.

c Which wast wont to be full of people and ioye.

d But for hunger.

e And led into captiuitie.

f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.

g He sheweth what is the dueti of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the church, and specially of the ministers, Iere.9.1.

h That is, the shoute of the enemies whome God had appoynted to destroy the citie.

i He putteth them in minde howe God deliuered them once from Sancherib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that they might by returning to God, auoyde that great plague which they shoulde els suffer by Nebuchad-nezzar.

k The secrete place where the armour was: to wit, in the house of the forest, 1.Kin.7.2.

l Ye fortified the ruinous places, which were neglected in time of peace: meaning, the whole citie and the citie of Dauid which was within the compasse of the other.

m Either to pouder such as might hurt, or els to knowe what men they were able to make.

n To prouide if neede should be of water.

o To God that made Ierusalem: that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes then in God.

p In steade of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheere, contemning the admonitions of the Prophetes, saying, Let vs eate and drinke: for our prophetes say, that we shal dye to morowe.

1 THe burden of the a valley of vision. What b aileth thee now that thou art wholy gone vp vnto the house toppes?

2 Thou that art full of c noyse, a citie ful of ioure, a ioyous citie: thy slayne men shal not be slaine d with sworde, nor dye in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shalbe e bounde: all that shalbe found in thee, shalbe bounde together, which haue fled from f farre.

4 Therefore saide I, Turne away from me: I will weepe bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lorde God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.

6 And Elam i bare ꝑ quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

7 And thy chiefe allies were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in arap against the gate.

8 And hee discouered the k couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that daye to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And ye haue seene l the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, & ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye nombred the houses m of Ierusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall, 11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for the n waters of the olde poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker o thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did the Lorde God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes and girding with sackcloth.

13 And beholde, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, ꝑ eating and drinking: for to morow we shal dye.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lorde of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shal not be purged from you, till ye dye, saith the Lord God of hostes.

15 Thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, Go, get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to do here? & whome hast thou here: that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he ꝑ heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitation ꝙ for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Beholde, the Lord will carry thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.

18 He will surely rolle & turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou dye, and there the charets of thy glorie shall be the r shame of thy lordes house.

19 And I will driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I s call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments wil I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also wil I commit into his hand, and he shalbe a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & of the house of Iudah.

22 And the t key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so he shall open, and no man shal shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I wil fasten him as a v naile in a sure place, and he shall be for the throne of glory to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie x all smal vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musicke.

25 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall the y naile, that is fastened in the sure place, depart & shall be broken, and fal: & the burden, that was vpon it, shal be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

q Because the Ebrewe worde doth also signifie one that doth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nourish secrete friendship with the Assyrians & Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to prouide for himselfe against all dangers: in ỹ meane season he packt craftily & gate of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the hiest.

r Meaning, that he was a stranger and came vp of nothing.

s Where as he thought to make his name immortal by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians.

t Signifying that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to ỹ shame of those Princes, by whome they are preferred.

u To be steward againe, out of the which office he had bene put by the craft of Shebna.

x I will commit vnto him the ful charge and gouernement of the kinges house.

y I wil establish him & confirme him in his office: of this phrase reade Ezra 9.9.

z Meaning, that both small and great that shal come of Eliakim, shal haue praise and glory by this faithful officer.

a He meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

l Tyrus willeth other marchants to go to Cilicia, and to come no more there.

m Who maketh her marchants like Princes.

n Thy ſtrength will no more ſerue thee: therfore flee to other countreis for ſuccour.

o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.

q The Caldeans which dwelt in tents in the wildernes, were gathered by the Aſſyrians into cities.

r The people of the Caldeas deſtroyed the Aſſyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that ſeeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Aſſyrians, which were ſo great a nation, much more ſhall theſe two nations of Caldea and Aſſyria be able to ouerthrowe Tyrus.

ſ That is, Tyrus, by whom ye are enriched.

t Tyrus ſhall lie deſtroied ſeuentie yeres, which hee calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age.

u Shall vſe all craft and ſubtiltie to entiſe men againe to her.

x Shee ſhall labour by all meanes to recouer her firſt credit, as an harlot whe ſhee is long forgotten, ſeeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers.

y Though ſhee haue bene chaſtiſed of the Lorde, yet ſhee ſhall returne to her olde wicked practiſes, and for gaine ſhall giue her ſelfe to all mens luſtes like an harlot.

be [z] holy vnto the Lord: it ſhall not be layed vp nor kept in ſtore, but her marchandiſe ſhalbe for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate ſufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

z He ſheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Goſpell will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice & filthie gaine vnto the true worſhipping of God and liberalitie towarde his Saintes.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophecie of the curſe of God for the ſinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reſtrained, ſhall praiſe the Lord.

1 Behold, the Lord maketh the [a] earth emptie, and he maketh it waſte: he turneth it vpſide downe, and ſcatereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there ſhalbe like people, like [b] prieſt, and like ſeruant, like maiſter, like maid, like miſtreſſe, like buier, like ſeller, like lender, like borower, like giuer, like taker to vſurie.

3 The earth ſhall be cleane emptied, and vtterly ſpoiled: for the Lord hath ſpoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth & fadeth away: the worlde is feebled and decayed: the proude people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth [c] alſo decaieth, becauſe of the inhabitants thereof: for they tranſgreſſed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlaſting couenant.

6 Therefore hath the [d] curſe deuoured the earth, and the inhabitantes thereof are deſolate. Therefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, & fewe men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart, do mourne.

8 The mirth of tabets ceaſeth: the noiſe of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioye of the harpe ceaſeth.

9 They ſhal not drinke wine with mirth: ſtrong drinke ſhalbe bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of [f] vanitie is broken downe: euery houſe is ſhut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the ſtreets: all ioye is darkened: the mirth of the worlde is gone away.

12 In the citie is left deſolation, and the gate is ſmitten with deſtruction.

13 Surely thus ſhall it be in the midſt of the earth, among the people, [g] as the ſhaking of an olive tree, & as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They ſhal lift vp their voice: they ſhall ſhoute for the magnificence of the Lord: they ſhall reioyce from [h] the ſea.

a This prophecie is as a concluſion of that which hath bin threatned to the Iewes & other nations, frō the 13. Chap. & therefore by earth he meaneth thoſe lāds, which were before named.

b Becauſe this was a name of dignitie, it was alſo applied to thē, which were not of Aarons familie, & ſo ſignifieth alſo a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8. 18. & 20. 25. 1. chro. 18. 17. & by theſe words the Prophet ſignifieth an horrible confuſion, where there ſhal be neither religion, order, nor policie, Hoſea 4. 9.

c That is, rendreth not her fruit for the ſinne of the people, who earth deceiued of their nourriture, becauſe they deceiued God of his honor.

d Written in the Law, as Leu. 26. 14. deut. 28. 16. thus the Prophets vſed to applie particularly the menaces & promiſes, which are generall in the Lawe.

e With heate and drought, or els, that they were conſumed with the fire of Gods wrath.

f Which as it was without order, ſo nowe ſhould it be brought to deſolation & confuſion: and this was not only meant of Ieruſalem, but of all the other wicked cities.

g Becauſe they did not vſe Gods benefites aright, their pleaſures ſhould faile, and they fal to mourning.

h He comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great deſolation the Lorde will aſſemble his Church, which ſhal praiſe his name, as chap. 10. 22.

i From the vtmoſt coaſts of the world, where the Goſpel ſhalbe preached, as vers. 16.

15 Wherefore praise ye the Lord in the valleis, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.
16 From the vttermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, euen glory to the k Just, & I sayd, l My leanesse, my leanesse, wo is me: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grieuously offended.
17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.
18 And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: & he that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for the m windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.
19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moued exceedingly.
20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shalbe remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.
21 ¶ And in that day shall the Lord n visite the hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the kings of the worlde that are vpon the earth.
22 And they shalbe gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shalbe shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be o visited.
23 p Then the moone shalbe abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lorde of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall be before his ancient men.

k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel through all the world.
l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forea enemies, & domestically. Some reade, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet, that § good shoulde be preserued & the wicked destroyed.
m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer & vnder them: so that they shoulde not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.
n There is no power so high or mightie, but God will visite him with his iudges.
o Not with his gods, as vers. 21, but shalbe comforted.
p When God shall restore his Church, the glorie thereof shall so shine and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the sunne & the moone shall be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that that he sheweth him selfe iuste of the worlde, by punishing the wicked and maintaining the godly.

1 O Lord, thou a art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done woonderfull things, according to the counsels of olde, with a stable trueth.
2 For thou hast made of a b citie an heap, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace c of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.
3 Therefore shall the d mightie people giue glorie vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.
4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heate: for the blast e of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.
5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, f as the heate in a drie place: yea will bring downe the song of the mighty, as g the heate in the shadow of a cloude.
6 And in this h mountaine shal the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, & of fat things full of marowe, of wines fined and purified.
7 And he wil destroy in this mountaine i the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spred vpon all nations.
8 He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will k wipe away the teares from all faces, & the rebuke of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.
9 And in that day shall men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he will saue vs. This is the Lorde, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.
10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lorde rest, & l Moab shall be threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in m Madmenah.
11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) & with the strength of his handes shal he bring downe their pride.
12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall hee bring downe and laye lowe, and cast them to the grounde, euen vnto the dust.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thankes to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make the of his Church which before were his enemies.
b Not only of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, which haue bene thine enemies.
c That is, a place where as all vagabondes may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.
d The arrogant and proude, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.
e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.
f Meaning, that as the heate is abated by § raine, so shal God bring downe the rage of the wicked.
g As a cloude shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shall God asswage the rejoycing of the wicked against the godly.
h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his church, which should vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banket, as Mat. 22.2.
i Meaning, that ignorance and blindnes whereby we are kept backe frō Christ.
k He will take away all occasions of sorowe l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church.
m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 2.49, and an other in the land of Moab, Ierem. 48.2 which seemeth to haue bene a plentifull place of corne, Chap. 10 31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, & wherein they ought to trust.

1 In that day shal a this song be sung in the lande of Iudah. We haue a strong citie: b saluation shal God set for walles and bulwarkes.
2 c Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.
3 d In an assured purpose wilt thou ples serue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee.
4 Trust in the Lorde for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.
5 For he will bring downe them p dwel on hie: e the hie citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground will he cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.
6 The foote shal treade it downe, euen the feete a This song was made to comfort the faithful, when their captiuitie should come, assuring the also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shalbe sufficient for vs.
c He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem.
d Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose cannot be changed.
e There is no power so hie, that can let God, when he will deliuer his.

f God wil set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.
g We haue constantly abid in the aduersities wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.
h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.
i The wicked, thogh God shew them euident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer the better.
k Through enuy and indignation against thy people.
l The fire & vengeance, wherewith thou doest destroy thine enemies.
m The Babylonis, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.
n Meaning, that the reprobate, euen in this life shal haue ‖ beginning of euerlasting death.
o To wit, the company of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.
p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were mooued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.
q To wit, in extreme sorow.
r Our sorowes had none ende, neither did we enioy the comfort, that we looked for.
s The wicked & men without religion were not destroyed.
t He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they shoulde most certainely rise to glory: the contrary should come to the wicked, as vers. 14.
u As herbes, dead in winter, florish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioye when they feele ‖ dew of Gods grace.
x He exhorteth the faithfull to be pacient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke.

7 The way of the iust is righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.
8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy ‖ iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.
9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirite within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for ‖ seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shal learne ‖ righteousnesse.
10 Let mercy ‖ be shewed to the wicked, yet he will not learne righteousnes: in the land of vprightnes will he doe wickedly, and will not beholde the maiestie of the Lord.
11 O Lord, they will not beholde thine hie hande: but they shall see it, and be confounded with ‖ the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine ‖ enemies shall deuoure them.
12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.
13 O Lorde our God, other ‖ lordes beside thee haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name.
14 The ‖ dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memory.
15 Thou hast increased ‖ the nation, O Lorde: thou hast encreased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.
16 Lorde, in trouble haue they ‖ visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.
17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorowe, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy ‖ sight, O Lord.
18 We haue conceiued, we haue borne in paine, as though wee shoulde haue brought foorth ‖ winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of ‖ the world fall.
19 ‖ Thy dead men shal liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwel in dust: for thy ‖ dewe is as the dewe of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.
20 Come, my people: ‖ enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.
21 For loe, the Lorde commeth out of his place to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitantes of the earth vpon them: ‖ the earth shall earth shall disclose her ‖ blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

y The earth shal vomit & cast out ‖ innocēt blood, which it hath drunk, ‖ it may cry for vēgeance against ‖ wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophecie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 And of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that ‖ day the Lorde with his sore ‖ great and mightie ‖ sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.
2 In that day sing of the vineyarde ‖ of red wine.
3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.
4 Anger ‖ is not in me: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe through them, I would burne them together.
5 Or will he ‖ feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and he at one with me?
6 ‖ Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall florish and growe, and the world shalbe filled with fruit.
7 Hath he smitten ‖ him as he smote those that smote him? or is her slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?
8 In ‖ measure in the branches thereof wilt thou cōtend with it, when he blowes with his rough winde in the day of the Eastwinde.
9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the ‖ fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones, broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.
10 Yet the ‖ defenced citie shalbe desolate, and the habitation shalbe forsaken, & left like a wildernes. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof.
11 When the boughes of it are dry, they shalbe broken: the ‖ women come, & set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassiō of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.
12 And in that day shall the Lorde thresh from the chanel of the ‖ riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shal be gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

z At the time appointed.
b That is, by his mighty power and by his word.
c Hee prophecieth here of the destructiō of Satan and his kingdom vnder the name of Liuiathan, Assur and Egypt.
c Meaning, of ‖ best wine, which this vineyard, ‖ is the Church, should bring forth as most agreeable to the Lord.
d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his own mercies sake, & can not be angry with it, but wi- sheth ‖ he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by briers & thornes.
e He marueileth, that Israel will not come by gentlenes, except God make them to feele his rods, & so bring them vnto him.
f Though Iacob flict and diminish my people for a time, yet shal the roote spring againe and bring forth in great abundance.

g Hee sheweth that God punisheth his in mercy, and his enemies in iustice. h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church though the branches therof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction. i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatry, and the monuments thereof destroyed. k Notwithstanding his fauour that he wil shewe them after, yet Ierusalem shalbe destroyed, and grasse for cattell shal growe in it. l God shall not haue neede of mighty enemies: for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame. m Hee shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fledde toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

13 In that day also shal the great trumpe be [a] blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the lande of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy mount at Jerusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennes of Israel. 9 The vntowardnes of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all thinges in time and place.

a Meaning, the proud kingdome of the Israelites, which were drūken with worldly prosperitie.

b Because ỹ Israelites for the most part dwelt in plentifull valleys, he meaneth hereby the valley of them, that had abundance of worldly prosperitie, & were, as it were, crowned therewith, as with garlads.

c He seemeth to meane ỹ Assyrians, by whom ỹ ten Tribes were caried away.

d Which is not of long continuance, but is soone ripe, & first eaten.

e Signifying, that ỹ faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperitie, but made God their glory, shalbe preserued.

f He will giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to the captaine, to drive the enemies in at their owne gates.

g Meaning, the hypocrits, which were among thē, & were altogether corrupt in life and doctrine,

1 WO to the [a] crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the [b] valley of them that be fat, & are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lorde hath a mightie and [c] strong hoste, like a tempest of haple, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, & as [d] the hastie fruit afore sommer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lorde of hoastes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the [e] residue of his people:

6 And for a spirit of iudgemēt to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for [f] strength vnto them that turne awaye the battell to the gate.

7 But [g] they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astraye through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 [h] Whome shall hee teache knowledge? and whom shall he make to vnderstand the thinges that he heareth? them that are weined from the milke and drawen from the breastes.

10 For [i] precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a stammering [k] tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whome [l] he said, [m] This is the rest: [n] giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the word of the [o] Lorde be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little and there a little, that they may goe, and fall backwarde, and be broken and be snared and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye scornefull men that rule this people, which is at Jerusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a [p] couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made [q] falsehode our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid,

16 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will lape in Zion a stone, a [r] tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure fundation. He that beleeueth, shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and [s] righteousnes to the balance, and the [t] haple shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe [u] the secrete place.

18 And your couenant with death shall be disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night: and there shall be onely [x] feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is [y] streight that it cannot suffice, and the couering narowe that one cannot wap himselfe.

21 For the Lorde shall stand as in mount [z] Perazim: hee shalbe wroth as in the valley [b] of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

22 Nowe therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard [c] of the Lorde of hoastes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voice: hearken ye, and heare my speach.

24 Doth the plowman plow all the day, to sowe? doth he open, and breake the clottes of his ground?

25 When he hath made it [d] plaine, will he h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as vnmeete as yong babes.

i They must haue one thing oft times tolde.

k Let one teache what hee can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if hee spake in a strange language.

l That is, the Prophet, whome God should sende.

m This is the doctrine, whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

n Shew to them that are weary and haue neede of rest, what is the true rest.

o Because they will not receiue the word of God when it is offred, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before, Chap. 6.9.

p They thought they had shiftes to auoide Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.

q Though the Prophets condemned their idoles, & vaine trust, of falsehood, and vanitie, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in these things.

r That is, Christ, by whom all the building must be tried, and vpholden, Psal. 118.

u Gods corrections and afflictions.

x Affliction shal discouer their vaine cōfidence, which they kept secret to themselues. y Terror and destruction shall make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentlenes could not bring you vnto. z Your affliction shalbe so sore, ỹ you are not able to endure it.

a When Dauid ouercame the Philistims, 2. Sam. 5. 20. 1. Chron. 14. 11.

b Where Iosua discomfited fiue kings of the Amorites, Iosh. 10. 12.

c As the plowman hath his appointed time, & diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for hee punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort, and some after another, so that his chosen seede is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

not then ſow the fitches, and ſow cummin, and caſt in wheate by meaſure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place?

26 For his God doth inſtruct him to haue diſcretion, and doth teach him.

27 For fitches ſhall not be threſhed with a threſhing inſtrument, neyther ſhall a cart wheele bee turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a ſtaffe, and cummin with a rodde.

28 Bread come when it is threſhed, yee doeth not alway threſh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart ſtill make a noiſe, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This alſo commeth from the Lord of hoſtes, which is wonderful in counſell, and excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophecie againſt Ieruſalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

1 Ah [a] altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: [b] let them kill lambes.

2 But I wil bring the altar into diſtreſſe, and there ſhalbe heauineſſe and ſorowe, and it ſhalbe vnto me like [c] an altar.

3 And I will beſiege thee as a circle, and fight againſt thee on a mount, and will caſt vp ramparts againſt thee.

4 So ſhalt thou be humbled, and ſhalt ſpeake out of the [d] grounde, and thy ſpeache ſhall bee as out of the duſt: thy voyce alſo ſhall bee out of the grounde like him that hath a ſpirite of diuination, and thy talking ſhall whiſper out of the duſt.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy [e] ſtrangers ſhalbe like ſmal duſt, and the multitude of ſtrong men ſhall bee as chaffe that paſſeth away, & it ſhall be in a moment, euen ſuddenly.

6 Thou ſhalt bee viſited of the Lord of hoſtes with thunder, and ſhaking, and a great noyſe, a whirlewinde, and a tempeſt, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the [f] multitude of all the nations that fight againſt the altar, ſhall bee as a dreame or viſion by night: euen all they that make the warre againſt it, and ſtrong holdes againſt it, and lape ſiege vnto it.

8 And it ſhall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, [g] he eateth: and when he awaketh, his ſoule is emptie: or like as a thirſtie man dreameth, and loe, hee is drinking, and when hee awaketh, beholde, hee is faint, and his ſoule longeth: ſo ſhall the multitude of all nations be that fight againſt mount Zion.

9 [h] Stay your ſelues, and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they ſtagger, but not by ſtrong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath couered you with a ſpirit of ſlumber, and hath ſhut vp your eyes: the Prophets, & your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the viſion of them all is become vnto you, as the words of a booke that is ſealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can read, ſaying, Read this, I pray thee. Then ſhall he ſay, I can [i] not: for it is ſealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, ſaying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he ſhall ſay, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lorde ſayde, Becauſe this people [k] come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue remoued their heart farre from me, and their [l] feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore beholde, I will againe do a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for [m] the wiſdome of their wiſe men ſhal perith, and the vnderſtanding of their prudent men ſhalbe hid.

15 Woe vnto them that [n] ſeeke deepe to hide their counſell from the Lorde: for their workes are in darkenes, and they ſay, Who ſeeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuices ſhall it not be eſteemed [o] as the potters clay? for ſhall the worke ſay of him that made it, Hee made me not? or the thing formed, ſay of him that fashioned it, Hee had none vnderſtanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon ſhall be [p] turned into Carmel? and Carmel ſhalbe counted as a foreſt?

18 And in that day ſhall the deafe heare the words of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde ſhall ſee out of obſcuritie, and out of darkeneſſe.

19 The meke in the Lord ſhal receiue ioy againe, and the poore men ſhall reioyce in the holy one of Iſrael.

20 For the cruell man ſhal ceaſe, and the ſcornefull ſhalbe conſumed: and all that haſted to iniquitie, ſhalbe cut off:

21 Which made a man to ſinne in the [q] word, and tooke him in a ſnare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iuſt to fall without cauſe.

22 Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde vnto the houſe of Iaakob, euen he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob ſhall not nowe be confounded, neither nowe ſhall his face be pale.

23 But when he ſeeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the middes of him, they ſhall ſanctifie my Name, and a The Ebrewe word Ariel ſignifieth § Lion of God, and ſignifieth the Altar, becauſe the altar ſeemed to deuour the ſacrifice that was offred to God, as Ezek. 43.16.

b Your vaine confidence in your ſacrifices ſhall not laſt long.

c Your citie ſhal be full of blood, as an altar wherein they ſacrifice.

d Thy ſpeache ſhalbe no more ſo lofty, but abaſed, & low as the very charmers, which are in low places, & whiſper, ſo that their voice can ſcarſe be heard.

e Thine hired ſouldiers, in whō thou truſteſt, ſhalbe deſtroyed, as duſt or chaffe in a whirl winde.

f The enemies that I wil bring to deſtroy thee, and that, which thou makeſt thy vaine truſt, ſhall come at vnwares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the deſtruction of their enemies.

g That is, he thinketh that he eateth.

h Muſe hereon as long as ye liſt, yet ſhall ye finde nothing but occaſion to be aſtonied. for your Prophets are blinde, & therefore cannot direct you.

i Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderſtand.

k Becauſe they are hypocrites & not ſyncere in hart, as Mat. 15.8

l That is, their religiō was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my worde.

m Meaning, that where as God is worſhipped according to his word, both magiſtrates and miniſters are but fooles, and without vnderſtanding.

n This is ſpoken of them, which in heart deſpiſed Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft, ſayth the Lorde, you cannot be able to eſcape mine handes, no more then the clay, that is in the potters handes, hath power to deliuer it ſelfe.

p Shal there not bee a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in reſpect of that it ſhall be then, may be taken as a foreſt, as Chap. 32.15. and thus he ſpeaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that went about to finde fault with the Prophets wordes, and would not abide admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger.

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderſtanding, and knowledge, man cannot but ſtill erre, & murmure againſt him.

ſanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, & ſhall feare the God of Iſrael.
24 Then they that erred in ſpirit, r ſhall haue vnderſtanding, and they that murmured, ſhall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Hee reproueth the Iewes which in their aduerſitie vſed their owne counſels, 2 And ſought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 Deſpiſing the Prophets. 16 Therefore hee sheweth what deſtruction ſhall come vpon them, 18 But offreth mercie to the repentant.

a Who contrary to their promes, take not me for their protector, and contrary to my commandement, ſeeke helpe at ſtrangers.
b They ſeeke ſhiftes to cloke their doings, and not godly meanes.
c The chiefe of Iſrael went into Egypt in Ambaſsie to ſeeke helpe, & abode at theſe cities.
d That is, a heauie ſentence or prophecie againſt the beaſts that caried their treaſures into Egypt, by the wildernes, which was South from Iudah: ſignifying that if ỹ beaſtes ſhoulde not be ſpared, the men ſhould be puniſhed much more grieuouſly.
e To wit, to Ieruſalem.
f And not to come to and fro to ſeeke helpe.
g That is, this prophecie.
h That it may be a witnes againſt them for all poſteritie.
i He ſheweth what was the cauſe of their

1 WOe to the a rebellious children, ſayth the Lord, that take counſel, but not of me, and b couer with a couering, but not by my ſpirit, that they may lay ſinne vpon ſinne:
2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (& haue not aſked at my mouth) to ſtrengthen themſelues wᵗ the ſtrength of Pharaoh, and truſt in the ſhadow of Egypt.
3 But the ſtrength of Pharaoh ſhall be your ſhame, & the truſt in the ſhadowe of Egypt your confuſion.
4 For his c princes were at Zoan, & his Ambaſſadours came vnto Hanes.
5 They ſhalbe all aſhamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but ſhalbe a ſhame and alſo a reproche.
6 ¶ The d burden of the beaſtes of the South, in a lande of trouble and anguiſhe, from whence ſhall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fiery flying ſerpent againſt them that ſhall beare their riches vpon the ſhoulders of the coltes, and their treaſures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.
7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they ſhall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto e her, Their ſtrength f is to ſit ſtill.
8 Nowe goe, and write g it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the h laſt day for euer and euer:
9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that woulde not i heare the Law of the Lord.
10 Which ſay vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophetes, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but ſpeake flattering thinges vnto vs: prophecie k errours.
11 Depart out of the way: go aſide out of the path: cauſe the holy one of Iſrael to ceaſe from vs.
12 Therefore thus ſayth the holy one of Iſrael, Becauſe you haue caſt off this deſtruction, and bringeth alſo all miſerie to man: to wit, because they woulde not heare the worde of God, but delited to be flattered, and led in errour. k Threaten vs not by the worde of God, neither be ſo rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lorde, as Ierem. 11. 21.

13 Therefore this iniquitie ſhall be vnto you as a breache that falleth, or a ſwelling in an hie wall, whoſe breaking cõmeth ſuddenly in a moment.
14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters potte, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found m a ſheard to take fire out of ỹ hearth, or to take water out of the pit.
15 For thus ſaid the n Lord God, the holy one of Iſrael, In reſt and quietneſſe ſhall ye bee ſaued: in quietneſſe and in confidence ſhall be your ſtrength, but ye would not.
16 For ye haue ſayde, No, but we will flee awap upon o horſes. Therefore ſhal ye flee. We will ride vpon the ſwifteſt. Therefore ſhall your perſecuters bee ſwifter.
17 A thouſande as one ſhall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue ſhal ye flee, till ye be left as a ſhippe maſt upon the p top of a mountaine, and as a beacken upon an hill.
18 Yet therefore will the Lorde waite, that hee may haue q mercie upon you, and therefore will hee be exalted, that hee may haue compaſſion upon you: for the Lord is the God of r iudgement. Bleſſed are all they that waite for him.
19 Surely a people ſhall dwell in Zion, and in Ieruſalem: thou ſhalt weepe no more: he will certeinly haue mercie upon thee at the voyce of thy crie: when he heareth thee, hee will anſwere thee.
20 And when the Lorde hath giuen you the bread of aduerſitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine ſhall bee no more kept backe, but thine eyes ſhall ſee thy s raine.
21 And thine eares ſhall heare a woꝛde behinde thee, ſaying, This is the way, t walke yee in it, when thou turneſt to the right hand, and when thou turneſt to the left.
22 And ye ſhall u pollute the couering of the images of ſiluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, and caſt them away as a menſtruous cloth, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto it, x Get thee hence.
23 Then ſhall hee giue raine vnto thy ſeede, when thou ſhalt ſowe the ground, and bread of the encreaſe of the earth, and it ſhall bee fatte and as ople: in that day ſhall thy cattell be fed in large paſtures.
24 The oxen alſo and the yong aſſes, that till the ground, ſhal eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the ſhouel and with the fanne.
25 And upon euery hie y mountaine, and upon euery hie hill ſhall there be riuers and ſtreames of waters, in the daye of the great ſlaughter, when the towres ſhall l Meaning, in their ſtubbernes againſt God and the admonitions of his Prophets.

n Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remẽbrance of this, ỹ you ſhould only depend on him.
o We will truſt to eſcape by our horſes.
p Whereas all the trees are cut downe ſaue two or three to make maſtes.
q He cõmendeth ỹ great mercies of God, who ẏ patiẽce waiteth to call ſinners to repentance.
r Not onely in puniſhing, but in vſing moderatiõ in ỹ ſame, as Ier. 10. 24. & 30. 11.
s Or, inſtructour. t God ſhal direct all thy waies, and appoint thee how to goe either hither or thither.
u Ye ſhal caſt away your idoles, which you haue made of gold, & ſiluer, with all ỹ belongeth vnto them, as a moſt filthie thing, and polluted.
x Shewing that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deede we ſhewe our ſelues enemies to idolatrie.
y By theſe diuers maners of ſpeach he ſheweth that the felicitie of ỹ Church ſhalbe ſo great, that none is able ſufficiently to expreſſe it.

y When the Church shalbe restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnes of the sunne: for by the sunne and moone, which are two excellēt creatures, hee sheweth what shalbe the glory of the Children of God in the kingdome of Christ.

z This threatning is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God.

a To driue them to nothing: and thus God consumeth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he cleanseth his.

b Ye shal reioyce at the destructiō of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.

c Gods plague.

d It shall destroy.

e With ioy and assurance of the victorie.

f Against Babel: meaning the Assyrians and Babylonians.

26 Moreouer, the light of the moone shal be as the light of the y sunne, & the light of the sunne shalbe seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lorde shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, z the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauy: his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his spirite is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it deuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there shalbe a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the b night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering & tempest, and haile stones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lorde shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the c rodde.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall d cleane fast, which the Lorde shall lay vpon him with e tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of handes shall he fight f against it.

33 For g Tophet is prepared of old: it is euen prepared for the h King: hee hath made it i deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire & much wood: the breath of the Lorde, like a riuer of brimstone, doth kindle it.

g Here it is taken for hell, where the wicked are tormented, reade 2 King. 23. 10. h So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked. i By these figuratiue speaches he declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

a There were two speciall causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lorde had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17. 16. and 28. 68. least they should forget the benefite of their redemption: and secondly, least they should be corrupted with the superstition and idolatry of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Iere. 2. 18.

1 WO vnto them that a go downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor b seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he pet is c wisest: therefore he will bring euill, & not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Nowe the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirite: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hande, the d helper shal fall, and hee that is holpen shal fall, and they shal altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lorde spoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelpe roareth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of sheepheardes be called, hee will not be afraid at their voyce, neither wil humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall the Lorde of hostes come e downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birdes that flie, so shall the Lorde of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it.

6 O ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are f sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man shall g cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your handes haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 h Then shall Asshur fall by the sworde, not of man, neither shall the sworde of man deuoure him, and hee shall flee from the sword, and his young men shall faint.

9 And he shall go for feare to his i tower, and his princes shall be afrayde of the standart, saith the Lord, whose k fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ierusalem.

b Meaning, that they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things: for they cannot trust in both.

c And knoweth their craftie enterprises and will bring all to nought.

d Meaning, both the Egyptians & the Israelites.

e He sheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able, that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer them, as a bird ouer her yong, which euer flieth about them for their defence: which similitude the Scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32. 11. mat. 23. 37.

f He toucheth their conscience that they might earnestly feele their grieuous sinnes, and so truely repent, for as much as nowe they are almost drowned & past recouerie.

g By these fruits your repentance shalbe knowen, as Chap. 2. 18.

h When your repentance appeareth.

i This was accomplished soone after when Sancheribs army was discomfited, and he fled to his castle in Nineueh for succour.

k To destroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernement of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

1 BEholde, a a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule b in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a dry place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in c a wearp land.

3 The eyes of d the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

a This prophecie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ, and therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iustice is ment an vpright gouernement, both in policie and religion.

d Hee promiseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderstanding, and zeale of the same, contrary to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6. 9. and 29. 10.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

e Vice shall no more be called vertue, nor vertue esteemed by power, and riches.

5 A [c]nigard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle riche.
6 But the nigard will speake of nigardnes, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lorde, to make emptie the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.
7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuiseth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying wordes: and to speake against the poore in iudgement.
8 But the liberall man wil deuise of liberall thinges, and he will continue his liberalitie.

f He prophecieth of such calamitie to come, that they will not spare the women and children, and therefore willeth them to take heede and prouide.

9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye [f]careles daughters: hearken to my wordes.
10 Ye women, that are careles, shall be in feare [c]aboue a yere in dayes: [h]for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

g Meaning, that the affliction should continue long, and when one yeere were past, yet they

12 Men shall lament for the [i]teates, euen for the pleasant fields, and for the fruitfull vine.

h God will take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, aboundance of worldly goods.

13 Vpon the lande of my people shall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the citie of reioycing, 14 Because the palace shalbe forsaken, & the [a]noise of the citie shall be left: the tower and fortresse shall be dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, i By the teates he meaneth the plentifull fieldes, wherebymen are nourished, as children with the teate: or, the mothers for sorow, and leanenes shall lacke milke.

15 Until the [k]Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruitfull field, and the [l]plenteous field be counted as a forest.
16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in ꝑ fruitfull field.
17 And the worke of iustice shal be peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnes, and assurance for euer.

k That is, when the Church shall be restored: thus the Prophets after 18 And my people shal dwel in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it hapleth it shall fall on the forest, and the [m]citie shalbe set in the lowe place.
20 Blessed are ye [n]that sowe vpon all waters, and [o]driue thither the feete of the ore and the Asse.

n That is, vpon fatte ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and nowe made dry for your vse.

o The fieldes shall be so ranke, that they shall sende out their cattell to eate vp the first croppe, which aboundance shall be signes of Gods fauour and loue towardes them.

they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godly, least they should faint. l The field which is now fruitful, shall be but as a baren forest in comparison of that it shall be then, as Chap. 29. 17. which shall be fulfilled in Christes time: for then they that were before as the barren wildernes, being regenerate, shall be fruitfull, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shall bring forth fruites in such aboundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wildernesse where no fruites were. m They shall not neede to builde it in his places for feare of the enemy: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whome God hath punished his Church.

1 WO to thee that [a]spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt [b]cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoyled: when thou shalt make an ende of doing wickedly, [c]they shall doe wickedly against thee.

a Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as were the Chaldeans, and Assyrians: but chiefly of Sanecherib, but not onely.

2 [d]O Lorde, haue mercy vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which wast [e]their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

b When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power: and that which thou hast wrõg fully gotten, shal be giuen to others, as Amos 5. 11.

3 At the noyse of the tumult, the [f]people fled: at thine [g]exalting the nations were scattered.
4 And your spoyle shalbe gathered like the gathering of [h]caterpillers: and [i]he shall goe against him like the leaping of grashoppers.
5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

c The Chaldeãs shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes, and Persians shal do the same to the Chaldeans.

6 And there shall be stabilitie of [k]thy times, strength, saluation, wisdome and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shal be his treasure.

d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.

7 Beholde, [l]their messengers shall crye without, and the [m]ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly.
8 The [n]paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: hee hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.
9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: [o]Sharon is like a wildernes, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

e Which helpedst our fathers so soone as they called vpon thee. f That is, the Assyrians fledde before the army of the Chaldeans, or the Chaldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians. g When thou, O Lorde, dideste lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies. h Ye that as caterpillers destroyed with your nomber the whole worlde, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Chaldeans, but shall be gathered on an heape and destroyed. i Meaning, the Medes and Persians against the Chaldeans. k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah. l Sent from Sanecherib. m Whome they of Ierusalem sent to intreate of peace. n These are the wordes of the Ambassadours, when they returne from Sanecherib. o Which was a plentifull countrey, meaning that Sanecherib woulde destroy all.

10 Nowe will I ᵖ ariſe, ſaith the Lorde: nowe will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my ſelfe.

q This is ſpoken againſt the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but he ſheweth that their enterpriſe ſhalbe in vaine, and that the fire which they had kindled for others, ſhould conſume them.

11 ¶ Ye ſhal conceiue chaffe, and bring forth ſtubble: the fire of your breath ſhal deuoure you.

12 And the people ſhalbe as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, ſhall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, ye that are ʳ farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power.

r His vengeance ſhalbe ſo great, that all ſ world ſhall talke thereof.

14 The ſ ſinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpō the hypocrites: who among vs ſhall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs ſhall dwell with the euerlaſting burnings?

ſ Which do not beleeue ſ words of ſ Prophet & the aſſurance of their deliueräce.

15 He that walketh in iuſtice, and ſpeaketh righteous things, refuſing gaine of oppreſſion, ſhaking his handes from taking of gifres, ſtopping his eares from hearing of blood, and ſhutting his eyes from ſeeing euill, t Meaning, that God will be a ſure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

16 He ſhal dwell on ᵗ hie: his defence ſhalbe the munitions of rockes: bread ſhalbe giuen him, and his waters ſhalbe ſure.

u They ſhall ſee Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies and reſtored to honor and glorie.

17 Thine eyes ſhall ᵘ ſee the king in his glorie: they ſhall behold the land ˣ farre off.

x They ſhalbe no more ſhut in as they were by Sancherib, but goe where it pleaſeth them.

18 Thine heart ʸ ſhall meditate feare, Where is the ſcribe? where is the receiuer? where is he that counted the towres?

y Before that this libertie commeth, thou ſhalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemy ſhal ſo ſharply aſſayle you, ſ one ſhall crie, Where is the clarke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? another ſhal crie for him that valueth the riche houſes, but God wil deliuer you from this feare.

19 Thou ſhalt not ſee a fierce people, a people of a darke ſpeache, that thou canſt not perceiue, and of a ſtammering tongue that thou canſt not vnderſtand.

z Let vs be content with this ſmall riuer of Shiloah, and not deſire the great ſtreames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in ſhippes and deſtroy vs.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our ſolemne feaſtes: thine eyes ſhall ſee Ieruſalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that cannot bee remoued: and the ſtakes thereof can neuer bee taken away, neither ſhall any of the cordes thereof be broken.

a He deſcribeth the Aſſyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their deſtruction as they that periſh by ſhipwracke.

21 For ſurely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs, as a place ᵃ of ſtoods and broad riuers, whereby ſhall paſſe no ſhippe with oares, neither ſhall great ſhippe paſſe thereby.

b He comforteth the Church, and ſheweth that they ſhalbe enriched with all benefites both of body and ſoule.

22 For the Lorde is our iudge, the Lord is our law giuer: the Lord is our King, he will ſaue vs.

23 Thy ᵃ cordes are looſed: they could not well ſtrengthen their maſt, neither could they ſpreade the ſayle: then ſhall the ᵇ praye bee deuided for a great ſpoyle: yea, the lame ſhal take awap the praye.

24 And none inhabitant ſhall ſay, I am ſicke: the people that dwell therein, ſhal haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

He ſheweth that God puniſheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

1 COme nere, ye ᵃ nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, ᵇ the world and all that proceedeth therof.

a He propheceth of the deſtruction of the Edomites, and other nations which were enemies to the Church.

b God hath determined in his counſell, & hath giuen ſentence for their deſtruction.

2 For the indignation of the Lorde is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath ᵇ deſtroyed them and deliuered them to the ſlaughter.

3 And their ſlaine ſhalbe caſt out, and their ſtincke ſhall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines ſhall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoſte of heauen, ᶜ ſhalbe diſſolued, and the heauens ſhalbe folden like a booke: and all their hoſtes ſhall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figge tree.

c He ſpeaketh this in reſpect of mans iudgemẽt, who in great feare and horrible troubles thinketh that heauen and earth periſheth.

5 For my ſwoorde ſhalbe ᵈ drunken in the heauen: behold, it ſhall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of ᵉ my curſe to iudgement.

d I haue determined in my ſecrete counſell and in the hearts of my enemies to deſtroy them, till my ſworde be weary with ſheading blood.

6 The ſwoorde of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat and with the blood of the ᶠ lambes and the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rammes: for the Lorde hath a ſacrifice in ᵍ Bozrah, and a great ſlaughter in the land of Edom.

e They had an opinion of holines becauſe they came of the Patriarke Izhak, but in effect were accurſed of God, & enemies vnto his Church as the Papiſts are.

7 And the ʰ Vnicornes ſhal come downe with them, and the heiffers with the bulles, and their lande ſhalbe drunken with blood, and their duſt made fat with fatneſſe.

f That is, both of yong and old, poore and riche of his enemies.

8 For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yeere of recompenſe for the iudgement of Zion.

g That famous citie ſhalbe conſumed as a ſacrifice burnt to aſhes.

9 And the riuers thereof ſhalbe turned into pitch, and the duſt thereof into ⁱ brimſtone, and the land thereof ſhalbe burning pitch.

h The mightie and riche ſhalbe aſwell deſtroyed as the inferiours.

10 It ſhal not be quenched night nor day: the ſmoke thereof ſhal go vp euermore: it ſhall bee deſolate from generation to generation: none ſhall paſſe thorough it for euer.

i He alludeth to the deſtruction of Sodom and Gomorah, Geneſis 19. 24.

11 But the pelicane ᵏ and the hedgehogge ſhall poſſeſſe it, and the great owle, and the rauen ſhall dwell in it, and hee ſhall ſtretche out vpon it the lyne ˡ of vanitie, and the ſtones of emptineſſe.

k Reade Zephan. 2. 14.

l In vaine ſhall anie man goe about to builde it againe.

12 ᵐ The nobles thereof ſhall call to the kingdome, and there ſhalbe none, and all the princes thereof ſhalbe as nothing.

m Meaning, there ſhall be neither order nor policie, nor ſtate of common weale.

13 And it ſhal bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shalbe an habitation for dragons and a court for ostriches.

14 There shall [m] meete also Ziim & Iim, and the Satyre shall crie to his felowe, and the shricheowle shall rest there, and shal finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There [o] shal the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatche, and gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the vultures also be gathered, euery one with her make.

16 Seeke in the [p] booke of the Lorde, and reade: none of [q] these shall faile, none shall want her make: for [r] his mouth hath commanded, and his verie Spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the [s] lot for them, and his hand hath deuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Be you strong, feare not: behold, your God commeth with [e] vengeance: euen God with a recompence, he will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the [f] blinde bee lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6 Then shal the lame man leape as an hart, and the dumme mans tongue shall sing: for in the [g] wildernesse shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

7 And the dry ground shalbe as a poole, and the thirstie as springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where they lay, shalbe a place for reedes and rushes.

8 And there shalbe a path and a way, and the way shalbe called [h] holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for [i] hee shalbe with them, & walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre.

9 There shalbe [k] no lion, nor noysome beasts shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke.

10 Therefore the [l] redeemed of the Lorde shall returne and come to Sion with praise: and euerlasting ioye shalbe vpon their heads: they shal obtaine ioye and gladnesse, and sorowe and mourning shall flee awap.

a He propheci-eth of the ful restauration of the Church, both of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shalbe fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wildernesse.
b The Church which was before compared to a barren wildernesse, shall by Christ be made most plenteous and beautifull.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Sancherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

1 Now [a] in the [b] fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Sancherib King of Assur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the King of Assur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish towarde Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great host, and hee stoode by the conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the [c] steward of the house, and Shebna [d] the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And [e] Rabshakeh said vnto them, Tel you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Assur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, [f] Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it wil goe into his hand, & pearce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God, Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worshippe before this altar?

8 Nowe therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Assur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou [g] despise any captaine of the [h] least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the a This history is rehearsed, because it is as a seale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for the threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his church to be afflicted, but at length would sende deliuerance.

b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatrie, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his church to trie their faith and pacience.
c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophecied, Chap. 22.20.
d This declareth that there were fewe godlie to be found in the Kinges house, when he was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weightie matter.
e Sancheribs chiefe captaine.
f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsely charging him, that he put his trust in his witte and eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lord.
g Satan laboured to pull the godly King from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them: to yeeld himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God.
h Or, turne backe.
h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sancheribs least captaines.

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, wil pretende the Name of the Lord: but we must trie the spirits, whether they be of God or no.

k They were afraid, least by his words he should haue stirred the people against § King, and also pretended to growe to some appoyntment with him.

l The Ebrewe word signifieth blessing: whereby this wicked captaine would haue persuaded the people, that their condition should be better vnder Sancherib then vnder Hezekiah.

m That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which these two other cities also were: whereby we see how euery towne had his peculiar idole, and howe the wicked make God an idole, because they do not vnderstand § God maketh them his scourge and punisheth cities for sinne.

n Not that they did not shew by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their clothes, but they knew it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this infidel, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

Loyde to this lande to destrope it? The Loyd sayd vnto me, i Go vp against this land and destrop it.

11 ¶ Then sayde Eliakim, § Shebna and Joah vnto Rabshakeh, k Speake, I praye thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstande it) and talke not with vs in the Jewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then sayd Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these woordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall: that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne * pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loude voice in the Jewes language, and said, Heare the woords of the great king, of the King of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shal not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neyther let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Loyd, saying, The Loyde will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus sayeth the King of Asshur, Make l agreement with me, & come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well, 17 Till I come & bring you to a land like your owne lande, euen a land of wheate and wine, a lande of breade and vineyardes.

18 Least Hezekiah deceyue you, saying, The Loyde will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hande of the king of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of m Hamath, & of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these landes, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hande, that the Loyde shoulde deliuer Jerusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they * kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the stewarde of the house, & Shebna the chancellor, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and told him the woords of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsel of Isaiah, who promiseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Sancherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sancherib is slayne of the Angel, 38 And he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

AND * when the King Hezekiah heard it, he a rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and came into the house of the Loyd. 2 King. 19. 1.

a In signe of griefe and repentance.

2 And he sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackecloth vnto b Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

b To haue comfort of him by the worde of God, that his faith might be confirmed and so his prayer be more earnest: teaching hereby that in all dangers these two are the onely remedies, to seeke vnto God & his ministers.

3 And they sayd vnto him, Thus sayth Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the c birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

c We are in as great sorowe as a woman that trauaileth of childe, and can not be deliuered.

4 If so be the Loyd thy God hath d heard the woordes of Rabshakeh, whome the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproche him with woordes which the Loyde thy God hath heard, then e lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

d That is, will declare by effect that hee hath heard it: for whē God deferreth to punish, it seemeth to § flesh, that he knoweth not the sinne, or heareth not the cause.

5 So the seruants of the king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Loyd, Be not afrayd of the woordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruantes of the King of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

e Declaring that the ministers office doeth not onely stand in comforting by the word, but also in praying for the people.

7 Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a f noyse, and returne to his owne lande, and I wil cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

f Of § Egyptians and Ethiopians, that shal come & fight against him.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and founde the King of Asshur fighting against g Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

g Which was a citie toward Egypt, thinking thereby to haue stayed the force of his enemies.

9 He heard also me say of Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, hee sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God h deceyue thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the king of Asshur.

h Thus God would haue him to vtter a most horrible blasphemie before his destruction: as to call the author of al trueth a deceiuer: some gather hereby that Shebna had disclosed vnto Sancherib the answere that Isaiah sent to the King.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou bee deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as i Gozan, and k Haran, and Rezeph, & the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

i Which was a citie of the Medes.

13 Where is the king of Hamath, & the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

k Called also Charre a citie in Mesopotamia, whence Abraham came after his fathers death.

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hande of the messengers and read it, and her went vp into the house of the Loyde, and Hezekiah spred it before the Loyd.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Loyde, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which l dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the king-domes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.
17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare:
open thine eyes, O Lorde, and see, and heare all the wordes of Sanherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing
God.
18 Trueth it is, O Lorde, that the kinges of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, and m their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worcke of mans hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.
20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hande, that n all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord.
21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Sanherib king of Asshur, 22 This is the word that the Lorde hath spoken against him, O o virgine, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Jerusalem, he hath shaken his head at thee.
23 Whome hast thou rayled on and blas-phemed? and against whome hast thou exalted thy voyce, & lifted vp thine eyes on hye? euen against the p holy one of Israel.
24 By thy seruants hast thou rayled on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the toppe of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the fayre firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heyght of his toppe and to the forest of his frutefull places.
25 I haue digged q and dronke the waters, & with the plant of my feete haue
I dried all the riuers closed in.
26 Hast thou not heard howe I haue of olde time made it, r and haue formed it long agoe? and should I nowe bring it, that it shoulde be destroyed, and layed on ruinous heapes, as cities defensed, 27 Whose inhabitants "haue smal powe, and are afrayd and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on the house toppes, or corne blasted s afore it be growen.
28 But I knowe thy dwelling, and thy t going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against me.
29 Because thou ragest against me, & thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine u hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou x camest.
30 And this shalbe a y signe vnto thee, O
Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the z second yeere, such things as growe without sowing: and in the third yeere, sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof.
31 And a the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah, shall agayne take roote downeward and beare fruite vp-ward.
32 For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shal doe this.
33 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the king of Asshur, He shal not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.
34 By the same way that he came, he shal returne, and not come into this citie, sayth the Lord.
35 For I wil defende this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant
b Dauids sake.
36 ¶ c Then the Angel of the Lorde went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth, foure score, and fiue thousande: so when they arose early in the morning, beholde, they were all dead corpses.
37 So Sanherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at d Nineueh.
38 And as hee was in the temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adrameslech and Sharezer his sonnes e slew him with the swoorde, and they escaped into the land of f Ararat: and g Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

l He groundeth his prayer on Gods promes, who promised to heare them from betweene the Cherubims.
m Meaning, of the ten tribes.
n He declareth for what cause he prayed, that they might be deliuered: to wit, that God might be glorified thereby through all the world.
o Whome God had chosen to himselfe, as a chaste virgine, and ouer whome he had care to preserue her from the lusts of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.
p Declaring hereby, that they that are enemies to Gods church, fight against him whose quarel his Church onely mainteineth.
q He boasteth of his policie, in that that he can finde meanes to nourish his armie: and of his power, in that that his armie is so great, that it is able to drie vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters, which the Iewes had closed in.
r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserue it, and therefore he sayth that he formed it of olde, euen in his eternal counsel, which cannot be changed.
" Ebr. are short in hand.
s He sheweth that the state and power of most florishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Churche, which shall remayne for euer, because God is the mainteiner thereof.
t Meaning, his counsels and enterprises.
u Because Sanherib shewed himselfe, as a deuouring fish and furious beast, he vseth these similitudes, to teach how he wil take him and guyde him.
x Thou shalt lose thy labour.
y God giueth signes after two sortes: some go before the thing, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for confirmation of their faith: and some goe after the thing, as the sacrifice, which they were commanded to make three dayes after their departure: and these latter are to keepe the benefites of God in our remembrance, of the which sort this here is.
z He promiseth that for two yeres the ground of it selfe should feede them.

2 Then

2 Then Hezekiah [b] turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord,
3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember nowe howe I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfit heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.
4 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,
5 Go, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: beholde, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeres.
6 And I will deliuer thee [c] out of the hand of the king of Assyrie, and this citie: for I will defende this citie.
7 And [d] this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will do this thing that he hath spoken,
8 Beholde, I will bring againe the shadowe of [e] degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the dial of Ahaz) by [f] sunne ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.
9 [g] The writing of Hezekiah king of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sickenes.
10 I said in the [h] cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeres.
11 I said, [i] I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.
12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remoued from mee, like a shepheardes tent: I [k] haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day [l] to night, thou wilt make an ende of me.
13 I reckoned [m] to the morning: but hee brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me.
14 Like a crane or a swallowe, so did I [n] chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord, [o] it hath oppressed me, comfort me.
15 What shall I say? [p] for he hath saide it to mee, and he hath done it: I shall walke [q] weakely all my yeeres in the bitternesse of my soule.
16 O Lorde, [r] to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirite shalbe knowen, that thou causedst me to [s] sleepe and hast giuen life to mee.
17 Beholde, for felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my [t] sinnes behind thy backe.
18 For [u] the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.
19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I do this day: the father to the [x] children shall declare thy trueth.
20 The Lorde was readie to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, all the dayes of [y] our life in the house of the Lord.
21 Then saide Isaiah, Take a lumpe of drie figges and [z] lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer.
22 Also Hezekiah [a] had said, What is the signe, that I shal goe vp into the House of the Lord?

b For his heart was touched & feare of Gods iudgemẽt, seeing he had appoynted him to die so quickly after his deliuerance from so great calamitie, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, and also foreseeing the great change, that should come in the Church, for asmuch as he left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not borne: and whē he reigned, we see what a tyrant he was.
c He doth not onely promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest and quietnes from the Assyrians, who might haue renued their armie to reuenge their former discomfiture.
d For Hezekiah had asked, for confirmation of his faith, a signe, as verse 22 and 2.King.20.8: whereunto he was moued by singular motion of Gods Spirit.
e Reade 2. King. 20.10.
f He left this song of his lamentation and thankesgiuing to all posteritie, as a monument of his owne infirmitie and thankful heart for Gods benefites, as Dauid did, Psal. 51.
g At what time it was told me, that I should die.
h I shall no more praise the Lord here in his Temple among the faithfull: thus God suffereth his dearest children to want his consolation for a time, that his grace afterward may the more appeare when they feele their owne weakenes.
i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.
k That is, in one day, or shortly.
l Ouer night I thought that I shoulde liue till morning, but my pangs in the night perswaded me the contrary: he sheweth the horrour, that the faithfull haue when they apprehend Gods iudgement against their sinne.
m I was so oppreſt with sorow, that I was not able to vtter my wordes, but onely to grone and sigh.
n To wit, sorow & griefe both of body & mynd.
o God hath declared by his Prophet that I shall die, and therefore I wil yeeld vnto him.
p I shal haue no release, but continual sorowes whiles I liue.
q They that shal ouerliue thy men that are nowe aliue, and all they that are in these yeeres shall acknowledge this benefite.
r That after that thou hadest condemned me to death, thou restoredst me to life.
s Where as I thought to haue liued in rest and ease, being deliuered from mine enemie, I had griefe vpon griefe.
t He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, & Gods fauour, then a thousand liues.
u For as much as God hath placed man in this worlde to glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes were shortened, eyther because that they seemed vnworthy for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glorie, seeing that there are so fewe in earth, that doe regard it, as Psal. 6.5. and 115.17.
x All posteritie shal acknowledge, and the fathers according to their duttie toward their children shall instruct them in thy graces, and mercies toward me.
y He sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation & Church: to wit, to giue the Lorde thankes for his benefites.
z Reade 2. King. 20.7.
a As verse 7.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproued, because he shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

1 At the same time, [a] Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, king of Babel, sent [b] letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered.
2 And Hezekiah was [c] glad of them, and shewed them the house of his treasures, the siluer, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not.
3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What saide these men? & from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.
4 Then saide he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

a This was the first King of Babylon, which ouercame the Assyrians in the tenth yeere of his reigne.
b Partly moued with the greatnes of the miracle, partly because he shewed himselfe enemie to his enemies, but chiefly, because he would ioyne with them whom God fauoured, & haue their helpe, if occasion serued.
c Reade 2. King. 20.13 and 2.chr. 32.25,31.
d He asketh him of the particulars to make him vnderstand the craft of the wicked, which he before being ouercome with their flatterie, and blinded with ambition could not see.

5 And Isaiah said to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hoastes, 6 Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine house, & which thy fathers haue laied vp in store vntill this day, shalbe [c] caried to Babel; nothing shal-be left, saith the Lord.
[c] By the grieuousnes of the punishment is declared howe greatly God detesteth ambition & vaine glory.
7 And of thy sonnes, that shall procéede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shalbe [f] eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.
[f] That is, officers and seruants.
8 [g] Then saide Hezekiah to Isaiah, The worde of the Lorde is good, which thou hast spoken: & he said, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.
[g] Reade 2. King 20.19.

CHAP. XL.

2 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproueth the idolaters, and them that trust not in the Lord.

1 [a] Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God.
[a] This is a consolation for the church, assuring them that they shalbe neuer destitute of Prophets, whereby he exhorteth to true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him,
2 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and crie vnto her, that her [b] warre-fare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lordes hande [c] double for all her sinnes.
to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure the of their deliuerance both of body and soule.
[b] The time of her affliction.
[c] Meaning, sufficient, as chap. 61.7. and full correction, or double grace, whereas she deserued double punishment.
3 [d] The voyce crieth in the [e] wildernesse, [f] Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.
[d] To wit, of the Prophets.
[e] That is, in Babylon, and other places where they were kept in captiuitie, & miserie.
[f] Meaning, Cyrus and Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a ready way to Ierusalem: and this was fully accomplished, when Iohn the Baptist brought tidings of Iesus Christs comming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne & Satan, Mat. 3.3.
4 Euery valley shalbe exalted, and every [g] mountaine & hill shalbe made lowe:
and the crooked shalbe streight, and the rough places plaine.
[g] Whatsoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shalbe removed.
5 And the glory of the Lord shalbe reuea-led, and all [h] flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.
[h] This miracle shalbe so great, that it shalbe knowen through al the world.
6 [i] The voyce said, Cry. And he said, What shal I cry? All flesh is grasse, and al the [k] grace thereof is as the flowre of the field.
[i] The voyce of God, which spake to the Prophet Isaiah.
[k] Meaning, al mans wisedome and naturall powers, Iames 1.10.1.pet.1.24.
7 The grasse withereth, the flowre fadeth, because the [l] Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.
[l] The Spirit of God shall discouer the vanitie in al that seeme to haue any excellencie of themselues.
8 The grasse withereth, the flowre fadeth:
but the [m] word of our God shall stande for euer.
[m] Though considering the frailty of mans nature many of the Iewes should perish and so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promes should be fulfilled, and they that remained, shoulde feele the fruite thereof.
9 ¶ O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie [n] mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of [n] To publishe this benefite through all the worlde.
Iudah, Behold [o] your God.
10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and [p] his arme shal rule for him:
behold, his rewarde is with him, and his worke before him.
[o] He sheweth at one worde the perfection of all mans felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence.
[p] His power shal be sufficient without helpe of any other, and shall haue all meanes in him-selfe to bring his will to passe.
11 He shall feede his flocke like a shep-heard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, & carry them in his bosome, and shall guide them with [q] young.
[q] He shall shew his care and fauour ouer them that are weake, and tender.
12 Who hath measured the waters in his [r] fist & counted heauen with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a balance?
[r] Declaring that as God onely hath all power, so doth he vse the same for the defence & maintenance of his Church.
13 Who hath instructed the Spirit of the Lorde? or was [s] his counseller, or taught him?
[s] He sheweth Gods infinite wisedome for the same ende and purpose.
14 Of whom toke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?
[t] He speaketh al this to the intent that they should neither feare man, nor put their trust in any, saue onely in God.
15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: behold, he taketh awap the iles as a little dust.
16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beastes thereof sufficient for a burnt offring.
17 All nations before him are as [t] nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.
18 To whom then [u] will ye liken God?
or what similitude will ye set vp vnto
him?
[u] Hereby he armeth them against the idolatrie, wherewith they should bee tempted in Babylon.
19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldsmith maketh siluer plates.
20 Doeth not [x] the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation: he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workes-man, to prepare an image, that shal not be moued.
[x] He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore that haue not to suffice their owne necessities, will defraude themselues to serue their idoles.
21 Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard [y] it? hath it not bene told you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstand it by the [z] foundation of the earth?
[y] Haue ye not the worde of God, which plainely condemneth idolatrie?
22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, he stretcheth out the heauens, as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in.
[z] Can you not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serue your vse, that you should not serue them nor worship them? [a] So that his power appeareth in euery place where so euer we turne our eyes.
23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, 24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowe, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth:
for he did euen [a] blowe vpon them, and they witherd, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble.
25 To whom now will ye liken me, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one?
26 Lift vp your eyes on hie, and behold who hath created these things, & bring b Who hath set in order the infinite nomber of the starres.

c He rebuketh the Iewes, because they did not rest on the prouidence of god, but thought that he had forsaken them in their troubles.
d And therfore al power is in his hand to deliuer when his time commeth.
e Shewing that man must patiently abide, and not curiously seeke out the cause of Gods delay in our afflictions.
f They that trust in their owne vertue, and do not acknowledge that all commeth of God.

geth [b] out their armies by nomber, and calleth them al by names: by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing lacketh.
27 Why saist thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, [c] My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?
28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the [d] endes of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his [e] vnderstanding.
29 But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.
30 [f] Euen the young men shal faint, and be wearie, and the young men shal stumble and fall.
31 But they that wayte vpon the Lord, shal renewe their strength: they shall lift vp their wings as the egles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercy in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEepe [a] silence before me, O ilands, and let the people [b] renewe their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.
2 Who raised vp [c] iustice from the East, & called him to his foote? & gaue the nations before him, & subdued the kings? he gaue them as dust to his sworde, and as scatterd stubble vnto his bowe.
3 He pursued them, & passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feet.
4 Who hath wrought & done it? [d] he that calleth the generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the [e] first, and with the last I am the same.
5 The iles sawe it, and did [f] feare, & the endes of the earth were abashed, drewe neere, and came.
6 Euery man helped his neighbour and said to his brother, [g] Be strong.
7 So the workman comforted the founder, & he that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, and he fastened it with nailes, [h] it should not be moued.
8 ¶ But thou, Israel, art my [i] seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend.
9 For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.
10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afrayde, for I am thy God: I will [k] strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will susteine thee with the [l] right hand of my iustice.
11 Behold, al they that prouoke thee, shal be ashamed, and confounded: they shal be as nothing, and they that striue with thee, shal perish.
12 Thou shalt seeke them & shalt not [l] find them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shalbe as nothing, & the me that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.
13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.
14 Feare not, thou [m] worme, Iaakob, & ye men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, saith the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.
15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a newe threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe.
16 Thou shalt fanne them and the winde shall carry them awaye, and the whirlewinde shal scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glorie in the holy one of Israel.
17 When [o] the poore and the needie seeke water, and there is none (their tongue fainteth for thirst: I the Lord wil heare them: I the God of Israel wil not forsake them)
18 I will open riuers in the toppes of the hilles, and fountaines in the middes of the valleys: I will make the wildernes as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water.
19 I will set in the wildernesse the cedar, the shittah tree, and the murre tree, and the pine tree, & I will set in the wildernes the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.
20 Therefore let them see and know, and let them consider and understand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel [q] hath created it.
21 [r] Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith the king of Iaakob.
22 Let them bring them forth, & let them tell vs what shall come: let them shewe the former thinges what they be, that we may consider them, and knowe the latter ende of them: or els declare vs things for to come.
23 Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may knowe that you are gods: yea, do good or do euil, that we may declare it, and behold it together.
24 Behold, ye are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath [s] chosen a God, as though he pleaded his cause with al nations, requireth silence that he may be heard in his right.

b That is, gather all their power and supports.
c Who called Abraham (who was the paterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) from the idolatrie of the Chaldeans to go to and fro at his commandement, and placed him in the land of Canaan?
d Who hath created man & maintained his succession.
e Though the world set vp neuer so manie gods, yet they diminish nothing of my glorie: for I am all one, vnchangeable, which haue euer bene, and shalbe for ever.
f Consulting mine excellent workes among my people.
g They assembled themselues, and conspired against me to maintaine their idolatrie.
h He noteth the obstinacie of the idolaters to maintaine their superstitions.
i And therefore oughtest not to pollute thy selfe with the superstition of the Gentiles.
k That is, by the force of my promises, in the performance wherof I will shew my selfe faithful & iust.
l Because they shalbe destroied
m Thus he calleth them because they were contemned of al the world, and that they considering their own poore estate, should seek vnto him for helpe.
n I will make thee able to destroy all thine enemies, be they neuer so mighty:
& this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Christ.
o That is, they that shalbe afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon p God will rather change the order of nature, then they should want any thing, that cry to him by true faith in their miseries:
declaring to the heretby that they shall lacke nothing by [t] way, when they returne from Babylon.
q That is, hath appointed and determined that it shall come so to passe.
r He biddeth the idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idols, [t] they may be tried whether they know all things, & can do all things: which if they cannot do, he concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.
s So that a man can not make an idole, but he must do that, which God detesteth, and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuices, and forsaketh the Lords.

t Meaning, the Chaldeans.
u That is, Cyrus, who shall do all thing in my Name, and by my direction: wherby he meaneth, that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shalbe ordered by Gods prouidence and appoyntment.
x Both of the Chaldeans and others.
y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp t from the North, & he shall come: from the East sunne shall u he call vpon my Name, and shal come vpon x princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the foote.
26 Who hath declared from þ beginning, that we may know? or before time, that we may say, Ye is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth y your words.
27 I am the first, that saith to Zion, Behold, behold x them: & I wil giue to Ierusalem a one that shall bring good tydings.
28 But when b I beheld, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellour, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.
29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde and confusion.

z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie. a To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and ministers. b When I looked whether the idoles could do these things, I founde that they had neither wisdome nor power to doe any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanitie.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the worlde. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhode is called here seruant, the Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after that they haue declared any great promes, because he is the foundatiõ wherupon al the promises are made and ratified.
b For I haue cõmitted all my power to him, as to a most faithful steward. Some reade, I will establish him: to wit, in his office, by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit.
c He only is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meanes of reconciliation, Matth. 12. 18. ephe. 1. 4.
d He shal declare himselfe gouernour ouer the Gentiles, & call them by his worde, & rule them by his Spirit.
e His comming shall not be with pompe and noyse, as earthly princes.
f He will not hurt the weake & feeble, but support & cõfort thẽ.
g Meaning the weeke of a lampe, or candle which is almost out, but he wil cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.
h Although he fauour the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to trueth and equitie.
i Till he haue set all things in good order.
k The Gentiles shalbe desirous to receiue his doctrine.
l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.
m To assist & guide thee.
n As him, by whom the promise, made to all nations in Abraham, shalbe fulfilled.

1 Beholde, a my seruant: b I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whome my soule c delyteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shal bring forth d iudgement to the Gentiles.
2 He shall not e cry, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.
3 f A bruised rede shal he not breake, and the smoking g flax shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in h trueth.
4 He shal not faile nor be discouraged till he haue i set iudgement in the earth: and the k yles shal wayte for his law.
5 Thus saith God the Lord (he that created the heauens & spred them abroade: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buddes thereof: hee that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirite to them that walke therein)
6 I the Lord haue called thee in l righteousnes, and wil holde m thine hand, and I will keepe thee, & giue thee for a n couenant of the people, & for a light of the Gentiles.
7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blinde, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darknes, out of the prison house.
8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my o glorie will I not giue to another, neither my prayse to grauen images.
9 Behold, þ former things are p come to passe, and new things do I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.
10 Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, and his praise from the ende of the earth: ye that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.
11 Let the wildernes and the cities thereof lyft vp their voyce, the townes that q Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.
12 Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, and declare his prayse in the ylands.
13 The Lord shal go forth as a r gyant: he shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shoute and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.
14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene stil & refrained my selfe: nowe will I crie like a s trauailing woman: I wil destroy and deuoure at once.
15 I will make waste mountaines & hilles, and dry vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will dry vp the poles.
16 ¶ And I will bring the t blinde by a way, that they knew not, & leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I will make darknes light before them, & crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.
17 They shalbe turned backe: they shalbe greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.
18 ¶ Heare, ye deafe: & ye blinde, regard, that ye may see.
19 Who is blinde but my u seruant? or deafe as my x messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the y perfit, and blinde as the Lords seruant?
20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not?
21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnes sake that he may magnifie the law, and exalt it.
22 But this people is z robbed and spoyled, and shall be all snared in dungeons, & they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shal deliuer: a spoyle, and none shal say, a Restore.
23 Who amõg you shal hearken to this,

o I wil not suffer my glory to be diminished: which I should do, if I were not faithfull in performing the same, & the idolaters thereby would extoll their idoles aboue me.
p As in time past I haue bene true in my promise, so wil I be in time to come.
q Meaning the Arabians, vnder whom he comprehendeth all the people of the East.
r He sheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in ỹ conseruation of his Church.
s I wil haste to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman that desireth to be deliuered when shee is in trauayle.
t That is, my poore people, which are in perplexitie and care.
u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light because of my Lawe.
x The Priest to whom my worde is committed, which shoulde not onely heare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it.
y As the Priests and Prophets that should be lights to others.
z Because they wil not acknowledge this benefite of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he suffereth them to be spoyled of their enemies through their owne faule and incredulitie.
a There shalbe none to succour them, or to wil the enemie to restore that, which he hath spoyled.

and

and take heed, & heare for y afterwarde?
24 Who gaue Iaakob for a ſpoyle, and Iſrael to the robbers? Did not the Lorde, becauſe wee haue ſinned againſt him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.
25 Therefore he powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the ſtrength of battell: and it ſet him on fire rounde about, and he knew not, & it burned him vp, yet he conſidered not.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lorde comforteth his people. He promiſeth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

BVt now thus ſayth the Lord, a that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Iſrael, b Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.
2 When thou paſſeſt through the c waters, I will be with thee, & through the floods, that they do not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkeſt through the verie fire, thou ſhalt not bee burnt, neyther ſhall the flame kindle vpon thee.
3 For I am the Lorde thy God, the holy one of Iſrael, thy Sauiour: I gaue d Egypt for thy ranſome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.
4 Becauſe thou waſt precious in my ſight, and thou waſt honorable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue e man for thee, and people for thy ſake.
5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy ſeede from the f Eaſt, and gather thee from the Weſt.
6 I will ſay to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my ſonnes from farre, and my daughters from the endes of the earth.
7 Euery one that is called by my g name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.
8 I will bring forth the blind people, and they ſhall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they ſhall haue eares.
9 Let all the nations be gathered h together, and let the people be aſſembled: who among them can declare this and ſhew vs former things? let them bring forth their i witneſſes, that they may be iuſtified: but let them k heare, and ſay, It is truth.
10 You l are my witneſſes, ſayth the Lord, & my m ſeruant, whome I haue choſen:

a After theſe threatnings he promiſeth deliuerance to his Church, becauſe he hath regenerate thē, adopted them, and called them.
b When thou ſeeſt dangers & conſpiracies on al ſides, remēber this benefite and the loue of thy God, and it ſhall encourage thee.
c By water and fire, he meaneth al kinde of troubles and perils.
d I turned Sanerib's power againſt theſe cōtries, and made them to ſuffer that affliction which thou ſhouldeſt haue done, & ſo were as the paiment of thy ranſome, Chap. 37.9.
e I wil not ſpare any man rather then thou ſhouldeſt periſh: for God more eſteemeth one of his faithfull, then all the wicked in the world.

b Meaning, Gods wrath.

therefore ye ſhal know and beleeue me, n and vnderſtand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither ſhall there be after me.
11 I, euen I am the Lorde, and beſide me there is no Sauiour.
12 I haue declared, and I haue ſaued, and I haue ſhewed, when there was no ſtrange god among you: therefore you are my witneſſes, ſayeth the Lorde, that I am God.
13 Yea, before the day was, I am, & there is none o can deliuer out of mine hand: I will do it, and who ſhall let it?
14 Thus ſayth the Lorde your redeemer, the holy one of Iſrael, For your ſake I haue ſent to Babel, and p brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Chaldeans crie in q the ſhippes.
15 I am the Lorde your holy one, r creator of Iſrael, your King.
16 Thus ſayth the Lorde which maketh a way in ſ the Sea, and a path in the mightie ſ waters.
17 Which bringeth out the t charet and horſe, the armie and the power: they lie together, and ſhall not riſe: they are extinct, and quenched as towe.

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lord promiſeth comfort and that he will aſſemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beaſtlines of idolaters.

1 YEt now heare, O Iaakob my ſeruant, and Iſrael, whome I haue choſen.

2 Thus ſayth the Lord, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: he will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my ſeruant, & thou righteous, [b] whome I haue choſen.

3 For I wil powre water vpon [c] thirſtie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will powre my Spirite vpon thy ſeede, and my bleſſing vpon thy buddes,

4 And they [d] ſhall growe as among the graſſe, & as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One ſhal ſay, I am the Lordes: another [e] ſhalbe called by the name of Iaakob: & another ſhal ſubſcribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himſelf by the name of Iſrael.

6 Thus ſayth the Lord the King of Iſrael & his redeemer, the Lorde of hoſtes, [f] I am the firſt, and I am the laſt, and without me is there no God.

7 And who is like me, that ſhal [g] cal, and ſhall declare it, and ſet [h] it in order before me, ſince I appointed the [i] ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let [k] them ſhew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraide: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? [l] you are euen my witneſſes, whether there bee a God beſide mee, and that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and [m] their delectable things ſhall nothing profit: and they are their owne witneſſes, [n] that they ſee not nor know: therefore they ſhalbe confounded.

10 Who hath made [o] a god, or molten an image, that is [p] profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all that are of the [q] felowſhip thereof, ſhall be confounded: for the workmen themſelues are men: let them all be gathered together, and [r] ſtand by, yet they ſhall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The ſmith taketh an inſtrument, and worketh in the coles, and faſhioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the ſtrength of his armes: yea, he is an [s] hungred, and his ſtrength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter ſtretcheth out a line: he faſhioneth it with a red thred, he planeth it, and yee purtreyeth it with the compaſſe, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in [t] an houſe.

14 He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, & taketh courage among the trees of the foreſt: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourith it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and [u] warme himſelfe: he alſo kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worſhippeth it: yea he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, & vpon the halfe thereof he [x] eateth fleſhe: he rosteth the roſte and is ſatisfied: alſo hee warmeth him ſelfe and ſayeth, Aha, I am warme, I haue ſeene at the fire.

17 And the reſidue thereof hee maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it and worſhippeth and prayeth vnto it, and ſayeth, Deliuer me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderſtand: for God hath ſhut their eies that they can not ſee, and their hearts, that they can not vnderſtand.

19 And none [y] conſidereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderſtanding to ſay, I haue burnt half of it, euen in the fire, & haue baked bread alſo vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted fleſh, and eaten it, and ſhall I make the reſidue thereof an abomination? ſhall I bowe to the ſtocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth [z] of aſhes: a ſeduced heart hath deceiued him, that he cannot deliuer his ſoule, nor ſay, Is there not a lie in my right hande?

21 [a] Remember theſe (O Iaakob and Iſrael) for thou art my ſeruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my ſeruant: O Iſrael forget me not.

t To place it in ſome Temple.

u He ſetteth forth the obſtinacy and malice of the idolaters, which though they ſee by daily experience that their idoles are no better then the reſt of matter, wherof they are made, yet they refuſe the one part and make a god of the other, as the papiſtes make their cake god, and the reſt of their idoles.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, hee nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anointed for a time, but after another sort then he called Dauid.

c To guide him in [g] deliuerance of my people.

d I will take away all impediments and lets.

1 Thus saith the Lorde vnto [a] Cyrus his [b] anointed, whose right hande I haue holden [c] to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I wil go before thee and make the [d] crooked streight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the iron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenes, and the things hid in secrete places, that thou mayest [e] know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iaakob my seruantes [f] sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, & name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I [g] girded thee though thou hast not knowen me,

6 That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne & from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the [h] light and create darknes: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord do all these things.

8 Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes drop downe righteousnes: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue [i] created him.

9 [k] Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherdes of the earth: shall the clay say to him that facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, [l] It hath none handes?

10 Woe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought foorth?

11 Thus saith the Lorde, the holy one of Israel, & his maker, [m] Ye me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine handes: commaund you me.

12 I haue made the earth, & created man vpon it: I, whose handes haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their [n] armie.

13 I haue raised [o] him vp in righteousnes, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall builde my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for [p] price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lorde, The labour of [q] Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be [r] thine: they shall follow thee, and they shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verely thou, O God, [s] hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shal be ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shalbe saued in the Lorde, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded worlde without ende.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created the heauen, God himselfe, that formed the e Not that Cyrus did knowe God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue, of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people.

f Not for any thing, that is in thee, or for thy worthines.

g I haue giuen thee strength, power and authoritie.

h I send peace and warre, prosperitie and aduersitie, as Amos 3.6.

i He comforteth the Iewes, as if he would say, Though when ye looke to the heauens & earth for succour, ye see nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet I wil cause them to bring foorth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promise, which is ment by righteousnesse.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby he brideleth their impatiencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God and will not tary his pleasure: willing that man should matche with his like and not contend against God.

m That is, it is not perfitely made.

n Instead of murmuring, humble your selues and aske what ye wil for the consolation of my children, and you shalbe sore of it, as ye are of these things which are at your commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, and make it the application of the similitude.

o That is, the starres.

p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shewe by him the faithfulnes of my promise in deliuering my people.

q Meaning, freely and without ransome, or any grieuous condition.

r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so king Artahshashte gaue this money toward y building of the Temple, Ezra.7.21.

s Whereas tofore they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ.

t Hereby hee exhorteth the Iewes to patiencie, though their deliuerance be deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shalbe destroyed.

earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be [u] inhabited) I am the Lorde, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither [x] in a place of darkenes in the earth: I saide not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you me: I the Lorde doe speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw neere together, [y] ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? haue not I the Lorde? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and ye shalbe saued: all [z] the endes of the earth shalbe saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in [a] righteousnes, and shall not returne, That euery [b] knee shall bowe vnto mee, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely [c] he shal say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that [d] prouoke him, shalbe ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church.

x As do the false gods, which giue vncertaine answeres.

y All ye idolaters, which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiect.

d All the contemners of God.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idole. 3 He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his worke.

1 BEl is bowed downe: [a] Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the [b] beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a weary burden.

2 [c] They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not rid the burden, and their [d] soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are [e] borne of me from the [f] wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare heares: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carry you, [f] and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whome will ye make me like, or make me equall, or [g] compare me, that I should be like him?

6 They draw golde out of the bagge, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe, and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carry him, & set him in his place: so doth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, & be ashamed: bring it againe [h] to minde, O you transgressers.

9 Remember the former thinges of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me,

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will do whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a [i] bird from the East, & the man of my [k] counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so wil I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will do it.

12 Heare mee, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from [l] iustice.

13 I bring [m] neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarry: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

a Which hast lined in wealth, & wantonnes, and hast not yet benne ouercome by any enemy.

b Thy gouernement shalbe taken from thee.

c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.

d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride shalbe made vile, euen from the head to the foote.

e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie towarde thee.

f The Israelites shall confesse, that the Lord doth this for his Churches sake.

g For very shame, and hide thy selfe.

h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, & therefore in stead of pitying their miserie, thou diddest increase it.

g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation is but to proue them vile, Bar. 6. 25.

h Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.

i That is, Cyrus, against Babylon.

k Him by whome I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.

l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.

m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom. 3. 3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

1 COme downe and sit in the dust: O [a] virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no [b] throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the milstones, and [c] grind meale: loose thy locke: [d] make bare the feete: vncouer the legge, and passe through the floodes.

3 Thy filthines shalbe discouered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a [e] man.

4 [f] Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his name, the holy one of Israel.

5 [g] Sit still, and get thee into darkenes, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdomes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hande: thou diddest [h] shew them no mercy, but thou diddest

7 And thou saidest, I shall be a ladie for euer, so that thou didest not set thy minde to these things, neither didest thou remember the latter ende thereof.

8 Therefore nowe heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, & dwellest carelesse, that sayth in her heart, I am and none else: I shall not sit as a widowe, neither shall knowe the losse of children.

9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one daye, the losse of children and widdowhoode: they shall come vpon thee in their [i] perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast sayde, None seeth mee. Thy [k] wisedome and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast sayde in thine heart, I am, and none else.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shal fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not bee able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy sorcerers (with whome thou hast [l] wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profit, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let nowe the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticatours stand vp, & saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shalbe as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coles [m] to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne [n] quarter: none shall saue thee.

i So that thy punishment shal be so great, as is possible to be imagined.

k Thou diddest thinke that thine owne wisdome & policie would haue saued thee.

l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing, but in God, condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude the people, and to bring them from depending onely in God.

m They shall vtterly perish & no parte of them remaine.

n They shal flee euery one to [o] place, which he thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shal deceiue them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lorde alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

1 HEare ye this, O house of Iaakob, which are [a] called by the name of Israel, and are come out of [b] the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truetly, nor in righteousnes.

2 For they are called of the holie citie, and stay them selues [c] vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lorde of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed [d] them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knewe, that [e] thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinewe, and thy browe braße,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, least thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, & my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not ye declare it? I haue shewed thee newe things, euen nowe, and hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old, & euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Behold, I [f] knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest knowe them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the [g] wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I defer my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, [h] that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but [i] not as siluer: I haue [k] chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine own sake, for mine own sake will I do it: for howe [l] should my Name be polluted? & surely I will not giue my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob and Israel, my called, [m] I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, [n] they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued [o] him: he will do his will in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, & his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secrete from the [p] beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and nowe the Lorde God and his Spirit hath [q] sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lorde thy God, which teach thee [r] to profite, and leade thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

f Howe thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon.

g Wil ye not acknowledge this my benefite and declare it vnto others?

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare al things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdome.

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercie that I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercie that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weakenesse and infirmitie: for in siluer there is some purenesse, but in vs there is nothing, but drosse.

m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.

n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his owne honour: so that they can not perishe, but his glory should be diminished, as Deuter. 32. 27.

commandements, then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, & thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy sæde also had bene as the sande, & the fruite of thy body like the grauell thereof: his [x] name should not haue bin cut off nor destroied before me.

20 [y] Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel and declare this: shewe it forth to the ende of the earth: say ye, The Lorde hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they [z] were not thirstie: hee led them through the wildernes: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no [a] peace, sayeth the Lorde, vnto the wicked.

x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel.

y After that he had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy, that shall come of their deliuerance.

z He sheweth that it shalbe as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt.

a Thus he speaketh that y wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whome was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

1 [a] Heare me, O yles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lorde hath called [b] me from the womb, and made mention of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe [c] sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he [d] hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruãt, [e] Israel, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue [f] laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now sayth the Lorde, that formed me from the wombe to be his seruant, [g] I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, [h] yet shall I bee glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he sayde, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruãt, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue [i] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest bee my saluation vnto the ende of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lorde the redeemer of Israel, and his holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a [j] seruaunt of rulers, Kings shall see, & [k] arise, and princes shal worship, because of the Lorde, that is faithfull: and the Holie one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus sayth the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: & I will preserue thee, & will giue [m] thee for a couenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the [n] earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou mayst say to the [o] prisoners, Goe forth: and to them [p] are in darknes, Shew your selues: they shall feede in the wayes, and their [q] pastures shall be in all the toppes of the hilles.

10 They shal not be hungry, neither shal they bee thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for hee that hath compassion [r] on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my pathes shall be exalted.

12 Beholde, these shall come from farre: and lo, these from the North and from the West, and these from the lande of [s] Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O [t] heauens: and be ioyful, O earth: burst forth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath [u] forsaken me, & my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe: though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine [x] handes: thy [y] walles are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make [z] haste: thy destroyers & they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about and beholde: all these gather them selues together and come to thee: as I liue, sayth the Lord, thou shalt surely [a] put them all vpon thee as a garment, and girde thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, & thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narow for them that shal dwel in it, and they that did deuour thee, shal be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is straite for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am baren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I a This is spoken in the person of Christ to assure the faithful, that these promises shoulde come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the worlde, as Psalm. 2. 7.

c By the sword & shaft, he signifieth the vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine.

d God hath take me to his protection & defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his worde.

e By Israel is meant Christ, & all the body of the faithful, as y members & their head.

f Thus Christ in his mẽbers complaineth, that his labour, & preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approued of God.

g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approue my ministerie.

h To declare my Gospell to the Gentiles, Chap. 42. 6. act. 13. 47. Luke 2. 32.

i Meaning, the Iewes whome tyrantes kept in bondage.

k The benefite of their deliuerance shalbe so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it.

l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercie toward it, 2. Cor. 6. 2.

m Meaning, Christ alone.

n Signifying, y before Christ renue the earth by his worde, there is nothing but confusion & disorder.

o To them that are in the prison of sinne, & death.

p Being in Christes protection, they shalbe safe against all dangers, & free from the feare of the enemies.

q Meaning, that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that shoulde hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

r Meaning, the South countrey, so that Christ shall deliuer his from al the parts of the worlde.

s Read Chap. 44. 23.

t He obiecteth what the faithful might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort thẽ, w a most proper similitude, & full of consolation.

u Because I would not forget thee.

x Meaning, the good order of policie & discipline.

y I haue a continuall care to builde thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.

z He sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the worde of God and gouerned by his Spirit.

will lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles and set vp my standart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shalbe caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings [b] shall be thy nursing fathers, and Qurenes thalbe thy nurces: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy feete: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lorde: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shal [d] pray be taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lorde, [e] Euen the captiuitie of the mighty shalbe taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shal be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, 26 And will feede them that spoile thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shall be dronken with their own blood, as with sweete wine: & all flesh shall knowe that I the Lorde am thy sauiour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

a He sheweth, that Christ will not onely gather this great nomber of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, that Kings shall be conuerted to the Gospell, and bestow their power and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.

c Being ioyned with the Church they shall humble themselues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.

d He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Chaldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.

e This is the answere to their obiection, that none is stronger then the Lorde, neither hath a more iust title vnto them.

f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 22, 2. Chro. 20, 22. Chap. 19. 2.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christes obedience and victorie.

1 Thus saith the Lord, Where is that [a] bil of your mothers diuorcement, [b] whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor [c] to whom I sold you? Beehold, for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore [d] came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so [e] shortned, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Beholde, at my rebuke I dry vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe [f] heauens with darkenes, and make a [g] sacke their couering.

4 The Lorde God hath giuen [h] me a tongue of the learned, that I should knowe to minister a word in time to him that is [i] wearie: he wil raise me vp in the morning: in the morning he wil waken mine eare to heare, as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea. 2. 2.

b Which should declare, that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none.

c Signifying, that he sold them not for any debt or pouertie, but that they sold themselues to sinnes to buy their own lustes, and pleasures.

d He came by his Prophets & ministers, but they would not beleeue their doctrine and conuert.

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dried vp the red Sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iordens.

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10, 21.

g The Prophete doth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministerie of Gods worde.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie.

i As they that are taught, and made meete by him.

6 I gaue my back vnto the [k] smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with mee? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shall eate them vp.

10 [l] Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle [m] a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, & in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shal lie down in sorow.

k I did not shrinke from God for any persecutiō or calamity. Where by he sheweth, the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompēce of the wicked but after this sort, & also what is their comfort.

l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any shoulde obey aright the Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen.

m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuices and haue refused the light, and cōsolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorow, and not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great afflictions of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

1 Heare me, ye [a] that followe after righteousnes, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the [b] rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, & increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert [c] like Eden, & her wildernes like the garden of the Lorde: ioy and gladnes shalbe founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto mee, my people, and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a [d] Lawe shall proceede from me, & I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My [e] righteousnes is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine [f] armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall wait for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the [g] heauens shal vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousnesse shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that knowe righteousnes, the people in whose heart is my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproche of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes.

8 For the mothe shall eate them vp like a gara garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousnesse shalbe for ever, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lorde: rise vp, as [h] in the olde time in the generations of the worlde. Art not thou the same, that hath cut [i] Rahab, and wounded the [k] dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a waye for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lorde shall [l] returne, and come with ioye vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioye, and gladnes: and sorow and mourning shal flee awap.

12 I, euē I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, & the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spred out the heauens, & layd the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the daye, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue [m] hasteneth to be loosed, & that hee should not die in the pitte, nor that his bread should fayle.

15 And I am the Lorde thy God that deuided the Sea, when his waues rored: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my woordes in thy [n] mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and lape the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast dronke at the hand of the Lorde the [p] cup of his wrath: thou hast dronken the dregs of the cuppe of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whome shee hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hande of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two [q] things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction, and famine, and the sworde: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the stretes as a wilde bull in a net, & are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and dronken, but [r] not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euē the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoile thee: which haue sayde to thy soule, Bowe downe, that we may go ouer, and thou hast layd thy body as the ground, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

A Rise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garmentes of thy beautp, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for henceforth there shal no [a] more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the [b] dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, Ye were solde for [c] nought: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went [d] downe aforetime into Egypt to soiourne there, and Asshur [e] oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, & they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lorde? and my Name all the day continually is [f] blasphemed?

6 Therefore my people shall knowe my Name: therefore they shal knowe in that day, that I am he that doe speake: beholde, it is I.

7 How [g] beautiful vpon the mountains are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth peace? that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth?

8 [h] The voyce of thy watchmen shalbe heard: they shall lift vp their voyce, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lorde shall bring again Zion.

9 Ye desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lorde hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

d When Iaakob went thither in time of famine.

e The Egyptians might pretend some cause to oppresse my people, because they went thither and remayned amōg them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyrannie by: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians.

f To wit, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them.

g Signifying, that the ioye and good tidings of their deliuerāce should make their affliction in the meane time more easie: but this is chiefly ment of the spirituall ioy, as Nah. 1.15. rom. 10.15.

h The Prophetes which are thy watchmen, shall publish thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra and Nehemiah, but was accomplished vnder Christ.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Chriſt and his kingdome, whoſe word few will beleeue, 6 All men are ſinners. 11 Chriſt is our righteouſneſſe, 12 And is dead for our ſinnes.

1 WHo a will beleeue our reporte? and to whome is the b arme of the Lord reuiled?
2 But he ſhall growe vp before him as a branche, and as a c roote out of a dry d ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we ſhall ſee him, there ſhal be no forme that we ſhoulde deſire him.
3 He is deſpiſed and reiected of men: he is a man full of ſorowes and hath experience of e infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him: he was deſpiſed and we eſteemed him not.
4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carped f our ſorowes: yet we did iudge him, as g plagued, and ſmitten of God, and humbled.
5 But he was wounded for our tranſgreſſions, he was broken for our iniquities: the h chaſtiſement of our peace was vpon him, and with his ſtripes we are healed.
6 All we like ſheepe haue gone aſtray: we haue turned euery one to his owne way: and the Lord hath laied vpon him the i iniquitie of vs all.
7 He was oppreſſed and hee was afflicted, yet did he not k open his mouth: he is brought as a ſheepe to the ſlaughter, and as a ſheepe before her ſheerer is dumme, ſo he openeth not his mouth.
8 He was taken out from l priſon, and from iudgement: m and who ſhal declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the tranſgreſſion of my people was he plagued.
9 n And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, though he had done no wickednes, neither was anie deceite in his mouth.
10 Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him ſubiect to infirmities: when o he ſhall make his ſoule an offring for ſinne, he ſhall ſee his ſeede and ſhall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord ſhall proſper in his hand.
11 He ſhall ſee of p the trauaile of his ſoule, and ſhalbe ſatiſfied: by his knowledge ſhal my q righteous ſeruant iuſtifie manie: for he ſhall beare their iniquities.
12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he ſhall deuide the ſpoile with the ſtrong, becauſe he r hath powred out his ſoule vnto death: and he was counted with the tranſgreſſers, and he bare the ſinne of manie, and praied for the treſpaſſers.

8 From ſ croſſe, and graue, after that he was condemned.
m Though he died for ſinne, yet after his reſurrection he ſhal liue for euer, and this his death is to reſtore life to his members, Rom. 6.9.
n God the Father deliuered him into the hands of the wicked, and to the powers of the world to do with him what they would.
o Chriſt by offering vp himſelfe ſhal giue life to his Church, and ſo cauſe them to liue with him for euer. p That is, the fruite and effect of his labour, which is the ſaluation of his Church.
q Chriſt ſhall iuſtifie by fayth through his word, whereas Moſes could not iuſtifie by the Law. r Becauſe he humbled himſelfe, therefore he ſhalbe exalted to glorie, Philip. 2.7,8. ſ That is, of all that beleeue in him.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Mo of the Gentiles ſhal beleeue the Goſpel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whom afterward he ſheweth mercie.

REioyce, O a baren that bideſt not beare: breake forth into tope and reioyce, thou that bideſt not trauaile with childe: for the b deſolate hath mo children then the maried wife, ſaith the Lord.
2 c Enlarge the place of thy tentes, and let them ſpread out the curtaines of thine habitations: ſpare not, ſtretche out thy coyds, and make faſt thy ſtakes.
3 For thou ſhalt encreaſe on the right hand and on the left, and thy ſeede ſhall poſſeſſe the Gentiles and dwell in the deſolate cities.
4 Feare not: for thou ſhalt not be aſhamed, neither ſhalt thou be confounded: for thou ſhalt not be put to ſhame: yea, thou ſhalt forget the ſhame of thy d youth, and ſhalt not remember the reproche of thy e widdowhood any more.
5 For he that f made thee, is thine huſ-

1 After that he hath declared the death of Chriſt, he ſpeaketh to the Church, becauſe it ſhould feele the fruit of the ſame, & calleth her barren, becauſe that in the captiuitie ſhe was as a widdow without hope to haue anie children.
b The Church in this her affliction & captiuitie, ſhal bring forth mo children then when ſhe was at libertie: or this may be ſpoken by admiration, conſidering the great nomber that ſhould come of her. Her deliuerãce vnder Cyrus was as her childehood, and therefore this was accompliſhed, when ſhe came to her age, which was vnder the Goſpel. c Signifying, that for the great nomber of children, that God ſhould giue her, ſhe ſhoulde ſeeme to lacke roume to lodge them.
d The afflictions which thou ſufferedſt at the beginning.
e When as thou waſt refuſed for thy ſinnes, Chap. 50.1. f That did regenerate thee by his holie Spirit.

f That is, the puniſhment due to our ſinnes: for ſ which he hath both ſuffered, and made ſatiſfaction, Matth. 8.17. 1. pet. 2. 24.
g We iudged euill, thinking that he was puniſhed for his owne ſinnes, and not for ours. h He was chaſtiſed for our reconciliation, 1. Cor. 15.3. i Meaning, the puniſhment of our iniquitie, and not the fault it ſelfe. k But willingly and patiently obeyed his fathers appointment, Matth. 26.63 acts. 8, 32.

band (whose Name is the Lorde of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shalbe called the God of the whole worlde.

g His glory shall shine through whole worlde, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a [h] young wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

h As a wife which wast forsaken in thy youth.

7 For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euerlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lorde thy redeemer.

i As sure as the promes that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflowe the earth.

9 For this is vnto me as the [i] waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shal remoue and the hilles shal fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shal the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

k Hereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I wil lay thy stones with [k] the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs, [k] Or, iasper, or pearle.

12 And I will make thy windowes of [l] Emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

l By the bearing of his word and inward mouing of his Spirite.

m In stabilitie & surenes, so that it shall stand for euer.

14 In [m] righteousnesse shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shal not come neere thee.

n And therefore shal not prevaile.

o Meaning, the domestical enemies of the Church, as are the hypocrites.

15 Beholde, the enemie shall gather him selfe, but without [n] me: whosoeuer shall gather himselfe in thee, [o] against thee, shall fall.

p Signifying hereby that man can do nothing, but so farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, he must needes gouerne and guide them.

16 Behold, I haue created the [p] smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and hun that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shal not prosper: and euerie tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruants, and their righteousnesse is of me, saith the Lorde.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, excepteth the hypocrites which are full w their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are ful w their worldly lustes & so thirst not after these waters. b Signifying, that Gods benefites cannot be bought for money.

1 HO, euery one that [a] thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue [b] no siluer, come, bie and eate: come, c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth al things necessarie to the spirituall life, as these are necessarie to this corporal life.

I say, bye [c] wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore do ye lay out siluer and not for bread? [d] and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in [e] fatnes.

d He reproueth their ingratitude which refuse those things & God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obtaine those which are nothing profitable.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shal liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the [f] sure mercies of Dauid.

f The same couenant, which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid that it should be eternal. 2. Sam. 7. 13. acts. 13. 34.

4 Behold, I gaue [g] him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

g Meaning, Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, [h] and a nation that knewe not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lorde thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou dideste not receiue to be thy people.

6 Seeke ye the Lorde while he may be founde: call yee vpon him while he is neere.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

7 Let the wicked [k] forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lorde, and he will haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgiue.

k Hereby he sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, & how we can not call vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare.

8 For my [l] thoughtes are not your thoughtes, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you.

9 For as the heauens are hier then the earth, so are my wayes hier then your wayes, and my thoughtes aboue your thoughts.

m If these small things haue their effect, as dayly experience sheweth, much more shall my promes which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the thing which I haue spoken for your deliuerance. n Reade Chapt. 44. 23. and 49. 13. o To set forth his glorie. p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forsake his Church.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth [m] earth and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seed to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my [n] word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shall goe out with ioye, and be led forth with peace: the [o] mountaines and the hilles shal breake forth before you into ioye, and all the trees of the fielde shall clap their hands.

13 For thornes there shall growe firre trees: for nettles shall grow the myrthe tree, and it shalbe to the Lorde [p] for a name, and for an euerlasting signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against shepheardes that deuoure their flocks.

a God sheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered them: to wit, the works of charitie wherby true faith is declared.
b Which I will declare towarde you and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.
c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth ‡ whole seruice of God & true religion.
d Let none think himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of ‡ Lord: for the Lord will take away al impediments, and wil for sake none which wil keepe his true religion and beleeue in him.
e Meaning, in his Church.
f They shalbe called after my people, and be of the same religion: yea vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithful shalbe greater then the Iewes were at ‡ time.
g Hereby he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom ‡ faithful offer cõtinual thankesgiuing, yea them selues & all that they haue as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice.
h Not onely for the Iewes but for all others, Mat. 21. 13.
i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites and to assure the faithful, that when this cõmeth, they may know it was told them before.
k He sheweth that his affliction shal come through the fault of the gouernours, Prophets and Pastours, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.
l We are well yet, and to morowe shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

1 THus saith the Lord, a Keepe iudgement and do iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, & my b righteousnes to be reuealed.
2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth hold on it: her that keepeth the c Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hande from doing any euil.
3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which d is ioyned to the Lorde, speake & say, The Lorde hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth mee, and take holde of my couenant,
5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine e House & within my walles, a place & a f name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I wil giue them an euerlasting name, þ shal not be put out.
6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant,
7 Them will I bring also to mine holie mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt offrings & their sacrifices shalbe accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shalbe called an House of prayer for g al people.
8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet wil I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.
9 All ye h beastes of the fielde, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forest.
10 Their k watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are al dumme dogges: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe and delite in sleeping.
11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue enough: and these shepheardes can not vnderstande: for they all looke to their owne wape, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.
12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morowe shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

1 THe righteous perisheth, & no man considereth it in heart: & mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away a from the euil to come.
2 b Peace shal come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.
3 But you c witches children, come hither, the seede of the aduulterer and of the whore.
4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, & a false seede?
5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euerie greene tree? and sacrificing the d children in the valleys vnder the toppes of the rockes?
6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones e of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offring: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Shoulde I delite in f these?
7 Thou hast made thy bed vpon a verie high mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.
8 Behinde the g doores also & postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, and didest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.
9 Thou wentest h to the kings with ople, and didest increase thine ointmentes & send thy messengers farre off, and didest humble thy selfe vnto hell.
10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iournepes, yet saydest thou not, i There is no hope: thou m hast founde life by thine hande, therefore thou wast not grieued.
11 And whome didest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast n lyed vnto mee, and hast not remembred me, neyther set thy minde thereon? is it not because I hold my peace, and that of long o time thou fearest not me.
12 I will declare thy p righteousnes & thy workes, and they shal not profite thee.

a From ‡ plague that is at hand, and also because God wil punish the wicked.
b The soule of the righteous shalbe in ioy, and their body shal rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.
c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of ‡ name of Gods people, derided Gods worde and his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of sorcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.
d Reade Leuit. 18. 21. 2. King. 23. 10.
e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatrie: or euery fayre stone that they found, they made an idole of it.
f In the sacrifices which you, offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God.
g To wit, thine altars, in an open place like an impudent harlot that careth not for the sight of her husbande.
h Instead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the postes and doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. & 27. 1. thou hast set vp signes & markes of thine idolatrie in euery place.
i That is, didest increase thine idolatrie more & more.
k Thou didest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by giftes and presents, to help thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, and more & more didest torment thy selfe.
l Although thou sawest all thy labours to be in vayne, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault & leaue off.
m He derideth their vnprofitable diligence which thought to haue made all sure, & yet were deceiued.
n Broken promes with mee.
o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie and growe to farther wickednes.
p That is, thy naughtines, idolatries & impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

13 When

13 When thou crieſt, let them that thou haſt gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde ſhall q take them all awaye: vanitie ſhal put them awaye: but he that truſteth in me, ſhall inherite the lande, & ſhal poſſeſſe mine holy Mountaine.

q Meaning, the Aſſyrians and other, whoſe help they looked for.

14 r And he ſhal ſay, Caſt vp, caſt vp: prepare the waye: take vp the ſtumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

r God ſhal ſay to Darius & Cyrus.

15 For thus ſaith he, that is hie and excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whoſe Name is the Holie one, I dwell in the hye and holy place: with him alſo that is of a contrite and humble ſpirit to reuiue the ſpirit of the humble, and to giue lyfe to them that are of a contrite heart.

ſ I will not vſe my power againſt fraile man whoſe life is but a blaſt

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, ſ for the ſpirit ſhoulde faple before mee: and I haue made the breath.

t That is, for the vices and faultes of the people, which is meant here by couetouſnes.

17 For his wicked t couetouſneſſe I am angry with him, and haue ſmitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet he went awap, and turned after the wap of his owne heart.

u Though they were obſtinate, yet I did not withdraw my mercie from them.

18 I haue ſeene his wapes, & will x heale him: I will leade him alſo, and reſtore comfort vnto him, and to thoſe that lament him.

x That is, I frame the ſpeach and words of my meſſengers which ſhal bring peace.

19 I create the x fruite of the lippes to be peace: peace vnto them that are y farre off, and to them that are neere, ſaith the Lord: for I will heale him.

y As wel to him that is in captiuitie, as to him that remaineth at home.

20 But the wicked are like the raging ſea, that can z not reſt, whoſe waters caſt vp mire and dirt.

z Their euil cõſcience doeth euer torment thẽ, and therefore they can neuer haue reſt, reade Chap. 48. 22.

21 There is no peace, ſayeth my God, to the wicked.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods miniſters. 2 The workes of the hypocrites. 6 The faſt of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

1 CRye a aloude, ſpare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and ſhew my people their tranſgreſſion, & to the houſe of Iaakob, their ſinnes.

a The Lord thus ſpeaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vſe all diligence and ſeuerities to rebuke the hypocrites.

2 Yet they b ſeeke me dayly, & wil know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteouſly, and had not forſaken the ſtatutes of their God: they aſke of mee the ordinances of iuſtice: they wil draw neere vnto God, ſaying, b They wil ſeeme to worſhip me & haue outward holines.

3 c Wherefore haue we faſted, & thou ſeeſt it not? wee haue puniſhed our ſelues, & thou regardeſt it not. Behold, in the day of your faſt you will ſeeke d your wil, and require all your dettes.

c He ſetteth forth the malice and diſdaine of the hypocrites, which grudge againſt God, if their workes be not accepted.

4 Behold, ye faſt to ſtrife and debate, and to ſmite with the fiſt of wickednes: ye ſhall not faſt as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be e heard aboue.

d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the ſecond table & by their duetie toward their neyghbour, that they haue neyther faith nor religion.

5 Is it ſuch a faſt that I haue choſen, that a man ſhould afflict his ſoule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bull ruſh, and to lie downe in ſackecloth and aſhes? wilt thou call this a faſting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

e So long as you vſe contention and oppreſſion, your faſting and prayer ſhal not be heard.

6 Is not this the faſting, that I haue choſen, to loſe the bands of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppreſſed goe free, and that yee breake euery f yoke?

f That you leane off all your extortions.

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungrie, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine houſe? when thou ſeeſt the naked, that thou couer him, and hyde not thy ſelfe from g thine owne fleſh?

g For in him thou ſeeſt thy ſelf as in a glaſſe.

8 Then ſhall thy h light breake forth as the morning, & thine health ſhall growe ſpeedily: thy i righteouſnes ſhall go before thee, and the glorie of the Lord ſhall embrace thee.

h That is, the proſperous eſtate, wherewith God will bleſſe thee.

i The teſtimony of thy goodnes ſhal appeare before God & man

9 Then ſhalt thou call, and the Lord ſhal anſwere: thou ſhalt crie, and he ſhal ſay, Here I am: if thou take awap from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the k finger, and wicked ſpeaking:

k Whereby is meant all maner of iniurie.

10 If thou l powre out thy ſoule to the hungrie, and refreſh the troubled ſoule: then ſhall thy lyght ſpring out in the m darkenes, and thy darkenes ſhalbe as the noone day.

l That is, haue compaſſion on their miſeries.

11 And the Lord ſhal guide thee continually, and ſatiſfie thy ſoule in drought, and make fatte thy bones: and thou ſhalt be like a watered garden, and like a ſpring of water, whoſe waters faple not.

m Thine aduerſitie ſhalbe turned into proſperitie.

12 And they ſhalbe of thee, that ſhal build the olde n waſte places: thou ſhalt raiſe vp the foundations for many generations, and thou ſhalt be called the repayrer of the breache and the reſtorer of the paths to dwell in.

n Signifying, that of ſ Iewes ſhould come ſuch, as ſhould build againe the ruines of Ieruſalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is meant of the ſpirituall Ieruſalem: whoſe builders were the Apoſtles.

13 If thou o turne awape thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holie day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to conſecrate it, as glorious to the Lorde, and ſhalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor ſeeking thine owne will, nor ſpeaking a vaine worde, 14 Then ſhalt thou delite in the Lord, and I will cauſe thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

o If thou refraine thy ſelfe from thy wicked workes.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked periſh through their owne iniquities. 12 The confeſſion of ſinnes. 16 God alone will preſerue his Church, though all men faple.

1 BEhold, * p Lords hand is not ſhortned, that it cannot ſaue: neyther is his eare heauy, that it cannot heare.

Nom. 11. 23. chap. 50. 2.

2 But * your iniquities haue ſeparated betweene you and your God, and your ſinnes haue hid his face from you, that he wil not heare.

Iere. 5. 25.

3 For your hands are defiled with a blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue ſpoken lyes, and your tongue hath murmured miquitie.

a Reade Chap. 1. 15.

b Al men winke at the iniuries & oppressions, and none goe about to remedie them

c According to their wicked deuices, they hurt their neighbors.

d Whatsoeuer commeth from them, is poyson and bringeth death.

e They are profitable to no purpose.

f That is, Gods vengeace to punish our enemies

g Gods protection to defend vs.

h We are altogether destitute of counsel & can finde no ende of our miseries.

i We expresse our sorowes by outward signes, some more, some lesse.

k This confession is general to the Church to obtaine remission of sinnes, and the Prophets did not exept themselues from the same.

m There is neither iustice nor vprightnes among men.

n The wicked wil destroy him.

o Meaning, to do iustice, and to remedie y things that were so far out of order.

p That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke ayde of any other.

q Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church, and to punish their enemies.

r To wit, your enemies, which dwel in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man [b] contendeth for truth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine thinges: they conceiue mischeefe, and bring forth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice [d] egges, and weaue the spiders [e] webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, & that which is trod vpō, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shalbe no garment, neither shal they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their handes.

7 Their feete runne to euil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shal not know peace.

9 Therefore is [f] iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth [g] iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but lo, it is darkenesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the [h] blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, and mourne like doues: we looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our [k] sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, & we haue departed awap from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie & rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false [l] matters.

14 Therefore [m] iudgement is turned backeward, & iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, & equitie can not enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe [n] a pray: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when he sawe that there was no [o] man, he wondred that none would offer him selfe. [p] Therefore his arme did [q] saue it, and his righteousnesse it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousnes, as an habergeon, and an [q] helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a [r] recompence to his enemies: he will fully repay the [r] plands.

19 So shal they feare the name of [s] the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemie shal come like a flond: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shal come vnto Zion, & vnto [t] them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lorde, My Spirite that is vpon thee, & my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, [u] shal not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lorde, from henceforth euen for euer.

s He sheweth that there shalbe great affliction in the Church, but God wil euer deliuer his.

t Whereby he declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne & Satan belongeth to none, but to the children of God, whom he iustifieth.

u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the spirite, he ioyneth the one with the other, and promiseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

CHAP. LX.

The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abondance. 16 They shall haue abondance, though they suffer for a time.

1 Arise, O Ierusalem: be bright, for thy [a] light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darkenesse shall couer the [b] earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lorde shal arise vpon thee, and his glorie shalbe seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in [c] thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eies round about, and behold: all [d] these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come frō farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied [e] and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The [f] multitude of camels shal couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shal bring gold and incense, and shewe forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepes of Kedar shalbe gathered vnto thee: the rams of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shal come vp to be accepted vpon mine [g] altar: and I wil beautifie the house of my glorie.

8 Who are these [i] that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shal waite for me, and the shippes [k] of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer, and their golde a The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie: wherein Ierusalem was spoken of before, whereas speaking of Babylon he commanded her to goe downe, Chap. 47.1.

b Signifying, that all men are in darkenesse till God giue them the light of his spirite, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.

c Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre, and that the Gentiles should receiue light of her.

d An infinite number from all countreies, as Chap. 49.18.

e For ioy, as the heart is drawen in for sorowe.

f Meaning, that euery one shal honour the Lorde with that, wherewith he is able: signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue. g That is, y Arabians that haue great abundance of cattel. h Because y altar was a figure of Christ, Hebr. 13 10 he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him, which is not offred to him by this altar, who was both the offring and the altar it selfe. i Shewing what great nomber shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale. k The Gentiles that are nowe enemies, shal become friends & setters forth of the Church.

golde with them, vnto the Name of the Lorde thy God, and to the holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shal build vp thy walles, and their kings shal minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shalbe open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perishe: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed.

13 The glorie of Lebanon shal come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shal come and bow vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lorde, Zion of the holy one of Israel.

15 Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glorie, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breastes of kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

17 For brasse will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernment peace, & thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shal no more be heard of in thy lande, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shal the brightnes of the moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glorie.

20 Thy sunne shal neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid, for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorowe shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the graffe of my planting shalbe the worke of mine handes, that I may be glorified.

22 A litle one shall become as a thousande, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lorde will hasten it in due time.

m Meaning, Cyrus and his successours: but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospell.

o There is nothing so excellēt whi ch shall not serue the necessitie of ỹ Church p Signifying, that Gods maiestie is not included in the temple, which is but the place for his feete, that we may learne to rise vp to the heauens.

q To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.

r Both hie and lowe shalbe readie to helpe and succour thee.

s Thy gouernours shall loue thee and seeke thy wealth and prosperitie.

u Signifying, that al worldly meanes shall cease, and that Christ shalbe al in al, as Reue. 21. 22. and 22. 5.

v The children of the Church.

x Meaning, ỹ the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophecieth that Christ shalbe anointed and sent to preach. 10 The ioye of the faithfull.

1 The spirite of the Lorde God is vpon me, therefore hath the Lord anointed me: he hath sent me to preache good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the broken hearted, to preach libertie to the captiues, and to them that are bounde, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the acceptable yeere of the Lorde, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for ashes, the oyle of ioye for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirite of heauinesse, that they might be called trees of righteousnesse, the planting of the Lorde, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shal repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many generations.

5 And the strangers shal stand and feede your sheepe, & the sonnes of the strangers shalbe your plowemen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shalbe named the Priestes of the Lorde, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: ye shal eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie.

7 For your shame you shal receiue double, & for confusion they shall reioyce in their portion: for in their lande they shall possesse the double: euerlasting ioye shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement & hate robberie for burnt offring, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, & wil make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And their seede shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their budded among the people, All that see them, shal know them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioyce in the Lorde, and my soule shalbe ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousnesse: he hath decked me like a bridegroome, and as a bride tireth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousnesse to grow and praise before all the heathen.

a This appertaineth to all the Prophets and ministers of God, but chiefely to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.

b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes.

c Which are in the bondage of sinne.

q I will not receiue their offring, which are extortioners, deceiuers, hypocrites, or that depriue me of my glorie.

r That is, of the Church.

s He sheweth what shalbe the affection, when they feele this their deliuerance.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophetes haue had for Christes comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

a The Prophet saith that he will neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tydings of their deliuerance.

FOr Zions sake I will not [a] holde my tongue, and for Ierusalems sake I will not rest, vntil the righteousnesse thereof breake forth as the [b] light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

b Til they haue full deliuerance: & this the Prophet speaketh to incourage all other ministers to the setting forth of Gods mercies towarde his Church.

And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnes, & all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by [c] a newe name, which the mouth of the Lord shal name.

c Thou shalt haue a more excellēt fame then thou hast had hitherto.

Thou shalt also be a [d] crowne of glorie in the hande of the Lorde, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

d He shal esteme thee as deare & pretious, as a king doeth his crowne.

It shal no more be said vnto thee, [e] Forsaken, neither shal it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called [f] Hephzi-bah, & thy lande [g] Beulah: for the Lord delyteth in thee, & thy lande shal haue an [f] husband.

e Thou shalt no more be cōtemned as a woman forsaken of her husband.

For as a yong man marieth a virgine, so shall thy sonnes [h] marrie thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shal thy God reioyce ouer thee.

[f] Or, my delight in her.

[g] Or, married.

f That it may be replenished with children.

g Forasmuch as they cōfesse one faith & religion with thee, they are in the same bond of mariage with thee: and they are called the children of the Church, inasmuch as Christ maketh her plētifull to bring forth children vnto him.

I haue set [i] watchmen vpō thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shal not cease: [k] ye that are mindeful of the Lord, kepe not silence,

h Prophets, pastors, & ministers

And giue him no rest, til he repaire and vntil he set vp Ierusalem the [l] prayse of the worlde.

i He exhorteth the ministers neuer to cease to call vpō God by prayer for the deliuerāce of his Church, & to teach others to do the same. k For the restauration whereof all the world shal praise him. l Signifying the great nomber that should come to the Church, & what meanes he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as chap. 57.14. m Ye Prophets & ministers shew the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ, Zach. 9.9 mat. 21.5. n He shal haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap. 40.10. o That is, one ouer whome God hath had a singular care to recouer her when she was lost.

The Lorde hath swoorne by his right hande and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thy corne to bee meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and prayse the Lord, and they that haue brought it together shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuarie.

[Goe through, goe through the gates: prepare you the waye for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones and set vp a standart for the people.

Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the worlde: [m] tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Sauiour commeth: behold, his wages is with him, and [n] his worke is before him.

And they shall call them, The holie people, the redeemed of the Lorde, and thou shalt bee named, [o] Citie sought out and not forsaken.

CHAP. LXIII.

WHo is this that commeth [a] from Edom, with red garmēts from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparell & walketh in the great stregth, [b] I speake in righteousnes, & am mightie to saue.

a This prophecie is against the Idumeans, and enemies which persecuted the Churche, on whome God will take vengeance, and is here set forth all bloodie after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision, and the kinred of Abraham, claymed to them selues the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137.7.

I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with me: for I will treade them in mine anger, and treade them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprinckled vpon my garments, and I will stayne all my rayment.

b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is that? &c & sayth, Ye see nowe performed in deede the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.

For the daye of vengeance is in mine heart, and the [d] yere of my redeemed is come.

And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne [e] arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

c Another question, to [f] which the Lord answereth.

Therefore I will treade downe the people in my wrath, and make them [f] drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

d Shewing, that when God puniseth his enemies, it is for the profit and deliuerance of his Church.

I will remember the mercies of the Lord and the prayses of the Lorde according vnto all that the Lorde hath giuen vs, & for the great goodnes toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

For he sayd, Surely they are my [h] people, children that will not lye: so he was their sauiour.

e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans

In all their troubles he was [i] troubled, and the Angell [k] of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

But they rebelled and vexed his holie Spirite: therefore was he turned to be their enemie, and hee fought against them.

Then hee [l] remembred the olde time of Moses & his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with the [m] shepeheard of his helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuse to doe their duetie through negligence, & ingratitude, yet he himselfe will deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies, Reade Chap. 59.16. f I wil so astonie them, and make them so gyddie, that they shal not knowe, which way to go. g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benefites in tymes past, that they may bee confirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holie, and not deceiue mine expectation. i Hee bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne. k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may bee referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of saluation. l That is, the people of Israel being afflicted, called to remembrāce Gods benefites, which hee had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past. m Meaning, Moses.

n That is, in Moses, that he might well gouerne ỹ people: some referre this giuing of the Spirit to the people.

o Peaceably and gētly, as an horse is led to his pasture.

p Hauing declared Gods benefits shewed to their forefathers he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward them.

q Thy great affection which thou bearest towards vs.

r Meaning, from the whole bodie of the Church.

s Though Abrahā would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our Father.

t By taking away thy holy Spirit from vs, by whome we were gouerned, & so for our ingratitude didest deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, and didest punish sinne by sinne according to thy iust iudgement.

u Meaning, for the couenants sake made to Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob his seruants.

x That is, in respect of the promes, which is perpetuall: albeit they had nowe possessed the land of Canaan, a thousand & foure hundreth yere: and thus they lament, to moue God rather to remēber his couenant, then to punish their sinnes.

shepe? where is he that put his holie Spirit within x him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deepe, as an horse in y wildernes, that they shoulde not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth down into the valley, the Spirite of the Lorde gaue them rest: so didest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 p Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holines, and of thy glorie. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, & of thy compassions? they are restrained from z me.

16 Doubtles thou art our father: though a Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lorde, why hast b thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? & hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy c seruants sake, & for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holines haue possessed it, but a litle x while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue bin as they, ouer whome thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whome thy Name was not called.

5 Thou didest meete him, d that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy e wayes: behold, thou art angrie, for we haue sinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we s shalbe saued.

6 But we haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and all our h righteousnesse is as filthie cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs awap.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our father: we are the i clay, & thou art our potter, and we all are the work of thine hands.

9 Be not angrie, O Lorde, k aboue measure, neyther remember iniquitie for euer: lor, we beseech thee beholde, we are all thy people.

10 l Thine holy cities ipe waste: Zion is a wildernes, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, m where our fathers praysed thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou hold thy selfe still n at these things, O Lorde? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers, when they trusted in thee, & walked after thy commandements.

e They considered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, which he calleth the wayes of ỹ Lord.

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs.

h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and though wee would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnes, & best vertues are before thee as vile cloutes, or (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman.

i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgemēt thou mayest vtterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children.

k For to the flesh iudgeth When God doeth not immediatly send succour.

l Which were dedicated to thy seruice & to call vpon thy Name.

m Wherein we reioyced & worshipped thee.

n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glorie: though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people.
6 Mans righteousnes is like a filthie cloth.

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to delare his loue towarde his Church by miracles, and mighty power, as he did in Mount Sinai.

b Meaning, the raine, haile, fire, thunder, and lightnings.

c Saint Paul vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1. Cor. 2. 9. marueiling at Gods great benefite shewed to his Church by the preaching of the Gospel.

1 O H, that thou wouldest a breake the heauens, and come downe, & that the mountaines might melt at thy 2 presence!

As the melting fire burneth, as the fire causeth b the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy 3 presence.

When thou diddest terrible thinges, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at 4 thy presence.

For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not c heard nor vnderstande with the eare, neither hath the eye seene an other God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reiection of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect and the punishment of the wicked.

1 I haue bene sought of them that a asked not: I was founde of them that sought me not: I said, Behold me, behold me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue b spred out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne c imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in d gardens, and burneth incense vpon e bricks.

4 Which remaine among the f graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eate s swines flesh, and the broth of thinges a Meaning, the Gentiles which knew not God, should seeke after him when he had moued their hearts with his holy Spirit, Rom. 10. 20.

b He sheweth the cause of the reiection of the Iewes, because they would not obey him for any admonitiō of his Prophets, by whome he called them continually, and stretched out his hande to drawe them.

c He sheweth that to delite in our owne fantasies, is the declining from God & the beginning of al superstition & idolatry.

d Which were dedicate to idols.

e Meaning their altars, which he thus nameth by contempt.

5 Which say, [b] Stande apart, come not nere to me: for I am holyer then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath & a fire that [c] burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is [k] written before me: I will not kepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shall be [l] together (saieth the Lorde) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore will I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saieth the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saieth, Destroy it not, for a [m] blessing is in it, so wil I do for my seruats sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seede out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shal inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And [n] Sharon shalbe a sheepefold, and the valley of Achor shall bee a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lorde, and forgotten mine holie Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, and furnished the drinke offrings vnto the nomber.

12 Therefore will I [p] nomber you to the sword, & all you shal bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, & ye did not answere: I spake, and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shal [r] eate, and ye shall be hungrie: behold, my seruantes shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall be ashamed.

14 Behold, my seruats shal sing for ioy of heart, & ye shall crie for sorowe of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shal leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lorde God shall slay you and call his seruantes by [t] another name.

16 He that shall bleese in the [u] earth, shall bleese him selfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselues from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create [y] newe heauens & a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Ierusalem as a reioycing and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shalbe no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath [z] not filled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundreth yeres olde, shall die as a young man: but the sinner being [a] an hundreth yeres olde shalbe accursed.

21 And they shall [b] builde houses and inhabite them, & they shall plant vineyardes, and eate the fruite of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabite: they shal not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shal inioye in olde age the worke of their handes.

23 They shal not labor in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lorde, & their buddes with them.

24 Yea, before they call, I will answere, and whiles they speake, I will heare.

25 The [c] wolfe and the laimbe shall feede together, and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall bee his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy Mountaine, saieth the Lord.

h He sheweth that hypocrisie is euer ioyned w pride and contempt of others.

i Their punishment shall neuer haue ende.

k So that the remembrace therof cannot be forgotten.

l Shalbe both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faultes: to wit, when the same faultes or like are founde in them.

m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyard, when he destroyeth the rotten stockes, that is, the hypocrites.

n Which was a plentifull place in Iudea to feede sheepe, as Achor was for cattell.

o By the multitude and nomber he meaneth their innumerable idoles, of whome they thought they could neuer haue inough.

p Seeing you cannot nomber your gods, I wil nomber you with the sword.

q By my Prophets, whome ye woulde not obey.

r By these wordes, Eat and drinke, hee meaneth the blessed life of the faithfull, which haue alwayes consolation, and full contentment of all things in their God, though sometimes they lacke these corporall thinges.

s Meaning, that he woulde call the Gentiles, who shoulde abhorre, euē the very name of the Iewes for their infidelities sake.

t Then by the name of the Iewes.

u By blessing, & by swearing, it meant the praising of God for his benefites, and the true worshipping of him, which shal not be only in Iudea, but through all the worlde.

x I will no more suffer my Church to be desolate as in times past.

y I will so alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a newe worlde.

z Meaning, in this wonderfull restauration of the Church, there should be no weakenesse of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all should be fresh, and florishing: and this is accomplished in the heauenly Ierusalem, when all sinnes shall cease, and the teares shalbe wiped away.

a Whereby he sheweth that the infidels and vnrepētant sinners haue no part of this benediction.

b He proposeth to the faithfull the blessings which are conteined in the Lawe, and so vnder temporall things comprehendeth the spirituall promises. c Read Chap. 11,6.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with handes. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercie & faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is euerlasting.

THus saith the Lord, The [a] heauen is my throne, & the earth is my foote stoole: where is that house that ye will builde vnto me? and where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things hath mine hande made, [b] and all these things haue beene, saith the Lord: to him will I looke, euen to him, that is poore, and of [c] a contrite spirite and trembleth at my wordes.

3 He [d] killeth a bullock, is as if he slewe

a My maiestie is so great that it filleth both heauen & earth, and therefore cannot be included in a temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices. b Seeing that both the Temple & the things therein, with the sacrifices, were made & done by his appointment, he sheweth that he hath no neede thereof, and that hee can be without them, Psal. 50. 10. c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiueth my doctrine with reuerence & feare. d Because the Iewes thought themselues holy by offring of their sacrifices, and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that hee doeth no lesse detest these ceremonies, then he doeth the sacrifices of the heathen, who offred men, dogs & swine to their idols, which things were expressly forbidden in the Lawe.

a man: he that sacrificeth a shéepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he þ offreth an oblatiõ, as if he offred swines blood: hee that remembreth incense, as if hee blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne waies, & their soule delyteth in their abominations.

e I wil discouer their wickednes and hypocrisie, wherewith they thinke to blinde mine eyes, to all the worlde.

4 Therefore wil I [e] chuse out their delusions, and I wil bring their feare vpon them, because I called, & none would answere: I spake and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, & chose the things which I would not.

f He encourageth the faithful by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites and hated them that feared God.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his [f] worde, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, sayd, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shalbe ashamed.

g The enemies shall shortly heare a more terrible voice, euen fire and slaughter, seeing they would not heare the gentle voice of the Prophets which called them to repentance.

6 [g] A voice soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lorde, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

h Meaning, that the restauration of the Church should be so sudden and contrary to all mens opinion: as when a woman is deliuered before she looke for it, and that without paine in trauaile.

7 Before [h] she trauailed, she brought forth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shal the earth be brought forth in one [i] day? or shal a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children.

9 Shall I [k] cause to trauaile, & not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth and shalbe baren, sayth thy God?

10 Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, and bee glad with her, all yee that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her,

11 That ye may sucke [l] & be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delited with the brightnes of her glorie.

12 For thus sayeth the Lorde, Behold, I will extend [m] peace ouer her like a flood and the glorie of the [n] Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be [o] borne vpon her sides, and bee ioyfull vpon her knees.

i This shal passe the capacitie of man to see such a multitude that shall come vp at once, meaning vnder the preaching of the Gospel, whereof they that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure.

13 As one whome his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your [p] bones shall flourishe like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shalbe knowen among his seruantes, & his indignation against his enemies.

15 For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlwinde, that he may [q] recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

k Declaring hereby, that as by his power, and prouidéce woman trauaileth and is deliuered: so hath he power to bring foorth his Church at his time appoynted.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sworde all flethe, and the slaine of the Lord shalbe many.

17 They that sanctifie [r] themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating [s] swines flethe, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shalbe consumed together, sayth the Lord.

18 For I wil visite their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I wil gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my [t] glorie.

l That ye may reioyce for all the benefites that God bestoweth vpon his Church.

19 And I wil set a [u] signe among them, & wil send those that [x] escape of them, vnto the nations of [y] Tarshish, [z] Pul, and [a] Lud, & to them that draw the [b] bowe, to [c] Tubal & [d] Iauan, ples afarre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glorie, and [e] they shall declare my glorie among the Gentiles.

m Read Chap. 60. 16.

20 And they shal bring all your [f] brethren for an offring vnto the Lorde out of all nations, vpon [g] horses, and in charets, and in close litters, and vpon mules, and swift beastes, to Ierusalem mine holy Mountaine, sayth the Lord, as the children of Israel, offer in a cleane vessell in the House of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for [h] Priests, and for Leuites, sayth the Lord.

22 For as the new [i] heauens, & the new earth which I wil make, shall remaine before me, sayth the Lorde, so shall your seede and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, & from Sabbath to Sabbath shal all flesh come to worship before me, sayth the Lord.

24 And they shall goe forth, & looke vpon the [k] carkases of þ men that haue trãsgressed against me: for their [l] worme shall not die, neither shall their fire bee quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring [m] vnto all flesh.

o Ye shal be cherished, as her dearely beloued children.

p Ye shal haue newe strength and newe beautie.

q This vengeance God began to execute at the destructiõ of Babylon, and hath euer continued it against the enemies of his church & will do till the last day, which shalbe the accomplishment thereof.

r Meaning, the hypocrites.

s Whereby are meant them that did maliciously transgresse the Law, by eating beasts forbidde, euen to the mouse which nature abhorreth.

t The Gentiles shalbe partakers of þ glory, which before I shewed to the Iewes.

u I will marke these þ I chuse, that they perish not with the rest of the infidels: whereby he alludeth to the marking of the postes of his people, whome he preserued, Exod. 12. 7.

x I will scatter the rest of the Iewes, which escape destruction, into diuers nations.

y That is, Cilicia. z Meaning, Affrica. a To wit, Lydia, or Asia minor. b Signifying, the Parthians. c Italie. d Grecia. e Meaning, the Apostles, Disciples, and others which hee did first chuse of the Iewes to preache vnto the Gentiles. f That is, the Gentiles, which by faith shall be made the children of Abraham, as you are. g Whereby hee meaneth that no necessary meanes shall want when God shall call the Gentiles to the knowledge of the Gospel. h To wit, of the Gentiles, as he did Luke, Timothie and Tite first, and others after to preache his worde. i Hereby hee signifieth the kingdome of Christ, wherein his Church shall be renued, and whereas before there were appointed seasons to sacrifice: in this there shall bee one continuall Sabbath so that all times and seasons shall be meete.

k As hee hath declared the felicitie that shall bee within the Church for þ comfort of the godly, so doth he shewe what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked, that are out of the Church.

l Meaning, a continual torment of conscience, which shal euer gnawe them and neuer suffer them to be at rest, Mar. 9. 44.

m This is the iust recompence for the wicked, which contemning God and his worde, shalbe by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THE Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, & most euident reuelations of prophecie, so that by the commaundement of the Lord he began very yong to prophecie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yere vnder the saide King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourtie yere, besides the time that he prophecied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnes, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion, & contempt of Gods word, & for the cõsolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne & obstinate, when the Prophets do admonish them most plainely of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shew his iust iudgemẽt against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, & when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then wil he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophecied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

1 THe [a] woꝛdꝭ of Ieremiah the sonne of [b] Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at [c] Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.

2 To whome the [d] woꝛd of the Loꝛde came in the dapes of Iosiah ꝑ sonne of Amon king of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dapes of Iehoiakim the [e] sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carying awap of Ierusalem captiue in the fift [f] moneth.

4 Then the woꝛd of the Loꝛd came vnto me, saping,

5 Befoꝛe I [g] formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and befoꝛe thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Pꝛophet vnto the [h] nations.

6 Then said I, [i] Oh, Loꝛd God, beholde, I cannot speake, foꝛ I am a childe.

7 But the Loꝛd said vnto me, Sap not, I am a childe: foꝛ thou shalt go to all that I shall sende thee, and whatsoeuer I commande thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraide of their faces: foꝛ I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Loꝛd.

9 Then the Loꝛd stretched out his hande and [k] touched my mouth, and the Loꝛd said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my woꝛdes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the [l] nations and ouer the kingdomes to pluck vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throwe downe, to builde, and to plant.

11 After this the woꝛd of the Loꝛde came vnto mee, saping, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I saide, I see a [m] rodde of an almonde tree.

12 Then saide the Loꝛde vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: foꝛ I will hasten my woꝛd to pꝛfoꝛme it.

13 Againe the woꝛd of the Loꝛd came vnto mee the second time, saping, What seest thou? And I saide, I see a seething [n] pot looking out of the North.

14 Then said the Loꝛde vnto me, Out of the [o] North shal a plague be spied vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 Foꝛ loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Loꝛd, and they shal come, and euery one shal set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, & on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my iudgementes ouer them, touching their wickednes, because they haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the woꝛkes of their owne handes.

17 Gird vp thy loines therefoꝛe, and aryse, and speake vnto them all that I commande thee: be not afraide of them, leste I confounde thee before them.

18 Beholde, I haue made thee this day a strong citie, and an yron pillar, and brasen walles against all the land, against the kings of Iudah, against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 And they shal fight against thee, but they shal not ouercome thee: foꝛ I am with thee, saith the Loꝛd, to deliuer thee.

CHAP. II.

1 He reproueth the vnthankefulnes of the people. 9 He threatneth them. 14 The cause of their destruction. 20 Their idolatrie.

1 MOꝛeouer the woꝛd of the Loꝛd came vnto me, saping,

2 Go and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saping, Thus saith the Loꝛd, I remember the kindenes of thy youth, the loue of thine espousalles, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes, in a land that was not sowen.

3 Israel was holines vnto the Loꝛd, and the firstfruites of his increase: all that deuoure him, offende: euil shal come vpon them, saith the Loꝛd.

4 Heare the woꝛd of the Loꝛd, O house of Iacob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Loꝛd, What vnrighteousnes haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become vaine?

6 Neither said they, Where is the Loꝛd that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt, that led vs through the wildernes, through a land of deserts and of pits, through a land of drought and of the shadowe of death, through a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentifull land, to eate the fruite thereof and the goodnes thereof: but when ye came in, ye defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abhominable thing.

8 The Priestes said not, Where is the Loꝛd? and they that handle the Lawe knewe me not: the pastoꝛs also transgressed against me, and the Prophets prophecied by Baal, and walked after things that doe not profite.

9 Therefoꝛe will I yet plead with you, saith the Loꝛd, and with your childrens children will I plead.

10 Foꝛ goe ouer the Ilandes of Chittim, and see, and sende into Kedar, and consider diligently, and see if there be such a thing.

11 Hath a nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their glorie for that which doeth not profite.

12 Be astonished, O heauens, at this, and be afraide, be ye very desolate, saith the Loꝛd.

13 Foꝛ my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken me the fountaine of liuing waters, and digged them pits, euen broken pits that can hold no water.

14 Is Israel a seruant? or is he a homeborne slaue? why is he then become a pꝛey?

15 The lions roared vpon him, and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt vp without inhabitant.

16 Also the children of Noph and Tahapanes haue broken the crowne of thy head.

17 Hast thou not procured this vnto thy selfe, in that thou hast forsaken the Loꝛd thy God, when he led thee by the way?

18 And now what hast thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drinke the waters of Sihor? or what hast thou to do in the way of Assyria, to drinke the waters of the riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednes shal correct thee, and thine owne backesliding shal reproue thee: know therefoꝛe and see that it is an euil thing and a bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Loꝛd thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Loꝛd God of hostes.

20 Foꝛ of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bandes, and thou saidest, I will not transgresse: when vpon euery high hil and vnder euery greene tree thou playedst the harlot.

21 Yet I planted thee a noble vine, wholy a right seede: how then art thou turned into the bitternes of a strange vine vnto me?

22 Though thou washest thee with nitre, and takest thee much sope, yet is thine iniquitie marked before me, saith the Loꝛd God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, I haue not gone after Baalim? see thy way in the valley, know what thou hast done: thou art a swift dromedarie, that runneth crosse waies.

24 A wilde asse vsed to the wildernes, that snuffeth vp the wind at her pleasure: who can turne away her lust? all they that seeke her will not faile themselues: in her moneth they shal finde her.

25 Withhold thy foote from being vnshod, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saidest, There is no hope: foꝛ I haue loued strangers, and after them will I walke.

26 As the theefe is ashamed when he is taken, so is the house of Israel ashamed: they, their kings, their princes, their Priestes, and their Prophets, 27 Which say to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: foꝛ they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their affliction they will say, Arise, and saue vs.

28 But where are thy gods that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can saue thee in the time of thine affliction: foꝛ according to the number of thy cities are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefoꝛe will ye plead with me? ye haue all transgressed against me, saith the Loꝛd.

30 In vaine haue I smitten your children: they receiued no correction: your sworde hath deuoured your Prophets like a deuouring lion.

31 O generation, see ye the woꝛd of the Loꝛd: haue I been a wildernes vnto Israel? or a land of darkenes? wherefoꝛe say my people, We are lords, we will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maide forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me dayes without number.

33 Why trimmest thou thy way to seeke loue? therefoꝛe also hast thou taught the wicked thy wayes.

34 Also in thy skirtes is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocentes: I haue not found them by secret search, but vpon all these.

35 Yet thou saidest, Because I am innocent, surely his wrath shal turne from me: beholde, I will plead with thee, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why gaddest thou about so much to change thy way? thou also shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou wast confounded of Assyria.

37 Thou shalt go forth also from him with thine handes vpon thine head: foꝛ the Loꝛd hath reiected thy confidences, and thou shalt not prosper in them.

CHAP. III.

1 The Lord exhorteth Israel to repentance. 6 Iudah is more wicked then Israel. 11 Israel is more iust then Iudah. 14 The Lord promiseth to gather his people. 19 He exhorteth them to repentance.

1 THey say, If a man put away his wife, and she go from him, and become another mans, may he returne vnto her? shall not that land be greatly polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many louers, yet returne vnto me, saith the Loꝛd.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and see where thou hast not been lien with: in the waies hast thou sitten for them, as the Arabian in the wildernes, and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredome and with thy wickednes.

3 Therefoꝛe the shoures haue been withholden, and there hath been no latter raine: and thou hadst a whoores forehead, thou refusedst to be ashamed.

4 Wilt thou not from this time crie vnto me, My father, thou art the guide of my youth?

5 Will he reserue his anger for euer? will he keepe it to the end? beholde, thou hast spoken and done euil things as much as thou couldest.

6 The Loꝛd said also vnto me in the dapes of Iosiah the king, Hast thou seene that which backesliding Israel hath done? she is gone vp vpon euery high mountaine and vnder euery greene tree, and there hath played the harlot.

7 And I said after she had done all these things, She will returne vnto me: but she returned not. And her treacherous sister Iudah saw it.

8 And I saw, when for all the causes whereby backesliding Israel committed adultrie I had put her away, and giuen her a bil of diuorcement, yet her treacherous sister Iudah feared not, but she also went and played the harlot.

9 And it came to passe through the lightnes of her whoredome, that she defiled the land, and committed adultrie with stones and with stockes.

10 And yet for all this her treacherous sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Loꝛd.

11 And the Loꝛd said vnto me, The backesliding Israel hath iustified her soule more then treacherous Iudah.

12 Go and crie these woꝛdes toward the north, and say, Returne, thou backesliding Israel, saith the Loꝛd, and I will not cause mine anger to fall vpon you: foꝛ I am mercifull, saith the Loꝛd, and I will not keepe anger for euer.

13 Only acknowledge thine iniquitie, that thou hast transgressed against the Loꝛd thy God, and hast scattered thy wayes to the strangers vnder euery greene tree, and ye haue not obeyed my voice, saith the Loꝛd.

14 Returne, O backesliding children, saith the Loꝛd: foꝛ I am married vnto you, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a familie, and I will bring you into Zion.

15 And I will giue you pastoꝛs according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 And it shall come to passe when ye be multiplied and increased in the land in those dapes, saith the Loꝛd, they shall no more say, The Arke of the couenant of the Loꝛd: neither shall it come to mind, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, neither shall that be done any more.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem the throne of the Loꝛd, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen vnto the name of the Loꝛd to Ierusalem: neither shall they walke any more after the imagination of their euil heart.

18 In those dapes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the north vnto the land that I haue giuen for an heritage vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How shall I put thee among the children, and giue thee a pleasant land, a goodly heritage of the hoste of nations? and I said, Ye shall call me, My father, and shall not turne away from me.

20 Surely as a wife treacherously departeth from her husband, so haue ye dealt treacherously with me, O house of Israel, saith the Loꝛd.

21 A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: foꝛ they haue perverted their way, and forgotten the Loꝛd their God.

22 Returne, ye backesliding children, and I will heale your backesliding. Beholde, we come vnto thee: foꝛ thou art the Loꝛd our God.

23 Truely in vaine is the multitude of the mountaines, and the tumult vpon the hilles: truely in the Loꝛd our God is the saluation of Israel.

24 Foꝛ shame hath deuoured the labour of our fathers from our youth, their flockes and their heardes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our shame, and our confusion couereth vs: foꝛ we haue sinned against the Loꝛd our God, we and our fathers, from our youth vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Loꝛd our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The Lord exhorteth to repentance. 5 He threatneth the destruction of Ierusalem. 19 The Prophet lamenteth.

1 IF thou wilt returne, O Israel, saith the Loꝛd, returne vnto me: and if thou wilt put away thine abhominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt sweare, The Loꝛd liueth, in truth, in iudgement, and in righteousnes, and the nations shall blesse themselues in him, and in him shall they glorie.

3 Foꝛ thus saith the Loꝛd to the men of Iudah and to Ierusalem, Breake vp your fallow ground, and sowe not among thornes.

4 Circumcise your selues to the Loꝛd, and take away the foreskinnes of your heart, ye men of Iudah and inhabitants of Ierusalem, leste my wrath come forth like fire, and burne that none can quench it, because of the euil of your inuentions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and publish in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land, crie, gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into the defenced cities.

6 Set vp the standard toward Zion: retire, stay not: foꝛ I will bring euil from the north, and a great destruction.

7 The lion is come vp from his thicket, and the destroyer of the nations is on his way, he is gone forth from his place to make thy land waste, and thy cities shall be destroyed, that none shall dwell in them.

8 Therefoꝛe gird you with sackecloth, lament and howle: foꝛ the fierce wrath of the Loꝛd is not turned backe from vs.

9 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Loꝛd, that the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes, and the Priestes shall be astonished, and the Prophets shall wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah, Loꝛd God, surely thou hast greatly deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saping, Ye shall haue peace, whereas the sworde reacheth vnto the soule.

11 At that time shall it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A hote wind of the hie places in the wildernes toward the daughter of my people, not to fanne nor to cleanse, 12 Euen a full wind from those places shall come vnto me: now also will I giue sentence against them.

13 Beholde, he shall come vp as clouds, and his charets shall be as a whirlewinde: his horses are swifter then eagles. Woe vnto vs! foꝛ we are spoiled.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou mayest be saued: how long shall thy vaine thoughtes remaine within thee?

15 Foꝛ a voice declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention to the nations; beholde, publish against Ierusalem, that watchers come from a farre countrey, and giue their voice against the cities of Iudah.

17 As keepers of a field are they against her round about, foꝛ she hath been rebellious against me, saith the Loꝛd.

18 Thy way and thy deedes haue procured these things vnto thee: this is thy wickednes, foꝛ it is bitter, foꝛ it reacheth vnto thine heart.

19 My bowels, my bowels! I am pained at my very heart: my heart maketh a noise in me, I cannot hold my peace, because thou hast heard, O my soule, the sound of the trumpet, the alarme of warre.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cried: foꝛ all the land is spoiled: suddenly are my tentes spoiled, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 Foꝛ my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euil, but to doe good they haue no knowledge.

23 I beheld the earth, and loe, it was without forme and void: and the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hilles moued lightly.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the foules of the heauen were fled.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitefull place was a wildernes, and all the cities thereof were broken downe before the Loꝛd, and before his fierce wrath.

27 Foꝛ thus saith the Loꝛd, The whole land shall be desolate, yet will I not make a full end.

28 Foꝛ this shall the earth mourne, and the heauen aboue be blacke: foꝛ I haue spoken it, I haue purposed it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall flee for the noise of the horsemen and archers: they shall go into thickets, and climbe vp vpon rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou art destroyed, what wilt thou doe? though thou clothest thee with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou rentest thine eyes with painting, in vaine shalt thou make thee fayre: thy louers will despise thee, they will seeke thy life.

31 Foꝛ I haue heard a voice as of a woman in trauel, and the anguish as of her that bringeth forth her first child, the voice of the daughter of Zion that bewaileth herselfe, that spreadeth her handes, saping, Woe is me now! foꝛ my soule is wearie because of murderers.

CHAP. V.

1 The Lord sheweth that there is no iust man in Ierusalem. 7 He threatneth them. 20 He reproueth their rebellion.

1 RVne ye to and fro through the streetes of Ierusalem, and see now, and know, and seeke in the broade places thereof, if ye can finde a man, if there be any that executeth iudgement, that seeketh the truth, and I will pardon it.

2 And though they say, The Loꝛd liueth, surely they sweare falsely.

3 O Loꝛd, are not thine eyes vpon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a rocke, they haue refused to returne.

4 Therefoꝛe I said, Surely these are poore, they are foolish: foꝛ they know not the way of the Loꝛd, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: foꝛ they know the way of the Loꝛd, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bandes.

6 Therefoꝛe a lion out of the wood shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wildernes shall destroy them, a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out of them shall be torne in pieces: foꝛ their transgressions are many, and their backesliding increased.

7 How shall I pardon thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworne by them that are no gods: when I had fed them to the full, they committed adultrie, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They were as fed horses in the morning: euery one neighed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Loꝛd? and shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Goe ye vp vpon her walles, and destroy, but make not a full end: take away her braunches, foꝛ they are not the Loꝛdes.

11 Foꝛ the house of Israel and the house of Iudah haue dealt very treacherously against me, saith the Loꝛd.

12 They haue belied the Loꝛd, and said, It is not he, neither shall euil come vpon vs, neither shall we see sworde nor famine:

13 And the Prophets shall become wind, and the woꝛd is not in them: thus shall it be done vnto them.

14 Therefoꝛe thus saith the Loꝛd God of hostes, Because ye haue spoken this woꝛd, beholde, I will make my woꝛdes in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Beholde, I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Loꝛd: it is a mighty nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

16 Their quiuer is as an open sepulchre, they are all mighty men.

17 And they shall eate vp thine haruest and thy bread, which thy sonnes and thy daughters should eate: they shall eate vp thy flockes and thine heardes: they shall eate vp thy vines and thy figtrees: they shall impouerish with the sworde thy fenced cities, wherein thou trustedst.

18 Yet in those dapes, saith the Loꝛd, I will not make a full end with you.

19 And it shall come to passe when ye shall say, Wherefoꝛe doeth the Loꝛd our God all these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me, and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iacob, and publish it in Iudah, saping, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and without heart, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not:

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Loꝛd? will ye not tremble at my presence, which haue placed the sande for the bounde of the sea by a perpetuall decree, that it cannot passe it? and though the waues thereof toste themselues, yet can they not preuaile? though they roare, yet can they not passe it?

23 But this people hath a reuolting and rebellious heart: they are reuolted and gone.

24 Neither say they in their heart, Let vs now feare the Loꝛd our God, that giueth raine both the former and the latter in his season: he reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the haruest.

25 Your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue withholden good things from you.

26 Foꝛ among my people are found wicked men: they lie in wait as he that setteth snares: they set a trappe, they catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceite: therefoꝛe they are become great, and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat, they shine: yea, they ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: they iudge not the cause, the cause of the fatherlesse, that they may prosper, and the right of the needie doe they not iudge.

29 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Loꝛd? and shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 A wonderfull and horrible thing is committed in the land:

31 The Prophets prophecie falsely, and the Priestes beare rule by their meanes, and my people loue to haue it so: and what will ye doe in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lord threatneth the destruction of Ierusalem. 9 He threatneth the whole land. 16 He exhorteth to repentance. 22 He threatneth the people of the north.

1 O Ye children of Beniamin, gather your selues to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blowe the trumpet in Tekoa, and set vp a signe of fire in Bethhaccerem: foꝛ euil appeareth out of the north, and great destruction.

2 I haue likened the daughter of Zion to a faire and delicate woman.

3 The shepheardes with their flockes shall come vnto her: they shall pitche their tentes against her round about: they shall feede euery one in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp at noone. Woe vnto vs! foꝛ the day goeth away, foꝛ the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe by night, and let vs destroy her palaces.

6 Foꝛ thus hath the Loꝛd of hostes said, Hewe ye downe trees, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this is the citie to be visited, she is wholy oppression in the middes of her.

7 As a fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her wickednes: violence and spoile is heard in her: before me continually is griefe and wounde.

8 Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, leste my soule departe from thee, leste I make thee desolate, a land not inhabited.

9 Thus saith the Loꝛd of hostes, They shall throughly glean as a vine the remnant of Israel: turne thine hand as a grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 To whome shall I speake, and giue warning, that they may heare? beholde, their eare is vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: beholde, the woꝛd of the Loꝛd is vnto them a reproche, they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefoꝛe I am full of the wrath of the Loꝛd, I am weary to hold it in: I will powre it out vpon the children abroade, and vpon the assemblie of young men together: foꝛ euen the husband with the wife shall be taken, the aged with him that is full of dapes.

12 And their houses shall be turned vnto others, their fieldes and wiues together: foꝛ I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Loꝛd.

13 Foꝛ from the least of them euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen to couetousnes, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

14 And they haue healed the hurt of my people slightly, saping, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abhomination? nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blushe: therefoꝛe they shall fall among them that fall: at the time that I visite them they shall be cast downe, saith the Loꝛd.

16 Thus saith the Loꝛd, Stande ye in the waies, and see, and aske for the olde paths, where is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall finde rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set watchmen ouer you, saping, Hearken to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not hearken.

18 Therefoꝛe heare, ye nations, and know, O congregation, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth: beholde, I will bring euil vpon this people, euen the fruite of their thoughtes, because they haue not hearkened vnto my woꝛdes, nor vnto my lawe, but refused it.

20 To what purpose commeth there to me incense from Sheba, and the sweete cane from a farre countrey? your burnt offrings are not acceptable, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefoꝛe thus saith the Loꝛd, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the children together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Loꝛd, Beholde, a people commeth from the north countrey, and a great nation shall be raised from the coastes of the earth.

23 They shall take hold of bowe and speare: they are cruell, and will not shewe mercie: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, euery one set in order as a man to the battell against thee, O daughter of Zion.

24 We haue heard the fame thereof, our handes waxe feeble: anguish hath taken vs, and sorowe as of a woman in trauel.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: foꝛ the sworde of the enemie and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackecloth, and wallow thy selfe in ashes: make thee mourning as for an only sonne, most bitter lamentation: foꝛ the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a tower and a fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and trie their way.

28 They are all grieuous reuolters, walking with slanders: they are brasse and yron, they are all corrupters.

29 The bellowes are burnt, the lead is consumed of the fire, the founder melteth in vaine: foꝛ the wicked are not plucked away.

30 Reprobate siluer shall men call them, because the Loꝛd hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Prophet reproueth the people for trusting in the Temple. 5 He exhorteth to repentance. 16 He forbiddeth to pray for them. 21 He reproueth their sacrifices. 30 He threatneth them.

1 THe woꝛd that came to Ieremiah from the Loꝛd, saping,

2 Stande in the gate of the Loꝛdes house, and there proclaime this woꝛd, and say, Heare the woꝛd of the Loꝛd, all ye of Iudah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Loꝛd.

3 Thus saith the Loꝛd of hostes, the God of Israel, Amende your waies and your deedes, and I will cause you to dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in lying woꝛdes, saping, The temple of the Loꝛd, the temple of the Loꝛd, the temple of the Loꝛd are these.

5 Foꝛ if ye amende your waies and your deedes throughly, if ye execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 If ye oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widowe, and shed not innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your hurt,

7 Then will I cause you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gaue to your fathers for euer and euer.

8 Beholde, ye trust in lying woꝛdes, that cannot profite.

9 Will ye steale, murder, and commit adultrie, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whome ye know not,

10 And come and stande before me in this house, whereupon my name is called, and say, We are deliuered to doe all these abhominations?

11 Is this house, whereupon my name is called, become a denne of theeues in your eyes? beholde, I, euen I haue seene it, saith the Loꝛd.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shiloh, where I caused my name to dwell at the first, and see what I did to it for the wickednes of my people Israel.

13 And now because ye haue done all these woꝛkes, saith the Loꝛd, and I spake vnto you, rising vp early and speaking, but ye heard not, and I called you, but ye answered not,

14 Therefoꝛe will I doe vnto the house whereupon my name is called, wherein ye trust, and vnto the place which I gaue you and your fathers, as I haue done to Shiloh.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 Therefoꝛe pray not thou for this people, neither lift vp cry nor prayer for them, neither make intercession to me: foꝛ I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough, to make cakes to the [p] queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me to anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, saith the Loꝛd? doe they not prouoke themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefoꝛe thus saith the Loꝛd God, Beholde, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred out vpon this place, vpon man, and vpon beast, and vpon the trees of the field, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne, and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Loꝛd of hostes, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices, and eate flesh.

22 Foꝛ I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them in the dapes that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings or sacrifices:

23 But this thing commanded I them, saping, Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people, and walke in all the waies that I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they obeyed not, nor inclined their eare, but walked in the counsels and in the imagination of their euil heart, and went backeward and not forward.

25 Since the dapes that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruantes the Prophets, rising vp early and sending them:

26 Yet they obeyed not me, nor inclined their eare, but hardened their neck: they did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefoꝛe thou shalt speake all these woꝛdes vnto them, but they will not hearken to thee: thou shalt also call vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that obeyeth not the voice of the Loꝛd their God, nor receiueth correction: truth is perished, and is cut off from their mouth.

29 Cut off thine heare, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a lamentation on high places: foꝛ the Loꝛd hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 Foꝛ the children of Iudah haue done euil in my sight, saith the Loꝛd: they haue set their abhominations in the house whereupon my name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie places of Tophet, which is in the valley of the sonne of Hinnom, to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind.

32 Therefoꝛe beholde, the dapes come, saith the Loꝛd, that it shall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the sonne of Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: foꝛ they shall bury in Tophet, because there is no other place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and vnto the beastes of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride: foꝛ the land shall be desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The Lord threatneth the destruction of Ierusalem. 4 He reproueth their rebellion. 8 He reproueth their false Prophets. 18 The Prophet lamenteth.

1 AT that time, saith the Loꝛd, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the Priestes, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, out of their graues:

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne, and the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whome they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and after whome they haue walked, and whome they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered, nor buried, they shall be for dung vpon the face of the earth.

3 And death shall be chosen rather then life of all the remnant that remaine of this euil kinred, which remaine in all the places whither I haue driuen them, saith the Loꝛd of hostes.

4 Moꝛeouer thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Loꝛd, Shall they fall, and not arise? shall he turne away, and not returne?

5 Why then is this people of Ierusalem turned away by a perpetuall backesliding? they hold fast deceite, they refuse to returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but they spake not aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, saping, What haue I done? euery one turned to his course, as the horse rushing into the battell.

7 Yea, the stocke in the heauen knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, the crane, and the swallow obserue the time of their comming: but my people knowe not the iudgement of the Loꝛd.

8 How say ye, We are wise, and the lawe of the Loꝛd is with vs? beholde, the false penne of the scribes hath made it falsely.

9 The wise men are confounded, they are afraide and taken: beholde, they haue reiected the woꝛd of the Loꝛd, and what wisedome is in them?

10 Therefoꝛe will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fieldes to them that shall possesse them: foꝛ euen from the least of them euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen to couetousnes, from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 And they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saping, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abhomination? nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blushe: therefoꝛe they shall fall among them that fall: in the time of their visitation they shall be cast downe, saith the Loꝛd.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Loꝛd: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade: and the things that I haue giuen them shall passe away from them.

14 Why doe we sit still? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be still there: foꝛ the Loꝛd our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water of gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Loꝛd.

15 We looked for peace, but no good came: and for a time of health, and beholde trouble!

16 The snorting of his horses was heard from Dan: all the land trembled at the sound of the neighing of his mighty ones: foꝛ they are come, and haue deuoured the land and all that is therein, the citie and those that dwell therein.

17 Foꝛ beholde, I will send serpentes among you, cockatrices, which will not be charmed, and they shall bite you, saith the Loꝛd.

18 When I would comfoꝛt my selfe against sorowe, my heart is faint in me.

19 Beholde the voice of the crie of the daughter of my people because of them that dwell in a farre countrey: Is not the Loꝛd in Zion? is not her king in her? Why haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with strange vanities?

20 The haruest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saued.

21 For the hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt: I am blacke, astonishment hath taken hold on me.

22 Is there no balme in Gilead? is there no Phisition there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

CHAP. IX.

1 The Prophet lamenteth. 3 He reproueth their rebellion. 12 He threatneth them. 17 He exhorteth to lamentation. 23 He exhorteth to glorie in the Lord.

1 O That my head were waters, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people!

2 O that I had in the wildernes a lodging place of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and goe from them! foꝛ they are all adulterers, and an assemblie of rebellious men.

3 And they bende their tongue like their bowe for lies: but they are not valiant for the truth vpon the earth: foꝛ they proceede from euil to euil, and they know not me, saith the Loꝛd.

4 Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust ye not in any brother: foꝛ euery brother will vtterly supplant, and euery neighbour will walke with slanders.

5 And they will deceiue euery one his neighbour, and will not speake the truth: they haue taught their tongue to speake lies, and weary themselues to commit iniquitie.

6 Thine habitation is in the middes of deceite: through deceite they refuse to know me, saith the Loꝛd.

7 Therefoꝛe thus saith the Loꝛd of hostes, Beholde, I will melt them, and trie them: foꝛ how shall I doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrowe shotte out: it speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth his wait.

9 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Loꝛd? shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 For the mountaines will I take vp a wee

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy lopnes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I command thee: be not afraid of their faces, least I q destroy thee before them.
18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar & walles of brasse against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof and against the people of the land.
19 For they shall fight against thee, but they shal not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes.
8 Against the priestes and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

1 MOreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
2 Goe, and cry in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindnes of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes b in a land that was not sowen.
3 Israel was as a thing c halowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruites: all they d that eate it, shall offend: euil shal come vpon them, saith the Lord.
4 Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.
5 Thus saith the Lorde, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in me, that they are gone e farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become f vaine?
6 For they saide not, Where is the Lorde that brought vs vp out of the lande of Egypt? that led vs through the wildernesse, through a desert, and waste lande, through a drie lande, and g by the shadowe of death, by a lande that no man passed through, & where no man dwelt?
7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eate the fruite thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled h my lande, & made mine heritage an abommation.
8 The Priestes said not, i Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the k Lawe, knewe mee not: the l pastours also offended against me, & the prophets prophecied in m Baal, and went after things that did not profite.
9 Wherefore I will pet n plead with you, saith the Lorde, and I will pleade with your childrens children.
10 For go ye to the yles of o Chittim, and behold, and send vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heede, and see whether there be such things.
11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glorie, for that which doth not r profite.
12 O ye s heauens, be astonied at this: be afraid and vtterly confounded, saith the Lord.
13 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken me t the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pittes, euen broken pittes, that can hold no water.
14 Is Israel a u seruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoyled?
15 The x lions roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without y an inhabitant.
16 Also the children of z Noph and Tahapanes haue a broken thine head.
17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he b led thee by the way?
18 And what hast thou nowe to do in the way of c Egypt? to drinke the water of Sihor? or what makest thou in the way of Assur? to drinke the water of the d River?
19 Thine owne wickednes shall e correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprooue thee: know therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hostes.
20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bondes, and thou sayest, f I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hilles, and vnder all greene trees.

23 How canſt thou ſay, I am not polluted, neither haue I g followed Baalim? beholde thy wayes in the valley, and know what thou haſt done: thou art like a ſwift h dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.

24 And as a wilde i aſſe, vſed to the wilderneſſe, that ſnuffeth vp the winde by occaſion at her pleaſure: who can turne her backe? all they that ſéeke her, will not wearie themſelues, but will finde her in her k moneth.

25 Kéepe thou thy fóote from l barefneſſe, and thy throte from thirſt: but thou ſaideſt deſperately, No, for I haue loued ſtrangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the m theefe is aſhamed, when he is found, ſo is the houſe of Iſrael aſhamed, they, their Kings, their princes & their Priеſtes, and their prophets, 27 Saying to a trée, Thou art my o father, and to a ſtone, Thou haſt begotten mee: for they haue turned their backe vnto mee, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will ſay, Ariſe, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou haſt made thée? let them ariſe, if they cã helpe thée in the time of thy trouble: for according to the nomber of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will q ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled againſt me, ſaieth the Lord.

30 I haue ſmitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne ſworde hath deuoured your Prophets like a deſtroying lyon.

31 O generation, take héede to the word of the Lord: haue I bene as a r wildernеſſe vnto Iſrael? or a land of darkneſſe? Wherefore ſaieth my people then, We are ſ lordes, we will come no more vnto thée?

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attyre? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without nomber.

33 Why doeſt thou prepare thy way, to t ſéeke amitie? euen therfore wil I teach thee, that thy waies are wickednes.

34 Alſo in thy u wings is found the blood of the ſoules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all theſe places.

35 Yet thou ſaieſt, Becauſe I am giltles, ſurely his wrath ſhall turne from mee: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, becauſe thou ſaieſt, I haue not ſinned.

36 Why runneſt thou about ſo much to change thy wayes? for thou ſhalt bee confounded of Egypt, x as thou art confounded of Aſſhur.

37 For thou ſhalt go forth from thence, & thine handes vpon y thine head, becauſe the Lorde hath reiected thy confidence, and thou ſhalt not proſper therby.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiſeth the reſtitution of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah and Iſrael, comparing them to a woman diſobedient to her husband.

THey a ſay, If a man put away his wife, & ſhe go from him, & become another mans, ſhall he returne againe vnto her? ſhall not this lande b be polluted? but thou haſt played the harlot with many c louers: yet d turne againe to me, ſaieth the Lorde.

2 Lift vp thine eies vnto the hie places, and behold where thou haſt not plaied the harlot: thou haſt ſit waiting for them in the wayes, as the e Arabian in the wilderneſs: and thou haſt polluted the lande with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the ſhowres haue bene reſtrained, & the f latter raine came not, and thou haddeſt a g whores forehead: thou wouldeſt not be aſhamed.

4 Diddeſt thou not ſtill crie h vnto mee, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he kéepe his anger for euer? will he reſerue it to the ende? thus haſt thou ſpoken, but thou doeſt euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord ſaid alſo vnto me, in ỳ daies of Joſiah the King, Haſt thou ſéene what this rebel i Iſrael hath done? for ſhe hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there plaied the harlot.

7 And I ſayde, when ſhee had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but ſhee a According as it is written, Deut. 24. 4.

b If he take ſuch one to wife againe.

c That is, with idoles, and with them, whome thou haſt put thy confidence in.

d And I will not caſt thee off, but receiue thee, according to my mercy.

e Which dwelleth in tents, and waiteth for thē that paſſe by to ſpoile them.

f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28. 24.

g Thou woudeſt neuer be aſhamed of thine actes & repent: & this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not conuicted.

h He ſheweth that the wicked in their miſeries will crie vnto God & vſe outward praier as the godly do, but becauſe they turne not from their euil, they are not heard, Iſa. 58. 3, 4.

i Meaning, the ten tribes.

l Hereby he warneth them that they ſhould not goe into ſtrange coũtreis to ſeeke helpe: for they ſhoulde but ſpend their labour, and hurt themſelues, which is heere ment by the bare foote and thirſt, Iſa. 57. 10.

m As a thiefe will not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deede, and ready to be puniſhed, ſo they will not confeſſe their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the ſame light vpon them.

n Meaning, that idolaters ſpoile God of his honour: and where as he hath taught to call him the father of all fleſh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

o Thou thoughteſt that thy gods of blocks & ſtones could haue holpen thee, becauſe they were many in nõber & preſent in euery place: but now let vs ſee whether either the multitude, or their preſence can deliuer thee frõ my plague, Cha. 11. 13.

p As though I did you iniurie in puniſhing you, ſeeing that your faults are ſo euident.

q That is, you haue killed your Prophets, & exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Iſaiah, &c.

r Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things?

s But will truſt in our owne power and policie.

t With ſtrãgers.

u The Prophets and the faithfull are ſlaine in euery corner of your countrey.

x For the Aſſyrians had taken away ỳ ten tribes out of Iſrael, & deſtroied Iudah, euen vnto Ieruſalem: and the Egyptians ſhewe Ioſiah, and vexed the Iewes in ſundry ſortes.

y In ſigne of lamentation, as 2. Sam. 13. 19.

returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah sawe.

8 When I sawe, howe that vp all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast k her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraide, but shee went also, and played the harlot.

9 So ꝑ for the l lightnesse of her whoredome shee hath euen defiled the lande: for shee hath committed fornication wt stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with m her whole heart, but fainedly, sayth the Lord.

11 And the Lorde sayde vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath n iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and crie these wordes towarde o the North and saye, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayeth the Lorde, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayeth the Lorde, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast p scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, and ye would not obey my voyce, sayth the Lorde.

14 O ye disobedient children, turne again, sayeth the Lorde, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and wil bring you to Sion, 15 And I wil giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you wt knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increased and multiplied in the lande, in those dayes, sayth the Lorde, they shall saye no more, The q Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shalbe no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Jerusalem, r The throne of the Lorde, and all the nations shall bee gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lorde in Jerusalem: and thencefoorth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shal walke with the house of Israel, and they shal come together out of the land of the s North, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an inheritãce vnto your fathers.

19 But I sayd, Howe did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of ye armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, & shalt not turne from me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her t husbãd, so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayth the Lord.

21 u A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue perverted their waye, and forgotten the Lorde their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. x Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truelye the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountains: but in the Lorde our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our y fathers labour, frõ our youth their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, & our shame couereth vs: z for we haue sinned against the Lorde our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, & haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Assyrians.

l The Ebrewe word may either signifie lightnes & wantonnes, or noise and brute.

m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but shee was neuer truely touched, or wholy reformed, as appeared when occasion was offred by any wicked prince.

n Israel hath not declared her self so wicked, as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions & examples to call her to repẽtance o Whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Assyrians, to whome he promiseth mercie, if they will repent.

p There was no way, which thou diddest not hant to seeke after ye idoles, & to trot a pilgrimage.

q This is to be vnderstand of ye comming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke ye Lorde by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.

r Meaning the Church, where the Lorde wil be present to the worldes ende, Mat. 28. 20.

s Where they are now in captiuitie.

t The Ebrewe worde signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be take for a husbãd, as it is vsed also, Hos. 3. 1 u Signifying, that God, whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them, who should leade the captiue & make them to crie and lament.

x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, which stayed so long to turne vnto God.

y For their idolatry Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.

z They iustifie not themselues, but condemne their wicked doings and desire forgiuenes of ye same, Ezra 9. 7. Psalm. 106. 6. Isa. 64. 6.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophecied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

1 O Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto me, sayeth the Lorde: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt b sweare, The Lorde liueth in trueth, in iudgement, & in righteousnesse, & the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him.

3 For thus sayth the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Jerusalem, Breake vp c your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lorde, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Jerusalem, least my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.

4 d Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Jerusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crye, and gather together, & say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

5 Set vp the standart in Zion: e prepare to flee, and stape not: for I wil bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

a That is, wholy, & without hypocrisie, Ioel 2. 12. not dissembling to turne & serue God as they doe which serue him by halues, as Hos. 7. 16.

b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psa. 16. 4. and shalt with reuerẽce sweare by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glorie, and profit others: and here, by swearing he meaneth the true religion of God.

c Hee willeth them to plucke vp the impietie and wicked affection & worldly respects out of their heart, that the true seede of Gods worde may bee sowen therein, Hos. 10. 12. & this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut. 10. 16. rom. 2. 29. colos. 2. 11.

d He warneth them of the great dangers that shall come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent, and turne to the Lorde.

e He speaketh this to admonishe them of the great danger when euery man shall prepare to saue himselfe, but it shall be too late, 2. King. 25. 4.

7 The f lion is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to laye thy land waste, and thy cities shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant.
8 Wherefore gird you with sackecloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lorde is not turned backe from vs.
9 And in that day, saieth the Lorde, the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priestes shalbe astonished, and the g prophetes shall wonder.
10 Then saide I, Ah, Lorde God, surely thou hast h deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saying, Yee shall haue peace, and the sworde pearceth vnto the heart.
11 At that time shall it be saide to this people and to Ierusalem, A drie i winde in the hie places of the wildernes commeth towarde the daughter of my people, but neither k to fanne, nor to cleanse.
12 A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those places, and nowe will I also giue sentence vpon them.
13 Behold, he shal come vp as l clouds, and his charettes shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then egles. m Woe vnto vs, for we are destroyed.
14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou mayest be saued: howe long shall thy wicked thoughtes remaine within thee?
15 For a voyce declareth from n Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.
16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and crye out against the cities of Iudah.
17 They haue compassed her about as the watchemen of the p fielde, because it hath prouoked mee to wrath, saieth the Lorde.
18 Thy waies and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednes: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall perce vnto thine heart.
19 My belly, q my belly, I am payned, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within mee: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sounde of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.
20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole lande is wasted: suddenly are my r tentes destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.
21 How long shall I see the standart, and heare the sound of the trumpete?
22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen mee: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: s they are wise to doe euil, but to do well they haue no knowledge.
23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and lo, it was without forme and t voyde: and to the heauens, and they had no light.
24 I beheld the mountaines: and lo, they trembled and all the hilles shooke.
25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.
26 I beheld, and lo, the fruitfull place was a wildernes, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.
27 For thus hath the Lorde saide, The whole lande shalbe desolate: yet will I u not make a full ende.
28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.
29 The whole citie shall flee for the noyse of the horsemen and bowe men: they shall go into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.
30 And when thou shalt bee destroyed, what wilt thou do? Though thou x clothest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.
31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauayling, or as one labouring of her first childe, euen the voyce of the daughter Sion that sighteth and stretcheth out her handes: y woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

f Meaning, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, 2 King.24.1.
g That is, the false prophetes, which shall propheciee peace and securitie.
h By the false prophets, which promised peace and tranquillity: and thus thou hast punished their rebellious stubbernnes by causing them to hearken vnto lies which would not beleeue thy truth, 1.king.22. 23 Ezek.14.9. 2.Thess.2.11.
i The North winde whereby he meaneth Nebuchadnezzar.
k But to cary away both corne and chaffe.
l Meaning, that Nebuchadnezzar should come as suddenly, as a cloud that is caried with the winde.
m This is spoken in the person of all the people, who in their affliction should crie thus.
n Which was a citie in the vtmost border of Israel Northward toward Babylon.
o Which was in the midway betweene Dan and Ierusalem.
p Which keepe the fruites so straitly, that nothing can come in nor out: so should the Babylonians compasse Iudah.
q He sheweth that the true ministers are liuely touched with the calamities of the Church, so that all the partes of their bodie feele the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glory they pronounce his iudgements against the people.
r Meaning the cities, which were as easely cast downe as a tent.
s Their wisdom and policie tend to their owne destruction, and pulleth them from God.
t By these maner of speaches he sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are mooued therewith, as if the order of nature should be changed, Isai.13. 10. and 24.23. ezek.32.7. ioel.2.31. and 3.15.
u But for his mercies sake he will reserue him selfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isa.2.9.
x Neither thy ceremonies nor rich giftes shall deliuer thee.
y As the Prophets were moued to pitie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to moue them to repentance, Isa.22.4.chap.9.1.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man found neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Chaldeans.

1 Runne to and fro by the streetes of Ierusalem, and behold nowe, and knowe, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, a and seeketh the truth, & I will spare it.
2 For though they say, The b Lorde liueth, yet doe they sweare falsely.
3 O Lorde, are not thine eyes vpon the c truth? thou hast d striken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

a That is, the citie.
b Though they pretend religion and holines, yet all is but hypocrisie: for vnder this kinde of swearing is conteyned the true religion.
c Doest not thou loue vprightnes and faithfull dealing?
d Thou hast oft times punished them, but all is in vaine, Isa.9.13.

4 Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they knowe not the way of the Lorde, nor the iudgement of their God.

e He speaketh this to the reproche of them, which should gouerne & teach others, and yet are farther out of the way then the simple people.

5 I will get me vnto the e great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lorde, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, & burst the bonds.

f Meaning, Nebuchadnezzar and his armie.

6 Wherefore f a lion out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wildernes shall destroy them: a leoparde shall watche ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

g He sheweth, that to sweare by any thing then by God, is to forsake him.

Ezek. 22.11.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and g sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fedde horses: for euery man h neyed after his neighbours wife.

h He commandeth the Babylonians and enemies to destroy them.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lorde? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

i Reade Chap. 4.27.

10 h Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full ende: i take away their battlments, for they are not the Lordes.

k Because they gaue no credit to the wordes of his Prophetes, as Isai. 28.15.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

l Their wordes shalbe of none effect, but vaine.

12 They haue k denied the Lord, and said, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shal we see sword nor famine.

m They are not sent of the Lord, and therefore that which they threaten to vs, shall come vpon them.

13 And the Prophetes shalbe as l winde, and the word is m not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

n Meaning, Ieremiah.

14 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, behold, I will put my wordes into n thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

o To wit, the Babylonians and Chaldeans.

15 Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you o from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

p Who shall kill many with their arrowes.

16 Whose quiuer is as an p open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

q Here ſ Lord declareth his vnspeakeable fauour toward his Church, as Chap. 4.27. Chap. 16.10.

17 And they shall eate thine haruest and thy bread: they shal deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy shepe and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines & thy figtrees: they shall destroy with the sworde thy fenced cities, wherein thou didest trust.

18 Neuertheles at those dayes, saith the Lorde, I will not make a full ende of q you.

r Meaning, the Prophet Ieremiah.

19 And when r ye shall saye, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt r thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your lande, so shall ye serue strangers in a lande that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and s without vnderstanding, which haue t eyes & see not, which haue eares and heare not.

s Ebr. without heart. Isa. 6.9. mat. 13.14. act. 28.27. rom. 11.8.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lorde? or will ye not be afraide at my presence, which haue placed the sande for the u boundes of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, & though the waues therof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

t Iob. 26.10.

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs nowe feare the Lorde our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the haruest.

u Or, bare vnto.

25 Yet your x iniquities haue turned away these thinges, & your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

x If there be any stay, that we receiue not Gods blessings in abundance, we must consider that it is for our owne iniquities, Isa. 59.1, 2.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay wayte as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceit: therby they are become great and waxen riche.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: y they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they z prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

Isa. 1.23. zech. 7.9.

z They feele not the plague of God for it.

29 Shall I not visite for these thinges, saith the Lorde? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

u Meaning, that there could be nothing but disorder, where the ministers were wicked persons and corrupt.

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The a prophetes prophecie lies, and the priests b receiue gifts in their hands, and my people delite therein. What will ye then do in the ende thereof?

a Or, beare rule.

CHAP. VI.

The comming of the Assyrians and Chaldeans, 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

1 O Ye children of a Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem and blowe the trumpet in b Tekoa: set vp a standart vpon c Beth-haccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.

a He speaketh to them chiefly because they should take heed by the example of their brethren, the other halfe of their tribe, which were now caried away prisoners. b Which was a citie in Iudah sixe miles from Bethlehem, 2. Chron. 11.6. c Reade Nehemiah 3.14.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Sion to d a beautiful and daintie woman.

d I haue intreated her gently and giuen her abundance of all thinges.

3 The pastors with their flockes [e] shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tentes rounde about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place.
4 [f] Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp towarde the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.
5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.
6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must bee visited: all oppression is in the middes of it.
7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her naughtinesse: crueltie and spoile is continually heard in her before me with sorowe and stroke.
8 Be thou instructed, O [h] Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a lande, that none inhabiteth.
9 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne [i] backe thine hande as the grape gatherer into the baskets.
10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonishe that they may heare? beholde, their eares are [k] vncircumcised, & they cannot hearken: beholde, the worde of the Lorde is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no delite in it.
11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the [m] children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assemblie of the young men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.
12 And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto straungers: for I will stretch out mine hande vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.
13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euerie one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely.
14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.
15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the [o] raine: when I shall visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.
16 Thus saith the Lorde, Stande in the waies and beholde, and aske for the [p] old way, which is the good way and walke therein, and yee shall finde rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.
17 Also I set [r] watchmen ouer you, which saide, Take heede to the sounde of the trumpet: but they saide, Wee will not take heede.
18 Heare therefore, ye [s] Gentiles, and thou Congregation knowe, what is among them.
19 Heare, O earth, beholde, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my Lawe, but cast it off.
20 To what purpose bringest thou mee [t] incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offringes are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.
21 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friende shal perish.
22 Thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, a people commeth from the [v] North countrey, and a great nation shal arise from the sides of the earth.
23 They bowe and shielde shal they bee weaponed: they are cruel and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.
24 We haue heard the [x] fame, and our handes were [y] feeble: sorowe is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

a Beleeue not ye falſe prophets, which ſay that for the Temples ſake, and the ſacrifices there, the Lord will preſerue you, and ſo nouriſh you in your ſin, and vaine confidence.

b God ſheweth on what conditiō he made his promes to this Temple: that they ſhould be an holie people vnto him, as hee would be a faithfull God to them.

c As theeues hid in holes, and dennes, thinke themſelues ſafe, ſo when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be couered with y holines thereof, and that I cannot ſee your wickednes, Mat.21.13.

d Becauſe they depended ſo much on the Temple, which was for his promes, that he would be preſent, and defend them where the Arke was: he ſendeth them to Gods iudgements againſt Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300. yeeres, and after was taken, the Prieſts ſlaine and the people miſerably diſcomfited, 1.Sam. 4.11.chap.26.6.

h To aſſure them that God had determined with himſelf to puniſh their wickednes, he ſheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaile them, whiles they remaine in their obſtinacie againſt God, and will not vſe the meanes that he vſeth to cal them to repentance, Chap.11.14. & 14.11.

House and crie this word there, & ſay, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah y enter in at theſe gates to worſhip the Lord.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, a Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Truſt not in a lying wordes, ſaying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lorde: this is the Temple of the Lorde.

5 For if you amende and redreſſe your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppreſſe not the ſtranger, the fatherleſſe and the widowe, and ſhed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your deſtruction,

7 Then b will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you truſt in lying words, that can not profite.

9 Will you ſtrale, murder, and commit adulterie and ſweare falſely and burne incenſe vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye knowe not?

10 And come and ſtand before me in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and ſay, We are deliuered, though wee haue done all theſe abominations?

11 Is this House become c a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I ſee it, ſaith the Lord.

12 But go ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, d where I ſet my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednes of my people Iſrael.

13 Therefore now becauſe ye haue done all theſe workes, ſaith the Lorde, (and I e roſe vp earely and ſpake vnto you: but when I ſpake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would f ye anſwere)

14 Therefore will I do vnto this House, whereupon my Name is called, wherein alſo ye truſt, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will caſt g you out of my ſight, as I haue caſt out all your brethren, euen the whole ſeede of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou ſhalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or prayer for them neither intreate me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seeſt thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, ſayth the Lorde, and not themſelues to the confuſion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath ſhalbe powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beaſt, and vpon the tree of the fielde and vpon the fruite of the grounde, and it ſhall burne and not bee quenched.

21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Put your burnt offrings vnto your ſacrifices, and eate the fleſh.

22 For k I ſpake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, whē I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and ſacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your GOD, and ye ſhalbe my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be wel vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counſels and the ſtubbernneſſe of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen ſent vnto you all my ſeruants the Prophets, m riſing vp early euery day, and ſending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worſe then their fathers.

27 Therefore ſhalt thou ſpeake all theſe words vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou ſhalt alſo crie vnto them, but they will not anſwere thee.

28 But thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth diſcipline: truth is periſhed, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o heare, O Ieruſalem, and caſt it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forſaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my ſight, ſaith the Lorde: they haue ſet their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their ſonnes & their daughters in the fire, which I r commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnes of the prophets and priests.

1 AT that tyme, saith the Lorde, they shal bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the priestes and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their a graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whome they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, and whome they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shalbe as doung vpon the earth.

3 And death shalbe desired b rather then life of all the residue that remayneth of this wicked famile, which remayne in all the places where I haue scattered them, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt saye vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they c fall and not arise? shal he turne awap and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to decepte, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, saying, What haue I done? euery d one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appoynted times, & the turtle and the crane & the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the e iudgement of the Lord.

9 The g wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken. Lo, they haue reiected the worde of the Lord, & what wisdome is in them?

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, h Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shal they fal among the slaine: when I shal visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lorde: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leafe shal fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shal depart from them.

14 Why do we stay? i assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, & let vs be quiet there: for the Lorde our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs water with k gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 * Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, & beholde troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from l Dan, the whole land trembled at the nople of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and those that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will m send serpents, & cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue n comforted my selfe against sorowe, but mine heart is heauie in me.

19 Behold, the voyce of the crye of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lorde in Zion? is not her King in her? Why o haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernes a [b]cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all [c] adulterers and an assemblie of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for [d] lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, & they haue not knowen me, sayth the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heede of his neyghbour, & trust you not in any [e] brother: for euery brother will vse deceite, & euery friend will deale deceitfully,

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, & will not speake the trueth: for they [f] haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great payne to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: [g] because of their deceite they refuse to know me, sayth the Lord.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hosts, Beholde, I will [h] melt them, and trye them: for what should I els doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue [k] is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shal I not visit them for these things, sayth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the [i] mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, & vpon the fayre places of the wildernesse a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe [l] through them, neyther can men heare the voice of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is [k] wise, to vnderstand this, and to whome the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken, that he may declare it. Why doth the land perish, & is burnt vp like a wildernes, that none passeth through?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubbernes of their owne heart, & after Baalims, which [l] their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall [m] to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whome neyther they nor their fathers haue knowē, & I will send a sworde after them, till I haue consumed them.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared.
5 The weakenes of idoles, and of the power of God.
21 Their pastours are become brutt beastes.

HEare ye the word of the Lorde that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus sayth the Lorde, Learne not the [a] way of the heathen, and be not afrayde for the [b] signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraide of such.

3 For the [b] customes of the people are vayne: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe, a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the constellations and conjunctions of starres and planets, which haue no power of themselues, but are gouerned by him, & their secret motions and influences are not knowen to man, and therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof, Deut.18.9. b Meaning, not onely in the obseruation of the starres, but their Lawes and ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidden, Deut.12.30.

c The Prophets vse thus plainely and simplie to set foorth ỻ vile absurditie of the idolaters, ỻ men might learne to be ashamed of ỻ, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isai.44.12.

d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eies to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good, which they ought to follow, Reuel.15.4.

e Because the people thought that to haue images was a meane to serue God & to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therfore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, ver.15. and Habak.2.18 calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

f Where as they found the best gold: shewing, that they thought nothing to deare for their idols: some reade Ophir, as 1.King.9.28.

g This declareth, ỻ all that hath bene in this Chapter spoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and nowe with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, & howe to answere them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas al the rest of his writing is Ebrew.

h The more that man thinketh to doe any thing well by his owne wisedome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he proue himself to be a vile beast.

i By these wordes, Portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, & therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes, and succours, as of idoles, &c. Deut.32.9. Psal.16.5.

4 And another decketh it e with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not.
5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.
6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lorde: d thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.
7 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, & in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.
8 But altogether they dote, & are foolish: for the stocke is a e doctrine of vanitie.
9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and golde f from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blue silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.
10 But the Lorde is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shal tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.
11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods ỻ that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perishe from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)
12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.
13 He giueth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.
14 Euery man is a ỻ beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.
15 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perishe.
16 The i portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.
17 ỻ Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.
18 For thus saith the Lorde, Behold, at this time I will throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they shal finde it so.
19 Woe is me for my destruction, and my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it ỻ is my sorowe, and I will beare it.
20 m My tabernacle is destroyed: and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.
21 For the Pastors n are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flocks of their pastures are scattered.
22 Behold, the noise of the bruite is come, and a great commotion out of the o North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, & a denne of dragons.
23 O Lord, I know, that p the way of man is not in him selfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.
24 O Lord, correct me, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.
25 Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen, that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob and deuoured him and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

k The Prophet willeth ỻ Iewes to prepare them selues to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should feele the things, whereof he had told them.

l It is my iust plague, & therefore I will take it patiently: where by he teacheth the people howe to behaue themselues towarde God.

m He sheweth howe Ierusalem shall lament.

n The gouerneurs and ministers.

o Reade Chap.4.15.

p He speaketh this, because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites & Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to go against Ierusalem, Ezek.21.21. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lordes direction.

q Considering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap.7.16. he onely prayeth, that he would punish them with mercie, which Isaiah calleth, in measure, Chap.27.8. measuring his rods by their infirmitie, 1.Cor.10.13. for here by iudgement is ment not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap.30.11.

r For as much as God can not onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that he vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, he prayeth that his glorie may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal.79.6.

CHAP. XI.

A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant. 10. The people of Iudah, following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

1 The woorde that came to Ieremiah from the Lorde, saying,
2 Heare ye ỻ woords of this couenat, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,
3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, a Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the woordes of this couenant, 4 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, a The Prophet calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods mercies, who freely chose them, made a couenat of eternal felicitie with them, and howe he euer performed it on his behalfe, and how they euer shewed themselues rebellious and ingrate towarde him and brake it on their part, and so are subiect to the curse of the Lawe, Deut.27.26.

thers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron fornace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commaund you: so shall ye bee my people, and I will be your God, 5 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered [b] I and said, So be it, O Lord.

b Thus he speaketh in the person of the people, which agreed to the couenant.

6 Then the Lorde saide vnto me, Crie all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the stretes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the Land of Egypt vnto this day, [c] rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

c Reade Chap. 7.13.

8 Neuertheles they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in [d] stubbernes of his wicked [e] heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the [e] wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

d According to his owne fantasie, and not as my word appointed him.

e Meaning, the menaces and curses conteyned in the lawe, Leui. 26.14. deut. 28.16.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A [f] conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

f That is, a generall consent to rebell against me.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my words: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therfore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crye vnto mee, [g] I will not heare them.

g Because they will not pray with true faith and repentance, but for the smart and griefe which they feele, Prou. 1.28.

12 Then shal the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shal not be able to help them in time of their trouble.

h Reade Chap. 2.28.

13 [h] For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the stretes of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

i Reade Chap. 7.16. and 14. 11.

14 Therfore thou shalt not pray [i] for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they crie vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

k My people of Israel whom I haue hitherto so greatly loued.

15 What should my [k] beloued tary in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.

l Meaning, that they offer not in the Temple to God, but vpon the altars of Baal and the idols, and so reioyced in their wickednesse.

16 The Lorde called thy name, A greene olive tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with [m] noise and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

m Of the Babylonians and Caldeans.

17 For the Lorde of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, (for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah) which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offring incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst me [n] their practises.

n Which went about priuily to conspire my death.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs [o] destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, & cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

o Let vs destroy the Prophet and his doctrine. Some reade, Let vs corrupt his meate with wood, meaning, poyson.

20 But O Lorde of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let mee see thy [p] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

p Thus he spake not for hatred, but being moued with the Spirit of God, desireth the aduancement of Gods glory and the verifiying of his word, which is by the destruction of his enemies.

21 The Lorde therefore speaketh thus of the men of [q] Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, [r] Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

q To wit, both the Priestes and the rest of the people: for this towne was the Priests, and they dwelt in it, reade Chap. 1.1.

r Not that they could not abide to heare God named: (for herein they would shewe themselues most holy) but because they could not abyde to be sharpely reproued, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30.10, and to be mainteined in their pleasures, Micah 2.11, and not to heare vice condemned, Amos 7.12.

22 Thus therefore saith the Lorde of hostes, Beholde, I will visite them: the young men shall die by the sworde: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine, 23 And none of them shal remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitatiō.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueyleth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations, that troubled Iudah.

1 O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou [a] art righteous: yet let mee talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked [b] prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.

b This question hath bene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob 21.7. psal. 37.1. and 73.3. Haba. 1.3.

2 Thou hast planted them, & they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruit: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their [c] reines.

c They professe God in mouth, but denie him in heart, which is here ment by the reines, Isa. 29.13. mat. 15.8.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and [d] prepare them for the day of slaughter.

d The Ebrew word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterwarde they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie & his promises, they flattered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, til at length the beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishmēt of their stubberne rebellio against God.

f Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiah in that, ỹ he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with mē, that he were farre vnable to dispute w God. Others, by the footmen, meane them of Anathoth, & by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.

g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries labor to put him to silence.

h Euer ramping and raging against me and my Prophets.

i In steade of bearing my liuerie and wearing only my colours, they haue change and diuersitie of colours of their idoles and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thicke as the foules of the aire, shal come about them to destroy them.

k He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by ỹ captaines of Nebuchad-nezzar, whome he calleth pastors. l Because no man regardeth my word, or the plagues that I haue sent vpō the land. m To wit, the Prophets. n They lamented the sinnes of the people. o For in stead of amendement, you grew worse & worse as Gods plagues testified. p Meaning, ỹ wicked enemies of his Church, which blaspheme his name, and whom he would punish after that hee hath deliuered his people. q After that I haue punished the Gentiles, I wil haue mercy vpon them.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwel therein? the beasts are consumed and the birds, because they sayde, e He will not see our last ende.

5 If thou hast runne with the f footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable lande, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iordan?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpō thee: but beleue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken g mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a h lion in the forest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto me, as a birde i of diuers colours? are not the birds about her, saying, Come, assemble al the beasts of ỹ field, come to eate her?

10 Many pastours haue destroyed my k vineyarde, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wildernes.

11 They haue layde it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: & the whole land lieth waste, because no man setteth his minde on l it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernesse: for the sworde of the Lorde shall deuoure from the one ende of the lande, euen to the other ende of the lande: no flesh shal haue peace.

13 m They haue sowen wheate, and reaped thornes: they were n sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of o your fruits, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus sayth the Lord against all mine euil p neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherit, Behold, I will plucke them out of their land, & plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I q will returne, and haue compassion on them, and wil bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the r wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (s The Lorde liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) the shal they be built t in the middes of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, sayth the Lord.

r The true doctrine & maner to serue God.

t They shalbe of the nomber of the faithfull, and haue a place in my Church.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, & why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

1 THus sayth the Lord vnto me, Goe, & bie thee a linen girdle, & put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lorde, & put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go towarde u Perath, & hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, & hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lord sayd vnto me, Arise, go toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, & tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, & was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus sayth the Lord, After this maner will I destroye the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, & walke after the stubbernes of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to ỹ loynes of a mā, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, sayth the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and prayse, and glorie, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt saye vnto them this word, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Euery x bottel shalbe filled with wine, & they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know that euery bottel shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitāts of this land, euen the kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests & the Prophets and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennes.

14 And I y will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, sayeth the Lorde: I will not spare, u Because this riuer Perath or Euphrates was farre from Ierusalem, it is euident, that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should passe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time should seeme to be rotten, although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

x Euery one of you shalbe filled with spirituall drunkennes, and be without all knowledge to seeke howe to help your selues.

y It shalbe as easie for me to destroy the greatest, & the strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthen bottels.

d That is, affliction and miserie by the Babylonians, Isa. 8.22.

e Meaning, for helpe & support of ỹ Egyptians.

f You shal surely be led away captiue, & I, according to mine affection toward you, shall weepe, and lament for your stubbernes.

g For Iehoiachin, and his mother rendred thẽselues by Ieremiahs counsell to ỹ king of Babylõ, 2. Kin. 24.12

h That is, of Iudah, which lyeth Southward from Babylon.

i He asketh the King, where his people is become.

k By seeking to straungers for helpe, thou hast made them skilfull to fight against thee.

l Thy cloke of hypocrisie shall be pulled off and thy shame seene.

m As thine iniquities haue bin manifest to all ỹ world: so shal thy shame and punishment.

n He cõpareth idolaters to horses inflamed after mares.

o There is no place so hie nor low, whereas the markes, & signes of thine idolatrie appeare not.

a Which came for lack of raine, as vers. 4.

a a Or, restraint.

b The word signifieth to bee made black, & so is here taken for extreme sorowe.

spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but beate you them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glorie to the Lorde your God before he bring d darkenes, & or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, & whiles you looke for e light, yee turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkenes.

17 But if ye wil not heare this, my soule shall f weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and dropde down teares, because the Lords flock is caried awap captiue.

18 Say vnto the g King & to the Quéene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glorie shal come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of h the South shall be shut vp, and no man shal open them: all Iudah shalbe carped awap captiue: it shal be wholy carped awap captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and beholde them that come from the North: where is the i flock that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull flocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast k taught them to be captaines & as chiefe ouer thee) shal not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaple?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these thinges vpon mee? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirtes l discouered and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spottes? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken awape with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, & the part of thy measures from me, saith the Lorde, because thou hast forgotten mee and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirtes vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy a neyings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hilles in o the fieldes, and thine abominations. Woe vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not be made cleane? when shal it once be?

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercy of the Lorde. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

1 THe worde of the Lorde that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a a dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene b brought to heauines vnto the ground, and the cry of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed and confounded, and c couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no rayne in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the fielde, and forsooke d it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stande in the high places, and drewe in their winde like e dragons: their eyes did faple, because there was no grasse.

7 f O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a g stranger in the lande, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as h a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lorde hath no delyte in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

11 Then sayd the Lorde vnto me, i Thou shalt not pray for this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crie, and when they offer burnt offring, & an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine & by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lorde God, beholde, the k prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sworde, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophecie lies in my Name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false visiõ, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shall not be in this lande, by sworde and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these prophets doe prophecie, shall be cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shalbe none to burie them, both they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt saye this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe l teares

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorow.

d Meaning, that ỹ bruit beasts for drought were cõpelled to forsake their wong, contrary to nature, and to go seeke water, which they could not finde.

e Which are so hote of nature, that they cannot be cooled with drinking of water, but still gape for the aire to refresh them.

f He sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained confession of our sinnes, and returning to him by repentance.

g That taketh no care for vs.

h As one that hath strength to helpe, and yet is afrayde to put to his hand.

i Read Chap. 7. 16. & 11.14.

k He pitieth the people, & accuseth ỹ false prophets, which deceiued them: but the Lord answered, that both ỹ prophets, which deceiued, & the people, which suffered themselues to be seduced, shal perish, Chap. 23.15. & 27.8.9. & 29.8. Chap. 23.21. & 27.10,15. & 29.9.

l The false prophets promised peace and assurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares and repentance for their affliction, which is at hande, as Chap. 9.1. Lamē. 1.16. & 2.18.

m Both hie and lowe shalbe led captiues into Babylon.

n Though the Prophet knew ỹ God had cast off ỹ multitude, which were hypocrites, and bastard childrē, yet he was assured that for his promes sake he would haue still a Church, for the which he prayeth.

o He teacheth the Church a forme of praier, to humble themselues to God by true repentance, which is the only meane to auoide this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.

p Meaning, their idoles, reade Chap. 10.15.

l teares night & day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, & with a sore grieuous plague.

18 For if I go into the fielde, beholde the slaine with the sworde: and if I enter into the citie, beholde them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring m into a land that they knowe not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected n Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cānot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and beholde trouble.

20 We o acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednes and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember & breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we wil waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no praier for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroy thē with foure plagues.

1 Then said the Lord vnto me, a Though Moses & Samuel stoode before me, yet mine affection could not be towarde this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shal we depart? then tell them, Thus saieth the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: & such as are for the sworde, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the b dogs to teare in pieces, & the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I wil c scatter them also in al kingdoms of the earth, d because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sory for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backewarde: therefore will I stretche out mine hande against thee, and destroy thee: for I e am wearie with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fanne a Meaning, that if there were any māliuing moued with so great zeale toward the people, as were these two, yet that he woulde not grāt this request, forasmuch as he had determined the contrary, Eze. 14.14. Zech. 11.9.

b The dogges, birdes & beastes should deuoure them that were slaine.

c The word signifieth to runne to & fro for feare & vnquietnes of conscience, as did Kain.

d Not that the people was punished for ỹ kings sinne onely, but for their owne sins also, because they consented to his wickednes, 2. King. 21.9.

e That is, I will not call backe my plagues, or spare thee any more.

f in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their waies.

8 Their widowes f are increased by me aboue the sand of ỹ sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the g assemblie of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, & the citie suddenly, and h terrible.

9 She that hath borne i seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed k her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 l Wo is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, and a man ỹ striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither l lent on vsurie, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euery one doeth curse me.

11 The Lord said, m Surely thy remant shal haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemie to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, & visite me, and reuenge me of my p persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: knowe that for thy sake I haue suffred rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were found by me, and I did eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioye & reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpō me, O Lord God of hostes.

17 I sate not in the assemblie of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone q because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauines continuall? & my plague desperate & can not be healed? why art thou vnto me r as a lyar, & as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou s returne, then wil I bring thee again, & thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take forth the precious from the vile, thou shalt be as my mouth: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee, and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

1 The word of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take thée a wife, nor haue sónes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus sayeth the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, & concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deathes and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shalbe as dogue vpon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sworde, and by famine, and their carkeises shall bee meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus sayeth the Lorde, [b] Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, sayeth the Lorde, euen mercie and compassion.

6 Both the great, and the small shall die in this lande: they shall not be buried, neither shal men lament for them, [c] nor cut themselues, nor make themselues balde for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shal they giue them the [d] cuppe of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, [e] God of Israel, Beholde, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of mirth, and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, and they shall say vnto thee, [*] Wherefore hath the Lorde pronoūced all this great plague against vs? or what is [f] our iniquitie? & what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, & haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie [h] carions and their abominations.

19 O Lorde, thou art my [i] force, and my strēgth and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the endes of the worlde, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited [k] lies, and vanitie, wherein there was no profite.

13 O Lorde, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall be written [m] in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lorde, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale me, O Lord, and I shalbe whole: [n] saue me, and I shalbe saued: for thou art my praise.

15 Beholde, [o] they say vnto mee, Where is the worde of the Lorde? let it come now.

16 But [p] I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the daye of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lippes, was right before thee.

17 Be not [q] terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not mee be confounded: let them be afraide, but let not me be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, [r] and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go and stand in the [s] gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitantes of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lorde, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the [t] Sabbath daye, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither carry foorth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath daye: neither doe ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commaunded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheles if ye will heare me, saith the Lorde, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in þ Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein,

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, & shall sit [u] vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon charets, & vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitantes of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shal come from the cities of Iudah, & from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, & from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shal bring burnt offrings, and sacrifices, and meate offrings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the House of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, & not to beare a burden nor to goe through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

o The wicked say, Let my prophecie shal not come to passe, because thou deferrest the time of thy vengeance.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the dispisers of his worde.

18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

1 THe woorde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Arise, and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shewe thee my woordes.
3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.
4 And the vessell that hee made of [a] clay, was broken in the hande of the potter. so hee returned, and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.
5 Then the woord of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
6 O house of Israel, can not I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lorde? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.
7 I will speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to destroy it.
8 But if this nation, against whome I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will [b] repēt of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.
9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom to builde it and to plant it.
10 But if it do euil in my sight and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to do for them.
11 Speake thou nowe therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitantes of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.
12 But they saide [c] desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and do euery man after the stubbernes of his wicked heart.
13 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Aske nowe among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.
14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? [d] or shal the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?
15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the [e] auncient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,
16 To make their lande desolate & a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head,
17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemie: I will shew them the backe, and [f] not the face in the day of their destruction, 18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuice against Ieremiah: for the Law shal not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the [b] tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his woordes.
19 Hearken vnto me, O Lorde, and heare the voyce of them that contende with me.
20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stoode before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.
21 Therefore, deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbandes be put to death, and let their young men be slaine by the sword in the battell.
22 Let the crie be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an host suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.
23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

a As the potter hath power ouer the clay to make what pot he will, or to breake them, when he hath made them: so haue I power ouer you to doe with you as seemeth good to me, Isa. 45.9. wisd. 15.7. rom. 9.20, 21.
b When ỹ scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not ỹ he doeth contrary to that which he hath ordained in his secret cōsel: but when he threateneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning (which euer containeth a cōdition in it) taketh no place: & this the scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.
c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebelliō, & to their owne selfe will.
d As no man ỹ hath thirst, refuseth fresh cōduit waters which he hath at home, to go & seeke waters abroade to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seeke for helpe and succour at strāgers and leaue God, which was present with them.
e That is, ỹ way of trueth, which God had taught by his Law, read Chap. 6.16.
f I will shewe mine anger and not my fauour toward them.

King. 22. 24. chap. 7.4. and 20.2. malac. 2.4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, & in multitude, but is knowen by the graces of the holy Ghost.
h Let vs slander him, and accuse him: for we shal be beleeued.
i Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grewe daily more and more, the Prophet being mooued with Gods Spirit, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knewe that it should tende to Gods glory, and profit of his Church.

He propheciеth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

1 THus said the Lord, Goe, and bye an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priestes,
2 And goe foorth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the [1] East gate: and thou shalt preach there the woordes, that I shall tell thee, 12 Thus will I do vnto this place, ſaith the Lord, & to the inhabitants thereof, & I will make this citie like Topheth.

7 O Lorde, thou haſt deceiued me, and I am i deceiued: thou art ſtronger then I, and haſt k preuailed: I am in derriſion daily: euery one mocketh me.

i Herein appeareth the impacienсie, which oftētimes ouercōmeth the ſeruāts of God, whē they ſee not their labors to profit, & alſo feele their owne weakenes, read chap. 15. 18.

8 Foꝛ ſince I ſpake, I cried out of wꝛōg, and proclaimed *deſolation: therefoꝛe the woꝛde of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derriſion daily.

k Thou diddeſt thruſt me forth to this worke againſt my will.

9 Then I ſaid, I will not make mention of him, noꝛ ſpeake any moze in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire ſhut vp in my bones, and I was weary with foꝛbearing, and I could not ſtaie.

l He ſheweth ſ he did his office in ſ he reproued ſ people of their vices, & threatned them ẅ gods iudgements: but becauſe he was derided & perſecuted for this, he was diſcouraged and thought to haue ceaſed to preach, ſaue the Gods Spirit did force him thereunto.

10 Foꝛ I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery ſide. l Declare, ſayde they, and we will declare it: all my familiars watched foꝛ mine halting, ſaying, It may be that hee is decepued: ſo we ſhall preuaile againſt him, and wee ſhall execute our vengeance vpon him.

m Thus we ſee, that the thing which neither the King, nor the Princes, nor the people durſt enterpriſe againſt the Prophet of God, this Prieſt as a chief inſtrument of Satan firſt attempted, read Chap. 18. 18.

11 *But the Lord is with me like a mighty gyant: therefoꝛe my perſecuters ſhal be ouerthꝛowne, and ſhall not preuaile, & ſhall be greatly confounded: foꝛ they haue done vnwiſely, & their euerlaſting ſhame ſhall neuer be foꝛgotten.

p Alluding to the deſtruction of Sodom and Gomorah, Gen. 19. 25.

15 Curſed be the man, that ſhewed my father, ſaying, A man child is boꝛne vnto thee, and comfoꝛted him.

16 And let that man bee as the p cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the moꝛning, and the ſhowting at noonetide,

17 Becauſe he hath not ſlaine me, euen frō the womde, oꝛ that my mother might haue bene my grane, or her wombe a perpetuall k conception.

k Meaning, that the fruit thereof might neuer come to profite.

18 Wherfore is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorowe, that my daies should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He prophecieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the citie burned.

1 The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying, a Not that the King was touched with repentance of his sinnes and so sought to God, as did Hezekiah when he sent to Isaiah, 2. King. 19.1. Isa. 37.2, but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh sought vnto Moses, Exo. 9.28.

2 a Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lorde for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lorde will deale with vs according to all his wonderous works, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then saide Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saieth the Lord God of Israel, Beholde, I will b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, & against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the middes of this citie.

b To wit, from your enemies to destroy your liues.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mighty arme, euen in anger & in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitats of this citie, both man, and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saieth the Lorde, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, & his seruantes, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine into the hād of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hād of their enemies, & into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shal smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the c way of life, and the way of d death.

c By yeelding your selues to Nebuchad-nezzar.

d By resisting him.

9 * He that abideth in this citie, shall die by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shal liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a e pray.

e As a thing recouered from extreme danger, Chap. 37.2. & 39.18. & 45.5.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill and not for good, saieth the Lorde: it shalbe giuen into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shal burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, * Execute iudgement f in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fire and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednes of your workes.

*Chap. 22.3.

f Be diligent to do iustice.

13 Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saieth the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I wil visite you according to the fruite of your workes, saieth the Lord, & I will kindle a fire h in the forest therof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

g Meaning, Ierusalem, which was builded part on the hil & part in the valley, & was compassed about with mountaines.

h That is, in the houses thereof, which stoode as thicke as trees in the forest.

CHAP. XXII.

He exhorteth the King to iudgement and righteousnes. 9 VVhy Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophecied.

1 Thus saith the Lorde, Go downe to the house of the King of Iudah, & speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus saith the Lorde, * Execute ye iudgement and a righteousnes, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widdowe: doe no violence, nor shead innocent blood in this place.

*Chap. 21.12.

a This was his ordinarie maner of preaching before the Kings from Iosiah vnto Zedekiah, which was about fortie yeres.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall there kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, *and ride vpon charets, & vpon horses, both he & his seruants and his people.

b Shewing that there is none greater then he is, Heb. 6.13. and that he will most certainely performe his othe.

5 But if ye will not heare these wordes, I b sweare by my selfe, saith the Lorde, that this house shalbe waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wildernes and as cities not inhabited, c He compareth Ierusalem to Gilead, which was beyond Iorden, & the beautie of Iudea to Lebanon.

7 And I wil d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe e cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

d The Ebrewe woord signifieth to sanctifie, because the Lorde doeth dedicate to his vse and purpose such as he prepareth to execute his worke, Isa. 13.3. cha. 6.4. & 12.3.

8 f And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shal say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lorde done thus vnto this great citie?

e By buildings made of Cedar trees.

9 Then shal they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lorde their God, and worshipped other gods and serued them.

f As they that woder at a thing which they thought wonlde neuer haue come to passe, Deut. 29.24. 1. king 9.8.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him g that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

g Signifying, they should lose their King: for Iehoiachin went forth to meete Nebuchad-nezzar, & yeelded himself & was caried into Babylō, 2. Kin. 24.12.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King h Whom some thinke to be Iehoiachin & that Iosiah was his grandfather: but as seemeth, this was Iehoiakim, as vers. 18.

of Judah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither.

12 But he shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by i vnrighteousnes, & his chambers vbout equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages and giueth him not for his worke.

i By bribes and extortion.

14 He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so hee will make himselfe large windowes, & sieling with cedar and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy k father eate and drinke and prosper, when hee executed iudgement and iustice?

k Meaning, Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition and superfluitie, but was content with mediocritie, and did onely delite in setting foorth Gods glory and to do iustice to all.

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knewe me, saith the Lord?

l For euery one shall haue ynough to lament for himselfe.

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shead innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

m Not honourably amongs his fathers, but as carions are cast in a hole because their stink shuld not infect, reade 2.king.24.9. Iosephus Antiquit. 10.8, writeth y the enemie slewe him in the citie, and commanded him to be cast before y walles vnburied, looke chap.36.30.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall l not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

19 He shalbe buried as an asse m is buried, euen drawen and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Go vp to n Lebanon, and cry: shewte in o Bashan and cry by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

n To call to the Assyrians for helpe.

o For this was the way out of Iudea to Assyria: whereby is ment that all helpes should faile: for y Chaldeans haue subdued both them and the Egyptians.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saydst, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shall feede all thy pastors, p and thy louers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednes.

p Both thy gouernours and they that should helpe thee, shall vanish away as winde.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the q cedars, howe beautifull shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorowe of a woman in trauaile?

q Thou that art built of the faire Cedar trees of Lebanon.

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

r Who was called Iehoiachin or Ieconiah, whome he calleth here Coniah in contempt, who thought his kingdome could neuer depart from him, because hee came of the stocke of Dauid, and therefore for the promise sake coulde not be taken from his house: but hee abused Gods promes, and therefore was iustly depriued of the kingdome.

25 And I will giue thee into the hande of them that seeke thy life, and into the hande of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye dye.

27 But to the lande, whereunto they desire to returne, thyther shal they not returne.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they carried awap, he and his seede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this s man destitute of children, a man that shal not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule anp more in Iudah.

s He sheweth that al posteritie shalbe witnesses of this iust plague, as though it were registred for perpetuall memorie.

t Not that he had no children (for after he begate Salathiel in the captiuitie, Mat.1.12.) but that none should reigne after him as King.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Against false pastors. 5 A prophecie of the great Pastor Iesus Christ.

1 WOe be vnto a the pastours that destroy and scatter b the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

a Meaning, the princes, gouernours and false prophetes, as Ezek.34.2.

b For the which I haue especiall care & haue prepared good pastures for them.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God of Israel vnto the pastors that c feede my people, Ye haue scattered my flocke and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visite vpon you the wickednes of your workes, saith the Lord.

c Whose charge is to feede the flocke, but they eate the fruite thereof, Ezek.34.3.

3 And I will gather the d remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them again to their folds, and they shal grow and increase.

d Thus the Prophets euer vse to mixe y promises with the threatnings, lest the godly should be too much beaten down, and therefore hee sheweth howe God will gather his Church after this dispersion.

4 And I will set vp shepherds ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Beholde, The dayes come, sayeth the Lorde, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous e branche, and a king shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement and iustice in the earth.

e This prophecie is of the restitution of y Church in the time of Iesus Christ, who is the true branch, reade Isa.11.1.& 45.8.chap.33.15. dan.9.24.

6 In his dayes Iudah shalbe saued, and f Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, g The Lord our righteousnes.

f Reade Chap. 16.14.

g Meaning, the Church after this dispersion.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that they shall no more say, The h Lorde liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, h This prophecie is of the restitution of y Church in the time of Iesus Christ, who is the true branch, reade Isa.11.1.& 45.8.chap.33.15. dan.9.24.

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey and from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the i prophetes, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whome wine hath k ouercome) for the presence of the Lorde and for his holy wordes.

i Meaning, the false prophetes which deceiue the people: wherein appeareth his great loue towarde his nation, reade chap.14.13.

k Ebr. passed ouer or troubled.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernes are dried vp, and their [b] course is euill, and their force is not right.

h They run hedlong to wickednes, and seeke vaine helpe.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest [a] doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine [i] House, saith the Lord.

*Or, are hypocrites.

i My Temple is full of their idolatrie and superstitions.

12 Wherefore their way shall be vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darknes: they shalbe driuen forth and fal therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophetes of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the prophetes of Ierusalem [k] filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lyes: they strengthen also the handes of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto [l] me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

k They which should haue profited by my rods against Samaria, are become worse then they.

l Though to the world they seeme holy fathers, yet I detest them as I did these abominable cities.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophetes, Beholde, I will feede them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophetes of Ierusalem is [n] wickednes gone forth into all the land.

m Reade Chap. 8.14.

n Hypocrisie.

16 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the prophetes that prophecie vnto you, and teache you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne [o] heart and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

o Which they haue inuented of their owne braine.

17 They say still vnto them that despise me, The Lorde hath said, Ye [p] shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the [q] stubbernes of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

p Reade Chap. 6.14. & 8.11.

18 For [r] who hath stand in the counsel of the Lorde that hee hath perceiued and heard his worde? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

p Thus they did deride Ieremiah as though the word of God were not reuealed vnto him: so also spake Zidkiiah to Michah, 2.king.22.24.

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewinde shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

q Both that God hath sent me, & that my wordes shalbe true. Chap.14.13,14.& 27.15. & 29.8,9.

20 The anger of the Lord shal not returne vntil hee haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughtes of his heart: in the latter dayes ye [s] shall vnderstand it plainely.

r He sheweth the difference betweene the true Prophets & the false, betweene the hireling and thetrue minister.

21 [t] I haue not sent these prophetes, saith the Lorde, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied.

22 But if they had stand in my counsell, and [u] had declared my wordes to my people, then they shoulde haue turned them from their euil way, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

s Do not I see your falsehoode, howsoeuer you cloke it, and whersoeuer you commit it?

23 And I a God at hand, saith the Lorde, and not a God [x] farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lorde? Do not I fill heauen & earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophecie lyes in my Name, saying, I [y] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

t I haue a prophecie reuealed vnto me, as Nom. 12,6.

26 How long? [z] Do the prophetes delite to prophecie lyes, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

Ebr. Is it in the heart of the Prophets?

27 Thinke they to cause [a] my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tel euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

u He sheweth y Satan raiseth vp false prophets to bring the people from God.

28 The prophete that hath a dreame, let him [x] tel a dreame, and he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: [y] what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

x Let the false prophet declare that it is his own fantasie, and not 29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord? & like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore beholde, I will come against the prophetes, saieth the Lorde, that [z] steale my worde euery one from his neighbour.

slander my word as though it were a cloke to y Meaning, that it is not sufficient for Gods ministers to abstein from lies, and to speake the word of God: but that there be iudgement in alleadging it, & that it may appeare to be applied to y same purpose that it was spoken, Ezek.3.17. 1.cor.2.13.& 4.2. 2.tim.2.15. 1.pet.4.10,11.

31 Beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweet tongues, and say, [a] Ye saith.

32 Behold, I wil come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, and do tel them, and cause my people to erre by their lyes, & by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the [b] burden of the Lorde? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

z Which set foorth in my name that which I haue not commanded.

a To wit, the Lord.

34 And the prophet, or the priest, or the people that shal say, The [c] burden of the Lorde, I will euen visite euery such one, and his house.

b The Prophets called their threnings Gods burden, which y sinners were not able to sustaine: therefore the wicked in deriding the word, would aske of y Prophetes, What was the burden? as though they would say, You seeke nothing els, but to lay burdens on our shoulders: and thus they reiected the worde of God, as a grieuous burden.

35 Thus shall ye say euery one to his neighbour, & euery one to his brother, What hath the Lorde answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lorde shall ye mention no more: for euery mans [d] worde shall be his burden: for ye haue peruerted the wordes of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

c Because this word was brought to contempt and derision, he wil teach them another maner of speach, and will cause this worde Burden to cease, and teache them to aske with reuerence, What saith the Lord? d The thing which they mocke and contemne, shall come vpon them.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lorde answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lorde, Therefore saith the Lorde, Because ye say this worde, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord,

Or, take you away.

39 Therefore behold, I, euen I wil vtterly [e] forget you, & I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, e Meaning, that

Chap.30.11.

40 And will bring * an euerlasting reproche vpon you, and a perpetuall shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figges 5 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

1 The Lorde shewed me, and beholde, two [a] baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lorde, after that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried awaye captiue Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah with the workemen, and cunning men of Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

a The good figges signified them that were gone into captiuitie, and so saued their life, as Chap.21.8.and the naughtie figges them that remained, which were yet subiect to the sword, famine and pestilence.

2 One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had verie naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Jeremiah? And I saide, Figs: the good figs verie good, & the naughtie verie naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so wil I know them that are caried awaye captiue of Judah to be good, whom I haue sent out of this [b] place, into the land of the Caldeans.

b Whereby hee approueth the yelding of Iecohiah, and his companie, because they obeyed the Prophete, who exhorted them thereunto.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this lande, and I will builde them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will giue them [c] an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my * people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto mee with their whole heart.

c Which declareth that man of himselfe can know nothing, till God giue the heart and vnderstanding. Chap.31.33. hebr.8.10.

8 * And as the naughtie figges which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his princes, and the residue of Jerusalem, that remaine in this lande, and them that dwell [d] in the land of Egypt:

Chap.29.17.

d Which fled thither for succour.

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all [e] kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the lande, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Hee prophecieth that they shalbe in captiuitie seuentie yeeres, 12 And that after the seuentie yeres the Babylonians shoulde be destroyed. 14 The destruction of all nations is prophecied.

1 The worde that came to Jeremiah, concerning all [f] people of Judah, in the [a] fourth yeere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Judah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

a That is, in the third yeere accomplished, and in the beginning of the fourth: for though Nebuchad-nezzar began to reigne in the end of the thirde yeere of Iehoiakims reigne, yet that yeere is not here counted, because it was almost expired, Dan 1.1.

2 The which Jeremiah the Prophete spake vnto all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Josiah the sonne of Amon king of Judah, euen vnto [b] this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the worde of the Lorde hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you [c] rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

b Which was the fift yere and the ninth moneth of Iehoiakims reigne.

4 And the Lorde hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey.

c That is, I haue spared no diligence or labour, Chap.7.13.

5 They [d] said, Turne againe nowe euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the lande that the Lorde hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall deſolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that lande all my wordes which I haue pronounced againſt it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophecied againſt all nations.

14 For many nations, and great kinges ſhall euen [l] ſerue themſelues of them: thus will I recompenſe them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne handes.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Iſrael ſpoken vnto me, [m] Take ſ cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cauſe all the nations, to whome I ſend thee, to drinke it.

16 And they ſhall drinke, and bee moued, and be mad, becauſe of the ſwoorde, that I will ſende among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hande, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had ſent me:

18 Euen Ieruſalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kinges thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them deſolate, an aſtoniſhment, an hiſſing, and a curſe, [n] as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh alſo, king of Egypt, and his ſeruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all ſortes of people, and all the kinges of the lande [o] of Vz: and all the kinges of the lande of the Philiſtims, and [p] Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod:

21 [q] Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the kinges of Tyrus, and all the kinges of Zidon, & the kinges of the [r] Yles that are beyonde the Sea,

23 And [s] Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermoſt corners,

24 And all the kinges of Arabia, and all the kinges of Arabia, that dwell in the [t] deſert,

25 And all the kinges of Zimri, and all the kings of [u] Elam, and all the kings of the Medes, 26 And all the kinges of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are vpon the earth, and the king of [x] Sheſhach ſhall drinke after them.

27 Therefore ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Drinke and be drunken, and ſpewe and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſwoord, which I will ſend among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuſe to take the cuppe at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, Ye ſhal certainely drinke.

29 For lo, [y] I begin to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and ſhoulde you goe free? Ye ſhall not goe quite: for I will call for a ſwoord vpon all the inhabitantes of the earth, ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes.

30 Therefore prophecie thou againſt them all theſe wordes, and ſay vnto them, [z] The Lord ſhall roare from an hoe, and thruſt out his voyce from his holy habitation: hee ſhall roare vpon his habitation, and crie alowde, as they that preſſe the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The ſounde ſhall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lorde hath a controuerſie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all fleſh, and hee will giue them that are wicked, to the ſwoorde, ſaith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Beholde, a plague ſhall goe forth from nation to nation, and a [a] great whirlewind ſhalbe raiſed vp from the coaſtes of the earth, 33 And [b] the ſlaine of the Lord ſhall be at that day, from one ende of the earth, euen vnto the other ende of the earth: they ſhall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but ſhall be as the dounge vpon the grounde.

34 Howle, [c] ye ſhepherdes, and crie, and wallowe your ſelues in the aſhes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of ſlaughter are accompliſhed, and of your diſperſion, and ye ſhall fall like [d] precious veſſels.

35 And the [e] flight ſhall faile from the ſhepheards, and the eſcaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the crie of the ſhepherds, and an howling of the principall of the flocke ſhalbe heard: for the Lord hath deſtroyed their paſture.

37 And the [f] beſt paſtures are deſtroyed becauſe of the wrath and indignation of the Lorde.

38 He hath forſaken his couert, as the lion: for their lande is waſte, becauſe of the wrath of the oppreſſor, and becauſe of the wrath of his indignation.

6 The will I make this House like d Shiloh, and will make this citie e a curse to all the nations of the earth.

e So that when they would curse any, they shal say, God do to thee as to Ierusalem.

7 So the Priests, and the prophets, and al the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord.

8 Nowe when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking all that the Lorde had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priestes, and the prophets, and all the people toke him, and sayd, Thou shalt die the death.

f Because of Gods promes to the temple, Psal. 132.14, that he would for euer remayne there, the hypocrites thought this Temple could neuer perish, and therfore thoght it blasphemie to speake against it, Matth. 26.61. Act. 6.13, not cõsidering that this was meant of the Church, where God will remain for euer.

9 Why hast thou prophecied in ỹ Name of the Lord, saying, This f House shalbe like Shiloh, & this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant? and al the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord.

10 And whẽ the princes of Iudah heard of these thinges, they came vp from the kings house into the House of the Lord, & sate downe in the entrie of thes newe gate of the Lords House.

g So called, because it was repayred by Ioatham, 2. King. 15. 35.

11 Then spake the Priestes, and the prophets vnto the princes, & to all the people, saying, "This man is worthie to die: for he hath prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

" Ebr. iudgement of death belongeth to this man.

12 Then spake Ieremiah vnto all ỹ princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lorde hath h sent mee to prophecie against this House and against this citie all the thinges that ye haue heard.

h He both sheweth the cause of his doings plainly, and also threatneth them that they should nothing auayle, though they should put him to death, but heape greater vengeance vpon their heads.

13 Therefore nowe amende your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lorde may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hãds: do with me as ye thinke good & right.

15 But knowe ye for certaine, that if yee put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, & vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitantes thereof: for of a trueth the Lorde hath sent mee vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

Micah 1.1. & 3. 12.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, & to the prophets, This man is not worthie to dye: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

i That is, of the House of the Lord, to wit, Zion, and these examples the godly alledged to deliuer Ieremiah out of the priests hands, whose rage els would not haue bene stifled, but by his death.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite * prophecied in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Zion shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heap, and the mountaine of the i House shall be as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not k feare the Lorde, and praye before the Lorde, and the Lord repented him of the l plague, that hee had pronounced against them? thus might wee procure great euil against our soules.

k So that the citie was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the handes of Sancherib.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lorde, one Vriiah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-Iarim, who prophecied against this citie, and against this lande, according to all the wordes of Ieremiah.

l Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute ỹ ministers therof, & yet in the end they preuaile nothing, but prouoke Gods iudgements so much the more.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his wordes, the king sought to slay him. But when Vriiah heard it, he was afrayd & fled, & went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the king m sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

m As in the first, Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other, Iehoiakims acte is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his housholde.

23 And they fet Vriiah out of Egypt, & brought him vnto Iehoiakim the king, who slewe him with the sword, & n cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

n Which declareth that nothing coulde haue appeased their furie, if God had not mooued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

24 But the hande of Ahikam o the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Ieremiah at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudah, & to the other kings that were neere, whereby they are monished to be subiects vnto Nebuchad-nezzar. 9 He warneth the people and the kings and rulers that they beleeue not false prophets.

o As touching the disposition of these prophecies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which should be after, & contrariwise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoyde manie doubtes, and make much more easie reading.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah came this woyde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee p bondes, and pokes, and put them vpon thy necke, p By such signes the Prophets vsed sometimes to cõfirme their prophecies, which notwithstanding they could not do of themselues, but

3 And sende them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, & to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shal ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, & the beast that are vpon the grounde, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whome it pleased me.

d Meaning, Euilmerodach, and his sonne Belshazar.

e They shall bring him, and his kingdome in subiection, as Chap. 25.14.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visite, sayth the Lorde, with the sworde, & with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholy giuen them into his handes.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your southsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchaters, nor your sorcerers, which saye vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the king of Babel.

10 For they prophecie a lye vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your lande, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remayne still in their owne land, sayth the Lorde, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye dye, thou, and thy people by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lorde hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shal not serue the king of Babel: for they prophecie a lye vnto you.

Chap. 14.14. & 23.21. & 29.9.

15 For I haue not f sent them, sayth the Lorde, yet they prophecie a lye in my name, that I might cast you out, & that ye might perishe, both you, and the prophets that prophecie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priestes, and to all this people, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your prophets that prophecie vnto you, saying, Behold, g the vessels of the House of the Lorde shal nowe shortly be f brought againe from Babel, for they prophecie a lye vnto you.

g For it was not onely the Prophets office to shewe the worde of God, but also to pray for the sinnes of the people, Gen. 20. 7. Which these could not do because they had no expresse word: for God had pronounced the contrarie.

17 Heare them not, but serue the king of Babel, that yee may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophetes, and if the worde of the Lorde bee with them, let them h intreate the Lorde of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, goe not to Babel.

21 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lorde, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem,

1 AND that same peere in the beginning of the a reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah in the b fourth yere, and in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the prophet, which was of c Gibeon, spake to me in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and sayd, a When Ieremiah began to beare these bonds & yokes.

b After that the land had rested, as Leuit. 25.2.

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

c This was a citie in Beniamin belonging to the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21.17.

3 ¶ Within two yeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of d Lords House, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Iechoniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, with all them that were caryed away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, sayth the Lorde: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

d He was so esteemed, though he was a false prophet.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah sayd vnto the e prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stoode in the House of the Lord.

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah said, So be it: the f Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel into this place.

e That is, I would wish the same for Gods honor, & wealth of my people, but he hath appoynted the contrarie.

f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace, were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophecies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trie the faith of his, Deut. 13.3.

7 But heare thou nowe this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophetes that haue bene before mee and before thee in time past, g prophecied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet shal come to passe, then shal the Prophet be knowen that the Lorde hath truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the prophet tooke the 11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will I breake the poke of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, from the necke of al nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah the Prophete, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the poke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiah) saying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, Thou hast broken the pokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them pokes of yron.

14 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a h poke of yron vpon the necke of al these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the i beastes of the fielde also.

15 Then said the Prophet Jeremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare nowe Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lorde.

17 So Hananiah the prophet k dyed the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

Jeremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after seuentie yeeres. 16 Hee prophecieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Jerusalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is prophecied.

1 NOwe these are the wordes of the *booke that Jeremiah the Prophet sent from Jerusalem vnto a the residue of the Elders which were carried awap captiues, & to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried awap captiue from Jerusalem to Babel,

2 (After that Jeconiah the king, and the b Queene, and the eunuches, the *princes of Judah, and of Jerusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Jerusalem)

3 By the hande of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah (whō Zedekiah king of Judah c sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried awap captiues, whom I haue d caused to bee carried awap captiues from Jerusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwel in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, & take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be encreased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caried awap captiues, and e pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, and your southsapers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lorde.

10 But thus saith the Lorde, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promes towarde you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I knowe the thoughtes, that I haue thought towardes you, saith the Lorde, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope.

12 Then shall you crie vnto me, and ye shall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you, 13 And ye shall seeke me and finde me, because ye shall seeke me with all f your heart.

14 And I will be founde of you, saith the Lord, and I wil turne awap your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lorde, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caried awap captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raysed vs vp g prophets in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of the king, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will sende vpon them the h sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile i figges, that cannot be eaten, they are so naughtie.

18 And I will persecute them with the sworde, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and k a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproche among al the nations whither I haue cast them,

19 Because they haue not l eared my wordes, saith the Lorde, which I sent vnto them by my seruantes the Prophets, l rising vp early, and sending them, e The Prophet speaketh not this for the assection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest, & quietnes, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more pacience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed most certeine: for els not onely the Israelites, but all the worlde, yea, and ẏ insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants shoulde be destroyed, as Isa. 14.4.

them, but ye woulde not heare, saith the Lorde.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the worde of the Lorde all ye of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophecie lyes vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, and he shall slaye them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lorde make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babel burnt [m] in the fire, 23 Because they haue committed [n] villanie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, and testifie it, saith the Lorde.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the [a] Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priestes, saying,

26 The Lorde hath made thee Priest, for [o] Iehoiada the Priest, that ye shoulde be officers in the house of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophete, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwel in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophete.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lye, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: hee shall not haue a man [p] to dwel among this people, neither shal he behold the good, that I will do for my people, saith the Lord, because hee hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

m Because they gaue the people hope of speedie returning.

n Which was adulterie, and falsifiyng the worde of God.

a Or, dreamer.

o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the worde of God, of the which he woulde haue made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet.

p Hee and his seede shalbe destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefite of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 Hee menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lorde God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee, in [a] a booke.

3 For lo, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lorde: for I will restore them vnto the lande, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a [b] terrible voice, of feare and not of peace.

6 Demaunde nowe and beholde, if man trauaile with childe? wherefore doe I behold euery man with his handes on his loines as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall hee be deliuered from it.

8 For in that [d] day, saith the Lorde of hostes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their king, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lorde, neither be afraide, O Israel: for lo, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the lande of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraide.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet wil I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 [l] Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shalbe shalbe deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shalbe spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I giue to be robbed.

17 For I will restoye health vnto thée, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lorde, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Sion, whome no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, & haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe builded vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace shal remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shal proceede [n] thanksgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they shal not be fewe: I wil also glorifie them, and they shal not be diminished.

20 Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shall be established before me: and I wil visite all that were them.

21 And their [o] noble ruler shalbe of themselues, and their gouernour shall proceede from the middes of them, and I will cause him to drawe nerre, and approche vnto mee: for who is this that directeth his [p] heart to come vnto mee, saith the Lorde?

22 And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23 Beholde, [q] the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlewinde that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intentes of his heart: in the [r] latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

m Meaning, that the citie and the Temple should be restored to their former state.

n He sheweth how the people shal with prayse & thanksgiuing acknowledge this benefite.

o Meaning, Zerubbabel, who was the figure of Christ, in whome this was accomplished.

p Signifying, that Christ doth willingly submit himselfe to the obedience of God his father.

q Least the wicked hypocrites should flatter themselues with these promises, ỹ Prophet sheweth what shalbe their portion.

r When this Messiah and deliuerer is sent.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee rehearseth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the spirituall ioye of the faithfull in the Church.

1 At the [a] same time, saith the Lorde, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, & they shalbe my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which [b] escaped the sworde, found grace in the wildernes: [c] he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me [d] of olde, saying: [e] Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercy I haue drawen thee.

4 Againe I wil build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt still [f] be adorned with thy tymbrels, and shalt go forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of [g] Samaria, & the planters that plant them, [h] shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the [i] watchmen vpō the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, & let vs goe vp vnto [k] Sion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnes for Iaakob, and shoute for ioy among the chiefe of the [l] Gentiles: publish ye, & say, O Lorde, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, & gather them from the coastes of the worlde, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is trauailed also: a great company shal returne hither.

9 They shall come [m] weeping, and with mercie wil I bring them againe: I wil leade them by the riuers of [n] water in a straight waye, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, & Ephraim is [o] my first borne.

10 ¶ Heare the worde of the Lorde, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles a farre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, wil gather him and will keepe him, as a shepheard doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hande [p] of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shal come, and reioyce in the height of Sion, and shal runne to the bountifulnesse of the Lorde, euen for [q] wheate and for wine, & for the apple, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullockes: and their soule shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorowe.

13 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the [r] dance, and the yong men, and the olde men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, & wil comfort them and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenishe the soule of the Priestes with [s] fatnesse, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saieth the Lorde, A voyce was heard on hye, a mourning & bitter weeping. [t] Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lorde, Refrayne thy voyce from weeping, & thine eyes from

d The people thus reason as though he were not so beneficial to them nowe, as he had bene of olde.

e Thus the Lord answereth that his loue is not changeable.

f Thou shalt haue stil occasion to reioyce: which is meant by tabrets & dauncing, as their custome was after notable victories, Exod. 15. 20. iudg. 5. 2. and chap. 11. 34.

g Because the Israelites, which were the tenne tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstand vnder the kingdome of Christ, which was the restauration of ỹ true Israel.

p That is, from the Babylonians, and other enemies. q By those temporall benefits he meaneth the spirituall graces, which are in the Church, & whereof there should be euer plentie, Isa. 58. 11, 12. r In the company of the faithfull, which euer prayse God for his benefites. s Meaning, the spirit of wisdome, knowledge & zeale. t To declare the greatnes of Gods mercy in deliuering ỹ Iewes, he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or Israelites: that is, vtterly destroyed, and caried away, insomuch that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin could haue risen againe to seeke for her children, she should haue found none remayning.

reares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, sayth the Lord, & they shal come againe from the land of the enemie:

17 And there is hope in thine ende, sayth the Lorde, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

u That is, the people that were led captiue.
x Which was wanton & could not be subiect to the yoke.

18 I haue heard u Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, & I was chastised as an x vntamed calfe: y conuert thou mee, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

y He sheweth how the faithfull vse to pray: that is, desire God to turne them, forasmuch as they can not turne of themselues.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my z thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproche of my youth.

z In signe of repentance, and detestation of my sinne.

20 Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant child: yet since I spake vnto him, I stil a remembred him: therfore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, sayth the Lord.

a As though he would say, No: for by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to cast me off.

21 Set thee vp b signes: make thee heaps: set thine heart toward the path & way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

b To wit, in pitying him for my promes sake.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created c a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN shal compasse a man.

c Marke by what way thou diddest go into captiuitie, and thou shalt turne againe by the same.

23 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yet shal they say this thing in the land of Iudah, & in the cities thereof, when I shal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord bless thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shal dwel in it, & al the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

d Because their deliuerãce from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance frõ sinne, he sheweth howe this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ whom a woman should conceiue, & beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgine without man: or, hee meaneth, that Ierusalem which was like a barein womã in her captiuitie, should be fruitful as she, that is ioyned in matriage, and whome God blesseth with children.

25 For I haue satiate the weary soule, & I haue replenished euery sorowful soul.

26 Therefore I awaked and beheld, and my sleepe d was sweete vnto me.

27 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah e with the seede of man and with the seede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to pluche vp & to roote out, and to throw downe, & to destroy, & to plague them, so wil I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shal they say no more, The fathers haue eate a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall dye for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 ¶ Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lorde, that I will make a f newe conenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, f Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, & this which was giue after, seeme diuers, yet they are all one, and grounded on Iesus Christ, saue that this is called new because of the manifestation of Christ, & the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospel.

32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hande to bring them out of the lande of Egypt, the which my conenant they g brake, although I was h an husband vnto them, sayth the Lord.

g And so were the occasion of their owne diuorcement through their infidelitie, Isa. 50.1.
h Or, master.

33 But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After i those dayes, sayth the Lorde, I will put my Lawe in their inward partes, & write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shalbe my people.

i In the time of Christ my law shal in stead of tables of stone be written in their hearts by mine holy Spirit, Heb. 8.8, 10.

34 And they shall k teache no more euery man his neyghbour & euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shal all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, sayth the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

k Vnder the kingdome of Christ there shalbe none blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith, and knowledge of God for remissiõ of their sinnes, & dayly increase the same: so that it shall not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers, as by the instruction of my holy spirit, Isa. 54.13. but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Christ, when wee shalbe ioyned with our head.

35 Thus sayth the Lord, which giueth l the sunne for a light to the day, & the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the wawes thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

l If the sunne, moone, & starres can not but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this worlde lasteth, so shall my Church neuer fayle, neither shall any thing hinder it: & as sure as I wil haue a people, so certaine is it, & I wil leaue them my word for euer, to gouerne thē with.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, sayth the Lorde, then shal the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus sayth the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, m or the fundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then wil I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

m If the sunne, moone, & starres can not be measured, so shall my Church neuer fayle, neither shall any thing hinder it: & as sure as I wil haue a people, so certaine is it, & I wil leaue them my word for euer, to gouerne thē with.

38 Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that the n citie shalbe built to the Lorde from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

n The one & the other is impossible.

39 And the line of the measure shall goe forth in his presence vpō the hill Gareb, and shal compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shalbe holy vnto the Lord, neither shal it bee plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

o As it was performed, Nehem. 3.1. By this description he sheweth that the citie should be as ample, and beautiful as euer it was: but he alludeth to the spirituall Ierusalem, whose beautie should be incomparable.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison because he prophecied that the citie shoulde be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth that the people should come again to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

1 THe woꝛde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lo̱ꝛde, in the a tenth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 Foꝛ then the king of Babels hoſte beſieged Ieruſalem: and Ieremiah the Pꝛophete was ſhut vp in the courte of the priſon, which was in the king of Iudahs houſe.

3 Foꝛ Zedekiah king of Iudah had ſhut him vp, ſaying, Wherefoꝛe doeſt thou pꝛophecie, & ſay, Thus ſayth the Lo̱ꝛde, b Beholde, I will giue this citie into the handes of the king of Babel, and he ſhal take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſhal not eſcape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but ſhal ſurely be deliuered into the handes of the king of Babel, & ſhal ſpeake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall beholde his face,

5 And he ſhal leade Zedekiah to Babel, & there ſhall he be, vntill c I viſite him, ſaith the Lo̱ꝛd: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye ſhall not pꝛoſper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah ſaid, The woꝛd of the Lo̱ꝛd came vnto me, ſaying, 7 Beholde, Hanameel, the ſonne of Shallum thine vncle, ſhall come vnto thee and ſay, d Bye vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth: foꝛ the e title bꝑ kindred appertaineth vnto thee to bye it.

8 So Hanameel, mine vncles ſonne, came to mee in the court of the priſon, accoꝛding to the woꝛd of ỹ Lo̱ꝛd, & ſaide vnto me, Bye my f field, I pꝛay thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countꝛy of Beniamin: foꝛ the right of the poſſeſſion is thine, & the purchaſe belongeth vnto thee: bye it foꝛ thee. Then I knewe that this was the woꝛd of the Lo̱ꝛd.

10 And I wꝛit it in the booke and ſigned it, and toke witneſſes, & weighed him the ſiluer in the balances.

11 So I toke the booke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed g according to the Law, and cuſtome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the poſſeſſion vnto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine vncles ſonne, & in the preſence of the witneſſes, writte in ỹ booke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Iewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lo̱ꝛd of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Take the wꝛyttings, euen this booke of the poſſeſſion, both that is ſealed, and this booke that is open, & put them in an earthen h veſſell, that they may continue a long time.

15 Foꝛ the Lo̱ꝛd of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael ſayth thus, Houſes and fields, and vineyardes ſhall be poſſeſſed againe in this lande.

16 ¶ Nowe when I had deliuered the booke of the poſſeſſion vnto Baruch, the ſonne of Neriah, I pꝛayed vnto the Lo̱ꝛd, ſaying, 17 Ah Lo̱ꝛd God, beholde, thou haſt made the heauen and the earth bꝑ thy great power, and bꝑ thy ſtretched out arme, and there is nothing *hard vnto thee.

18 * Thou ſheweſt mercie vnto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquitie of the fathers into the boſome of their i children after them: O God the great and mightie, whoſe Name is the Lo̱ꝛde of hoſtes,

19 Great in counſel, & mightꝝ in woꝛke, (foꝛ thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the ſonnes of men, to giue to euerꝝ one accoꝛding to his wayes, and accoꝛding to the fruite of his woꝛkes)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k dap, & in Iſrael, & among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this dap,

21 And haſt bꝛoꝛght thy people Iſrael out of the lande of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hande, with a ſtretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And haſt giuen them this land, which thou dideſt ſweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a lande, that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy Law: al that thou commandedſt them to doe, they haue not done: therefoꝛe thou haſt cauſed this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the l mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, & the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight againſt it bꝑ meanes of ỹ ſwoꝛde, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence, and what thou haſt ſpoken, is come to paſſe, and behold, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſaid vnto me, O Lo̱ꝛde God, Bye vnto thee the field foꝛ ſiluer, and take witneſſes: foꝛ the citie ſhall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

28 Therefoꝛe thus ſaith the Lo̱ꝛd, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, & into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the Caldeans ſhall come & fight againſt this citie, and ſet fire on this citie and burne it, with the houſes, vpon whoſe rooꝛes they haue offred incenſe vnto Baal, and powꝛed drinke offrings vnto other gods, to pꝛouoke me vnto anger.

d The Iewes thinke to ouercome the Caldeans, but they seeke their owne destruction.

5 They come to d fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill them selues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger & in my wrath: for I haue hid my e face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

e He sheweth that Gods fauour is cause of all prosperitie, as his anger is of all aduersitie.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie, & the king Zedekiah shalbe giuen into the handes of the king of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelties toward their seruants.

1 The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when a Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying, a Who commonly of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, & of others Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, t I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire,

2. Chro. 36.19. chap. 29.16, 17. and 32.3.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shal beholde the face of the king of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah, king of Iudah: thus saith the Lorde of thee, Thou shalt not dye by the sword,

5 But thou shalt dye in u peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shal they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh v lord: for I haue pronounced the worde, saith the Lord.

b Not of any violent death.

c The Iewes shall lament for thee their lord and king.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish. and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, w to proclaime libertie vnto them, d When the enemie was at hand, and they sawe themselues in danger, they would seeme holy, and so began some kinde of reformation: but soone after they vttred their hypocrisie.

9 That euery man should let his x seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebiue or an Ebiuesse, and that none shoulde serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iewe his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, hearde that euery one shoulde let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them go.

11 But afterward they y repented & caused the seruantes and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and helde them in subiection as seruants and handmaides.

c According to the Law, Exod. 21.2. deut. 15.12.

y Or, returned.

12 Therefore the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel,

I made a couenant with pour fathers, 2 when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, out of the house of [a] seruants, saying,

[a] Or, bondage.

14 [*] At the terme of seuen peres let pe go, euery man his brother an Ebrewe which hath bene solde vnto thee: and when hee hath serued thee sixe peeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but pour fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

*Deut. 15. 1, 12.

15 And pe were nowe turned, & had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and pe had made a couenant before mee in [f] the House, whereupon my Name is called.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and strait couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

16 But pee repented, and polluted my Name: for pe haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handes maide, whome pe had let at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and bold them in subiection to be vnto pou as seruantes and as handmaides.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Pe haue not obeyed mee, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for pou, saith the Lord, to [g] the sworde, to the pestilence, & to the famine, & I will make pou a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword libertie to destroy you.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, & haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before mee, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

h As touching this maner of solemne couenant which the ancient vsed by passing betweene the two partes of a beast, to signifie that the transgressor of the same couenant should be so diuided in pieces, reade Gen. 15. 10.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hande of their enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, & his princes will I giue into the hande of their enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels host, which [i] are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37. 11.

22 Behold, I will commaunde, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

1 THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, in the dayes [a] of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying, a For y disposition and order of these prophecies, reade Chap. 27. 1.

2 Go vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the House of the Lorde into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

b They came of Hobab Moses father in lawe, who was no Israelite, but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites, c That is, a Prophet.

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the [d] treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pottes full of wine, and cuppes, and [e] saide vnto them, Drinke wine.

d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another ende: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: For [f] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

e Whom Iehu the king of Israel fauoured for his zeale, 2. king. 10. 15.

7 Neither shall ye builde house, nor sowe seede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

f Teaching them hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neyther we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither builde we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyarde, nor field, nor seede,

10 But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according [g] all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

g Which was nowe for the space of three hundreth yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the lande, we said, Come, and let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Aram: so we [h] dwell at Ierusalem.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vowe, that it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tentes, they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing they obeyed the commandement of their father.

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commaunded his sonnes, that they shoulde drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commaundement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising earely, & speaking, but ye would not obey me.

k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes, rising vp early, & sending these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the Chap. 18. 11. and 35. 5.

sending them, saying, Returne nowe euery man from his euill way, & amend your workes, & go not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not enclyne your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab ꝑ sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I wil bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, & I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saieth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept al his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

l That is, by his Prophetes and ministers: which sheweth that it is as much as though he shuld speake to vs himselfe, whē he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

m His posteritie shall continue & be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah indicteth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers & readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

a Reade Chap. 25. 1.

1 And in the fourth [a] yere of Iehoiakim ꝑ sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the words ꝑ I haue spoken to thee against Israel, & against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the daies of Iosiah vnto this day.

b Which were twentie & three yere, as Chap. 25. 3. counting from the thirteenth yere of Iosiahs reigne.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah wil heare of all the euill, which I determined to do vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

c As he did indite.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the Lorde, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

d Meaning, in prison, through the malice of the Priests.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the House of the Lord.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their custome was when they feared warre or any great plague of God.

6 Therefore goe thou, & reade the roule, where in thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lordes House vpon the [e] fasting daye: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lorde, and euery one returne from his euil way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people.

f He sheweth that fasting without praier & repentance auaileth nothing, but is mere hypocrisie.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lordes House.

9 ¶ And in ꝑ fift [g] yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lorde to all the people in Ierusalem, and to al the people that came from ꝑ cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalē.

g The fast was the proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, & then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captiues.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the House of ꝑ Lorde, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the [h] newe gate of the Lords House, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

11 Whē Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphā had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then he went downe to ꝑ kings house into the Chancellours chamber, & lo, all the princes sate there, euē Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hād, and came vnto them.

15 And they sayde vnto him, Sit downe now, & reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

i The godly were afraid, seing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for the horror of the punishment.

16 Nowe when they had hearde all the words, they were [i] afraid both one and other, and sayd vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth.

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, & I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

k They ꝑ were godly amōg the princes, gaue this counsel, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knewe the rage of the King & of the wicked to be such, ꝑ they could not escape without danger of their liues, 19 Then sayd the princes vnto Baruch, Go, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour and told the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Jehu- 1 di read it in the audience of the King, & in the audience of all the princes, which stoode beside the King.

l Which conteined part of November & part of December.

22 Now the king sate in þ winter house, in the l ninth moneth, and there was a 2 fire burning before him.
23 And when Jehudi had read three, or foure sides, hee cut it with the pen-knife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth, until all the roule was 3 consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.
24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent m their garments, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these 4 wordes.

m Shewing, that the wicked in steade of repenting, when they heare Gods judgements, growe into farther malice against him & his worde.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, & Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, 5 that he would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.
26 But the King commaded Jerahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah 6 the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the 7 scribe, and Jeremiah the Prophet, but the Lord n hid them.

n Thus we see the continuall care, that God hath euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lorde came to Jeremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jere-miah) saying, 28 Take thee againe o another roule and write in it all the former wordes that 8 were in the first roule which Jehoiakim the King of Judah hath burnt.
29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus saith the Lorde, Thou 9 hast burnt this roule, saying, p Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certeinly come and destroy this lande, and shal take thence both man and beast?

o Though the wicked think to haue abolished the word of god, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth, God will not onely raise it vp again, but also increase it in greater abundāce to their condemnation, as vers. 32.

p These are Iehoiakims words.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Je- 10
hoiakim King of Judah, He shall haue q none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his r dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.
31 And I will visite him and his seede, 11 and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitantes of Jerusalem, and vpon the men of Judah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.
32 Then tooke Jeremiah another roule, 12 and gaue it Baruch the scribe þ sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the booke which Jehoiakim King of Judah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

q Though Iehoiachin his sonne succeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

And Zedekiah the king c sent Jehucal 3 the sonne of Shelemiah, & Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

Then Pharaohs hoste was e come out 5 of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Jerusalem, heard tidinges of them, they "departed from Jerusalem)
Then came the word of the Lord vnto 6
the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,
Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, 7
Thus shal ye say to the king of Judah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shal returne to Egypt into their owne land.
And the Caldeans shall come againe, 8 and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.
Thus saith the Lord, "Deceiue not your 9

¶ When the host of the Caldeans was 11 broken vp from Jerusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, Then Jeremiah went out of Jerusa- 12
lem to go into the f lande of Beniamin, separating himself thence from among the people.
And whē he was in the g gate of Ben- 13 iamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shele-miah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Jeremiah the Prophete, saying, Thou "fleest to the Caldeans.
Then saide Jeremiah, That is false, I 14 flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Jeremi-ah, and brought him to the princes.
Wherefore the princes were angrie 15 with Jeremiah, and smote him, & laide him in prison in the house of Jehona-than the scribe: for they had made that the h prison.
When Jeremiah was entred into the 16

19 * Where are nowe your prophetes, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The king of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my prayer "be accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Jehonathan the scribe, lest I dye there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded, that they shoulde put Jeremiah in the court of the prison, and that they shoulde giue him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers street vntil al the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Ieremiah to be brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

a For Zedekiah had sent these to Ieremiah to inquire at the Lord for the state of the countrey now when Nebuchad-nezzar came, as Chap. 21.1.

b Reade Chap. 21.9. and 45.5.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, & Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, & Jucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Jeremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall dye by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shal haue his life for b a prey, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes saide vnto the king, We beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he d weakeneth the handes of the men of warre c that remaine in this city, and the handes of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Beholde, he is in your handes, for the king can denie d you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiah with coardes: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Jeremiah stacke fast in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the "blacke Moze one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon (then the king sate in the e gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 My lord the king, f these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Jeremiah the Prophet, whome they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where hee is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

f Hereby is declared, that the Prophet found more fauour at this strangers hands, then hee did by all them of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Take from hence thirtie men "with thee, and take Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye.

"Ebr. vnder thine hand.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the king vnder the treasurie, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, & let them downe by coardes into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moze said vnto Jeremiah, Put now these old rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coardes. And Jeremiah did so.

13 So they drewe vp Jeremiah with coardes and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

g Where the king had set him before to be at more libertie, as Chap. 37.21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the house of the Lord, and the king saide vnto Jeremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slaye thee, nor giue thee into the handes of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels b princes, then h thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, & thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeld thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Jeremiah, I am carefull for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer me into their handes, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that hee more feared the reproche of men then the threatnings of God.

20 But Jeremiah saide, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe foorth, this is the worde that the Lord hath shewed me.

c That is, so long as there was any bread in the city: thus God prouideth for his, that he will cause their enemies to preserue them to that end whereunto he hath appointed them.

d Wherein he grieuously offended in that that not onely he would not heare the trueth spoke by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lustes of the wicked to be cruelly intreated.

"Ebr. Cushite, or Ethiopian.

e To heare matters and giue sentence.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the king of Judahs houſe, ſhalbe brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends haue perſwaded thee, and haue preuailed againſt thee: thy feete are faſtened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, theſe wome of the kings houſe were left: which ſhalbe taken, ſaith the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene ſeduced by his familiar friendes & falſe prophets, which haue left him in the mire.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hãds, but ſhalt be taken by the hande of the king of Babel: and this citie ſhalt thou cauſe to be burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of theſe wordes, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderſtande that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and ſay vnto thee, Declare vnto vs nowe, what thou haſt ſaid vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not ſlay thee: alſo what the king ſaid vnto thee,

26 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, I humbly l beſought the king that hee would not cauſe mee to returne to Ionathans houſe, to die there.

l Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did diſſemble, to ſaue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and aſked him. And he tolde them according to all theſe wordes that the king had commaunded: ſo they left off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Ieremiah abode ſtill in the court of the priſon, vntill the day that Ieruſalem was taken: and hee was there, when Ieruſalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar beſiegeth Ieruſalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His ſonnes are ſlaine. 7 His eyes are thruſt out. 11 Ieremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

2.King.25.1. chap.52.4.

1 IN * the ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his hoſte againſt Ieruſalem, and they beſieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and ſate in the middle gate, euen Nergal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarſechim, Rab-ſaris, Nergal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with al the reſidue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſawe them, & all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

b Which was a poſterne doore, read, 2 Kin. 25.4.

5 But the Caldeans hoſte purſued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the deſert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto c Riblah in the land of Hamath, where hee gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the king of Babel ſlew the ſonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: alſo the king of Babel ſlewe all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings houſe, & the houſes of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ieruſalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the d chiefe ſteward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and thoſe that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the reſt of the people that remained.

d Or, captaine of the garde.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward left the e poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyardes and fields at the ſame time.

e For the riche and the mightie which put their truſt in their ſhiftes & meanes, were by Gods iuſt iudgements moſt rigorouſly handeled.

11 Now Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah f vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward, ſaying, f Ebr. by the hand of.

12 Take him, and f looke wel to him, and doe him no harme, but do vnto him g euen as he ſhal ſay vnto thee.

f Ebr. ſet thine eyn vpon him.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward ſent, and Nebuſhazban, Rabſaris, and Nergal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

g Thus God preſerued his Prophet by his meanes, whome he made the ſcourge to puniſh the king, and them that were his enemies.

14 Euen they ſent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him vnto h Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, that he ſhould carp him home: ſo he dwelt among the people.

h Whome the king of Babel had now appointed gouernour ouer the reſt of the Iewes that he left behinde.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was ſhut vp in the court of the priſon, ſaying, 16 Goe and ſpeake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moꝛe, ſaying, Thus ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring my wordes vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they ſhalbe accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, ſaith the Lord, and thou ſhalt not be giuen into the hande of the men whome thou feareſt.

18 For I will ſurely deliuer thee, & thou ſhalt not fall by the ſworde, but thy life ſhalbe for a pray vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

i Thus God recompenſed his zeale & fauour, which he ſhewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to go whither he wil. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

1 THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward had let him go from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of of Ieruſalem and Iudah, which were caried awap captiue vnto Babel.

a From this ſecond verſe, vnto Chap.42.7. it ſeemeth to be as a parentheſis, and ſeparated matter: and there this ſtorie begineth againe, and this viſion is declared what it was.

2 [a] And the chiefe ſteward tooke Ieremiah, and ſaid vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lorde hath brought it, and done accopding as he hath ſaid: becauſe pe haue [b] ſinned againſt the Lorde, and haue not obeied his voice, therfore this thing is come vpon pou.

4 And nowe beholde, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes: if it pleaſe thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it pleaſe thee not to come with me into Babel, [c] tarp ſtill: beholde, all the land is [d] before thee: whither it ſeemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For pet hee was not returned: therefore he ſaide, Returne to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whereſoeuer it pleaſeth thee to goe. So the chiefe ſteward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, [e] to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captaines of the hoſte, [d] which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam gouernour in the lande, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried awap captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen [e] Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the ſonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſonne of Tanehumeth, and the ſonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the ſonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan [*] ſware vnto them, and to their men, ſaying, Feare not to ſerue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerue the king of Babel, and it ſhalbe well with pou.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to [f] ſerue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but pou, gather pou wine, and ſommer fruites, and ople, and put them in pour veſſels, and dwell in pour cities, that pe haue [g] taken.

11 Likewiſe when all the Iewes that were in [f] Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had ſet ouer them Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, & came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine & ſommer fruites, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And ſaide vnto him, Knoweſt thou not that [g] Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath ſent Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah to ſlap thee? But Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam beleued them nor.

15 Then Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I wil ſlap Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and no man ſhal know it. Wherefore ſhoulde hee kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, ſhould be ſcattered, and the remnant in Iudah periſh?

16 But Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam ſaide vnto Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, Thou ſhalt [h] not doe this thing: for thou ſpeakeſt falſely of Iſhmael.

CHAP. XLI.

Iſhmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Iſhmael.

1 But in the [a] ſeuenth moneth came Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Elithama of the ſeede ropall, and the princes of the [b] king, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did [c] eate bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then aroſe Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah with theſe ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan with the ſwoorde, and ſlewe him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Iſhmael alſo ſlewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and al the Caldeans that were founde there, and the men of warre.

4 Nowe the ſeconde day that hee had ſlaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, & from Samaria, euen fourſcore men, hauing their beards ſhaued, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offrings and incenſe in their handes to offer in the houſe of the Lord.

6 And Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he ſaid vnto them, Come [e] to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the citie, Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah a Which was a citie of Iudah.

d Which were ſcattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

e Who was of the Kings blood and after ſlewe him, Chap.41. 2.

2. King. 25. 24.

f Which were fled alſo for feare of the Caldeans.

g For vnder the colour of enterteyning of Iſhmael he ſoughe onely to make one another.

h Thus the godly, which thinke no harme to others, are ſooneſt deceiued and neuer lacke ſuch as conſpire their deſtruction.

a The citie was deſtroyed in the fourth moneth: and in the ſeuenth moneth, which cõtained part of September, and part of October, was the gouernour Gedaliah ſlaine.

b Meaning, Zedekiah.

c They did eate together as familiar friends.

d For they thought that the Temple had not bene deſtroyed, and therefore came vp to the feaſt of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they ſhewed theſe ſignes of ſorowe.

e For his death was kept ſecret, and he fained that he lamented for the deſtruction of Ieruſalem and the Temple: but after ſlewe them when they ſeemed to fauour Gedaliah.

a Or, to receiue them, or to intreat them for you.

b Or, choſen to dwell in.

thaniah ſlewe them, and caſt them into the middes of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that ſaide vnto Iſhmael, Slay vs not: for wee haue treaſures in the fielde, of wheate, and of barley, and of ople, and of honie: ſo he ſtaied, and ſlew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Iſhmael had caſt the dead bodies of the men (whom he had ſlaine becauſe of Gedaliah) is it, which Aſa the king had [f] made becauſe of Baſha king of Iſrael, and Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were ſlaine.

f Aſa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemie, and caſt ditches and trenches, 1.King.15.22.

10 Then Iſhmael caried away captiue all the reſidue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward had committed to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, and Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the [g] captaines of the hoſte that were with him, hearde of all the euill that Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had done, g Which had bene captaines vnder Zedekiah.

12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Iſhmael caried away captiue, ſawe Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, & all the captaines of the hoſte, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Iſhmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah eſcaped from Iohanan with eyght men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

h For Baalis the King of the Ammonites was the cauſe of this murther.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had ſlaine Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam) euen the ſtrong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whō hee had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, i Which place Dauid of olde had giuen to Chimham the ſonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2.Sam. 19.38.

18 Becauſe of the Caldeans: for they feared them, becauſe Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had ſlaine Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counſell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He admoniſheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

1 THen all the captaines of the hoſte, and Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the ſonne of Hoſhaiah, and all the people from the leaſt vnto the moſt came,

2 And ſaid vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, "Heare our prayer, we beſeech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euē for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe beholde)

" Ebr. Let our prayer fall before thee, as chap. 36.7.

3 That the Lord thy God may ſhewe vs the way wherein we may walke, & the thing that we may [a] doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet ſaid vnto them, I haue heard you: beholde, I will pray vnto the Lorde your God according to your wordes, and whatſoeuer thing the Lord ſhall anſwere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they ſaide to Ieremiah, [b] The Lorde be a witneſſe of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all thinges for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſende thee to vs.

6 Whether it bee good or euill, wee will obey the voyce of the Lorde GOD, to whom we ſend thee that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 [c] And ſo after ten dayes came the worde of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt to the moſt,

9 And ſaide vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord God of Iſrael, vnto whom ye ſent mee to preſent your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this lande, then I will build you, and not deſtroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I [d] repent mee of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraide: be not afraide of him, ſaith the Lord: for I am with you, to ſaue you, and to deliuer you [e] from his hand, 12 And I will graunt you mercie that he may haue compaſſion vpon you, and he ſhall cauſe you to [a] dwel in your own land.

13 But if ye ſay, Wee will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will go into the land of Egypt, where wee ſhall ſee no warre, nor heare the ſounde of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And nowe therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, If ye ſet your faces to enter into Egypt, a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which woulde know of Gods word what they ſhould doe, but will not followe it, but in aſmuch as it agreeth with that thing which they haue purpoſed to doe.

b There are none more ready to abuſe the Name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falſehood vſe it without al reuerence, and make it a meanes for them to deceiue the ſimple, and the godly.

c Here is declared the viſion and the occaſion thereof, whereof mencion was made Chap.40.1

d Reade Chap. 18.8.

Egypt, and go to dwell there) f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne deſtruction: for they thought themſelues ſure in Egypt, & there Nebuchad-nezzar deſtroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

16 Then the ſwoorde that ye feared, ſhall take you there in the lande of Egypt, & the famine, for the which yee care, ſhall there hang vpon you in Egypt, & there ſhal ye dye.

17 And all the men that ſet their faces to enter into Egypt to dwel there, ſhal die by the ſwoorde, by the famine and by the peſtilence, & none of them ſhal remayne nor eſcape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.

g Reade Chap. 26.6. & 44.12. ſhewing y this ſhould come vpō them for their infidelitie and ſtubbernes.

18 For thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem: ſo ſhall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye ſhall enter into Egypt, and ye ſhalbe a deteſtation, & an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproch, and ye ſhal ſee this place no more.

h For you were fully minded to go into Egypt, whatſoeuer God ſpake to the contrary.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath ſayde concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainely that I haue admoniſhed you this day.

20 Surely ye [b] diſſembled in your hearts when yee ſent mee vnto the Lorde your God, ſaying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God and declare vnto vs euen accordyng vnto all that the Lord our God ſhal ſay, and we will do it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath ſent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, knowe certainly that ye ſhal dye by the ſwoord, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, [i] in the place whither ye deſire to go and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophecieth the deſtruction of Egypt.

a Who was alſo called Iezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

b This declareth that pride is the cauſe of rebellion, & contempt of Gods miniſters.

c When the hypocriſie of the wicked is diſcouered, they braſt forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, read Iſa. 30.10.

d He ſheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to 1 NOwe when Ieremiah had made an end of ſpeaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lorde their God, for the which the Lorde their God had ſent him to them, euen all theſe wordes,

2 Then ſpake [a] Azariah the ſonne of Heſhaiah, and Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, & all the [b] proude men, ſaying vnto Ieremiah, [c] Thou ſpeakeſt falſly: the Lorde our God hath [d] not ſent thee to ſay, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch y ſonne of Neriah [e] prouoketh thee againſt vs, for to deliuer vs into the hande of the Caldeans, that they might ſlaye vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, & all the captaines of the hoſte tooke all the remnant of Iudah, y were returned frō all [f] nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, & Edomites, cha. 40.11.

6 Euen men and women, & children, and the kings daughters, and euery perſon, that Nebuzar-adan the cheefe ſtewarde had left with Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah y Prophet, and Baruch the ſonne of Neriah.

g Whome theſe wicked led away by force.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of y Lord: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

h A citie in Egypt neere to Nilus.

8 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, ſaying,

9 Take great ſtones in thine hande, and [i] hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs houſe in Tahpanhes in the ſight of the men of Iudah, i Which ſignified y Nebuchadnezzar ſhould come euen to y gates of Pharaoh, where were his bricke killes for his buildings.

10 And ſaye vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will ſend and bring Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel [k] my ſeruant, and will ſet his throne vpō theſe ſtones that I haue hid, and he ſhall ſpread his pauilion ouer them.

k Reade Chap. 25.9.

11 And when he ſhal come, he ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt: [l] ſuch as are appoynted for death, to death, and ſuch as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and ſuch as are for the ſwoord, to the ſwoord.

l Euery one ſhal be ſlayne by that meanes y God hath appoynted, Chap. 15.2.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt, and he ſhal burne them and carie them awaye captiues, and he ſhal arap himſelfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] ſhepheard putteth on his garment, & ſhal depart from thence in peace.

m Meaning, moſt eaſily, and ſuddenly ſhall he carie the Egyptians away.

13 Hee ſhall breake alſo the images of [n] Beth-themeth, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houſes of the gods of the Egyptians ſhall he burne with fire.

n Or, the houſe of the ſunne.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that ſet light by the threatning of the Lorde, are chaſtened. 26 The deſtruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein, is prophecied.

1 THe worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remayned at Migdol and at [a] Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, ſaying, a These were al famous & ſtrong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their ſafetie: but the Prophet declareth that there is no holde ſo ſtrong, that can preſerue them from Gods vengeance.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Ye haue ſeene all the euil that I haue brought vpon Ieruſalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are deſolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Becauſe of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incenſe, and to ſerue other gods, whome they knew not, neyther they nor you nor your fathers.

b Read Chap. 7. 25. & 25.3. & 26. 5. & 29.19. & 32. 33.

4 Howbeit I ſent vnto you all my ſeruants the Prophets [b] riſing early, and ſending & ſpeake wickedly of all them that ſupport or fauour the godly.

sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

e He setteth before their eyes Gods iudgemẽts against Iudah & Ierusalem for their idolatrie, that they might beware by their example, & not with the like wickednes prouoke the Lord: for then they should be double punished.

6 Wherefore e my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and waited, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore nowe thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit yee this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man & woman, childe and sucking out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remayne?

8 In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the workes of your handes, burning incense vnto other gods in the lande of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, & that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memorie Gods plagues from the beginning, that cõsidering them, we might liue in his feare, and know, if he haue not spared our fathers, yea kings, princes, and rulers, and also whole countries, and nations for their sinnes, that we vile wormes can not looke to escape punishment for ours.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the d kings of Iudah and the wickednes of their wiues, and your owne wickednes & the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not h humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you * to euill and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that e haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwel, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sworde and by the famine: they shall dye from the least vnto the most, by the sworde, and by the famine, and they shalbe a detestation and an astonishment and a f curse and a reproche.

13 For I wil visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remayne, that they shoulde returne into the lande of Iudah to the which they * haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shal returne, but g such as shal escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the lande of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lorde, wee will

h not heare it of thee,

17 But we will do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto i the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both wee and our fathers, our kings & our princes in the cities of Iudah, & in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then * had we k plenty of victailes and were wel and l felt none euil.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had l scarcenesse of all thinges, and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense to the Queene of heauen & powred out drinke offeringes vnto her, did wee make her cakes to m make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without l our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto al the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, & in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and * hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which yee haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lorde, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wyues haue both spoken with your mouthes, & fulfilled with your n hande, saying, We will performe our vowes that wee haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: ye will performe your vowes and doe the thinges that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwel in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name h This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God, & to follow our owne fantasies: for Satan euer soliciteth such and doeth not leaue them til he haue brought them to extreme impudencie and madnes, euen to iustifie their wickednes against God & his Prophets.

i Read Chap. 7. 18. It seemeth that the papists gathered of this place their Salue Regina, & Regina cæli, lætare, calling the virgine Marie Queene of heauen, and so of the blessed virgine, and mother of our Sauiour Christ made an idole: for here the Prophet cõdemneth their idolatrie.

* Ebr. we were satiate with bread.

k This is stil the argument of idolaters, which esteeme religion by the bellie, and in steade of acknowledging Gods works, who sendeth both plẽtie & dearth, health and sickenesse, they attribute it to their idoles, and so dishonour God.

l This teacheth vs howe great danger it is for the husbands to permit their wiues any thing whereof they be not assured by Gods worde: for thereby they take an occasion to iustifie their doings, and their husbands shal giue an accompt thereof before God, reade Isa. 3. 25. * Ebr. ist not come vp into his heart?

m You haue committed double euil in making wicked vowes, and in performing the same.

n This declareth an horrible plague towarde idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mencioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, whersoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he will deliuer thē when he destroieth his enemies.

p He sheweth ỹ meanes whereby they shoulde be destroyed, to assure them of ỹ certeintie of the plague, and yet they remaine stil in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth that fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slewe the King, and so brought these Iewes, and other into Babylon.

a shall no more bee called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lorde God liueth.

27 Beholde, I will watche ouer them for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the lande of Egypt, shalbe consumed by the sworde, and by the famine, vntill they bee vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small nomber that escape the sworde, o shall returne out of the lande of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall knowe whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shalbe a signe vnto you, saith the Lorde, when I visite you in this place, that ye may knowe that my wordes shall surely stand against you for euill.

p 30 Thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will giue Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalē.

THe word that Ieremiah the Prophete spake vnto a Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when hee had written these b words in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou didst say, Woe is me nowe: for the Lord hath laied sorowe vnto my sorowe: I c fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, that which I haue built, will I d destroy, and that which I haue planted, will I pincke vp, euen this whole land.

5 And seekest e thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for behold, I wil bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lorde: but thy life will I giue thee for a pray in all places, whither thou goest.

He prophecieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuerance is promised to Israel.

THe words of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the a Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of b Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by ỹ riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

3 c Make readie buckler and shielde, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stande vp with your salletes, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 d Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled awap, and looke not backe: for feare was rounde about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee awap, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the e North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth vp as f a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he saith, I wil goe vp, and will couer the earth: I wil destroy the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, & let the valiant men come forth, & the blacke Mores, and the Lydians that beare the shielde, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shal deuoure, & it shalbe satisfied, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lorde God of hostes hath h a sacrifice in the North countrey by ỹ riuer Perath.

11 Go vp vnto Gilead, i and take balme, O virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the lande: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shoulde come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt & declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stande still, and prepare thee: for the sworde shall deuoure rounde about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they coulde not stand, because the Lord did driue them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fell by another: and they saide, Arise, let vs goe againe to our k owne people, and to the land of our nativitie from ỹ sworde of the violent.

The worde of the Lorde against the Philistims.

2 Thus saith the Lorde, Behold, waters 9 rise vp out of the b North, and shalbe as a swelling flood, and shal ouerflowe the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle,

3 At the noise and stamping of the hoofes of his strong horses, at the noyse of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers shall not c looke backe to their children, for feeblenesse of d hands, 4 Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lorde will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of e Caphtor.
5 f Baldnes is come vpon Azzah: Ash-kelon is cut vp with the rest of their valeleis. How long wilt thou cut thy selfe?
6 O thou sworde of the Lorde, howe long will it be or thou cease? turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still.
7 Howe can it b cease, seeing the Lorde hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea bancke? euen there hath he appointed it.

Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: 2 for they haue deuised euill against it.
b Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, c O Madmen, and the sworde shall pursue thee.
A voyce of crying shalbe from Horo- 3 naim with desolation and great destruction.
Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue 4 caused their crie to be heard.
For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping:
for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a crie of destruction,
Flee, and saue your liues, and bee like 6
vnto the e heath in the wildernesse.
For because thou hast trusted in thy f workes and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and g Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priests and his princes together.
And the destroyer shall come vpon all 8 cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shal be destroyed as the Lorde hath spoken.
Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may 9 flee and get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwell therein.

a These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchad-nezzar tooke before he went to fight against Necho king of Egypt.

b Thus shall the Babylonians incourage one an other.

c Read Isa. 25. 10.

d Horonaim and Luhith were two places whereby the Moabites should flee, Isa. 15. 5.

e Hide your selues in baren places, where y enemie will not pursue after you, Chap. 17. 6.

f That is, the idoles which are the workes of thine handes.

Some reade, in thy possessions, for so the worde may signifie, as 1. Sam. 25. 2.

g Both thy great idole and his mainteiners shalbe led away captiues, so that they shall then knowe that it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles, Isa. 15. 2.

10 b Cursed

h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, & that with a courage, and calleth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his worke: though the Caldeans sought another ende, Isa. 10. 12.

*Or, deceitfully.

i Hath not bene removed as the Iewes haue, but hath liued at ease & as a wine that feedeth it selfe on his lees.

k As the calfe of Beth-el was not able to deliuer ỹ Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites.

*Ebr. gone vp, or destroyed.

l Howe are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength & riches!

m Thus they that flee, shall answere.

n That is, his power & strength

o He willed the Caldeans to laye afflictions ynow vpon them, till they be like drunken men ỹ fall downe to their shame and are derided of al.

*Or, shalbe still, or clap hu hands.

p Thou reioycest to heare of his miserie.

Isa. 16. 6.

q He shal not execute his malice against his neighbours.

10 h Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord *negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sworde from bloud.

11 Moab hath bin at rest from his youth, and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene i powred from vessel to vessell, neyther hath hee gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him and his sent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil send vnto him such as shall carie him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of k Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, & his cities "burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith ỹ king, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is readie to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, l How is the strong staffe broken, & the beautiful rod!

18 Thou daughter that dwelst inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and he shal destroy thy strong holdes.

19 Thou ỹ dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, & behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and crie, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste,

21 And iudgement is come vpon ỹ plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Jahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, & vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, & vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the lande of Moab farre or neere.

25 The n horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him o drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shal l wallowe in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene founde among theeues: for when thou speakest of him, thou art p moued.

28 O ye that dwel in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the done, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 * We haue heard the pryde of Moab (he is exceeding proude) his stoutnesse, & his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, but it shal not be so: and his dissimulations, for they do not right.

31 r Therefore wil I howle for Moab, & I wil cry out for all Moab: mine heart shal mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

r Read Isa. 16. 7.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Jazer: thy plantes are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea s of Jazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy sommer fruits, and vpon thy vintage, s Which citie was in the vtmost border of Moab: & hereby he signifyeth that the whole land should be destroyed & the people caryed away.

33 And ioye, & gladnes is taken from the plentiful field & from the land of Moab: & I haue caused wine to faple from the wine presse: none shal tread with shouting: their shouting shalbe no shouting.

34 From the crie of Heshbon vnto Elealeh & vnto Jahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the t heiffer of three yere olde shall go lowing: for ỹ waters also of Nimrim shall be wasted.

t Read Isa. 15 5.

35 Moreouer, I wil cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offred in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sounde for Moab like a u shaume, and mine heart shal sounde like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten, is perished.

u Their custome was to play on flutes or instruments, heauie & graue tunes at burials and in the time of mourning, as Matth. 9. 23.

37 * For euery head shalbe x balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall be vpon all the house tops of Moab & in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

Isa. 15. 2, 3. Ezek. 7. 18.

x Or, shaue.

39 They shal howle, saying, How is he destroyed! howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame! so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, y he shal flee as an egle, and shall spreade his wings ouer Moab.

x That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, as Chap. 49. 22.

41 The cities are taken and the strong holds are wonne, and the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shalbe as the heart of a woman in trauaple.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp him selfe against the Lord.

y He that escapeth one danger, shalbe taken of another, Isa. 24. 17.

43 z Feare, & pit & snare shalbe vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shal fall in the pitte, and hee that getteth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for I wil bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

z They fled thither, thinking to haue succour of the Amorites.

a The Amorites had destroyed ỹ Moabites in times past, and now because of their power, the Moabites shall seeke to them for helpe.

45 They that fledde, stoode vnder the shadow a of Heshbon, because of the force: for a the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of [b] Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

b Which vanted themselues of their idole as though he could haue defended them.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the [c] latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

The words of the Lorde against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

1 VNto the children of [a] Ammon thus saith the Lorde, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their [b] king possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in [c] his cities?

c That is, they shalbe restored by the Messiah.

a They were separated from the Moabites by the riuer Arnon, and after that the ten tribes were caryed away into captiuitie, they inuaded the countrey of Gad.

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will cause a noyse of warre to bee heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

b To wit, of the Ammonites.

c Meaning, of the Israelites.

d Which was one of the chiefe cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbon & Ai: there was also a city called Heshbon among the Moabites.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crye ye daughters of Rabbah: girde you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king shal go into captiuitie, and his Priests, and his princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in [e] the valleis? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: shee trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shal come vnto me?

e In thy plentifull countrey.

5 Behold, I will bring [f] a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scattered euery man right forth, and none shal gather him that fleeth.

f Signifying that power & riches cannot preuayle when as God wil execute his iudgements.

6 And [g] afterwarde I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

g That is, without looking back, & as euery one can finde a way to escape.

7 ¶ To Edom thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Is wisedome no more in [h] Teman? Is counsell perished from their children? is their wisdome vanished?

h In the time of Christ when the Gentiles shalbe called.

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan [i] they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell: for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

i Which was a citie of Edom called by the name of Teman Eliphaz sonne who came of Esau.

9 If the [k] grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

k The enemies that shal dissemble as though they fled away,

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neyghbours, and there shalbe none to say,

11 Leaue thy [m] fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them alme, and let thy widowes trust in me.

shall turne back, and inuade your 12 For thus saith the Lord, [n] Behold, they l Meaning, that God would vtterly destroy them, and not spare one, though the grape gatherers leaue some grapes, and theeues seeke but till they haue enough, Obad. 1. 5.

m The destruction shalbe so great, that there shalbe none left to take care ouer the widowes, and fatherles.

n I haue not spared mine owne people, and how should I pitie thee?

whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, saieth the Lorde, that [o] Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproche, & a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall bee perpetuall desolations.

o Which was a chiefe citie of Edom.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against [p] her, and rise vp to the battell.

p That is, Bozrah.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy [q] feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hye as the egle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

q Or, idole.

q To wit, Nebuchad-nezzar after he hath ouercome Iudah, which is meant by the swelling of Iorden, shal come against mount Seir and Edom.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, & shal hisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, & the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shal dwell there, neither shal the sonnes of men remayne in it.

19 Behold, [r] he shal come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make [s] him to haste away from her, & who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like mee? & who will appoynt me the time? and who is the [t] shepherd that will stand before me?

r That is, the Israelites, whome the Edomites kept as prisoners to haste away from thence.

s The captaine and gouernour of the armie, meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar.

t They shall not be able to resist his petit captaines.

20 Therefore heare the counsel of the Lord that he hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceyued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least [u] of the flocke shal draw them out: surely he shal make their habitations desolate with them.

u To wit, the enemie.

21 The earth is moued at the noyse of their fall: the cry of their voice is heard in the red Sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the egle, [x] and spread his winges ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauaple.

x As Chap. 48. 40. was sayd of Moab.

23 ¶ Vnto [y] Damascus he saith, Hamath is confounded & Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faynt hearted as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

y Which was the chief citie of Syria, whereby he meaneth the whole countrey.

24 Damascus is discouraged, & turneth her selfe to flight [z] and feare hath seased her: anguishe and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaple.

z When shee heard the sudden comming of the enemie.

25 Howe is the glorious [a] citie not reserued, the citie of my ioye?

a He speaketh this in the person of the King and of them of the countrey who shal wonder to see Damascus the chiefe citie

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed.

28 ¶ Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel ſhall ſmite, thus ſaieth the Lord, Ariſe, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and deſtroy the men of the East.
29 Their tentes and their flockes ſhall they take away: yea, they ſhall take to themſelues their d curtaines, and all their veſſels, & their camels, & they ſhall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery ſide.
30 Flee, get you farre off, e they haue conſulted to dwell, O ye inhabitants of Hazor, ſaieth the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counſell againſt you, & hath deuiſed a purpoſe againſt you.
31 f Ariſe, and get you vp vnto the welthy nation that dwelleth without care, ſaieth the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwel alone.
32 And their camels ſhall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattell a ſpoile, and I will ſcatter them into all windes, and to the vtmoſt corners, and I will bring their deſtruction from all ſ ſides thereof, ſaith the Lord.
33 And Hazor ſhalbe a dwelling for dragons, and deſolation for euer: there ſhall no man dwell there, nor the ſonnes of men remaine in it.
34 ¶ The words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah ſ Prophet, concerning g Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, ſaying, 35 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Beholde, I will breake the h bow of Elam, euen the cheefe of their ſtrength.
36 And vpon Elam I will bring ſ foure winds from the foure quarters of heauen, and will ſcatter them towardes all theſe windes, and there ſhalbe no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam ſhall not come.
37 For I will cauſe Elam to be afraide before their enemies, and before them that ſeeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, ſaith the Lord, and I will ſend the ſworde after them till I haue conſumed them.
38 And I will ſet my i throne in Elam, and I will deſtroy both the King and the princes from thence, ſaith the Lord: but k in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, ſaieth the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He prophecieth the deſtruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Iſrael, which was in captiuitie.

1 THe word that the Lord ſpake, concerning Babel, & concerning the land of the Caldeans by the *miniſterie of Ieremiah the Prophet.
2 Declare among the nations, and publiſh it, and ſet vp a ſtandart, proclaime it and conceale it not: ſay, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idols are confounded, and their images are burſt in pieces.
3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation againſt her, which ſhall make her lande waſte, and none ſhall dwel therein: they ſhall flee, and depart, both man and beaſt.
4 In thoſe daies, and at that time, ſaieth the Lord, the children of Iſrael ſhall d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping ſhall they go, and ſeeke the Lord their God.
5 They ſhall aſke the waye to Zion, with their faces thitherwarde, ſaying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lorde in a perpetuall couenant that ſhall not be forgotten.
6 ¶ My people hath bene as loſt ſheepe: their f ſhepheards haue cauſed them to go aſtray, and haue turned them away to ſ mountaines: they haue gone from mountaine to hill, and forgotten their reſting place.
7 All that founde them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies ſayde, We offend not, becauſe they haue ſinned againſt the Lorde, h the habitation of iuſtice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.
8 i Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates k before the flocke.
9 For loe, I wil raiſe, and cauſe to come vp againſt Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they ſhall ſet them ſelues in arai as gainſt her, whereby ſhee ſhall be taken: their arrowes ſhalbe as of a ſtrong mā, which is expert, for none ſhall returne in vaine.
10 And Caldea ſhall be a ſpoile: all that ſpoile her, l ſhall be ſatisfied, ſaieth the Lorde.
11 Becauſe ye were glad and reioyced in deſtroying mine heritage, and becauſe ye are growen fat, as the calues in the graſſe, m and neyed like ſtrong horſes,
12 Therefore your mother ſhalbe ſore confounded, and the that bare you, ſhall be aſhamed: beholde, the vttermoſt of the nations ſhalbe a deſert, a dry land, and a wildernes.
13 Becauſe of the wrath of the Lorde it ſhal not be inhabited, but ſhalbe wholy deſolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, ſhalbe aſtonished, n and hiſſe at all her plagues.
14 o Put your ſelues in arai againſt Babel round about: all ye that bende the bowe, ſhoote at her, ſpare no arowes: for ſhe hath p ſinned againſt the Lord.
15 Crie againſt her round about: ſhe hath q giuen her hande: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are deſtroyed:

a After that God hath vſed the Babylonians ſeruice to puniſh other nations, he ſheweth that their turne ſhall come to be puniſhed.

17 Israel is like scattred sheepe: the lyons haue dispersed them: first the king r of Assyria hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath broken s his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will visite the king of Babel, and his lande, as I haue visited the king of Assyria.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shalbe satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those daies, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shalbe sought for, and there shalbe none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be founde: for I will be merciful vnto them, whome I reserue.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saieth the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proude shal stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus saieth the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, holde them, & would not let them go.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his handes e were feeble: sorowe came vpon him, euen sorowe as of a woman in trauaile.

c Meaning that the Persians should gather their armie of many nations.

44 Behold, he f shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, & I will make thee to haste away from

from her: & who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the [e] shepherd that will stand before me?

e Reade Chap. 49.19.

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lorde that he hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, & the crie is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 47 The vanitie of idolaters. 59 Jeremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

1 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, & against the inhabitantes [f] that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying [g] winde, [f] Or, of the land that riseth vp.

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, & shall empty her lande: for in the daye of trouble they shalbe against her on euery side.

a The Medes & Persians, that shal destroy them as the winde doth the chaffe.

b Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off as though their husband were dead.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroye all her hoste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streates.

c He sheweth that there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Chap. 17.6. & 44.6.

5 For Israel hath bene no [h] widowe, nor Judah from his God, from the Lorde of hostes, though their lande was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

d By whom the Lord powred out the drinke of his vengeance, to whom it pleased him.

6 ¶ Flee out of the midst of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lordes vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompence.

e For the great afflictions y they haue felt by the Babylonians.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the [d] Lordes hande, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations [e] rage.

f Thus y people of God exhort one an other to go to Zion and praise God.

8 [f] Babel is suddenly fallen, & destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

g In approuing our cause and punishing our enemies.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and let [g] vs goe euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the clouds.

f Or, fill, or, multiplie.

10 The Lorde hath brought forth our [g] righteousnes: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lorde our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: [h] gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the [h] vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

h For the wrong done to his people, & to his temple, Chap. 50.28.

12 Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the shoutes: for the Lorde hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many [i] waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, euen the [k] rude of thy couetousnes.

i For the land of Caldea was full of riuers which ran into Euphrates.

k Or, measure.

14 The Lorde of hostes hath sworne by [l] him selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, & they shall crie and shoute against thee.

Amos 6.8.

15 [m] He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

Chap. 10.12.

16 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

17 Euery man is a beast by his owne [k] knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehoode and there is no breath therein.

k Reade Chap. 10.14.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their [l] visitation they shall perish.

19 The [m] portion of Jaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

l When God shall execute his vengeance.

m That is, the true God of Israel is not like to these idoles: for he can helpe when all things are desperate.

20 Thou art mine [n] hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes, n He meaneth the Medes and Persians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Chap. 50.23.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maide.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euil, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying [o] mountaine, saith the Lorde, which destroyest all the earth: & I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the [p] rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

o Not that Babylon stoode on a mountaine, but because it was strong, and seemed inuincible.

26 They shal not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, saith the Lord.

p From thy strong holdes and fortresses.

27 Set vp a standart in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of q Ararat, Minni, and Aſchenaz againſt her: appoint the prince againſt her: cauſe hoſtes to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, & dukes therof, and the princes therof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the lande ſhall tremble and ſorowe: for the deuice of the Lorde ſhal be perfoymed againſt Babel, to make the lande of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel haue ceaſed to fight: they haue remayned in their holdes: their ſtrength hath fayled, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall runne to meete the poſte, and a meſſenger to meete the meſſenger, to ſhewe the king of Babel, that his citie is taken on a r ſide therof, 32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, & the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babel is like a threſhing floore: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her harueſt ſ ſhall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath t deuoured me, and deſtroyed me: he hath made me an emptie veſſell: hee ſwalowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his bellie with my delicates, & hath caſt me out.

35 The ſpoyle of me, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: & my blood vnto the inhabitantes of Caldea, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy u cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dyie vp the ſea, and dyie vp her ſpringe.

37 And Babel ſhalbe as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an aſtonifhment, and an hiſſing, without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roare together like lyons, and yel as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their x heat I will make them feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the ſlaughter, and like rams & goats.

41 How is y Sheſhach taken! and howe is the glorie of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an aſtonifhment among the nations!

42 The z ſea is come vp vpon Babel: ſhe is couered with the multitude of the waues therof.

43 Her cities are deſolate: the lande is dry and a wildernes, a lande wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the ſonne of man paſſe thereby.

44 I will alſo viſit Bel in Babel, & I will bring out of his mouth, that which a he hath ſwalowed vp, & the nations ſhall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel ſhall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the midſt of her, and deliuer ye euery man his ſoule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Leaſt your heart faint, & ye feare the rumour, that ſhall be heard in the land: the rumour ſhall come this yere, & after that in the other b yeere ſhal come a rumour, and crueltie in the lande, and ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I wil viſite the images of Babel, & the whole land ſhalbe confounded, & all her ſlaine ſhall fall in the middes of her.

48 Then the heauen and c the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall reioyce for Babel: for the deſtroyers ſhall come vnto her from the North, ſayth the Lord.

49 As Babel cauſed the d ſlaine of Iſrael to fall, ſo by Babel the ſlaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that e haue eſcaped the ſword, goe away, ſtand not ſtill: remember the Lord a farre off, and let Ieruſalem come into your minde.

51 We are f confounded becauſe we haue hearde reproche: ſhame hath couered our faces, for ſtrangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes Houſe.

52 Wherefore beholde, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I wil viſite her grauen images, and through all her lande the wounded ſhall grone.

53 Though Babel ſhoulde mount vp to heauen, and though ſhe ſhoulde defende her ſtrength on hie, yet from me ſhall her deſtroyers come, ſaith the Lord.

54 A ſounde of a crie commeth from Babel, and great deſtruction from the land of the Caldeans,

55 Becauſe the Lorde hath layde Babel waſte, and deſtroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues ſhall roare like great waters, and a ſounde was made by their noyſe:

56 Becauſe the deſtroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, & her ſtrong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenſeth, ſhall ſurely recompenſe.

57 And I wil g make drunke her princes, and her wiſe men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her ſtrong men: and they ſhall ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaith the king, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſtes.

58 Thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, The h thicke wall of Babel ſhall be broken, and her hie gates ſhall be burnt with fire, and the people ſhal labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they ſhalbe wearie.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded Dheraiah the ſonne of Neriah, the ſone of Maaſeiah, when hee went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah q By theſe three nations he meaneth Armenia the hyer, & Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

r By turning the courſe of the riuer, one ſide was made open, and the reedes that did growe in the water, were deſtroyed, which Cyrus did by the counſell of Gobria and Gabatha Belſhazzars captaines.

ſ When ſhe ſhalbe cut vp and threſhed.

t This is ſpoken in the perſon of the Iewes, bewayling their ſtate & the crueltie of the Babylonians.

u Thus the Lord eſteemeth the iniurie done to his Church as done to himſelf, becauſe their cauſe is his.

x When they are inflamed w ſurfetting and drinking, I will feaſt with them, alluding to Belſhazzars banket, Dan. 5. 2.

y Meaning Babel, as Cha. 25. 26

z The great armie of Medes and Perſians.

a That is, his giftes & preſents which he had receiued as part of the ſpoyle of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

b Meaning, that Babylon ſhould not be deſtroyed all at once, but by litle and litle ſhould be brought to nothing: for the firſt yeere came the tidings, the next yere the ſiege, and in the third yere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible deſtruction which the Prophets threatened in many places: for that was after this, when they rebelled & Darius ouercame them by the policie of Zopyrus, & hanged three thouſand gentlemen beſides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth ſhall reioyce and praiſe God for the deſtruction of Babylon the great enemie of his Church.

d Babylon did not onely deſtroy Iſrael, but many other nations.

e Ye that are nowe captiues in Babylon.

f He ſheweth how they ſhould remember Ieruſalem by lamenting the miſerable affliction thereof.

g For the walles were two hundreth foote hye.

h I will ſo aſtoniſh them by afflictōs that they ſhal not know which way to turne them.

i The thickenes of the wall was of fiftie foote thicke.

Iudah into Babel, in the [k] fourth pere of his reigne: and this Dhereiah was a preceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euil [p] should come vpon Babel: euen all these things, that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah sayde to Dhereiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt se, and shalt reade al these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a [l] stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, & shall not rise from the euil, that I will bring vpon her: and they shal [m] be wearie. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

k This was not in the time of his captiuitie, but seuen yeres before, when he went either to gratulate Nebuchad-nezzar, or to intreate of some matters.

l S. Iohn in his reuelation alludeth to this place, when he sayth that the Angel tooke a milstone and cast it into the sea: signifying thereby the destruction of Babylon, Reuel. 18.21.

m They shall not be able to resist, but shall labour in vaine.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eies put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought foorth of prison, and fed like a King.

2 King. 24.18. 2. Chro. 36.11.

1 ZEdekiah [n] was one and twentie yere olde when hee began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem, & his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

a So the Lorde punished sinne by sinne, & gaue him vp to his rebellious heart, till hee had brought the enemie vpon him to lead him away and his people. 2. King. 25.1. & chap. 39.1.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 [o] But in the ninth yere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and al his host against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, & built fortes against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (nowe the Caldeans were by the citie rounde about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.

b Read Chap. 39.4.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Read 2. King 25.6. & Chap. 39.5.

10 And the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he slewe also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eies of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bounde him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, & put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the [d] fift moneth in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which [e] stode before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, d In the 2. King. 25.8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

e That is, which was his seruant, as 2. King. 25.8.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, & all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chief steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chief steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to dresse the vines, and to til the land.

17 Also the [f] pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

f Of these pillars read 1. Kin. 7.15.

18 The pottes also and the [g] besomes, and the instruments of musike, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherwith they ministred, tooke they away.

g Which were also made of brasse, as 1. King. 7.45.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpannes, and the basins, and the pottes, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, & all that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away,

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Lorde: the brasse of all these vessels was without [h] weight.

h It was so much in quantitie.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eightene cubites, and a threde of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was holow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with netwoorke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, & the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninetie and fiue pomegranates on a side: & all the pomegranates vpon the nette woorke were an [i] hundreth round about.

i But because of the roundnes no more could be seene but ninetie and fiue.

k Which serued in ỹ hie Priests stead, if he had any necessary impediment.

24 And the chiefe stewarde toke Seraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah k the second Priest, & the three keepers of the doore.

25 He toke also out of the citie an Eunuche, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, & l seuen men that were in ỹ kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the host who mustred ỹ people of the land, and three score men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the citie.

l In the 2. King. 25. 19. is read but of fiue: those were the most excellent, & the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

26 Nebuzar-adan ỹ chiefe steward toke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

m Which was the latter end of the seuenth yere of his reigne and the beginning of the eight.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

n In the latter end also of that yere, and the beginning of the nineteth.

28 ¶ This is the people, whome Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the m seuenth yeere, euen three thousande Iewes, and three and twentie.

29 In the n eightenth yere of Nebuchadnezzar he caried away captiue frō Jerusalem eight hundreth thirty and two o persons.

o Ebr. soules.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes euen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and three hundreth.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yere of the captiuitie of Jehoiachin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in ỹ fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the first yere of his reigne, lifted vp the head of Jehoiachin king of Iudah, & brought him out of prison, p And gaue him princely apparel.

32 And spake kindely vnto him, & set his throne aboue the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel, q That is, he had allowance in the court, & thus at length he had rest and quietnes because he obeyed Ieremiah the Prophet, whereas the other were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

33 And changed his prison p garments, and he did continually eat bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His porcion was a q continual porcion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the daies of his life vntill he died.

LAMENTATIONS.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second chapter begin euery verse according to the letters of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at ỹ great iudgemēt of God, seeing Ierusalē, which was so strong & so ful of people, to be now destroyed and desolate.

1 HOwe doeth a the citie remaine solitarie that was ful of people! shee is as a widow: shee that was great among ỹ nations, and b princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countries.

c So that she taketh no rest.

d Meaning, the Egyptians & Assyrians, which promised helpe.

2 Shee weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares run downe by her cheeks: among al her d louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

e For her cruelty towarde the poore, & oppression of seruants, Iere. 34. 11.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, because e of affliction, & because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters toke her in the straites.

f As they vsed to come vp, with mirth and ioye, Psal. 42. 4.

4 The waies of Sion lament, because no man commeth f to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and shee is in "heauinesse.

"Ebr. bitternes.

g That is, haue rule ouer her, Deut. 28. 44.

5 Her aduersaries g are the chiefe, & her enemies prosper: for the Lorde hath afflicted her, for ỹ multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Sion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like hartes that finde no pasture, & they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

h As men pined away with sorow & that haue no courage.

7 Jerusalem remembred the daies of her affliction, and of her rebellion, & all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people i fel into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries sawe her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

i In her miserie she considered the great benefices & commodities that she had lost.

k At her religion and seruing of God, which was ỹ greatest griefe to the godly.

8 Jerusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore she is l in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthines: yea, shee sigheth and turneth backward.

9 Her filthines is in her skirtes: shee remembred not her last ende, therfore she came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the enemie "is proude.

lShe is not ashamed of her sin, although it be manifest.

"Ebr. hath magnified himselfe.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom m thou diddest commande, that they should not enter into thy Church.

m God forbiddeth that the Ammonites and Moabites should enter into ỹ Congregation of the Lord, and vnder them he cōprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23. 3.

11 All her people sigh & seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

n Thus Ieruſalē lamenteth, moouing others to pitie her and to learne by her example.

12 Haue ye no regarde, all ye that passe by this way? beholde, and see, if there be anye n sorow like vnto my sorow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in ỹ day of his fierce wrath.

o This declareth that wee shoulde acknowledge God to be the authour of all our afflictions, to the intent that we might seeke vnto him for remedie.

13 From aboue hath o he sent fire into my bones, which prevaile against them: he hath spred a net for my feete, and turned me backe: hee hath made me desolate, and daylie in heavines.

p Mine heavie sinnes are continually before his eyes, as he that tieth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound upon his hand: they are wrapped, and come up upon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath delivered me into their handes, neither am I able to rise up.

15 The Lorde hath troden under foote all my valiant men in the middes of mee: he hath called an assemblie against mee to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden q the wine presse upon the virgine the daughter of Judah.

q He hath troden them vnder foote as they that tread grapes in the wine presse. Iere.14.17. chap.2.18.

16 For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter r should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie prevailed.

r Which because of her pollution was separate from her husband, Leui. 15.19. and was abhorred for the time.

17 Zion stretched out her handes, & there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed s enemies of Jaakob round about him: Jerusalem is t as a menstruous woman in the middes of them.

t That is, they died for hunger.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I have rebelled against his u commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, & beholde my sorowe: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captivitie.

u Of desiring vengeance against the enemie, reade Iere. 11.20. and 18.21.

19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the citie while they x sought their meate to refresh their soules.

x Or, gather them big grapes.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within mee, for I am full of heavines: the swoorde spoileth abroade, as death doth at home.

21 They have heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like unto me.

22 y Let all their wickednes come before thee: z doe unto them, as thou hast done unto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heavie.

y That is, deale with them as I have dealt with my sinnes.

z Or, gather them.

CHAP. II.

1 HOwe hath the Lorde a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heaven unto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!

a That is, brought her from prosperitie to aduersitie.

b Hath given her a most sore fall.

c Alluding to the Temple or to the Arke of the covenant, which was called the footestoole of the Lord, because they should not set their mindes so lowe, but lift vp their hearts toward the heavens.

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Jaakob, and not spared: hee hath thrown downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Judah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: hee hath drawne backe his e right hande from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Jaakob like a flame of fire, which devoured round about.

d Meaning, the glorie and strength, as 1.Sam.2.1.

e That is, his succour which he was wont to send vs, when our enemies oppressed vs.

4 He f hath bet his bow like an enemie: his right hand was stretched up as an aduersarie, & slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his wrath like fire.

f Shewing that there is no remedie, but destruction, where God is the enemie.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath devoured Israel, & consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Judah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his congregation: the Lorde hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, & hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the king and the priest.

7 The Lorde hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath given into the hande of the enemie the walles of her palaces: they have made a noyse in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

g As the people were accustomed to praise God in the solemne feastes with a loude voyce, so nowe the enemies blaspheme him with shouting and crying.

8 The Lorde hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore he made the rampart & the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

h This is a figuratiue speach, as that was, when he said, the wayes did lament, Cha. 1.4: meaning, this sorow was so great that the insensible things had their part thereof.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her king and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets g receive any vision from the Lord.

g Or, finde.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit upon the ground, and keepe silence: they have cast up dust upon their heads: they have girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgins of Jerusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faple with teares: my bowels swell: my liver is powred upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings h swoone in the streetes of the citie.

h Or, faint.

12 They have said to their mothers, Where is i bread & drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the citie, and when they k gave up the ghost in their mothers bosome.

i Ebr. wheat and wine.

k Ebr. powred out the soule.

13 l What thing shall I take to witnes for thee? what thing shal I compare to thee, O daughter Jerusalem? what shal I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breache is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

l Meaning, that her calamity was so evident that it neede no witnesses.

14 Thy prophets have m looked out vaine, and foolish things for thee, & they have not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captivitie, but have looked out for thee false n prophecies, & causes of banishment.

m Because the false prophets called themselues seers, as & other were called, therefore he sheweth, that they saw amisse, because they did not reproue the peoples faultes, but flattered them in their sinnes, which was the cause of their destruction.

n Or, burdens.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their handes at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse & gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: hee hath fulfilled his worde that hee had determined of olde time: he hath throwne downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduerlaries.

18 Their heart * cried vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day & night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, crie in the night: in ꝑ beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

20 Behold, O Lord, & consider to whome thou hast done thus: shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a * spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord?

21 The yong & the olde lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sworde: thou hast slaine them in ꝑ day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne daye my * terrours rounde about, so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemie consumed.

CHAP. III.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when hee declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Iere. 20. 2.

I Am the man, that hath seene a affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkenes, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh & my skinne hath he caused to waxe olde, & he hath broken my bones.

b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauy iudgements, which he greatly feared, & therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of wordes.

5 He hath b builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about mee, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shoute, hee shutteth out my c prayer.

9 He hath d stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, & turned awap my paths.

10 e He was vnto me as a beare lying in waite, and as a Lion in secret places.

11 He hath ouerthrowen my wayes, & pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused * the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled mee with bitternes, and made me drunken with f wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was far off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, 18 And I said, My strength & mine hope g is perished from the Lord.

19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood & the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled h in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lordes i mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faple not.

23 They are renued k euery morning: great is thy faithfulnes.

24 The Lord is my l portion, saieth my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, & to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his m youth.

28 He sitteth alone, n and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his * mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled ful with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will hee haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For hee doth not ꝑ pitifully * willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

34 To stamping vnder his feet all the prisoners of the earth,

35 To ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most high,

36 To subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord o seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord * commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most high proceedeth not * euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing * man forrowfull? * man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

c This is a great tentation to the godly, when they see not the fruite of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftner. d And keepeth me in holde, as a prisoner. e He hath no pitie on me.

Heb. sonnes.

f With great anguish & sorow he hath made me to lose my sense.

g Thus w paine he was driuen to & fro betweene hope & despaire, as the godly oft times are, yet in the end the Spirit getteth the victorie.

h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know them selues and feele his mercies.

i Cõsidering the wickednes of man, it is marueil ỹ any remayneth aliue: but onely that God for his owne mercies sake, and for his promes will euer haue his Church to remaine though they be neuer so fewe in nomber, Isai. 1. 9.

k We feele thy benefites dayly.

l The godly put their whole confidence in God, & therfore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal. 16. 5.

m He sheweth ỹ we can neuer begin too timely to be exercised vnder the crosse, that when ỹ afflictions growe greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger.

n He murmureth not against God, but is patient.

o He humbleth himselfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, & so with patience waiteth for succour. p He taketh no pleasure in it, but doth it of necessitie for our amendment, when he suffreth the wicked to oppresse the poore. Ebr. with hu heart. q He doth not delite therein. that nothing is done without Gods prouidence. r He sheweth ſ That is, aduersity & prosperitie, Amos 3. 6. t When God afflicteth him.

u That is, both hearts & hands: for els to lift vp the hands is but hypocrisie.

41 Let vs lift vp u our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens.
42 Wee haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.
43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared.
44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.
1.Cor.4.13. 45 Thou hast made vs as the * offscowring and refuse in the middes of the people.
46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.
47 Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with desolation and destruction.
48 Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.
49 Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not,
50 Till the Lorde looke downe, and beholde from heauen.
x I am ouercome with sore weeping for all my people. 51 Mine eye x breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie.
52 Mine enemies chased me sore like a birde, without cause.
y Read Iere. 37 16. how he was in the myerie dungeon. 53 They haue shut vp my life y in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.
54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.
55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lorde, out of the lowe dungeon.
56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh and from my crie.
57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saidest, Feare not.
58 O Lorde, thou hast maintained the z Meaning, the cause wherefore his life was in danger. cause of my z soule, and hast redeemed my life.
59 O Lorde, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.
60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuices against me.
61 Thou hast heard their reproche, O Lorde, and all their imaginations against me:
62 The lippes also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually.
63 Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, howe I am their song.
Psal.28.4. 64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lorde, according to the worke of their handes.
a Or, an obstinate heart. 65 Giue them a sorowe of heart, euen thy curse to them.
66 Persecute with wrath and destroye them from vnder the heauen, O Lorde.

CHAP. IIII.

a By the golde hee meaneth the Princes, as by the stones he vnderstandeth the Priests.
b Or, hid.
c Or, stones.

1 HOwe is the a golde become so b dimme? the most fine golde is changed, and the stones of the Sanctuarie are scattered in the corner of euery streete.
2 The noble c men of Zion comparable to fine golde, howe are they esteemed as earthen d pitchers, euen the worke of the handes of the potter!
d Which are of small estimation and haue none honour. 3 Euen the dragons e draw out the breasts, and giue sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the f ostriches in the wildernesse.
e Though the dragons be cruell, yet they pitie their young and nourish them, which thing Ierusalem doeth not. 4 The tongue of the sucking childe cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.
f The women forsake their children, as the Ostrich doth her egges, Iob 39.17 5 They that did feede delicately, perishe in the streetes: they that were brought vp in scarlet, embrace the dongue.
6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodom, that was * destroyed as in a moment, and g none pitched campes against her.
Gen.19.25. g Or, no strength was against her. 7 Her * Nazarites were purer then the snowe, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in bodie, then the red precious stones: they were like polished saphir.
Num.6.2. 8 Nowe their h visage is blacker then a cole: they can not knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered, like a stocke.
e They that were before most in Gods fauour, are now in greatest abomination vnto him. 9 They that bee slaine with the sworde are better, then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken through for p fruits of the fielde.
f For lacke of foode they pine away, & cõsume. 10 The handes of the pitifull women haue sodden their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.
11 The Lorde hath accomplished his indignation: hee hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in g Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.
g He meaneth that these things are come to passe therefore, contrary to all mens expectation. 12 The kinges of the earth, and all the inhabitantes of the worlde would not haue beleeued that the aduersarie and the enemie should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:
h Some referre this to the blind men, which as they went, stumbled on i blood, whereof the citie was full. 13 For the sinnes of her Prophetes, and the iniquities of her Priests, that haue shedde the blood of the iust in the middes of h her.
14 They haue wandred as blinde men i in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that k they would not touche their garments.
i Meaning, the heathen which came to destroy them, coulde not abide them. 15 But they cryed vnto them, Departe, ye polluted, departe, departe, touche not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue said among the heathen, l They shall no more dwell there.
h Or, face.
k That is, the enemies. 16 The m anger of the Lorde hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: k they reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.
l He sheweth two principall causes of their destructiõ: their crueltie, & their vaine cõfidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptians. 17 Whiles wee waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for l a nation that could not saue vs.
m Or, wrath.

18 They

18 They hunt our steppes that wee can not goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come.
19 Our persecuters are swifter then the egles of the heauen; they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and layed waite for vs in the wildernes.
20 The [m] breath of our nostrels, the Anointed of the Lorde was taken in their nets, of whom we saide, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued aliue among the heathen.
21 Reioyce and be gladde, [n] O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the land of Vs, the cup also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt bee drunken, and vomit.
22 The punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he [o] will no more carie thee awaie into captiuitie, but he will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he will discouer thy sinnes.

m Our king Iosiah, in whom stoode our hope of Gods fauour, & on whome depended our state & life, was slaine, whom he calleth anointed, because he was a figure of Christ.
n This is spoken by derision.
[a] Or, sheue thy nakednesse.
o He comforteth the Church by that after seuentie yeeres their sorowes shal haue an end, whereas the wicked should be tormented for euer.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

1 REmember, O Lorde, what is come vpon vs: [a] consider, and beholde our reproche.
2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.
3 We are fatherles, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.
4 We haue drunke our [b] water for money, and our wood is solde vnto vs.
5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are wearie, and haue no rest.
6 We haue giuen our [c] handes to the Egyptians, and to Assyrie, to be satisfied with bread.
7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.
8 Seruantes haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their handes.
9 We gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the [e] sworde of the wilderne.
10 Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.
11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Iudah.
12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the elders were not had in honour.
13 They tooke the young men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.
14 The Elders haue ceased from the [h] gate, and the yong men from their songs.
15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dace is turned into mourning.
16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe nowe vnto vs, that we haue sinned.
17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our eyes are dimme.
18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.
19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for [i] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.
20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?
21 [k] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lorde, and we shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde.
22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angrie against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made whē some of ỹ people were caried away captiue, others, as ỹ poorest remained & some wēt into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophete foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.
b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.
c We are ioyned in league & amitie with them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.
d As our fathers haue bene punished for their sinnes, so we that are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.
e Because of the enemy that came from the wildernes, and would not suffer vs to goe, & seeke our necessary foode.
f That is, by the enemies hand.
g Their slauery was so great, ỹ they were not able to abide it.
h There were no more lawes nor forme of common wealth.
i With weeping.
k And therefore thy couenant & mercies can neuer fayle.
l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Iere. 31. 18.

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophetes counsell, as though the thing which they had prophecied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate shoulde be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie shoulde most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, shoulde be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly shoulde despaire in these great troubles, hee assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other shoulde chiefely be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the newe Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophecied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. 1.

1 The time when in Ezekiel prophecied and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beasts. 26 The vision of the throne.

a After that the booke of the law was fould, which was ỹ eighteenth yeere of ỹ reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was fould, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (& many of the people) who the first yere after sawe these visions.

b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.

c That is, notable, & excellent visions, so that it might be known, it was no naturall dreame, but came of god.

d That is, the Spirit of prophecie, as Chap. 3. 22 and 37. 1.

e By this diuersitie of words he signifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, & the great afflictiõs, that should come vpon Ierusalem.

f Or, pale yellowe.

f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3. 23.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, & of a lyon on the right side, and the face of a bullock, and of an egle on the left side.

i Ebr. whither their spirit, or will was to go.

i That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, til God had changed the state of things.

1 IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere in ỹ fourth moneth and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among ỹ captiues by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I sawe visions of c God.

2 In the fift daye of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Ioiachins captiuitie)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hand of the Lorde was vpon him.

4 And I lowked, and beholde, e a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenes of f amber.

5 Also out of the middes thereof came the likenesse of foure g beasts, & this was their fourme: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, & their wings.

9 They were h ioyned by their winges one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as i the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, & they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an egle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their k spirite led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, & like the appearance of lamps: for the fire ran among the beastes, & the fire gaue a glister, & out of the fire there went lightening.

14 And the beasts ran, and l returned like vnto lightening.

15 Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The facion of the wheeles and their works was like vnto a m chrysolite: and they foure had one fourme, and their facion, and their works was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also n rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, rounde about them foure.

19 And when ỹ beasts went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beastes were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirite led them, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stode, they stode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrystall, spred ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their winges streight, the one towarde the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their o wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almightie, euen the voyce of speache, as the noyse of an hoste: and when they stode, they p let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stode, & had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was ỹ appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire q round about within it to looke to, euen from his lopnes vpwarde: and to looke to, euen from his lopnes downewarde, I sawe as a likenes of fire, and brightnes round about it.

28 As the likenes of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the daye of rayne, so was the appearance of the light rounde about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glorie of the Lorde: & when I sawe it, I fell r vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

k The Ebrewe word is, tarshish: meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician sea, or a precious stone so called.

l Or, the trent.

l Which declared the swiftnes & the fearefulnes of Gods iudgements.

m Which signified, that they had no power of themselues, but onely wayted to execute Gods cõmandement.

n Whereby was signified a terrible iudgement towarde the earth.

The Prophet is ſent to call the people from their errour.

1 And [a] he ſaid vnto mee, [b] Sonne of man, ſtande vp vpon thy feete, and I wil ſpeake vnto thee.

2 [c] And the Spirit entred into me, when he had ſpoken vnto me, and ſet me vpon my feete, ſo that I heard him that ſpake vnto me.

3 And he ſaid vnto mee, Sonne of man, I ſende thee to the children of Iſrael, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled againſt mee: for they and their fathers haue rebelled againſt mee, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are [*] impudent children, and ſtiffe hearted: I do ſend thee vnto them, and thou ſhalt ſaye vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord God.

5 But ſurely they wil not heare, neyther in deede wil they ceaſe: for they are a rebellious houſe: yet ſhal they know that [d] there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou ſonne of man, [e] feare them not, neither be afrayde of their woordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, & thou remaynest with ſcorpions: feare not their woordes, nor be afrayde at their lookes, for they are a rebellious houſe.

7 Therfore thou ſhalt ſpeake my woords vnto thē: but ſurely they wil not heare, neyther will they in deede ceaſe: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou ſonne of man, heare what I ſay vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious houſe: open thy mouth, and [f] eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hand was ſent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he ſpred it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and wo.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the woorde of God and with the conſtant boldnes of the Spirit, is ſent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true miniſters.

1 Moreouer he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, eat that thou findeſt: [a] eat this roule, and goe, & ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, cauſe thy bellie to eate, & fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as ſweete as honie.

4 And he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the houſe of Iſrael, and declare them my woordes.

5 For thou art not ſent to a people of an vnknowen [*] tongue, or of an hard language, but to the houſe of Iſrael,

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, whoſe woords thou canſt not vnderſtand: yet if I ſhould ſend thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the houſe of Iſrael will not obey thee; for they wil not obey me: yea, all the houſe of Iſrael are impudent and ſtiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face [b] ſtrong againſt their faces, and thy forehead hard againſt their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afrayd at their lookes: for they are a rebellious houſe.

10 He ſaid moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, [c] receyue in thine heart all my woords that I ſpeake vnto thee, & heare them with thine eares, 11 And go and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and ſpeake vnto them, and tell them, Thus ſayth the Lord God: but [d] ſurely they will not heare, neyther will they in deede ceaſe.

12 Then the ſpirite tooke mee vp, and I heard behind me a noyſe of a great ruſhing, ſaying, [d] Bleſſed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard alſo the noyſe of the wings of the beaſtes, that touched one another, & the rating of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyſe of a great ruſhing.

14 So the ſpirit lift me vp, and tooke me away and I [e] went in bitternes, and indignation of my ſpirit, but the hande of the Lord was ſtrong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I ſate where they ſate, & remained there aſtonished among them ſeuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of ſeuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore heare the woorde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I ſhall ſaye vnto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely dye, and thou giueſt him not warning, nor ſpeakeſt to admoniſh the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the ſame wicked man ſhall dye in his iniquitie: but his bloud wil I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor frō his

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuities of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophecied to come.

1 THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay enginnes of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an * yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, & direct thy face towarde it, and it shalbe besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Hereye thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the b house of Israel vpon it: according to the nomber of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laied vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the nomber of the dayes, euen three hundreth & ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy c right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face towarde the siege of Ierusalem, & thine d arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt prophecie against it.

8 And beholde, I wil lay * bandes vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, & millet, f and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the nomber of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen g three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen h twentie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt part of an i Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barly cakes, & thou shalt bake it k in the donque that commeth out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lorde saide, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any l vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Lo, I haue giuen thee bullocks m dongne for mans dongue, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake * the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by waight, and with care, and they shal drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be astonied one with another, & shall consume awap for their iniquitie.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in nomber, and binde them in thy [c] lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: [d] for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Jerusalem: I haue set it in the midst of [e] nations and countreis, that are rounde about her.

6 And thee hath changed my [e] iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreis, that are rounde about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because your [f] multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the middes of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the middes of thee, the fathers [g] shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes.

11 Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lorde God, Surely because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie.

12 The thirde part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they bee consumed in the middes of thee: and another thirde part shall fall by the swoorde round about thee: and I will scatter the last thirde part into all windes, and I will drawe out a swoord after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be [g] comforted: and they shall knowe, that I the Lorde haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in the.

14 Moreouer, I will make thee waste, & abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproch & shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, & in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it:

16 When I shall sende vpon them the [a] euill arrowes of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will sende to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 So will I sende vpon you famine, & euill beastes, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe thorower thee, & I will bring the swoorde vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shalbe destroyed for their idolatrie. 8 Hee prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

1 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face towards the [a] mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them,

3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to [a] mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers & to the valleys, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a swoorde vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places.

4 And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the [b] sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their [c] idols, and I will scatter your bones rounde about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shall be layde waste, so that your altars shall be made waste & desolate, & your idoles shall be broken, & cease, & your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished.

7 And the slaine shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, [d] that you may haue some that shall escape the swoorde among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed frō me, & for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, & they [e] shalbe displeased in the selues for the euils, which they haue committed 12 He that is farre off, shall dye of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the swoorde, and he that remayneth and is besieged, shall dye by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

The ende of all the lande of Israel shall suddenly come.

1 MOreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the landes of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the land.
3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all i thine abominations.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirite. 6 The Lorde sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah. b Which conteined part of August, and part of September.

1 AND in the [a] first yeere, in the [b] first moneth, and in the fift daye of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the LORDE God fell there vpon me.
2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenes, as the appearance of [c] fire, to looke to, from his lopnes downeward, and from his lopnes vpwarde, as the appearance of byghtnesse, and like vnto amber.
3 And he stretched out the likenes of an hand, and tooke me by an hearp locke of mine head, and the Spirite lift mee vp betwene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee "by a Vsume [d] vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner [e] gate that lyeth towarde the North, where remained the idole of [f] indignation, which prouoked indignation.
4 And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I sawe in the fielde.
5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lyft vp thine eyes nowe towarde the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and beholde, Northwarde, at the gate of the [h] altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.
6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel cōmitteth here to cause mee to depart from [i] mp Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee & thou shalt see greater abominations.
7 And he caused mee to enter at the gate of the court: & when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall.
8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wal. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore.
9 And he said vnto me, Go in, & beholde the wicked abominations that they do here.
10 So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping things and [k] abominable beasts and all the idoles of the house of Israel paynted vpon the wall round about.
11 And there stoode before them seuentie [l] men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stoode Iaazaniah, [p] some of Shaphan, with euery man his censour in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like [m] a cloude.
12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seen what the Ancients of the house of Israel [n] do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imageries? for they saye, The LORDE seeth vs not, the LORD hath forsaken the earth.
13 Againe he said also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they do.
14 And he caused mee to enter into the entrie of the gate of the LORDES House, which was towarde the North: and beholde, there sate women mourning for [o] Tammuz.
15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, & thou shalt see greater abominations then these.
16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the LORDS house, & beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the LORDE, betweene the porche and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the LORD, and their faces towarde the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.
17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a smal thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the lande with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and lo, they haue cast out [p] stinke before their noses.
18 Therfore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neyther will I haue pitie, and [q] though they crie in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leuit. 11.4.
l Thus they that should haue kept all the rest in the feare, & true seruice of god, were the ringleaders to al abomination, and by their example pulled others fro God.
m It was in such abundance.
n For besides their common idolatrie, they had particular seruice, which they had in secret chambers.
o The Iewes write that this was a prophet of the idols, who after his death was once a yere mourned for in the night.
p Declaring that the censings, & seruice of y idolaters are but infection & vilenie before God. Pro.1.28. Isa 46.7. Ierem.11.11. micah 3.4.

"Ebr.in the visions of God.
d Meaning, that he was thus caried in spirit, and not in bodie.
e Which was the porch or the court where the people assembled.
f So called because it prouoked Gods indignation, which was the idole of Baal.
g Reade Chap. 3.22.
h That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.
i For God will not be where idoles are.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shall be saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

1 HE cryed also with a loude voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitatiōs of [a] the citie drawe neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.
2 And behold, six [b] men came by the way of the hye gate, which lyeth towarde the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hande to destroye it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers [d] pnkhorne by his side, and they went in and stoode beside the brasen altar.
3 And the glorie of the God of Israel was a The time to take vengeance.

b Which were Angels in the similitude of men.
c Signifying that the Babylonians should come fro the North to destroy the citie & the Temple.
d To marke the that should be saued.

e Which declared, that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes, and worship him aright.

*Or, thresholde.

*Or, marke with Thau.

f He sheweth what is the maner of Gods children, whome he marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne, and crie out against the wickednesse which they see committed against Gods glorie.

g Thus in all his plagues ℣ Lorde preserueth his small nomber, which he marketh, as Exod. 12. 22. reuel. 7. 3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherwith ℣ hart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8. 11.

i This declareth, that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.

k That is, with all kinde of wickednes, reade Isa. 1. 15.

was *gone vp from ℣ Cherub, whereupon he was and stoode on the *doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inkhorne by his side.

4 And the Lorde sayde vnto him, Goe through the middes of Ierusalem, and set *a marke vpon ℣ foreheads of them that *mourne, and crie for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.

5 And to the other he sayd, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the olde, and the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touche no man, vpon whome is the *marke, and beginne at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the *Ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courtes with the slaine, then go forth: and they went out, and slewe them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, *Ah Lorde God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayde he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full *of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, the Lorde hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eie shal not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompence their waies vpon their heades.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linnen which had the inkhorne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. And rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

Chap. 1. 22.

1 AND as I looked, beholde, in the *firmament that was aboue the head of the *Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

a Which in the first Chap. ver. 5. he called the foure beasts.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fil thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer *the citie. And hee went in in my sight.

b This signified, that the citie should be burnt.

3 Now the Cherubims stoode vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glorie of the Lord *went vp from the Cherub, & stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnes of the Lords glorie.

c Meaning, that the glorie of God should depart from the Temple.

5 And the *sounde of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almightie GOD, when he speaketh.

d Reade Chap. 1. 24.

6 And when hee had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, & from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stoode beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hande from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, & put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who toke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in ℣ Cherubims, the likenes of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a *chrysolite stone.

e Reade Chap. 1. 16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, & they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, & they turned not as they went.

f Vntil they had executed Gods iudgements.

12 And their whole body, & their *rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes rounde about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, & the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lyon, & the fourth the face of an egle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: *this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar.

Chap. 1. 5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the *spirite of the beast was in them.

g There was one consent betwene the Cherubims & the wheeles.

18 *Then the glory of the Lord departed from about the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

h Reade Chap. 9. 3.

19 And ℣ Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and euery one stoode at the entrie of the gate of the Lordes House at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

Chap.1.15.

i That is, the whole body of the foure beasts or Cherubims.

20 *This is the i beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenes of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straite forwarde.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who were they that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these hee prophesieth, shewing them howe they shalbe dispersed abroad. 19 The reuniting of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

1 MOreouer, the Spirite lift mee vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were fiue and twentie men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsel in this citie, a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, & therfore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

3 For they say, *a It is not nere, let vs build houses: this citie is the b caldron, and we be the flesh.

b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, til the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

4 Therefore prophecie against them, sonne of man, prophecie.

5 And the Spirite of the Lord fell vpon me, and sayde vnto me, Speake, Thus sayeth the Lorde, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye sayde, and I knowe that which riseth vp of your minds.

6 Ye haue multiplied your slaine in this citie, and yee haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laid in the middes of it, they are c the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the middes of it.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murthered therin, & so lie as flesh in the caldron.

8 Ye haue feared the sworde, and I will bring a sworde vpon you, sayth the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, & deliuer you into the d handes of straungers, & wil execute iudgements among you.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

10 Ye shall fall by the sworde, and I will iudge you in the border of *e Israel, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

e That is, in Riblah, reade 2.King.25.6.

11 This citie shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neyther executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a loude voyce and sayde, Ah Lorde God, wilt thou then vtterly destroye all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy f brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, whole are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayde, Depart ye farre from the Lorde: for the lande is giuen vs in possession.

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of g people.

g They that remained still at Ierusalem, thus reproched them

16 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little h Sanctuarie in the countreis where they shall come.

h They shalbe yet a litle church shewing that the Lorde will euer haue some to call vpon his name, whome he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreis where yee haue beene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 *And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a newe spirite within their bowels: and I will take the i stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, Iere.32.39. chap.36.26.

i Meaning, the heart whereunto nothing can enter, and regenerate them a new, so that their heart may be soft, and ready to receiue my graces.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and kepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is towarde their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their waye vpon their owne heads, sayth the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did k Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glorie of the Lorde went vp from the middes of the citie, and stode vpon the mountaine which is towarde the East side of the citie.

24 Afterwarde the Spirite toke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were l led away captiues, all the things that the Lorde had shewed me.

k When Iechoniah was led away captive.

CHAP. XII.

The parable of thy captiuitie. 18 An other parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

1 THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

b Ebr. make thee vessels to go into captiuitie.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a b signe vnto the house of Israel.

b That as thou doest, so shall they do, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What c doest thou?

c Do not they detide thy doings?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, This a burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, & all the house of Israel that are among them.

a Or, prophesie.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall go into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shal go forth: they shal digge through the wall, to carie out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon d him, and he shalbe taken in my net, & I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall hee not see it, though he shall die there.

d When the king shal thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17. 20. and 32. 3.

14 And I will scatter toward euery wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will drawe out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a e fewe nomber of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

e Which should beare his name, and should be Gods Church, reade Chap. 11. 16.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnes, 19 And say vnto the people of the lande, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnes, & drinke their water with desolation: for the lande shalbe desolate from her abundance because of the cruelitie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shal be left voyde, & the land shalbe desolate, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes f are prolonged and all visions a faile?

f Because they did not immediately see the prophesies accomplished, they cõtemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lorde God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

a Or, take none effect.

24 For no vision shalbe any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shal speake, shal come to passe: it shalbe no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for g many dayes to come, and he prophecieth of the times that are farre off.

g That is, it shal not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The words of the Lorde against false prophetes, which teache the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of a Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto them, that prophecie out of their a owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

a Chap. 14. 9.

3 Thus saith the Lorde God, Wo vnto the foolish prophetes that followe their owne spirite, and haue seene nothing.

a After their owne fantasie, and not as hauing the reuelation of the Lord, Iere. 23. 16.

4 O Israel, thy prophetes are like the foxes b in the waste places.

b Watching to destroy the vineyarde.

5 c Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stande in the battell in the day of the Lord.

c He speaketh to the gouernours and true ministers that should haue resisted them,

6 They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lorde saith it, and the Lorde hath not sent them: and they

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest that ye are false Prophets.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written.

f Read Iere.6.14.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destructiō of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary & flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false Prophet said, (which is here called the building of the wal) another false Prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good grouid to beare him.

h Whereby is mēt whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth foorth vnder ỹ authoritie of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie & tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon & kercheſs to couer their heads, to ỹ intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make myword to serue your bellyes?

l These sorcerers made the people beleeue ỹ they could preserue life or destroy it, & that it shoulde come to euery one according as they prophesied.

haue made others to hope that they would confirme the woorde of their prophecie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? d ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because ye haue spoken vanitie & haue seene lies, therefore beholde, I am against you, saith the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shalbe vpon the Prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assemblie of my people, neither shall they be written in the e writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, f Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a g wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, & I wil send haile stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I wil cause a stormy wind to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shalbe in mine anger, and haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroye the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed in the midst thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with h vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophecie vnto Jerusalem, and see visions of peace for it, & there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophecie out of their owne heart: & prophecie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sow i pillowes vnder all arme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of k barly, & for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that shoulde not die, and l to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil haue to do with your pillowes, wherewith ye hunt the m soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shalbe no more in your handes to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies ye haue made the heart of the n righteous sad, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life,

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

The Lord sendeth false Prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

1 Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and a sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their b heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the c Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude d of his idoles:

5 That c I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idols.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for mee, I the Lorde will answere him e for my selfe,

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the body.

n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophetes of God, though in their heart they folow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also howe by one meanes or other, God doth discouer them.

b They are not only idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which lead them in blindenes, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods favour, so that he wil not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Iere.10.15.

c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, hee shalbe led with lies according as he delited therein, 2. Thes. 2.10.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

f Or, by my self.

9 And

f The Prophet declareth ỹ God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false prophets to seduce thē that delite in lyes rather then in the trueth of God, & thus he punisheth sinne by sin, 1. King. 22. 20, 22 and destroyeth assvel those Prophets as that people.

9 And if the Prophet be deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, & I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel.
10 And they shal beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall be euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may go no more astray from me, neyther be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may bee my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked, are admonitions to the godly to cleaue vnto the Lord, & not to defile them selues with like abominations.

12 ¶ The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,
13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, h and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.
14 Though these three men i Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their k righteousnes, saith ỹ Lorde God.

h Reade Chap. 4. 16 & 5. 17.

i Though Noah & Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet wold I not heare thē, reade Iere. 15. 1.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the lande and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe thorough, because of beastes, 16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lorde God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.
17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, go thorough the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neyther sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall bee deliuered themselues.

k Meaning, that a very fewe (which he calleth ỹ remnant, vers. 22.) should escape these plagues, whome God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnes is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his owne sake.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man & beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnes.
21 For thus saith the Lord God, Howe much more when I send my l foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, & the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?
22 Yet behold, therein shalbe left a l remnant of them that shall be caried awaye both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shal come forth vnto you, & ye shal see their way, & their enterprises: & yee shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning al that I haue brought vpon it.

Chap. 5. 17.

l Read Cha. 5. 3.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall knowe, that I haue not done without cause al that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

1 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the trees of the forest?
3 Shal wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or wil men take a pinne of it to hang any vessel thereon?
4 Beholde, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both ỹ ends of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke?
5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shal it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?
6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.
7 And I will set my face against them: they shal go out from one m fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shal know, that I am the Lorde, when I set my face against them, 8 And when I make the lande waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

a Which bringeth foorth no fruite, no more then the other trees of ỹ forest doe meaning, that if Ierusalē, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring foorth fruite, it shoulde be vtterly destroyed.

b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God towards Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 He iustifieth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

1 Againe, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to knowe her abominations,
3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kinred is of the land n of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.
4 And in thy nativitie when thou wast o borne, thy navel was not cutte: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salte, nor swadled in clowtes.
5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.
6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine p owne blood, and a Thou boastest to be of the seed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate & followest ỹ abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children do the maners of their fathers, Isa. 1. 4. and 57. 3.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, & planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthines and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee and gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthines and death.

I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, thou shalt liue.
7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine heare is growen, where as thou wast naked and bare.
8 Nowe when I passed by thee, and loked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spred my skirts ouer thee, and couered [d] thy filthines:
yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with [e] thee, saith the Lorde
God, and thou becamest mine.
9 Then washed I thee with [f] water: yea,
I washed away thy blood from thee,
and I [g] anointed thee with oyle.
10 I clothed thee also with broydred worke, and shod thee with badgers skin:
and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.
11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.
12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne vpon thine head.
13 Thus wast thou decked with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linnen, and silke, and broydred worke: thou diddest eat fine floure, and honie & oyle, and thou wast very beautiful, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.
14 And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my [i] beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.
15 Nowe thou diddest [k] trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renoume, and hast pow-red out [l] thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.
16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with di-uers colours, [m] and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like thinges shall not come, neither hath any done so.
17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and [n] madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them, 18 And tookest thy broydred garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle & my perfume before them.
19 My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, and honie, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euē set it before them for a swete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.
20 Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to [o] be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a smal matter?
21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?
22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembred the daies of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.
23 And besides all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God) 24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.
25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery [p] corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.
26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neyghbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.
27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinarie, & deliuer thee vnto the wil of them that hate thee, euen to the [q] daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.
28 Thou hast plaied the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.
29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the lande of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.
30 Howe weake is thine heart, saith the Lorde God, seeing thou doest all these thinges, euen the worke of a [r] presumptuous whorish woman?
31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot [s] that despiseth a reward.
32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:
33 They giue gifres to all other whores, but thou giuest gifres vnto all thy lo-uers, & rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.
34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shalbe after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrarie.
35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord.
36 Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thy [t] shame was powred out, and thy filthines discouered through thy forni-cations with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them, 37 Behold,

d These words, as blood, pollution, nakednes & filthines, are oft times repeted, to beate down their pride, & to cause them to cōsider what they were before God receiued them to mercy, fauoured them and couered their shame.
e That thou shouldest be a chaste wife vnto me, and that I should maintaine thee and endue thee with all graces.
f I washed away thy sinnes.
g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.
h Hereby he sheweth how he saued his church, enriched it, and gaue it power & dominiō to reign
i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ierusalē stoode: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beautie & excellencie.
k In abusing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wisdome and dignitie, which were the occasiōs of thine idolatrie.
l There was none idolatry so vile, wherewith thou diddest not pollute thy selfe.
m This declareth how ỹ idolaters put their chiefe delite in those things, which please ỹ eyes & outward senses.
n Thou hast cōuerted my vessels & instruments, which I gaue thee to serue me with, to ỹ vse of thine idoles.
o Meaning, by fire, reade Leuit. 18. 21. 2. kings. 23. 10.

p He noteth the great impietie of this people who first falling from God to seke help at strange nations, did also at length imbrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amitie more strong.

[r] Or, that will beare rule.

q Meaning, that some harlots cōtemne small rewardes, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying ỹ the idolaters bestow all their substance, which they receiue of God for his glorie, to serue their vile abominations.

r Egyptians, Aſſyrians and Caldeans, whom thou tookeſt to be thy louers, ſhall come and deſtroy thee, Chap.23.9.

37 Behold, therefore I will gather al r thy louers, with whome thou haſt taken pleaſure, and all them that thou haſt loued, with al them that thou haſt hated: I wil euen gather them roumde about againſt thee, and wil diſcouer thy filthines vnto them that they may ſee all thy filthines.

f I wil iudge thee to death, as the adulterers & murtherers.

38 And I wil nudge thee after the maner of them that are f harlots, and of them that ſhead bloud, & I wil giue thee the bloud of wrath and ielouſie.

39 I wil alſo giue thee into their hands, and they ſhal deſtroy thine hie place, & ſhal breake downe thine hie places: thei ſhal ſtrippe thee alſo out of thy clothes, and ſhal take thy faire iewels, & leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They ſhal alſo bring vp a companie againſt thee, and they ſhal ſtone thee with ſtones, and thruſt thee through with their ſwordes.

2.King.25.9.

41 And they * ſhal burne vp thine houſes with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the ſight of many women: and I wil cauſe thee to ceaſe from playing the harlot, and thou ſhalt giue no reward any more.

t I wil vtterly deſtroy thee, & ſo my ielouſie ſhall ceaſe.

42 So wil I make my wrath towarde thee to reſt, and my t ielouſie ſhal depart from thee, and I will ceaſe and bee no more angrie.

u I haue puniſhed thy faults, but thou wouldeſt not repent.

43 Becauſe thou haſt not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but haſt prouoked me with all theſe things, behold, therefore I alſo haue u brought thy way vpō thine head, ſaith the Lord God: yet haſt not thou had conſideration of al thine abominations.

x As were the Canaanites and the Hittites and others your predeceſſours, ſo are you their ſucceſſours.

44 Behold, al that vſe prouerbes, ſhal vſe this prouerbe againſt thee, ſaying, As is the mother, x ſo is her daughter.

y That is, of Samaria & Sodom.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath caſt off her huſbande and her children, & thou art the ſiſter of thy ſiſters, which forſooke their huſbandes & their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

z That is, her cities.

46 And thine elder ſiſter is Samaria, and her z daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, & y thy yonge ſiſter, that dwelleth at thy right hande, is Sodom, and her daughters.

Ebr. thy ſiſter younger then thou.

a But done farre worſe.

47 Yet haſt thou a not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very litle thing, thou waſt corrupted more then they in al thy wayes.

b He alledgeth theſe four vices, pride, exceſſe, idlenes, and contempt of ſ poore, as four principal cauſes of ſuch abomination, wherfore thei were ſo horribly puniſhed, Gen.19.24

48 As I liue, ſaieth the Lorde God, Sodom thy ſiſter hath not done, neither ſhe nor her daughters, as thou haſt done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy ſiſter Sodom, b Pride, fulneſſe of bread, and abundance of idlenes was in her, & in her daughters: neither did ſhe ſtrengthen the hande of the poore and needie.

50 But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleaſed me.

51 Neither c hath Samaria committed halfe of thy ſinnes, but thou haſt exceeded them in thine abominations, & haſt d iuſtified thy ſiſters in al thute abominations, which thou haſt done.

c Which worſhipped ſ calues in Beth-el and Dan.

d Thou art ſo wicked, that in reſpect of thee, Sodom & Samaria were iuſt.

52 Therefore thou which haſt iuſtified thy ſiſters, beare thine owne ſhame for thy ſinnes, that thou haſt committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded alſo, and beare thy ſhame, ſeeing that thou haſt iuſtified thy ſiſters.

e This he ſpeaketh in compariſon, ſaying, yhe would reſtore

53 Therefore I wil bring againe * their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuity of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, Ieruſalem when Sodom ſhould be reſtored, that is, neuer: & this is ment of the greateſt part of the Iewes.

54 That thou mayeſt beare thine owne ſhame, and mayſt be confounded in all that thou haſt done, in that thou haſt e comforted them.

f In that thou haſt ſhewed thy ſelfe worſe then they, and yet thoughteſt to eſcape puniſhmēt

55 And thy ſiſter Sodom and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate: Samaria alſo and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate, f when thou and thy daughters ſhall returne to your former ſtate.

g Meaning, that it ſhoulde neuer come to paſſe.

56 For thy ſiſter Sodom * was not heard of g by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednes was h diſcouered, as in that ſame time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philiſtims roumde about g her which deſpiſe thee on all ſides.

h Thou wouldeſt not call her puniſhmēt to mind when thou waſt aloft, to learne by her example to feare my iudgements.

58 Thou haſt borne therefore thy wickednes and thine abomination, ſayth the Lorde.

i That is, til thou waſt brought vnder by ſ Syrians, and Philiſtims, 2.Chro.28.19.

59 For thus ſaith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou haſt done: when thou didſt deſpiſe the h othe, in breaking the couenant.

k Which ioyned with the Syrians, or compaſſed about Ieruſalem.

60 Neuertheles, I wil * remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an euerlaſting couenant.

l Whē thou brakeſt the couenāt which was made betwene thee & me, as verſ.8.

61 Thē thou ſhalt remember thy wayes, and be aſhamed, when thou ſhalt receiue i thy ſiſters, both thy elder and thy ponger, and I wil giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not k by thy couenant.

m That is, of mercy and loue I wil pitie thee, and ſo ſtand to my couenant, though thou haſt deſerued the contrarie.

62 And I will eſtablish my couenāt with thee, and thou ſhalt knowe that I am the Lord, 63 That thou maiſt remember, & be l aſhamed, and neuer ope thy mouth any more: becauſe of thy ſhame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou haſt done, ſaith the Lord God.

o But of my free mercie.

p This declareth what fruites Gods mercyes worke in his, to wit, ſorowe, and repentance for their former life.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Egles.

1 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus sayth the Lord GOD, The great [a] egle with great winges, and long wings, and full of fethers, which had diuerie colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the hiest branche of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twigge, & caried it into the land [b] of marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants.

5 He tooke also of the [c] seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, and was [d] like a spreading vine of [e] low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also [f] an other great egle with great wings and many fethers, & behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spred forth her branches towarde it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great [g] waters, that it shoulde bring forth branches, and beare frute, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Shall it prosper? shall [h] hee not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the frut thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not bee dried vp, and wither? [i] when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tel them, Behold, the king of Babel is come to Jerusalem, & hath taken [k] the king thereof, and the princes thereof, & led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the kings seed, & made a covenant with him, and hath taken [l] an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him, & sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall hee escape, that doth such things? or shal he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him king, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shal Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, & great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, whe they haue cast vp mounts, and builded rampartes to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the othe, & broken the couenant (yet lo, he had giuen [m] his hande) because hee hath done all these things, he shal not escape.

19 Therfore, thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine oth that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 *And I wil spread my net vpon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespas that he hath committed against me.

21 And al that flee from him with al his hoste, shall fall by the swoorde, and they that remaine, shalbe scattered towarde all the windes: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top [n] of this hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the [o] toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes and beare frute, and bee an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all byrdes, and euerie [p] foule shall dwel in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the [q] trees of the fielde shall knowe that I the Lorde haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and haue done it.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, who hath great power, riches, & many countreys vnder him, shall come to Ierusalē & take away Ieconiah the king, as vers. 12.

b Meaning, to Babylon.

c That is, Zedekiah, who was of the Kings blood, and was left at Ierusalem, and made king in stead of Ieconiah, 2. King. 24. 17. iere. 37. 1.

d This was Zedekiahs kingdome.

e That it might not haue power to rebell against Babylon, as vers. 14.

f Meaning, the king of Egypt, of whom Zedekiah sought succour against Nebuchad-nezzar.

g They thought to be moistned by the waters of Nilus.

h Shall not Nebuchad-nezzar destroy it?

i By this drye winde, he meaneth the Babylonians.

k That is, Ieconiah, 2. King. 24. 15.

m Because hee tooke the Name of God in vaine, and brake his othe which he had cōfirmed by giuing his hand, therefore ỹ Prophet declareth that God would not suffer such periury and infidelitie to escape punishment. Chap. 12. 13. and 32. 3.

n This promes is made to the Church which shal be as a smal remnant, and as the top of a tree.

o I will trimme it and dresse it.

p Both the Iewes & Gētiles shalbe gathered into it.

q All the worlde shal know that I haue plaet down the proud enemies, & set vp my Church which was lowe and contemned.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 He sheweth that euerie man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is propheried to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

1 The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

2 What meane yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the lande of Israel, saying, [a] The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lorde God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, al soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and do that which is lawfull, and right,

6 And hath not eaten [b] vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, neither hath

1 The people murmured at the chastisings of the Lord, and therefore vsed this prouerbe, meaning ỹ their fathers had sinned & their children were punished for their transgressions, read Iere. 31. 29.

b If he hath not eaten of the flesh that hath bin offred vp to idoles to honour them thereby.

hath * defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath "lyen with a * menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtour: hee that hath spoyled none by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen forth vpon * vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hande from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is a [a] thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these thinges,

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen forth vpon vsury, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing hee hath done all these abominations, [c] he shall die the death, and his blood shall bee vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungrie, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, & hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, lo, euen he dyeth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall dye: the sonne shal not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnesse of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shal be vpon him selfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my [d] statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shal surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be [e] mentioned vnto him, but in his [e] righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 [f] Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lorde God? [g] or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, and do according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his [e] righteousnesse that he hath done, shall not bee mencioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lorde is not [h] equall: heare nowe, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shal euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shal saue his soule alme.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die.

29 Yet sayeth the house of Israel, The way of the Lorde is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lorde God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make [i] you a newe heart and a newe spirit: for why will ye dye, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lorde God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lorde denieth that he will anſwere them when they pray, becauſe of their vnkindneſſe. 33 He promiſeth that his people ſhall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the foreſt that ſhoulde bee burnt, is ſignified the burning of Ieruſalem.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah

AND in the a ſeuenth yere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Iſrael to enquire of the Lorde, and ſate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, ſaying,

3 Sonne of man, ſpeake vnto the Elders of Iſrael, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, ſaieth the Lord God, when I am aſked, I will not anſwere you.

b This declareth y great lenitie & patience of God, which calleth ſinners to repentance before he condemne the.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, ſonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cauſe b them to vnderſtand the abominations of their fathers, c I ſware that I would be their God. which manner of othe was obſerued frō all antiquitie, where they vſed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be y author of truth, & the defender thereof, & alſo the iudge of the heart, wiſhing that he ſhould take vengeance, if they conceiled any thing which they knewe to bee trueth.

5 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſaieth the Lorde God, In the day when I choſe Iſrael, and c lift vp mine hand vnto the ſeede of the houſe of Iaakob, and made my ſelfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hande vnto them, and ſayde, I am the Lorde your God, d God had forbidden them to make mentiō of y idoles, Exo. 23. 13. pſal. 16. 4.

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hande vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a lande that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and honye, which is pleaſant among all lands, e Which thing declareth y wickednes of mans hart which iudge Gods ſeruice by their eyes and outward ſenſes.

7 Then ſaid I vnto them, Let euery man caſt away the abominations of his eyes, d and defile not your ſelues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled againſt mee, and would not heare mee: for none caſt away the abominations of e their eyes, neither did they forſake the idols of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, & to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the middes of the land of Egypt.

f God had euer this reſpect to his glory, that he would not haue his Name euill ſpoken of amōg the Gentiles for the puniſhment that his people deſerued, in cōſidence whereof the godly euer praied, as Exo. 32. 12. Nom. 14. 13. Leuit. 18. 5. rom. 10. 5. gal. 3. 12. Exod. 20. 8. & 31. 13. deut. 5. 12. Nom. 14. 28, 29. and 26. 65.

9 But I had reſpect to my f Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whoſe ſight I made my ſelf knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

g Who might thereby take occaſion to blaſpheme my name and to accuſe me a meanes to do

10 Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernes.

11 And I gaue them my ſtatutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, *which if a man do, he ſhal liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them alſo my *Sabbaths to bee a ſigne betweene mee and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that ſanctifie them.

13 But the houſe of Iſrael rebelled againſt me in the wildernes: they walked not in my ſtatutes, and they caſt away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he ſhall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wildernesſe to conſume them,

14 But I had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhoulde not bee polluted before the h heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheleſſe, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesſe that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milk & honye, which was pleaſat aboue of lacke of abilitie, or els that I had ſought ſtroy them more commodiouſly.

all lands,
16 Because they cast awaye my iudgements and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my h Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.
17 Neuertheles, mine eye spared them, that I woulde not destroy them, neyther would I consume them in the wildernes.
18 But I said vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your i fathers, neyther obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.
19 I am the Lorde your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and do them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, & they shall be a signe betweene me & you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.
21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgementes to doe them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpo them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.
22 Neuertheles I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name that it shoulde not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.
23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I woulde scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.
25 Wherfore I l gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.
26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might knowe that I am the Lord.
27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed mee, though they had before grieuously trãsgressed against me.
28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hãd to giue it to the, then they saw euery hie hill, & all the thick trees, & they offered there their sacrifices, & there they presented their offring of prouocation: there also they made their swéete sauour, and powred out there their drink offrings.
29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called o Bamah vnto this day.
30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted p after the maner of your fathers? & commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?
31 For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lorde God, q I will not answere you when I am asked.
32 Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, & serue wood, and r stone.
33 As I liue, saieth the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hande, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, & will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme and in my wrath powred out.
35 And I wil bring you into the s wilders of the people, & there will I pleade with you face to face.
36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernes of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God.
37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bonde of the couenant.
38 And I wil t chuse out frõ among you the rebelles, and them that transgresse against me: I wil bring them out of the lande where they dwell, & they shal not enter into the lande of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.
39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saieth the Lorde God, u Go you, & serue euerie one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, & pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes & with your idoles.
40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lorde God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the lande, serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings and the first fruites of your oblations, with al your holy things.
41 I wil accept your swéete sauour, whe I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countreis, wherin ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.
42 And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lorde, when I shall bring you into the lande of Israel, into the lande, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.
43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherin ye haue h That is, my true religion which I had cõmanded them, & gaue themselues to serue me according to their owne fantasies.

i Whereby the holy Ghost confuteth them that say, they wil follow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by Gods worde, whether they be approueable thereby or no.
k Meaning, that they set their delite vpon them.
l Becaufe they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues, that they shuld obey their owne fantasies, as verse. 39. Rom. 1. 21, 24.
m I condemned those things, & counted them as abominable which they thought had bin excellent, and to haue declared most zeale, Luk. 16. 15. for that which God requireth as most excellent, that gaue they to their idols.
n Not onely in the wildernes, when I brought them out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatrie, seing that by no admonitions he can be drawen backe.
o Which signifieth an hie place, declaring that they vanted themselues of their idolatrie, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had cõmanded them expressely, that they should haue no altar lifted vp on hie by staires, Exod. 20. 26.
p Err in the way. He sheweth that the ingratitude of the people deserueth, & God should cut them off, & that they should not haue the cõfort of his worde.
q He declareth that man of nature is wholy enemie vnto God & to his own saluatiõ, & therfore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chastning, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiuing his rebellion and wickednes.
r I wil bring you among strange nations, as into a wildernes, and there will visite you, & so cal you to repentance, and then bring the godly home againe, Isa. 65. 9.
s Signifying, that he will not burne the corne with the chaffe, but chuse out the wicked to punish them when he will spare his.
t This is spoken to the hypocrites.

haue bene deſiled, and ye u ſhall iudge your ſelues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord, when I haue reſpect vnto you for my Names ſake, and not after your wicked waies, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaieth the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

46 Sonne of man, ſet thy face towarde the waye of Teman, and droppe thy worde towarde x the South, and prophecie towarde the forreſt of the fielde of the South,

47 And ſaye to the forreſt of the South, Heare the worde of the Lord: thus ſaith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it ſhall deuoure all the y greene wood in thee, & al the drie wood: the continuall flame ſhall not be quenched, and euery face from the South to the North ſhall be burnt therein.

48 And all fleſh ſhall ſee, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it ſhall not be quenched. Then ſaide I, Ah Lorde God, they ſay of me, Doeth not he ſpeake z parables?

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threateneth the ſword, and deſtruction to Ieruſalem. 25 He ſheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 He is commanded to propheſie the deſtruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to deſtroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

1 THe worde of the Lorde came to me againe, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, a and droppe thy worde towarde the holy places, and propheſie againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I come againſt thee, & wil draw my ſword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the b righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off frō thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore ſhal my ſword go out of his ſheath againſt all fleſhe from the South to the c North,

5 That all fleſh may knowe that I the Lorde haue drawne my ſworde out of his ſheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou ſonne of man, as in the pame of thy d reines, & mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſaye vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe e of the bruit: for it commeth, & euerie heart ſhall melt, and all handes ſhall be weake, and all mindes ſhal faint, and al knees ſhall fall away as water: beholde, it commeth, and ſhall be done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 9 Sonne of man, propheſie, & ſay, Thus ſayth the Lorde God, ſaye, A ſworde, a ſworde both ſharp, and fourbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is fourbiſhed that it maye f glitter: how ſhal we reioyce? for it contemneth the g rod of my ſonne, as h all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſworde is ſharp, & is fourbiſhed, that he may giue it into the hand of the i ſlayer.

12 Crie, and howle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, and it ſhall come vnto all the princes of Iſrael: the terrours of the ſworde ſhalbe vpon my people: k ſmite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, l and what ſhal this be, if the ſword contemne euen the rod? It ſhalbe no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſmite m hande to hande, and let the ſworde be doubled: let the ſworde that hath ſlaine, returne the thirde time: it is the ſworde of the great ſlaughter entring vnto their priuie chambers.

15 I haue wrought the feare of the ſword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah it is made bright, & it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee n alone: go to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whither ſo euer thy face turneth.

17 I wil alſo ſmite mine hands together, and wil cauſe my wrath to ceaſe. I the Lord haue ſaid it.

18 ¶ The worde of the Lorde came vnto me againe, ſaying, 19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee o two waies, that the ſworde of the king of Babel may come: both twaine ſhall come out of one lande, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſworde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And the king of Babel ſtoode at the p parting of the waye, at the head of the two waies, conſulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he conſulted with idoles, and looked in q the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ieruſalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to buylde a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhalbe vnto them r as a falſe diuination in their ſight for the othes u Meaning, Zedekiah, who practised w the Egyptians to make him selfe hye, and able to resist the Babylonians.

x Some referre this to y priestes attire: for Iehoiadek the priest went into captiuitie w the king.

y That is, vnto the comming of Messiah: for though y Iewes had some signe of gouernment afterward vnder the Persians, Grekes & Romanes, yet this restitution was not till Christs comming, and at length shoulde be accomplished as was promised, Gen. 49. 10.

z Though the Iewes & Ammonites would not beleeue, y thou, to wit, the sword shouldest come vpon them, and saide that the Prophets, which threatned, spake lyes, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werest already vpon their neckes.

made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to drawe neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproche to the heathen, & a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that bee farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which are vile in d name and sore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euerie one in thee was readie to his power, to shead blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee e haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widowe.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy thinges, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carie tales to sheade blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 * In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the encrease, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extorsion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue f smitten mine hands vpō thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, & vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands g be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreis, and will cause thy h filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine i inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe, that I am the Lord.

1 MOreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe thou sonne of man, wilt thou a iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloodie citie? wilt thou shewe her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lorde God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her b time may come, & maketh idoles c against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

22 As ſiluer is melted in the middes of the fornace, ſo ſhall ye be melted in the middes thereof, and ye ſhall know, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying.

24 Sonne of man, ſay vnto her, Thou art the lande, that is vncleane, [m] & not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conſpiracie [o] of her Prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured ſoules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the midſt thereof.

26 Her Prieſtes haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy thinges: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither diſcerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in * the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray to ſhed blood, & to deſtroy ſoules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [p] Prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, ſeeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God, when the Lord had not ſpoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppreſſed by ſpoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppreſſed the ſtranger againſt right.

30 And I ſought for a man among the, that ſhoulde [q] make vp the hedge, and ſtand in the gap before me for the land, that I ſhould not deſtroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, & conſumed the with the fire of my wrath: their owne waies haue I rendred vpon their heades, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ieruſalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

a Meaning Iſrael & Iudah, which came both out of one familie.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

c Aholah ſignifieth a manſion or dwelling in her ſelf, meaning Samaria which was the royall citie of Iſrael: And Aholibah ſignifieth my manſion in her, whereby is meant Ieruſalem where Gods Temple was.

1 THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breaſtes preſſed, and there they bruſed the teates of their virginitie.

4 And the names of [a] them were Aholah, the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: and they were mine, and they bare ſonnes and daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ieruſalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot [c] when [d] ſhe was mine, and ſhe was ſet on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe ſilke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleaſant yong men, and horſemen riding vpon horſes.

7 Thus ſhe committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſhur, and with all on whom ſhe doted, & defiled her ſelfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left ſhe her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruſed the breaſts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the handes of her louers, euen into the handes of the Aſſyrians, vpon whom ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcouered her ſhame: they tooke away her ſonnes and her daughters, and ſlewe her with the ſword, and ſhe had an euill name among women: for [f] they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſawe this, ſhe marred her ſelfe with more inordinate loue, more then ſhee, and with her fornications more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers ſutes, horſemen ryding vpon horſes: they were all pleaſant yong men.

13 Then I ſawe that ſhe was defiled, and that they were both after one ſort,

14 And that ſhe encreaſed her fornications: for when ſhe ſawe men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their lopnes, & with dyed attyre vpon their heades (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie)

16 Aſſoone, I ſay, as ſhe ſawe them, ſhee doted vpon them, and ſent meſſengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Howe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and ſhe was polluted with them, & her luſt departed from them.

18 So ſhe diſcouered her fornication, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſooke her, like as mine heart had forſaken her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhee encreaſed her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein ſhe had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For

d When the Iſraelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forſooke God, and put their truſt in the Aſſyrians.

e The holy ghoſt vſeth theſe termes which ſeeme ſtrange to chaſte eares, to cauſe this wicked vice of idolatrie ſo to be abhorred, that vneth any ſhoulde abide to heare the name thereof mencioned.

f Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

g This declareth that no wordes are able ſufficiently to expreſſe the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghoſt here compareth the to-thoſe which in their raging loue and filthie luſtes dote vpon the images and paintings of the after whom they luſt.

20 For thee doted vpon their ſeruantes, whoſe members are as the members of aſſes, and whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes.
21 Thou calledſt to remembrance ꝑ wickedneſſe of thy youth, when thy teates were bruſed by the Egyptians: therefore the pappes of thy youth are thus.
22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I will raiſe vp thy louers againſt thee, from whome thine heart is departed, & I will bring them againſt thee on euery ſide, h These were the names of certaine Princes & captaines vnder Nebuchadnezzar.
23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, h Pekod, and Shoah, & Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: they were all pleaſant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, ryding vpon horſes.
24 Euen theſe ſhall come againſt thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which ſhal ſet againſt ther, buckler and ſhielde, and helmet rounde about: and " I will leaue the punithment vnto them, and they ſhall iudge thee according to their ſ iudgements.
" Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.
ſ Or, lawes.
25 And I will laye mine indignation vpon thee, and they ſhal deale cruelly with thee: they ſhall cut off thy i noſe & thine eares, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſworde: they ſhal carie away thy ſonnes and thy daughters, & thy reſidue ſhalbe deuoured by the fire.
i They ſhall deſtroy thy princes and prieſts with the reſt of thy people.
26 They ſhall alſo ſtrippe thee out of thy clothes, and take awaye thy fayre iewels.
27 Thus will I make thy wickednes to ceaſe from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.
28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hande of them, whome thou hateſt: euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.
29 And they ſhal handle thee deſpitefully, and ſhall take away all thy k labour, and ſhall leaue thee naked and bare, and the ſhame of thy fornications l ſhall be diſcouered, both thy wickednelle, & thy whoredome.
k All thy treaſures and riches which thou haſt gotte by labour.
l All the worlde ſhall ſee thy ſhameful forſaking of God to ſerue idoles.
30 I will do theſe thinges vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after ꝑ heathen, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idoles.
31 Thou haſt walked in the waye of thy ſiſter: therefore will I giue her m cup into thine hand.
m I wil execute the ſame iudgements and vengeance againſt thee, & that with greater ſeuerity.
32 Thus ſayeth the Lorde God, Thou ſhalt drinke of thy ſiſters cup, deepe and large: thou ſhalt bee laughed to ſcorne and had in derition, becauſe it containeth much.
n Meaning, that the afflictions ſhould be ſo great that they ſhould cauſe thē to loſe their ſenſes, and reaſon.
33 Thou ſhalt be filled with n drunkenes & ſorow, euen with the cuppe of deſtruction, and deſolation, with the cup of thy ſiſter Samaria.
34 Thou ſhalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, & thou ſhalt breake the ſheardes therof, and teare thine owne breaſts: for I haue ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.
35 Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde God, Becauſe thou haſt forgotten mee, & caſt mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou ſhalt alſo beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome.
36 ¶ The Lorde ſayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? & wilt thou declare to them their abominations?
37 For they haue plaied the whores, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed aduiterie, & haue alſo cauſed their ſonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to paſſe by the fire to be their o meate.
o That is, to be ſacrifices to their idoles, read chap. 16. 20.
38 Moreouer thus haue they done vnto mee: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the ſame daye, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.
39 For when they had ſlayne their children to their idoles, they came the ſame day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine houſe.
40 And howe much more is it that they ſent for men to come from p farre, vnto whome a meſſenger was ſent, and loe, they came? for whom thou didſt waſh thy ſelfe, and paynteſt thine eyes, and deckedſt thee with ornaments, p They ſent into other countreyes to haue ſuch as ſhould teach the ſeruice of their idoles.
41 And ſatest q vpon a coſtly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou haſt ſet mine incenſe and myne oyle.
q He meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.
42 And a voyce of a multitude beyng at eaſe, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of r Saba from the wilderneſs, which put bracelets vpon their handes, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.
r Which ſhould teach the maner of worſhipping their gods.
43 Then I ſayde vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now ſhal ſhe and her fornications come to an ende.
44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: ſo went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.
45 And the righteous men they ſhall iudge them, after the maner of s harlots, & after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, & blood is in their handes.
s That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16. 38.
46 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lorde God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, & will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the ſpoyle, 47 And the multitude ſhall ſtone them with ſtones, and cut them with their ſwordes: they ſhall ſlaye their ſonnes, and their daughters, & burne vp their houſes with fire.
48 Thus will I cauſe wickednes to ceaſe out of the land, that al t women may be taught not to do after your wickednes.
t Meaning, all other cities and countreys.
49 And they ſhall laye your wickednes vpon vpon pon, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

a Of Ieconiahs captiuitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25. 1.

b Called Tebeth, which conteineth part of December and part of Ianuarie: in the which moneth and day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

c Whereby was ment Ierusalem.

d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.

e Meaning, of the innocents, whome they had slayne, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

f Whose iniquities, and wicked cittizens there yet remayne.

g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle.

h Spare none estate or cõdition i The cittie shewed her crueltie to all ỹ world, & was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it. Nah. 3. 1. Habak. 2. 12.

k Meaning, that the cittie should be vtterly destroyed, & that he would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto.

1 In the a ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth daye of the b moneth came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the king of Babel set himself against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and saye vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Prepare a c pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the d pieces thereof into it, euen euerie good piece, as the thygh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, & e burne also the f bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein,

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloodie citie, euen to the potte, g whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out g piece by piece: let no h lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it vpon an high i rocke, and powred it not vpon the grounde to couer it with dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, & take vengeance: euẽ I haue set her blood vpon an hygh rocke that it shoulde not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, k Woe to the bloodie citie, for I will make l the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: k kindle the fire, consume the fleth, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty vpõ the coles thereof, that l the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, & that the skomme of it may be consumed.

12 l She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shalbe consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse & wickednes: because I would m haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not bee purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lorde haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I wil do it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neyther will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shal n they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the o pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neyther mourne nor weepe, neyther shall thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, p and put on thy shoes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lippes, and eate q not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in r the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people sayde vnto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will s pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the t pryde of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the swoorde.

22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shal not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tyre shalbe vpõ your heads, & your shoes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shal pine away for your iniquities, & mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in ỹ daye when I take from them their power, the ioye of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the " desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That he that escapeth in that day, shal come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, & thou shalt be a signe vnto them, & they shal knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

1 The word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them,

3 And

m I laboured by sending my Prophets to cal thee to repentãce, but thou wouldest not.

n That is, the Babylonians.

o Meaning, his wife in whome he delited, as vers. 18.

p For in mourning they went bare headed and bare footed, and also couered their lippes.

q That is, which the neighbours sent to the that mourned.

r Meaning, the morning following.

s By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7. 22.

t Wherein you boast and delite.

" Ebr. lifting vp of their soules.

1 The cittie hath flattered her selfe in vayne.

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because thou saidest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, & against the house of Iudah, when they went into captivitie, a Because ye reioyced when the enemy destroied my citie and Temple.

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the b men of the East for a possession, and they shal set their c palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shal eate thy fruite, and they shal drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.

c They shall chase thee away & take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.

5 And I wil make d Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites and full of conduites, 2. Sam. 12. 27.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped thy handes, & stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the lande of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretche out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lorde.

8 Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I wil open the side of Moab, euen of the cities e of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-iesimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

12 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, & hath committed great offence, and reuenged him selfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shal fall by the sworde.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall knowe my vengeance, sayth the Lord God.

15 Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred, 16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the f Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

f Which were certein garisons of Philistims, whereby they oft times molested the Iewes.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

of the Cherethims Dauid also had a gard, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

CHAP. XXVI.

Hee prophesieth that Tyrus shalbe ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem.
15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

1 And in the a eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Either of the captiuitie of Ieconiah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah.

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath sayde against Ierusalem, Aha, the b gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing thee is desolate, I shalbe c repleni shed, b That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, whereunto all people resorted.

c My riches and fame shall increase: thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whome they may haue any profit or aduantage.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea moueth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the toppe of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her d daughters which are in the field, shalbe slaine by the sworde, & they shal knowe that I am the Lord.

d The townes that belonged vnto her.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, & with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay d the sworde thy daughters in the fielde, & he shall make a forte against thee, & cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, & with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shal couer thee, for their multitude: thy wals shal shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shal he tread downe al thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sworde, and the e pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

e For Tyrus was much built by arte, & by labor of me was wone out of the sea.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

Some referre this vnto Ymages of the noble men, which they had erected vp for their glorie and renoume.

Iere.7.34.

13 "Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songes to ceasse, and the sounde of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: f thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lorde haue spoken it, saieth the Lorde God.

f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to couer thee.

15 Thus saieth the Lorde God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? & at the crie of the wounded, when they shalbe slaine & murthered in the middes of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the g sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay awaye their robes, and put off their broydred garments, & shall clothe them selues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the grounde, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee.

g The gouernours & rulers of other countreis that dwell by the sea: wherby he signifieth that her destruction should be so horrible, that all the worlde should heare thereof and be afraide.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, & say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited h of the sea men, & renoumed citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

h Meaning, marchants, which by their traffique did enrich her wonderfully & increase her power.

18 Nowe shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shalbe troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lorde God, When I shal make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people i of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glorie in the lande of the k liuing.

i Which were dead long ago.

k Meaning, in Iudea, when it shal be restored.

21 I will *bring thee to nothing, & thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saieth the Lord God.

*Or, make thee a terrour.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in time past.

1 The word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe o man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is scituate at the entrie of the sea, which is the mart a of the people for many yles, Thus saith the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie.

a Which seruest all the world with thy marchandise.

"Ebr. heart.

4 Thy borders are in the "midst of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfite beautie.

b This mountaine was called Hermon, but § Amorites called it Shenir, Deut. 3.9.

5 They haue made all thy ship boardes of firre trees of b Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make masts for thee,

6 Of the okes of Bashá haue they made thine oares: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy bankes of yuorie, brought out of the yles of c Chittim.

c Which is take for Grecia and Italie.

7 Fine linen with broydred worke, brought from Egypt, was spred ouer thee to be thy sayle, blew silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon, & Arnad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy "pilotes.

"Or, Shipmasters.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy d calkers, all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy marchandise.

d Meaning, that they built the walles of the citie, which is here meant by the ship: and of these were the builders of Salomõs Temple, 1. King. 5.18.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shieldes & helmet in thee: they set forth thy beautie.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles rounde about, & the e Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shieldes vpon thy walles rounde about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.

e That is, they of Cappadocia, or Pigmeis and dwarfes, which were so called, because that out of the hie towers they seemed little.

12 They of Tarshish were thy marchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tinne, & lead, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They of f Iauan, Tubal & Meshech were thy marchants, & concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchandise.

f Of Grecia, Italie and Cappadocia.

14 They of the house of h Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.

g By selling slaues.

h Which are taken for a people of Asia minor.

15 The men of Dedan were thy marchants: and the marchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present i horues, teeth, & peacockes.

i Meaning, Vnicornes hornes & Elephants teeth.

16 They of Aram were thy marchantes for the multitude of thy "wares: they occupied in thy faires in "emeraudes, purple, and broydred worke, and "fine linen, and coral, and pearle.

"Or, workes.

"Or, carbuncle.

"Or, silke.

17 They of Iudah and of the lande of Israel were thy marchantes: they brought for thy marchandise wheat of l Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and "balme.

k Where the best wheat growed.

"Or, turpentine, or triacle.

18 They of Damascus were thy marchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white woll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro occupied in thy faires: yron worke, casia & calamus were among thy marchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy marchantes in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar "occupied with thee, in lambes, and rams & goates: in these were they thy marchantes.

"Or, were marchants whose marchandise passed through their handes.

22 The marchantes of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchats: they occupied

23 They of Haran & Canneh and Eden, the marchantes of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy marchants.
24 These were thy marchants in all sorts of things, in rayment of blewe silke, and of broydred worke, and in coffers of the riche apparell, which were bounde with cordes: chaines also were among thy marchandise.
[1] Or, came in company toward thee.
25 The shippes of Tarshish [1] were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, & thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea.
[1] Or, rowers.
26 Thy [1] robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the [1] East wind hath broken thee in the middes of the sea.
[1] That is, Nebuchad-nezzar.
27 Thy riches and thy fayres, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine.
[m] That is, the cities nere about thee, as was Zidon, Aruad and others.
28 The [m] suburbes shall shake at þ sound of the crie of thy pilotes.
29 And all that handle the oye, the mariners and all the pilotes of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand vpon the land,
30 And shal cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall crye bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, & wallowe themselues in the ashes.
31 They shall pluck off their heare for thee & girde them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorowe of heart and bitter mourning.
32 And in their mourning they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea?
33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people and thou didest enriche the Kinges of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise.
34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the middes of thee, shal fall.
[n] Whereby is ment a long time: for it was prophecied to be destroyed but seuentie yeres, as Isa. 23, 15.
35 All the inhabitants of the yles shalbe astonished at thee, and all their kinges shall be sore afrayd and troubled in their countenance.
36 The marchantes among the people shal hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be [n] any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pride. 11 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

1 The woyd of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying.
2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thine heart is exalted, & thou hast saide, [a] I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the midst of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, & [b] though thou bidest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,
[a] I am safe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heauen.
3 Beholde, thou art wiser then [b] Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee.
[b] Ebr. Though thou set thine heart as the heart of God.
4 With thy wisdome and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and siluer into thy treasures.
b Thus he speaketh by derision: for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wisdome in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this,
5 By thy great wisdome and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.
6 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because thou bidest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God, 7 Beholde, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swordes against the beautie of thy wisdome, and they shall defile thy brightnes.
c Like the rest of the heathen and infidels, which are Gods enemies.
8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt dye the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea.
d He derideth the vaine opinion & confidence that the Tyrians had in their riches, strength & pleasures.
9 Wilt thou say then before him, that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.
10 Thou shalt dye the death of the vncircumcised by the handes of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lorde God.
[1] Or, iasper.
[2] Or, carbuncle.
e He meaneth the royal state of Tyrus, which for the excellencie and glorie thereof he compareth to the Cherubims which coured the arke: and by this word anointed he signifieth the same.
11 Moreouer the woyd of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God, Thou sealest vp the summe, & art full of wisdome and perfect in beautie.
13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, [2] emerand, and the carbuncle and golde: the workmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.
f I did thee this honour to make thee one of the builders of my Temple, which was when Hiram sent vnto Salomon thinges necessary for the worke, 14 Thou art [e] the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee [f] in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the [g] stones of fire.
g To wit, among my people Israel, which shined as precious stones.
15 Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquitie was found in thee.
h Which was when I first called thee to this dignitie.
16 By the multitude of thy marchandise they haue filled the midst of thee with cruelties, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the midst of the stones of fire.
i Thou shalt haue no part among my people.
17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beauty, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdome by reason of thy brightnes:

I will caſt thée to the ground: I will lay thée before kings that they may behold thée, 18 Thou haſt defiled thy [k] ſanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by the iniquitie of thy marchandiſe: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thée, which ſhall deuoure thée: and I will bring thée to aſhes vpon the earth, in the ſight of all them that behold thée.

19 All they that knowe thée among the people, ſhalbe aſtomihed at thee: thou ſhalt be [l] a terrour, and neuer ſhalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

21 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt Zidon, and prophecie againſt it,

22 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lorde God, Behold, I come againſt thée, O Zidon, and I will be [l] glorified in the middes of thée: and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I ſhall haue executed iudgements in her, and ſhall be ſanctified in her.

23 For I wil ſend into her peſtilence, and blood into her ſtréetes, & the ſlaine ſhall fall in the mids of her: [m] the enemy ſhall come againſt her with the ſword on euery ſide, and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lord.

24 And they ſhalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the houſe of Iſrael, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them, and deſpiſed them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus ſaith the Lorde God, When I ſhall haue gathered the houſe of Iſrael from the people where they are ſcattered, and ſhalbe [n] ſanctified in them in the ſight of the heathen, then ſhall they dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen to my ſeruant Iaakob.

26 And they ſhal dwel ſafe by therein, and ſhal build houſes, and plant vineyards: yea, they ſhal dwell ſafely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that deſpiſe them, and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He prophecieth againſt Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lorde promiſeth that hee will reſtore Egypt after fourtie yeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of king Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour, which he tooke againſt Tyrus.

1 In the [a] tenth pere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharaoh the king of Egypt, & prophecie againſt him, and againſt all Egypt.

3 Speake, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lorde God, Behold, I come againſt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lyeth in the mids of his riuers, which hath ſaide, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my ſelfe.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy chawes, and I will cauſe the fiſh of thy riuers to ſticke vnto thy ſcales, and I will drawe thée out of the mids of thy riuers, and all the fiſh of thy riuers ſhall ſticke vnto thy ſcales.

5 And I will leaue thée in the wildernes, both thée and all the fiſh of thy riuers: thou ſhalt fall vpon the open field: thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thée for meate to the beaſtes of the field, & to the fowles of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt ſhall know that I am the Lord, becauſe they haue bene a ſtaffe of [d] reede to the houſe of Iſrael.

7 When they toke hold of thée with their hand, thou didſt breake, & rent all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakeſt and madeſt all their loynes to [e] ſtand vpright.

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde God, Behold, I wil bring a ſword vpon thee, and deſtroy man and beaſt out of thee,

9 And the land of Egypt ſhalbe deſolate, and waſte, and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lord: becauſe he hath ſaid, [f] The riuer is mine, and I haue made it,

10 Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, & I will make the lande of Egypt vtterly waſte & deſolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the [g] blacke Moores.

11 No foote of man ſhall paſſe by it, nor foote of beaſt ſhall paſſe by it, neither ſhall it be inhabited fourtie peres.

12 And I will make the lande of Egypt deſolate in the mids of the countreys that are deſolate, and her cities ſhalbe deſolate among the cities that are deſolate, for fourtie peeres: and I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, & will diſperſe them through the countreys.

13 Yet thus ſaith the Lord God, [h] At the ende of fourtie peeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were ſcattered, 14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, & will cauſe them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the lande of their habitation, & they ſhalbe there a [i] ſmall kingdome.

15 It ſhalbe the ſmalleſt of the kingdoms, neither ſhall it exalt it ſelfe any more aboue the nations: for I will diminiſh them, that they ſhall no more rule the nations.

16 And it ſhall be no more the confidence of the houſe of Iſrael, to bring their [k] iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, ſo ſhall they know, that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the [l] ſeuen and twentieth pere alſo in the firſt moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth came the worde of the Lord vnto me, ſaying, k That is, the honour, whereunto I called them.

18 Sonne

l Or, brought to nothing.

l By executing my iudgements againſt thy wickednes.

m That is, Nebuchad-nezzar.

n He ſheweth for what cauſe God wil aſſemble his Church, and preſerue it ſtill though he deſtroy his enemies: to wit, that they ſhould praiſe him, and giue thankes for his great mercies.

a To wit, of the captiuitie of Ieconiah or of the reigne of Zedekiah. Of the order of theſe prophecies, & how the former ſome times ſtandeth after the latter, reade Iere. 27. 1.

b He compareth Pharaoh to a dragon which hideth himſelfe in the riuer Nilus, as Iſa. 51. 9.

c I wil ſend enemies againſt thee, which ſhall plucke thee, and thy people which truſt in thee, out of thy ſure places.

d Read 2. King. 18. 21. Iſa. 36. 6.

e When they felt their hurt, they would ſtay no more vpon thee, but ſtoode vpon their feete and put their truſt in others.

f Thus God can not ſuffer that man ſhould arrogate any thing to himſelfe, or put his truſt in any thing ſaue in him alone.

g Ebr. Cuſh, or, Ethiopia.

Iere. 46. 26.

h Meaning, that they ſhould not haue ful dominion, but be vnder the Perſians, Grecians & Romanes, and the cauſe is, that the Iſraelites ſhould no more put their truſt in them, but learne to depend on God.

i Leaſt I ſhould by this meanes puniſh their ſinnes.

i Counting from the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

18 Sonne of mã, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his armie to serue a great [k] seruice against Tyrus: euerie head was made bald, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, [l] nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shal take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, & take her pray, and it shalbe the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued [m] against it, because they wrought [n] for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

1 THe word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Houle & cry, Wo be vnto this day,

3 For the day is neere, & the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, & it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shal come vpon Egypt, and feare shalbe in Ethiopia, when the slaine shal fall in Egypt, when they shal take away her multitude, and when her foundations shalbe broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, & all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lorde, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, & the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of [b] Seuneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countreis that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, & when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in shippes, to make the careleſſe Moyes afraid, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the daye of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the lande: and they shall drawe their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers drie, & sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I wil make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the handes of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also destroy the idoles, & I will cause their idoles to cease out of [o] Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the lande of Egypt, & I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in [p] Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon [q] Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: & I wil destroy the multitude of [r] No.

16 And I wil set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorow, & No shalbe destroyed, & Noph shal haue sorowes daily.

17 The yong men of [s] Auen, and of [t] Phibeseth shall fall by the sworde: and these cities shall go into captiuitie.

18 At Tehaphnehes the daye [c] shall restreine his light, whē I shal breake there the [d] barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shal couer her, and her daughters shall go into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgementes in Egypt, and they shall know, that I am the Lorde.

20 ¶ And in the [e] eleuenth peere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, [f] I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shal they put a roule to binde it, & so make it strong, to hold the sworde.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, & wil breake [g] his arme, that was strong, but is broken, & I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, & will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sworde in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shal cast out sighings, as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fal downe, and they shal knowe, that I am the Lorde, [h] when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, & he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheciethe a like destruction to them both.

h Whereby we see that tyrants haue no power of themselues, neither can do any more harme then God appointeth, and when he will, they must cease.

a Of Zedekiahs reigne, or of Ieconiahs captiuitie.

unto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou b like in thy greatnes?
3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughs, and shot vp very hie, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes.
4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hye with her riuers running round about his plants, & sent out her c litle riuers vnto all the trees of the d fielde.
5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the fielde, and his boughes were multiplied, & his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.
6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughs, & vnder his branches did all the beasts of the fielde bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.
7 Thus was he faire in his greatnes, & in the length of his branches: for his roote was nere great waters.
8 The cedars in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, & the chesnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.
9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.
10 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because e he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the f mightiest among the heathen: he shal handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednes.
12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, & they haue left him vpon the mountaines, & in all the valleis his branches are fallen, and his boughes are g broken by all the riuers of the land: & all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, & haue forsaken him.
13 Vpon his ruine shal all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shalbe vpon his branches,
14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their top among the thicke boughs, neither shal their leaues stande vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are al deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit.
15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I h couered the deepe for him, and I did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were staied: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.
16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, whe I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished w waters, shall k be comforted in the nether partes of the earth.
17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sworde, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadow in the middes of the heathen.
18 To whome l art thou thus like in glorie and in greatnes among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe w the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the middes of the k vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sworde: this is Pharaoh and al his multitude, saith the Lorde God.

a Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the king of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.
b Many other nations were vnder their dominion.
c Or, countrey.
d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.
e That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was y monarche & onely ruler of the world.
f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.
g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so hie (meaning his great abundance & pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered w sackecloth.
h To cause this destruction of the King of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fal of such a tyrant.
i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was.

CHAP. XXXII.

The Prophet is commaunded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 He prophecieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

1 And in the a twelfth peere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, & say vnto him, Thou art like a b lyon of the nations and art as a c dragon in the sea: thou castest out thy riuers, & troublest the waters with thy feete, and stampest in their riuers.
3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therfore spread my net ouer thee w a great multitude of people, & they shal make thee come vp into my net.
4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, & I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, & I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.
5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleis d with thine height.
6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein e thou swimmest, euen to the mountaines, & the riuers shalbe full of thee.
7 And when I shal f put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.
8 All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring g darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.
9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreis that shalbe for the slaughter of the king and his people.

a Which was the first yere of the general captiuitie vnder Zedekiah.
b Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruell & huge beastes which deuour al that be weaker then they, and such as they may ouercome.

g By this maner of speach is mēt the great sorow countreis which thou hast not knowē.

10 Yea, I will make many people amased at thē, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thē, when I shall make my swoyde to glitter against their faces, and they shalbe afraide at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.
11 For thus saith the Lorde God, The swoyde of the king of Babel shall come vpon thē.
12 By the swoydes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shalbe terrible nations, & they shall destroy the h pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.
13 I wil destroy also al the beasts thereof from the great waterssides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the houes of beast trouble them.
14 Then wil I make i their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oile, saith the Lord God.
15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, & the countrey with all that is therein, shalbe layd waste: when I shall smite al them, which dwel therein, then shall they know, that I am the Lord.
16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.
17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,
18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and k cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.
19 Whome doest thou passe l in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.
20 They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the swoyde: m she is deliuered to the swoyde: draw her downe, and all her multitude.
21 The most mightie and strong shall speake to n him out of the middes of hel with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the swoyde.
22 Asshur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the swoyde.
23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the swoyde, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.
24 There is o Elam and all his multitude rounde about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the swoyde, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether partes of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the p liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.
25 They haue made his bed in the midst of the slaine with al his multitude: their graues are rounde about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the swoyde: though they haue caused their feare in the lande of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layde in the midst of them, that be slaine.
26 There is q Meshech, Tubal, & all their multitude, their graues are rounde about them: al these vncircumcised were slaine by the swoyd, though they caused their feare to be in the lande of the liuing.
27 And they shall not lye with the valiant r of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layde their swoydes vnder their heades, but their iniquitie shalbe vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.
28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the midst of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the swoyd.
29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layde by them that were slaine by the swoyd: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, & with them that goe downe to the pit.
30 There be all the princes of the s North, with all the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the swoyde, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.
31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be t comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shalbe slaine by the swoyd, saith the Lord God.
32 For I haue caused my u feare to be in the land of the liuing: & he shalbe layde in the midst of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the swoyde, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that dispaire, and boldneth them with the promes of mercie. 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

1 AGaine, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the swoyd vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man a from among them, & make him their watchman,
3 If when he seeth the swoyd come vpon the lande, hee blowe the trumpet, and warne the people,
4 Then he that heareth the sounde of the truma He sheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours & teachers which may haue a care ouer them, & to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

v Or, of their coasts.

trumpet, and will not be warned, if the swoꝛde come, and take him awap, his blood shalbe upon his owne head.

5 Foꝛ he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe upon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman sée the swoꝛde come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the swoꝛd come, and take anp person from among them, he is taken awap foꝛ his [b] iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

b Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishmẽt though the watchman be negligent: but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he wil not obey, hee shal deserue double punishment. Chap. 3.17.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thée a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefoꝛe thou shalt heare the woꝛd at mp [c] mouth, and admonish them from me.

c Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lordes mouth, is a spie, and not a true watchman.

8 When I shall sap vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his wap, that wicked man shall dpe foꝛ his iniquitie, but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.

d The watchman must answere for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

9 Neuertheleſſe, if thou warne the wicked of his wap, to turne from it, if he do not turne from his wap, he shall dpe foꝛ his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thp soule.

10 Therefoꝛe, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus pe speake and sap, If our transgressions and our sinnes be upon us, and we are consumed because of them, [e] how should we then liue?

e Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies and murmure.

11 Sap vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, [f] I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his wap and liue: turne pou, turne pou from pour euill wapes, foꝛ whp will pe dpe, O pe house of Israel?

f Read Chap. 18.23.

12 Therefoꝛe thou sonne of man, sap vnto the children of thp people, The [g] righteousnes of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the dap of his transgression, noꝛ the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the dap that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue foꝛ his righteousnesse in the dap that he sinneth.

g Read of this righteousnes, Chap. 18.21, 24.

13 When I shall sap vnto the righteous, that he shall surelp liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnesse, & commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shalbe no moꝛe remembred, but foꝛ his iniquitie that he hath committed, hee shall dpe foꝛ the same.

14 Againe when I shal sap vnto the wicked, Thou shalt dpe þ death, if he turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and [h] right, h Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednes, and yet declare not themselues such by their fruites, that is, in obeying Gods commandements & by godly life.

15 To wit, if the wicked reſtoꝛe the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, hee shall surelp liue, and not dpe.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed, shalbe mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawfull and right, he shall surelp liue.

17 Pet the children of thp people sape, * The wap of the Lord is not equal: but their owne wap is unequal. Chap. 18.25.

18 When þ righteous turneth from his righteousneſſe, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen dpe therebp.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue therebp.

20 Pet pe sap, The wap of the Lord is not equal. O pe house of Israel, I will iudge pou euerp one after his wapes.

21 Also in the twelfth pere of [i] our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto mee, and said, The citie is smitten.

i When the Prophet was led away captiue with Ieconiah.

22 Now the [k] hand of the Lord had bene vpon mee in the euening afoꝛe hee that had escaped, came, and had opened mp mouth, until he came to me in the moꝛning: and when hee had opened mp [l] mouth, I was no moꝛe dumme.

k I was indued with the Spirit of prophecie, Chap. 8.2.

l Whereby is signified that the ministers of God cãnot speake till God giue them courage & open their mouthes, Chap. 24. 27. and 29.21. Ephe. 6.19.

23 Againe the woꝛd of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the lande of Israel, talke and sap, [m] Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the lande: but we are manp, therefoꝛe the lande shalbe giuen vs in possession.

m Thus the wicked thinke themselues moꝛe worthy to enioy Gods promes then the Saints of God, to whom they were made: and would binde God to be subiect to them, though they would not be bound to him.

25 Wherefoꝛe sap vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Pe eate with the [n] blood, & lift up pour eyes toward pour idoles, and shead blood: should pe then possesse the land?

n Contrary to the Lawe, Leuit. 17.10.

26 Pe leane upon pour * swoꝛdes: pe woꝛke abomination, and pe defile euerp one his neighbours wife: should pe then possesse the land?

27 Sap thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surelp they that are in the desolate places, shal fal bp the swoꝛd: & him that is in the open fielde, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the foꝛtes and in the caues, shall dpe of the pestilence.

28 Foꝛ I will lap the lande desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through.

o As they that are ready still to shead blood. Chap. 7.24. & 24. 21. & 30.6,7.

29 Then shall they knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue layd the land desolate & waste, because of all their abominations, that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thp people that [p] talke of thée bp the walles and in the doꝛes of houses, and speake one to another, euerp one to his bpother, saping, Come, I prap pou, and heare what is the woꝛd that commeth from the Lord.

p In derision.

31 Foꝛ they come vnto thée, as the people vseth to come: and mp people sit befoꝛe thee, and heare thp woꝛdes, but they will not doe them: foꝛ with their mouthes

q This declareth that wee ought to heare Gods worde with such zeale and affection that we shuld in al points obey it, els we abuse the word to our owne condemnation, and make of his ministers as though they were iests to serue mens fooliſh fantaſies. [1] Or, pleaſant, and lone ſong.

32 And lo, thou art vnto thē, as a [1] ieſting ſong of one that hath a pleaſant voice, & can ſing well: for they heare thy woꝛdes, but they doe them not.
33 And when this commeth to paſſe (for lo, it will come) then ſhall they knowe, that a Prophet hath bin among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Againſt the ſhepheards that deſpiſed the flocke of Chriſt, and ſeeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord ſaith that he wil viſite his diſperſed flocke, & gather them together. 23 He promiſeth the true ſhepheard Chriſt, and with him peace.

1 AND the woꝛde of the Loꝛde came vnto me, ſaying,
2 Some of man, pꝛophecie againſt the ſhepheꝛdes of Iſrael, pꝛophecie and ſay vnto thē, Thus ſaith the Loꝛd God vnto the ſhepheꝛdes, * Woe be vnto the [a] ſhepheꝛdes of Iſrael, that feede themſelues: ſhould not the ſhepheꝛdes feede the flockes?
3 Ye eate the [b] fat, & ye clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the ſheepe.
4 The [c] weake haue ye not ſtrengthned: ꝓ ſicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, noꝛ bꝛought againe that which was dꝛiuen awaye, neither haue ye ſought that which was loſt, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.
5 And they were ſcattered without a ſhepheꝛde: and when they were diſperſed, they were [d] deuoured of all ꝓ beaſts of the fielde.
6 My ſheepe wandred thꝛough all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was ſcattered thꝛough all the earth, & none did ſeeke oꝛ ſearche after them.
7 Therefoꝛe ye ſhepheꝛds, heare ꝓ woꝛde of the Loꝛd.
8 As I liue, ſaith the Loꝛde God, ſurely becauſe my flocke was ſpoyled, and my ſheepe were deuoured of all the beaſtes of the field, hauing no ſhepheꝛd, neither did my ſhepheꝛdes ſeeke my ſheepe, but the ſhepheꝛdes fed themſelues, and fed not my ſheepe, 9 Therefoꝛe, heare ye the woꝛde of the Loꝛd, O ye ſhepheꝛdes.
10 Thus ſaith the Loꝛd God, Behoꝛde, I come againſt the ſhepheꝛds, and will require my ſheepe at their hands, & cauſe them to ceaſe from feeding the ſheepe: neither ſhall the ſhepheꝛds feede themſelues any moꝛe: foꝛ I will deliuer my ſheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they ſhall no moꝛe deuoure them.
11 Foꝛ thus ſaith the Loꝛd God, Behoꝛde, I will ſearch my ſheep, & ſeeke them out.
12 As a ſhepheꝛd ſeaꝛcheth out his flock, when hee hath bene among his ſheepe that are ſcattered, ſo will I ſeeke out my ſheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene ſcattered in [f] the cloudie and darke day,
13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from ꝓ countreis, and will bring them to their own lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, by the riuers, and in al the inhabited places of the countrey.
14 I will feede them in a good paſture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Iſrael ſhal their folde be: there ſhall they lye in a good folde, and in fatte paſture ſhall they feede vpon ꝓ moũtaines of Iſrael.
15 I will feede my ſheepe, & bring them to their reſt, ſaith the Loꝛd God.
16 I will ſeeke that which was loſt, and bring againe ꝓ which was driue awap, and will binde vp that which was broken, & will ſtrengthen the weake, but I will deſtroy the fat and the [g] ſtrong, and I will feede them with [h] iudgement.
17 Alſo you my ſheepe, Thus ſayth the Loꝛde God, behoꝛde, I iudge betweene ſheepe, and ſheepe, betweene ꝓ rammes and the goates.
18 Seemeth it a ſmall thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good [i] paſture, but ye muſt treade downe with your feete the reſidue of your paſture? and to haue dꝛunke of ꝓ deepe waters, but ye muſt trouble the reſidue with your feete?
19 And my ſheepe eate ꝓ which ye haue troden with your feete, and dꝛinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete.
20 Therefoꝛe thus ſaith the Loꝛde God vnto them, Behoꝛde, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat ſheepe and the leane ſheepe.
21 Becauſe ye haue thruſt with ſide and with ſhoulder, and puſht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue ſcattered them abroade, 22 Therefoꝛe will I helpe my ſheepe, and they ſhal no moꝛe be ſpoyled, and I will iudge betweene ſheepe and ſheepe.
23 And I will ſet vp a ſhepheaꝛde ouer them, & he ſhal feede them, euen my ſeruant [k] Dauid, hee ſhall feede them, and he ſhalbe their ſhepheard.
24 And I the Loꝛde will be their God, & my ſeruant Dauid ſhalbe the prince among them. I the Loꝛd haue ſpoken it.
25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cauſe the euill beaſtes to ceaſe out of the lande: & they ſhall [l] dwell ſafely in the wildeꝛneſſe, and ſleepe in the woods.
26 And I will ſet them, as a bleſſing, euen round about my mountaine: & I will cauſe raine to come downe in due ſeaſon, and there ſhalbe raine of bleſſing.
27 And the [m] tree of the fielde ſhall yeelde her fruite, and the earth ſhall giue her fruite, & they ſhalbe ſafe in their lande, and ſhall knowe that I am the Loꝛde, when I haue bꝛoken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of thoſe that ſerued themſelues of them.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

1 MOreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount a Seir, and prophecie against it, a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, O mount Seir, I come against thee, & I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I wil make thee desolate and waste.

4 I wil lay thy cities waste, & thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lorde.

b When by their punishment I called them from their iniquitie.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred and hast put the children of Israel to slight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their b iniquitie had an ende, c Except thou repent thy former cruelties.

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lorde God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, & blood shal pursue thee: except thou c hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

d To wit, to their former estate.

7 Thus wil I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

e Meaning Israel and Iudah.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleys and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slayne with the sworde.

f And so by fighting against gods people, they should goe about to put him out of his owne possession.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not d returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

10 Because thou hast saide, e These two nations, and these two countreys shall be mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was f there)

h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care ouer them and so praise his Name: and also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they feele his hand to their destructiō, 11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I wil euen do according to thy wrath, & according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I wil make my self knowen among g them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They lye waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, & haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus sayth the Lord God, So shall al the worlde reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Hee promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles.
22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deserrings. 26 God renueth our hearts, that wee may walke in his commandements.

A Lso thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the a mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lorde. Chap.6.2.

2 Thus saith the Lorde God, Because the b enemie hath said against you, Aha, euen the c hie places of the worlde are ours in possession, a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of al the worlde.

3 Therefore prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, & swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possessiō vnto the residue of the heathen, & ye are come vnto the lips & d tongues of men, & vnto the reproch of the people, c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the worlde.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are rounde about.

5 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoke against the residue of the heathen, & against al Idumea, which e haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of al their heart, and with despite full mindes to cast it out for a pray.

d They appointed with them selues to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchad-nezzar against Ierusalē for this purpose.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the lande of Israel, & say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the f shame of the heathen.

e Because you haue bene a laughing stocke vnto them.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I haue g lifted vp mine hande, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

f By making a solemne othe, read Chap.20.5.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall h shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are readie to come.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnes toward his Church, who still preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

9 For beholde, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiplie vpon you man and and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruite, & I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then h at the first, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon i you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse i you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shal no more henceforth deprive them of men.

13 Thus saieth the Lorde God, Because they say vnto you, Thou k lande deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neyther waste thy people henceforth, saieth the Lord God, 15 Neyther will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neyther shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, & by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthines of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countreyes: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 * And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holie Name, when they sayde of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holie l Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saieth the Lorde God, I do not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine m holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, saieth the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before i their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of al countreys, & will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane n water vpon you, and ye shalbe cleane: yea, from all your filthines, & from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 * A newe heart also will I giue you, & a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my Spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shal kepe my iudgements and do them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the lande, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shalbe my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthines, & I will call for o corne, & will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fielde, that ye shal beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, & shall iudge your selues woorthie to haue bene p destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shal haue clensed you from al your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe buylded.

34 And the desolate lande shall be tilled, whereas it laye waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they sayd, This waste lande was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall q knowe that I the Lord buyld the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will do it.

37 Thus saith the Lorde God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will encrease them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, & they shal know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

He prophecieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

1 The hande of the Lorde was vpon * me, and carped me out in the Spirite of the Lorde, and set me downe in the middes of the r fielde, which was full of s bones.

2 And he led me rounde about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and lo, they were very drie.

3 And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, life to the dead bones, and bodies, and raise them vp againe.

k This the enemies imputed as the reproche of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

Isa.52.5. rom.2.24.

l And therefore I would not suffer my Name to be had in cõtempt, as the heathen would haue reproched me, if I had suffred my Church to perish

m This excludeth from man all dignitie, and mean to deserue any thing by, seeing that God referreth y whole to himselfe, and that onely for the glorie of his holy Name.

s He sheweth by a greater miracle, that God hath power, and also will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in asmuch as he is able to giue can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Againe he said vnto mee, Prophecie vpon these bones & say vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lorde.

5 Thus saith the Lorde God vnto these bones, Beholde, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shal liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, & the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lorde God, Come from the foure [b] windes, O breath, & breathe vpon these slayne, that they may liue.

b Signifying, all partes whereas § Israelites were scattered: that is, the faithfull shal be brought to the same vnitie of spirite, and doctrine, where-soeuer they are scattered thorow the world.

10 So I prophecied as he had cõmanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Beholde, they say, Our bones are dryed, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, & cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the lande of Israel, c That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, & townes where you are captiues.

13 And ye shal know that I am the Lord, [c] when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres, 14 And shall put my Spirite in you, & ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then ye shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take [d] another piece of wood, & write vpon it, Vnto Joseph the tree of Ephraim, and to al the house of Israel his companions.

d Which signifieth the ioyning together of the two houses of Israel, and Iudah.

17 And ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shal speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the tree [e] of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

e That is, the house of Israel.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shall be in thine hande, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one king shall be king to them all: & they shalbe no more two peoples, neither be deuided any more hereafter into two kingdomes. Iohn 10. 16.

23 Neyther shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I wil saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so shal they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my * seruant shalbe king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and do them. Isa. 40. 11. Ier. 23. 5 chap. 34. 23. dan. 9. 24.

25 And they shall dwell in the [f] land, that I haue giuē vnto Jaakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, & they shall dwell therein, euen they, and their sonnes, & their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

f Meaning, that the elect by Christ shal dwell in the heauenly Ierusalē, which is meant by the land of Canaan.

26 Moreouer, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuarie among them for euermore. Psal. 109 4. & 116. 2.

27 My tabernacle also shalbe with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shalbe my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lorde doe sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 He prophecieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

1 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against [a] Gog and against the lande of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech & Tubal, & prophecie against him, a Which was a people § came of Magog the sonne of Iaphet, Gen. 10. 2. Magog also here signifieth a certain countrey, so that by these two countries, which had the gouernment of Grecia and Italie, he meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Reuel. 20. 8.

3 And say, Thus saieth the Lorde God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe Prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hookes in thy chawes, and I will bring thee

b He sheweth that the enemies should bend thē selues against ỹ Church, but it shuld be to their owne destructiō.

thee forth, and all thine host, both horses and horsemen, al clothed with all sortes of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers, and shieldes, all b handling swordes.

c The Persians, Ethiopians, and men of Aphrica.

5 Chep of c Paras, of Cush, & Put with them, euen all chep that beare shield and helmet.

d Gomer was Iaphets sonne, & Togarmah the sonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Asia minor.

6 d Gomer and all his bandes, and the house of Togarmah of ỹ North quarters, and all his bandes, and much people with thee.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world shoulde assemble themselues against ỹ Church and Christ their head.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and e make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

8 After many daies thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the lande, that hath bene destroyed with the swoorde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet f they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

Or, it: meaning, the land of Israel.

f That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

9 Thou shalt ascende and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the lande, both thou, & all thy bandes, and many people with thee.

g Meaning, Israel which had now bin destroied, & was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seke not so much to fortifie themselues by outward force, as to depend on ỹ prouidence & goodnesse of God.

10 Thus saith the Lorde God, Euen at the same time shall many thinges come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke g euill thoughtes.

h One enimy shal enuy another be cause euery one shall thinke to haue ỹ spoile of the Church.

11 And thou shalt say, I will go vp to the lande that hath no walled townes: & I will go to the that are at rest, & dwel in safety, which dwel al without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, i Shalt not thou spie thine occasions to come against my church when they suspect nothing?

12 Thinking to spoile the praye, & to take a bootie, to turne thine hande vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattel and goods & dwel in the middes of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and ỹ marchants of Tarshish with all the lyons thereof shall say vnto thee, h Art thou come to spoile the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to carp awap siluer and golde, to take awaye cattell and goodes, and to spoile a great praye?

k Meaning, in ỹ last age, & from the comming of Christ vnto the end of the world I Signifiyng, that God will be sanctified by maintei ning his Church, & destroying his enemies, as chap 36.23. & 37.28.

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, & say vnto Gog, Thus saith ỹ Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel i dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou & much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the k latter daies, and I will bring thee vpon my lande that the heathen may know me, when I shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lorde God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in old time by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the lande of Israel, saith the Lorde God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So ỹ fishes of the sea, & the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the field and al that moeue and creepe vpon the earth, and al the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, & the l staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the grounde.

l All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe shal faile, the affliction in those dayes shalbe so great, & the enemies destruction shalbe so terrible.

21 For I will call for a swoorde against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans swoord shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bandes, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be m magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

m Hereby he declareth ỹ none affliction can come to the Church, wherof they haue not bene aduertised afore time, to teache them to indure all things with more patience when they know that God hath so ordeined

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shalbe deuoured of birdes and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

1 Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destrope thee a and leane but the firt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts and wil bring thee vpon ỹ mountaines of Israel:

a Or, destroy thee with sixe plagues, as Chap. 38.22.

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hande, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou b shalt fal vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bandes, & the people that is with thee: for I wil giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered foule and beast of the fielde to be deuoured.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods worde the enemie shalbe destroyed wherso euer he assayleth his Church.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lorde God.

6 And I will sende a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the c yles, and they shall know that I am the Lorde.

c That is, among al nations where the enemies of my people dwel, seeme they neuer so farre se-

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in ỹ middes of my people Israel, & I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lorde, the holy one of Israel.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsel, and cannot be changed.

8 Beholde, d it is come, and it is done, saith the Lorde God: this is the daye whereof I haue spoken.

e After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquillitie & burne al their weapons because they shal no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefely ment of the accomplishment of Christes kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall e goe forth, and shal burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, & bucklers, vpō the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shal burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shal robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lorde God.

f For the stinke of y carkeises.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog f a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley wherebp men goe towarde the East part of the Sea: and it shall cause them that passe bp, to stoppe their f noses, and there shall they burp Gog with all his multitude: & they shal call it the valley of g Hamon-Gog.

*Or, of the multitude of Gog.

g Meaning, a long time.

12 h And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burping of the, that they may clense the land.

13 Yea, al the people of the land shal burp them, and they shal haue a name when I shalbe glorified, saith the Lorde God.

h Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for y compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies

14 And they shal chuse out men to go continually throughe the i lande with them that trauaile, to burie those p remaine vpon the grounde, & clense it: they shal searche to the ende of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that passe throughe the lande, if any see a mans bone, then shal he set vp a signe bp it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be k Hamonah: thus shall they clense the lande.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for y compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies

*Or, multitude.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lorde God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to al the beastes of the fielde, Assemble your selues, and come: k gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, & drinke blood.

k Whereby hee signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

18 Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of p lambes, and of the goates, & of bullocks, euen of all fat beastes of Bashan.

19 And ye shal eate fat til you be full, and drinke blood, til ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus ye shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I wil set my glory among the heathen, and al the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hande, which I haue laied vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shal know, that I am the Lorde their God frō that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for l their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, & gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the swoorde.

l The heathen shall knowe that they ouercame not my people by their strēgth, neither yet by the weakenes of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

24 According to their vncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face frō them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Now wil I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy name, 26 After p they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, wherby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their lande, & without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, & gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am m sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

*Chap. 36. 23.

28 Then shal they knowe, that I am the Lorde their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

1 In the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie in the a beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of p moneth, in p fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sortes: for their feastes they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstand of September.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me bp b a diuine vision, and set me vpon a verp hie mountaine, whereupō was as the building of a citie, towarde the South.

*Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, & beholde, there was a c man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a line of thread in his hande, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this building.

4 And the man saide vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eies, and heare with thine eares, & set thine heart vpon all that I shall shewe thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite and an hand bredth: so he measured the bredth of the buylding with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh towarde the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the [a] poste of the gate, which was one reede broade, and [b] the other post of the gate, which was one reede broade.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reede broade, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the post of the gate by the porche of ꝑ gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the porch of ꝑ gate of eight cubites, and the [c] posts thereof, of two cubites, & the porche of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastwarde, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate tenne cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, & the chambers were sixe cubites on this side & sixe cubites on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the roofe of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 He made also posters of threescore cubites, & the posts of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: & the windowes went round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he me into the outward court, & loe, there were chambers, & a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eastwarde and Northward.

20 And ꝑ gate of the outward court, that looked towarde the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stoode ouer against the gate toward ꝑ North, and towarde the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and lo, there was a gate towarde the South, and he measured the postes thereof, & the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue & twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: & it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in ꝑ inner court towarde the South, and he measured from gate to gate towarde the South an hundreth cubites.

28 And hee brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, & the posts thereof, & the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it was fiftie cubites long and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

32 ¶ Againe he brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therin, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the posts thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

35 ¶ After, he brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures,

36 The

[a] Or, threshold.
[b] Or, vpper post.
[c] Or, pentises.

36 The chabers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, & there were windowes therein rounde about: the height was fifty cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.
37 And the postes thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, & on that side, and the going vp to it had eyght steppes.
38 And euery chamber, & the entry therof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offring.
39 And in the porche of the gate stoode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slewe the burnt offring, and the sinne offring, and the trespas offring.
40 And at the side beyond the steppes, at the entrie of the North gate stoode two tables, & on the other side, which was at the porche of the gate were two tables.
41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eyght tables whereupon they slewe their sacrifice.
42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broade, and one cubite hie: wherer upon also they layde the instrumentes wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.
43 And within were borders an handē broade, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offring.
44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, & one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect towarde the North.
45 And he sayde vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests that haue charge to keep the house.
46 And the chamber whose prospect is towarde the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar:
these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui which may come nere to the Lord to minister vnto him.
47 So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubites broad euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the House.
48 And he brought mee to the porche of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.
49 The length of the porche was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought mee by the steps whereby they went vp to it, & there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

1 AFterwarde, he brought mee to the Temple, & measured the posts, sixe cubites broad on the one side, & sixe cubites broade on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.
2 And the breadth of the entry was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cu-bites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.
3 Then went he in, and measured the posts of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.
4 So hee measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twen-tie cubites before the Temple. And he sayde vnto mee, This is the most holie place.
5 After, he measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubits round about the house, on euery side.
6 And the chambers were chamber vp-on chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.
7 And it was large and went rounde mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vp-ward, rounde about the house: therefore the house was larger vpwarde: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes.
8 I saw also the house hie rounde about:
the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubites.
9 The thickenes of the wall which was for the chāber without, was fiue cubites, & that which remayned, was the place of the chambers that were within.
10 And betwene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubites rounde about the House on euery side.
11 And the doores of the chambers were towarde the place that remayned, one doore towarde the North, and another doore toward the South, & the breadth of the place that remayned, was fiue cu-bites round about.
12 Nowe the building that was before the separate place towarde the West coyner, was seuentie cubites broade, and the wal of the building was fiue cubits thicke, round about, & the length ninetie cubites.
13 So he measured the house an hundreth cubites long, & the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.
14 Also the breadth of the foorefront of the house and of the separate place towarde the East, was an hundreth cubites.
15 And

15 And he measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, & the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites & the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes & the narowe windowes, & the chambers rounde about, on three sides ouer against þ postes, sieled with cedar wood rounde about, and from the grounde vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house & without, and by all the wal rounde about within & without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims & palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: & euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, & the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house rounde about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue þ doore were Cherubins & palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, & thus to looke vnto was the similitude, and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof & the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he sayd vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims & palme trees, like as was made vpon þ walles, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porche without.

26 And there were narow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porche, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

1 Then brought hee me into the vtter court by the way toward þ North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites was the North doore, and it was fifty cubites abroad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, & ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Nowe the chambers aboue were narower: for those chambers seemed to eat vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the middes of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath & from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fifty cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fifty cubits: and lo, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickenesse of the wall of the court toward þ East, ouer against the separate place, & ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chabers, which were towarde the North as long as they, & as broad as they: and al their entries were like, both according to their facions, & according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chabers that were towarde the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wal toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chabers & the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherin the Priests that approche vnto the Lord, shal eate the most holy things: there shal they lay the most holy things, and the meate offring, and the sinne offring, & the trespasse offring: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth towarde the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rodde, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the North side, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South side fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. [Or, wind.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it on the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broade to make a separation betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to cal them againe to repentance.

1 AFterward hee brought mee to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie.

Chap. 9. 3.

3 And the vision which I sawe was *like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw *when I came to destroy the citie: & the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar: & I fel vpon my face.

a When I propheciedthe destruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

b Which was departed afore, Chap. 10. 4. and 11. 22.

5 So the Spirite tooke me vp & brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glorie of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto mee out of the house: and there stoode a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, where as I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, & the house of Israel shall no more c defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kinges by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of d their Kings in their high places.

c By their idolatries.

d He alludeth to Ammon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens nere the Temple and there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholdes by my thresholds, and their posts by my posts (for there was but a wall betweene me & them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherfore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therfore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, & let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shewe them the forme of the house, & the paterne therof, & the going out thereof, & the comming in thereof, and the whole facion therof, and all the ordinances therof, and all the figures therof, & all the lawes therof: & write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole facion therof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the *description of the house, *Ebr. Law. It shalbe vpon the top of the mount: all the limites thereof round about shal be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an hand breadth, euē the bottome shalbe a cubite, & the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shalbe a spanne: & this shalbe the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shalbe two cubites, and the breadth one cubit, and from the litle piece to the great piece shall be foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be foure cubites, and from the altar vpwarde shall be foure hornes.

16 And the altar shalbe twelue cubits long, and twelue broad, & foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be fourtene cubites long, and fourtene broade in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steppes thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offring thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, and to the Leuites, that be of the seed of Zadok, which approche vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offring.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood therof, & put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border rouid about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sinne offring, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offring, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shal cast salt vpon them, & they shall offer them for a burnt offring vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goate for a sinne offring: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shal they seuen daies purifie the altar, altar, and cleanse it, and * consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offrings vpon the altar, & your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lorde God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Her reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 VVho are to bee admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

1 THen he brought me toward the gate of the outwarde Sanctuarie, which turneth towarde the East, and it was shut.
2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe [a] shut, and shall not be opened, & no man shall enter by it, because ℣ Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shalbe shut.
3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.
4 ¶ Then brought he me the North gate before the House: and when I looked, behold, the glorie of the Lorde filled the house of the Lorde, and I fell vpon my face.
5 And the Lorde said vnto mee, Sonne of man, * marke well, and beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie.
6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue enough of all your abominations,
7 In that ye haue brought into my Sanctuarie [b] strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations.
8 For ye haue not kept the [c] ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie.
9 Thus saith the Lorde God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.
10 Neither yet the [d] Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idoles, but they shal beare their iniquitie.
11 And they shal serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slaye the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.
12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hande against them, saith the Lorde God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.
13 And they shal not come nere vnto me to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come nere vnto any of mine holy thinges in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.
14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.
15 But the Priestes of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that [e] kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come nere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.
16 They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come nere to my table, to serue me, & they shall keepe my charge.
17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.
18 They shall haue linen bonets vpon their heads, & shall haue linen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not girde themselues in the sweating places.
19 But when they go forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, & lay them in the holy chambers, & they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.
20 They shal not also [f] shaue their heads, nor suffer their lockes to grow long, but round their heades.
21 * Neither shall any priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.
22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widowe, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widowe of a Priest.
23 And they shall teache my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.
24 And in controuersie they shal stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.
25 * And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselues, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husbande: in these may they

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are three separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priestes and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heades of Israel. 10 Of iust weightes and measures. 13 Of the first fruites, &c.

1 MOreouer when ye shall deuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lorde an [a] holy portion of the land, fiue & twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the Prince.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth in length with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites rounde about for the suburbes thereof.
3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousande: and in it shalbe the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place.
4 The holy portion of the lande shall be the priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which came nere to serue the Lord: and it shalbe a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.
5 And in the fiue and twentie thousand of length, and ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.
6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broad, & fiue and twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.
7 And a portion shalbe for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West coste Westward, and from the East coste Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.
8 In this land shalbe his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.
9 Thus saith the Lorde God, Let it [b] suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelties and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.
10 Ye shal haue iust balances, and a true [c] Ephah, and a true Bath.
11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer.
12 *And the shekel shalbe twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and [d] fiue & twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.
13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.
14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer)
15 And one lambe of two hundreth shæpe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offring, and for a burnt offring and for peace offrings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.
16 All the people of the lande shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.
17 And it shalbe the princes part to giue burnt offrings, and meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feastes and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel: hee shall prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offring, and the burnt offring, & the peace offrings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.
18 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde God, In the first moneth, in the first day of [e] the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense the Sanctuarie.
19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offring, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure [f] corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the posts of the gate of the inner court.
20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

22 And vpon that daye, ſhall the prince prepare for himſelfe, and for all the people of the lande, a bullocke for a ſinne offring.

23 And in the ſeuen dayes of the feaſt he ſhall make a burnt offring to the Lorde, euen of ſeuen bullocks, and ſeuen rams without blemiſh daily for ſeuen dayes, and an hee goate daily for a ſinne offring.

24 And he ſhal prepare a meat offring of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ram, & an [f] Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29.40.

25 In the ſeuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, ſhal he do the like in the feaſt for ſeuen daies, according to the ſinne offring, according to the burnt offring, & according to the meate offring, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The ſacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe moones. 8 Thorow which dores they muſt go in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

1 THus ſayth the Lorde God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the Eaſt, ſhall be ſhut the ſixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it ſhalbe opened, & in the day of the newe moone it ſhalbe opened.

2 And the prince ſhal enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, & ſhall ſtande by the poſte of the gate, and the Prieſtes ſhall make his burnt offring, and his peace offrings, & he ſhall worſhip at the threſholde of the gate: after, he ſhal go forth, but the gate ſhall not be ſhut till the euening.

3 Likewiſe the people of the lande ſhall worſhip at the entry of this gate before the Lorde on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince ſhal offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, ſhalbe ſixe lambs without blemiſh, and a ramme without blemiſh.

5 And the meat offring ſhalbe an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offring for the lambes [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the new moone it ſhal be a yong bullocke without blemiſhe, & ſixe lambes and a ramme: they ſhall be without blemiſh.

7 And hee ſhall prepare a meat offring, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand ſhal bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he ſhall thinke good.

8 And when the prince ſhal enter, he ſhall goe in by the wape of the porche of that gate, and he ſhall goe forth by the wape thereof.

9 But when the people of the lande ſhall come before the Lorde in the ſolemne feaſtes, he that entreth in by the wap of the North gate to worſhip, ſhall go out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entreth by the wape of the South gate, ſhall goe forth by the wap of the North gate: he ſhall not returne by the wap of the gate wherby he came in, but they ſhall go forth ouer againſt it.

10 And the prince ſhall be in the middes of them: he ſhall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they ſhall go forth together.

11 And in the feaſtes, & in the ſolemnities the meate offring ſhalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the Prince ſhall make a free burnt offring or peaceoffrings freely vnto the Lorde, one ſhall then open him the gate, that turneth towards the Eaſt, and hee ſhall make his burnt offring and his peace offrings, as hee did on the Sabbath day: after, he ſhall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one ſhall ſhut the gate.

13 Thou ſhalt daily make a burnt offring vnto the Lorde of a lambe of one yeere without blemiſh: thou ſhalt do it euery morning.

14 And thou ſhalt prepare a meat offring for it euery morning, the ſixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: this meate offring ſhall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus ſhal they prepare the lambe, and the meate offring & the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offring.

16 ¶ Thus ſayth the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his ſonnes, it ſhall be his ſonnes, and it ſhalbe their poſſeſſion by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his ſeruants, then it ſhalbe his to the [c] yere of libertie: after, it ſhall returne to the prince, but his inheritance ſhall remaine to his ſonnes for them.

c Which was at the Jubile, Leuit. 25.9.

18 Moreouer the prince ſhal not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thruſt them out of their poſſeſſion: but he ſhall cauſe his ſonnes to inherite of his owne poſſeſſion, that my people be not ſcattered euery man from his poſſeſſion.

d But be contēt with that portiō that God hath aſsigned him, as Chap 45.8.

19 ¶ After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the ſide of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Prieſtes, which ſtoode towarde the North: and beholde, there was a place at the Weſt ſide of them.

20 Then ſayde he vnto mee, This is the place where the Prieſtes ſhall ſethe the treſpaſſe offering and the ſinne offring, where they ſhall bake the meate offring, that they ſhould not beare them into the vtter courte, [e] to ſanctifie the people.

e That the people ſhould not haue to do with thoſe things which appertein to ſ Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then hee brought mee forth into the vtter court, and cauſed me to go by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courtes ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirty broade: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wal about them, euen about those four, & kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the lande of promis, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

1 AFterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and behold, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastwarde: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ran downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out towarde the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastwarde: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hande, went forth Eastwarde, hee measured a thousande cubites, and hee brought mee through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousande, and brought mee through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousande, and brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, & it was a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought mee, and caused mee to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out towarde the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

9 And euery thing that lineth, which moueth, where soeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fishe, because these waters shal come thither: for they shalbe wholsome, and euery thing shal liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shal stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglaim, they shal spread out their nettes: for their fishe shall be according to their kindes, as the fishe of [b] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places therof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholsome: they shall be made salt pittes.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brink therof, on this side, & on that side shal grow all [g] fruite full trees, whose leafe shal not fade, neither shal the fruit thereof faile: it shal bring forth new fruite according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruite therof shalbe meate, and the leafe thereof shalbe for [h] medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shal be the border, whereby yee shall inherite the lande according to the twelue tribes [k] of Israel: Ioseph shal haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as wel as another: [l] concerning the which I lift vp mine hande to giue it vnto your fathers, and this lande shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border [k] of the land toward the North side, from the maine sea towarde Hethlon as men go to Tsedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, & the border of Hamath, & Hazar, Hattricon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall bee Hazar, Enan, & the border of Damascus, & the residue of the North, Northward, & the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But [m] East side shal ye measure from Hauran, & from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the lande of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shalbe the East part.

19 And the Southside shalbe toward Teman frō Tamar to the waters of [n] Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West parte also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall bee the West part.

21 So shal ye deuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shal deuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the country among the children of Israel, [l] they shall part inheritance with you in the midst of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall yee giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lottes of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie and of the Prince are reherced.

NOwe these are the names of the [a] tribes. From the North side, to the coast towarde Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, & the border a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Christ.

b Signifying that the graces of God should neuer decrease but euer abound in his Church.

c Meaning, the multitude of thē that should be refreshed by the spiritual waters.

d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great that all ỹ world should be full thereof, which is here meant by ỹ Persian sea or Genezareth, & the sea called Mediterraneum Zech. 14.8.

e The waters which of nature are salt & vnholsome, shalbe made sweete, and comfortable.

f Signifying that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundāce, ỹ ministers shall by their preaching winne many.

g Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.

h They shalbe here of al sortes, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred.

i That is, the wicked and reprobate.

a The tribes after ỹ they entred into the lād vnder Iosua, diuided ỹ land somewhat otherwise then is here set forth by this vision.

b Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betwene Iewe nor Gētile, but ỹ all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

b By the land of promes he signifieth the spirituall land wherof this was a figure.

border of Damascus Northwarde the coast of Hamath, euen from þ East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the Westside, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah from the East part vnto the West part [b] shall be the offring which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousand reedes broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lorde, shalbe of fiue & twentie thousande long, and of ten thousande the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward þ North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broad, & toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue & twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shalbe in the middes thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priestes that are sanctified of the sonnes of [a] Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priestes, the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shalbe fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth & foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth & foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbes of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the East two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease thereof shalbe for foode vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shalbe fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shall be in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shall be the princes: betweene the border [e] of Judah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shalbe the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at þ South side, toward [f] Temath, the border shall be euen from [g] Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the land, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, & one gate of Leui.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be deuided into three partes: for the priestes, for the prince and for the citie.

Chap. 44. 15.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

d Euery way it shalbe fiue and twenty thousand.

e So that Judah was on þ North side of the Princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on the South side.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Iericho the citie of palme trees.

h Meaning, Nilus that runneth into the Sea called Mediterraneum.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and three gates, euen one gate of Joseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.
33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.
34 At the West side, fiue hundreth and foure thousande, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.
35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shall be, "The Lorde is there.

DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most lively here set foorth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but nowe in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, & Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last ende of the worlde, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine nomber of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder ỹ crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offred, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntil the dead rise againe, and Christ gather vs into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the kings ordinarie appointed. 8 But they abstaine from it.

a Read 2. Kings 24.1. & iere. 25.1.
b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.
c Who was as master of the wardes.
d He calleth them Eunuches whome the king nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreis afterward.
e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouerners in their lande: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men. f The king required three thinges, that they shoulde be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, and that they shoulde be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy praise, that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by.

1 IN the a third peere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezar, king of Babel vnto Ierusalem, and beleeged it.
2 And ỹ Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the lande of b Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.
3 And the king spake vnto c Ashpenaz the master of his d Eunuches, that hee shoulde bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the e kings seede, and of the princes:
4 Children in whome was no blemish, but well f fauoured, and instruct in all wisdome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the g learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.
5 And the king appointed them prouision euery day of a h portion of the kings meate, & of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing them three yeere, that at the ende thereof, they might stand before the king.
6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.
7 Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches i gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.
8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, ỹ he would not k defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches ỹ he might not defile himselfe.
9 (Nowe God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey facions, to serue him ỹ better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused ỹ abuse of things and superstition, in somuch that he would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of natural things.
h That by their good entertainement they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people. i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, & also their tongue. k As wel to serue at the table, as in other offices. l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist. m Not that hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward hee did eate) but because the king should not entise him by this sweete poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke hee might daily remember of what people hee was: and Daniel brought this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches ſayde vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he ſee your faces worſe liking then the other children, which are of your ſort, then ſhall you make mee loſe mine head vnto the king.

11 Then ſaid Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had ſet ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy ſeruants, I beſeeche thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulſe to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou ſeeſt, deale with thy ſeruants.

14 So he conſented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of tenne dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the children, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they ſhould drinke, and gaue them pulſe.

17 As for theſe foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderſtanding in all learning and wiſedome: alſo he gaue Daniel vnderſtanding of all viſions and dreames.

18 Nowe when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was founde none like Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah: therefore ſtoode they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wiſedome, and vnderſtanding that the king enquired of them, he founde them ten times better then all the inchanters and aſtrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the firſt yeere of king Cyrus.

n He ſuppoſed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he repreſenteth them, which are of no religion for neither hee would condemne theirs nor maintayne his owne.

o Meaning, that within this ſpace he might haue the tryall, and that no man ſhould be able to diſcerne it: and thus he ſpake, being moued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate deintie meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they ſhould haue hereby bene wonne to the King and haue refuſed their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accurſed.

q This bare feeding and that alſo of Moſes, when he fledde from the court of Egypt, declareth that wee muſt liue in ſuch ſobrietie as God doth call vs vnto, ſeeing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deintie: for his bleſſing onely ſufficeth. "Bbl. after in flesh.

r Meaning, in the liberall ſciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18.11.

ſ So that he onely was a Prophet and none of the others for by dreames and viſions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12.6.

t Of the three veeres aboue mentioned, verſe 5.

u That is, he was eſteemed in Babylon as a Prophet, ſo long as that common wealth ſtoode.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wiſe men of Babylon to be ſlaine because they could not interpret his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to ſolute the queſtion. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king and ſheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlaſting kingdome of Chriſt.

AND in the ſ ſeconde yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his ſpirit was troubled, and his ſleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the aſtrologians, and the ſorcerers, and the Caldeans for to ſhewe the king his dreames: ſo they came and ſtoode before the king.

3 And the king ſaide vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my ſpirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then ſpake the Caldeans to the king in the Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: shewe thy ſeruants the dreame, and we ſhall ſhewe the interpretation.

5 And the king answered and ſaide to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderſtand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye ſhalbe drawen in peeces, and your houſes ſhalbe made a iakes.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye ſhall receiue of me gifts and rewardes, and great honour: therefore ſhew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and ſaide, Let the king ſhew his ſeruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered, and ſaide, I know certainely that ye would gaine the time, becauſe ye ſee the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt words, to ſpeake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the king, and ſaid, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kinges matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lorde that aſked ſuch things at an inchanter or aſtrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whoſe dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cauſe the king was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to deſtroy all the wiſe men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when ſentence was giuen, the wiſe men were ſlayne: and they

a The father and the ſonne were both called by this name: ſo that this is meant of the ſonne, when he reigned alone: for hee reigned alſo after a ſort with his father.

b Not that he had many dreames, but becauſe many matters were contained in this dreame.

c Becauſe it was ſo rare and ſtrange a dreame that hee had not had the like.

d He was ſo beſotted with ſleepe that he began to ſleepe againe. Some reade and his ſleepe was broken from him.

e For all theſe Aſtrologers and ſorcerers called themſelues by this name of honour, as though all the wiſedome and knowledge of the country depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voide of the ſame.

m Meaning, power to interprete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that hee had respect to equitie because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering, if their science were lawfull or no.

sought Daniel and his fellowes to bee put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the kinges [i] chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the kinges captaine, Why is the sentence so haste from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leasure, & that he would shewe the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secrete reuelled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praysed the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, [k] The Name of GOD bee praysed for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his,

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete thinges: hee knoweth what is in the darkenes, and the [l] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and saide thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue founde a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and saide, The secrete which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king,

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shalbe in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this,

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughtes came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee, what shall come.

30 As [p] for me, this secrete is not shewed me for any wisdome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but only to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughtes of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, & the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was [p] yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the summer floores, and the winde caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kinges: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, & strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the fielde, and the fowles of the heauen hath he giuen into thine handes, & hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of golde.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, [s] inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another [t] third kingdom shalbe of brasse, which shal beare rule ouer all the earth.

o He affirmeth that man by reason, & arte is not able to atteine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king & apt to receiue & a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that hee might be & more hie mysteries, that should be reuealed.

p Because he had saide & God onely must reueile the signification of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interprete it, & therfore he sheweth, & he was but Gods minister, and had no giftes, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By gold, siluer, brasse, and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian, and Romane kingdom, which should succeslue ly rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions shoulde not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they shoulde patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth monarchie.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdome of the Assyrians which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a monarchie and general empire, and also because he would declare the thinges that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome & golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, & yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, & Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, and riches, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and al kind of vice: shewing, that the world should grow worse, & worse, til it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shalbe of brasse, not alluding to the hardnes thereof, but to the vilenesse in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shal subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were deuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians & Egyptians.

x They shal haue ciuill warres and continuall discordes among themselues.

y They shal by mariages, and affinities thinke to make themselues strong: yet shal they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shewe, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by mã, whose kingdome at the beginning should be smal, & without beautie to mans iudgemẽt, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse. 35. And this kingdome, which is not only referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, & to euery member therof, shalbe eternal for the spirite that is in them, is life eternal, Rom. 8. 10.

40 And the fourth kingdom shalbe strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, & as yron bursteth all these thinges, so shal it breake in pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete & toes, part of potters clape, and part of yron: the kingdom shalbe deuided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clap, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were parte of yron, and part of clape, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly brokẽ.

43 And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clap & earth, they shal mingle thẽselues with y the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron can not be mixed with clap.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which a shall neuer be destroyed: & this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shal breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stande for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the a stone was cut off the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clape, the siluer & the golde: so the great God hath shewed the king, what shal come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation therof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and b bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, & commanded that they should offer meate offrings, and sweete odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and sayde, I knowe of a truth that your c God is A God of gods, and the Lorde of kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So d king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great d giftes. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel e made request to the king, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the 3 His purpose is to shewe, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

4 Then an heralde cryed alowde, Be it knowen to you, O people, d nations, & languages,

5 That when ye heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instrumentes of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshipeth, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fiery fornace.

7 Therfore assone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, & all instrumentes of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason wherof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

prouinces of Babel: but Daniel sate in e Meaning, that either he was a iudge, or that he had the whole authority, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

The King setteth vp a golden image. 3 Constant are accused, because they despised the Kings commandement, & are put into a burning ouen. 23 By behold in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made a an image of golde, whose heyght was threescore cubits, & the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the playne of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

a Vnder pretence of religion & honestie in making an image to his idole Bel, hee sought his owne ambition and vayne glory: and this declareth, that he was not touched with y true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome with y greatnes of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eyghteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare the king feared lest the Iewes by their religion should haue alienated the state of his common wealth, & therefore he meant to bring all to one kind of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnes, then Gods glory.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the vayne glorye and receyuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c king had set vp.

b Shewing, that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and customes are receiued and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receyuers, the counsellers, the officers, & all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: & they stoode before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two dangerous weapons where with Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, & the cruelnes of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednes, astonied them: and here the king required not an inward cõsent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by litle & litle learne to forget their true religion.

c It seemeth, ỹ they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauor, thinking if these three had bene, destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: & this declareth that this policie of erecting the ymage, was inuēted by the malicious flatterers, which soughte nothing but the destructiō of the Iewes, whome they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

d Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

e For thei should haue done iniury to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

f They ground on two poyntes, first on the power & prouidence of God ouer thē, & secōdly on their cause, which was Gods glory, & the testifying of his true religion, with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly cōsent to idolatrie.

g This declareth that the more ỹ tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishmentes, the more is God glorified by his seruantes to whome he giueth patience and constancie to abide the cruelte of their punishment: for either he deliuereth them from death, or else for this life giueth them a better.

9 For they spake and said to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.
10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shal heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image,
11 And whosoeuer falleth not down, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the middes of an hote fire fornace, 12 There are certeine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neyther will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.
13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his angre & wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.
14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp?
15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instrumentes of musike, to fall downe and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shalbe cast immediatly into the midst of an hote fire fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of myne handes?
16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and spake to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not careful to answere thee in this matter.
17 Beholde, our God whom we serue, is able to deliuer vs from the hote fire fornace, & he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.
18 But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O king, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worshippe the golden image, which thou hast set vp.
19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.
20 And he charged the most valiant men of war that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, & to cast them into the hote fire fornace.
21 So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen, & their clokes, with their other garmentes, and cast into the middes of the hote fire fornace.
22 Therefore, because the kinges commandement was strait, ỹ the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego.
23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, Abednego fel downe bound into the middes of the hote fire fornace.
24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar ỹ king was astonied & rose vp in haste, & spake, and sayde vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bounde into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.
25 And he answered, and sayde, Lo, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, & the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God.
26 Then ỹ king Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fire fornace, & spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, Abednego, the seruantes of the hye God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.
27 Then the nobles, pulers and dukes, and the kinges counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heare of their head was burnt, neyther were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.
28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, m Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruantes, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yelded their bodies rather then they would serue nor worshippe any god, saue their owne God.
29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation & language, which speake any n blasphemie against the GOD of Shadrach, Meshach & Abednego, shall be drawen in pieces, and their houses shalbe made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.
30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach & Abednego in the prouince of Babel.
31 Nebuchad-nezzar king vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell vpon all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you.
32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hye God hath wrought toward me.
33 Howe great are his signes, and howe mightie are his wonders! ỹ his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellēcie: therefore the king called this Angel, whō God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.
l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, ỹ they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, til the time was appointed, as Noah remayned in the Arke till ỹ Lord called him forth.
m He was moued by ỹ greatnes of ỹ miracle to praise god, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert mē to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, wout the which there can be no faith.
n If this heathē king mooued by Gods Spirite, would not see blasphemy vnpunished, but made a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought all they ỹ professe religion, take order that such impietie reygne not, least according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.
o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extēded.

CHAP. IIII.

Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proude king he shoulde become as a beast. 31 After, he confesseth the power of God & is restored to his former dignitie.

1 ¶ Nebu-

1 Nebuchad-nezzar being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,
2 Sawe a b dreame, which made mee afraid, and the thoughtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled mee.
3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wisemen of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto mee the interpretation of the dreame.
4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but c they coulde not shewe me the interpretation thereof,
5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was d Beltesthazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,
6 O Beltesthazzar, e chiefe of the enchanters, because I knowe, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.
7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I sawe a f tree in the middes of the earth and the height thereof was great:
8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth.
9 The boughes thereof were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fedde of it.
10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a g watchman & an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloude, and sayde thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, & scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.
12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse bind it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it bee wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the fielde.
13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beastes heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.
14 i The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holie ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer hee will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.
15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Beltesthazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirite of the holie gods is in thee.
16 k Then Daniel (whose name was Beltesthazzar) belde his l peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughtes troubled him, and the King spake and saide, Beltesthazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Beltesthazzar answered and saide, My lorde, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.
17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof throughout all the worlde, 18 Whose leaues were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the fielde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,
19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.
20 Where as the King saw a watchman, and an holy one, that came down from heauen, and said, Hewe downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse bind it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beastes of the fielde, m till seuen times passe ouer him,
21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most high, which is come vpon my lord the king, 22 That they shall driue thee from men, & thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the n oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will.
23 Where as they sayde, that one shoulde leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he sawe of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was and what it meant: and here hee onely expoundeth the dreame.
c In that that he sent abroade to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer readie at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessitie, and then they spare no flatterings.
d This no doubt was a great grief to Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.
e Which also was a great grief to the Prophet to be nombred among the sorcerers and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods worde.
f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a King, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.
g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to doe Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holie: and in that that hee commaundeth to cut downe this tree, hee knewe that it shoulde not be cut downe by man but by God.
h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar shoulde not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.
i God hath decreed this iudgement, and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they depende of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.
k Hee was troubled for y great iudgement of God which he sawe ordeined against the king: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.
l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interprete seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee meant of yeeres.
m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but y he was either striken mad, and so auoided mans company, or was cast out for his tyrannie, and so wandred among the beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.
n Daniel sheweth the cause, why God thus punished him.

o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith & repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

q After ỻ Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When ỻ terme of these seuen yeeres was accomplished. Chap.7.14. micah.4.7. luke 1.33.

s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of al iustice, and a most perfit law wherby he gouerneth both man & Angels and deuils, so that none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his doings, but only to stand content therewith & giue him the glory.

t By who it seemeth that he had bin put from his kingdome before.

u He doth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault that God may onely haue the glory & man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

kingdome shal remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable vnto thee, and o breake off thy sinnes by righteousnesse, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there be an p healing of thine error.

25 All these thinges shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the ende of twelue q moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake and saide, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the worde was in the kinges mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee,

29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shal make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, & seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntil thou knowest, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, & hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growen as egles feathers, and his naples like birdes clawes.

31 And at the ende of these r daies I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praysed and honoured him that liueth for euer, s whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his t will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hande, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours r and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glorie was augmented towarde me.

34 Nowe therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar u prayse, and extoll and magnifie the king of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, hee is able to abase.

CHAP. V.

Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the king, can not expounde the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

1 KIng a Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar c whiles he tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his d father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lordes house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They drunke wine and praysed the e gods of gold, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hande, which wrote ouer f against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of the kings palace, and the king sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kinges countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioyntes of his loynes were loosed, and his g knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the king cried lond, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldeans & the soothsayers. And the king spake, and saide to the wisemen of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation therof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shal be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came al the kings wisemen, but they coulde neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Nowe the h Queene by reason of the talke of the king and his princes, came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and said, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirite of the holie gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisedome like the wisedome of the gods, was founde in him: whom the king Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the king, I saye, a Daniel reckeneth this history of king Belshazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgements against ỻ wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophecie of Ieremiah was true, ỻ they should be deliuered after seuentie yeeres.

b The kings of ỻ East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their companies and now to shew his power, & how litle he set by his enemie, which then besieged Babylon, hee made a solemne banket, and vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute, and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

g Or, ouercome with wine.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt of the true God they praysed their idoles, not ỻ they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but ỻ there was a certaine vertue, & power in them to do thē good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

e That it might ỻ better be sene, f So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke manie meanes, who drawe them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

thy father, made chiefe of the [i] enchanters, aſtrologians, Caldeans, and ſoothſayers, 12 Becauſe a more excellent ſpirite, and knowledge, and vnderſtanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard ſentences, and diſſolued doubtes) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the king named Belteſhazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, & the king ſpake and ſayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whome my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Nowe I haue heard of thee, that [k] the ſpirite of the holy gods is in thee, & that lyght and vnderſtanding and excellent wiſdome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore wiſe men, & aſtrologians haue bene brought before me, that they ſhould reade this writing, & ſhewe me the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldeſt ſhew interpretations, and diſſolue doubts: now if thou canſt read the writing, and ſhewe mee the interpretation therof, thou ſhalt be clothed with purple, & ſhalt haue a chayne of golde about thy necke, and ſhalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel anſwered, and ſayde before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy ſelfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and ſhew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The moſt high God gaue vnto [l] Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maieſtie and honour and glory.

19 And for the maieſtie that he gaue him, all people, nations & languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whome hee woulde: hee ſmote whome hee woulde: whome he would he ſet vp, and whome he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, & his mind hardened in pride, he was depoſed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the ſonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beaſtes, and his dwelling was with the wylde aſſes: they fedde him with graſſe like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knew, that the moſt high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appoynteth ouer it, whomeſoeuer hee pleaſeth.

22 And thou his ſonne, O Belſhazzar, haſt not humbled thine heart, though thou kneweſt all theſe things, 23 But haſt lift thy ſelfe vp againſt the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the veſſels of his houſe before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou haſt praiſed the gods of ſiluer and golde, of braſſe, yron, wood and ſtone, which neyther ſee, neyther heare, nor vnderſtande: and the God in whoſe hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him haſt thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hande ſent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finiſhed it.

27 TEKEL, thou art waied in the balance, and art found [o] too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, & giuen to the Medes and Perſians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belſhazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he ſhould be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

30 The ſame night was Belſhazzar the king of the Caldeans ſlayne.

31 And Darius [p] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threeſcore and two yere olde.

i Read chap. 4. 6. and this declareth, that both this name was odious vnto him, and alſo that he did not vſe theſe vile practiſes, becauſe he was not among them when all were called.

k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, & therefore had them in like eſtimation, as they had God, thinking that the ſpirit of prophecie, and vnderſtanding came of them.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glorie, conſidering his wonderful work toward his grādfather, and ſo ſheweth, that he doeth not ſinne of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had ſo long time deferred his anger, and patiently wayted for thine amendement.

n This word is twiſe written for the certaintie of the thing: ſhewing, that God had moſt ſurely counted: ſignifying alſo that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miſerable ende ſhall come on all that rayſe themſelues againſt him.

o Or, wanting.

p Cyrus his ſonne in lawe gaue him this title of honour although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An aſſe againſt Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lyons by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accuſers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

1 IT pleaſed Darius to ſet ouer the kingdome [a] an hundreth and twentie gouernours, which ſhoulde be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer theſe, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accomptes vnto them, and the king ſhould [b] haue no domage.

3 Nowe this Daniel [b] was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, becauſe the ſpirite was excellent in him, & the King thought to ſet him ouer the whole realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouernours [c] ſought an occaſion againſt Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occaſion nor fault: for hee was ſo faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then ſaid theſe men, We ſhal not finde an occaſion againſt this Daniel, except wee finde it againſt him concerning the Lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and theſe gouernours went together to the King, and a Reade Eſter Chap. 1. 1.

[b] Or, not be troubled.

b This heathen king preferred Daniel a ſtraūger to all his nobles & familiars, becauſe the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked can not abide the graces of God in others, but ſeeke by all occaſions to deface them: therfore againſt ſuch aſſaults there is no better remedy then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conſcience.

and

and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers & gouernours, the counsellers, & dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establishe a statute, that whosoeuer shal aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

d Herein is condemned the wickednes of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

9 Wherefore king Darius d sealed the writing and the decree.

e Because he would not by his silence shewe that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people whē they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neyther consent in heart nor deede for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his e windowe beyng open in his chamber towarde Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three tymes a day, and prayed & praysed his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel prayeng, and making supplication vnto his God.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie, and authoritie, which is oft times eyther lightnes, or stubbernes, when as the innocents thereby perish: & therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to break such.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O king, shalbe cast into the denne of lyons? The king answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, & sayde vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and hee laboured tyll the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and sayde vnto the king, Vnderstand, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: nowe the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remayned fasting, neyther were the instrumentes of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose earely in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons.

20 And when he came to the denne, hee cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and the king spake, and sayde to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lyons?

21 Then sayde Daniel vnto the king, O king, liue for euer.

22 Thy God hath sent his Angell & hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for g my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O king, I haue done h no hurt.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he douted of his power.

h My iust cause and vprightnes in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was founde vpon him, because he i believed in his God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commādement to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God should be dishonoured.

24 And by the commaundement of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were k cast into the denne of lyons, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lyons had the maistrie of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

k Because he cōmitted himselfe wholy vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured, that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the worlde: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare l before the God of Daniel: for he is the m liuing God, and remayneth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shall be vnto the end.

l This is a terrible example against al the wicked, which do against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroye the children of God, & also admonisheth Princes howe to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery poynt, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

27 He rescueth & deliuereth, and he worketh signes & wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reygne of Darius and in the reygne of Cyrus of Persia.

m This proueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he woulde haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his worde: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beastes is shewed vnto Daniel.
8 The terme hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his his bed: a then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake & said, I saw in my vision by night, & beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon b the great sea:

3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a c lyon, and had egles wings: I beheld, till the winges therof were pluckt off, & it was lifted vp from the earth, & set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a d beare and stode vpon the e one side: and hee had three ribs in his f mouth betweene his teeth, & they saide thus vnto him, Arise & deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and lo, there was an other like a b leoparde, which had vpon his backe i foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and k dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I saw in h visions by night, & beholde, the l fourth beast was fearefull & terrible & very strong. It had m great yron teeth: it deuoured & brake in pieces & stamped n the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had o ten hornes.

8 As I considered h hornes, beholde, there came vp amog the another litle p horne, before whome there were q three of the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, in this horne were r eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the s thrones were set vp, and the t Ancient of dales did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the heare of his head like the pure wool: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousandes ministred vnto him, and ten thousande u thousandes stode before him: the iudgement was set, and the x bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, y because of the voice of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As z concerning the other beastes, they had taken awaye their dominion: yet their lines were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, beholde, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b appoched vnto the Ancient of dayes, & they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations & languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken awaye: and his kingdome shall neuer bee destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraide.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a cõtinuall quietnes after these seuẽty yeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shal not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore incouraged them to looke for a cõtinual affliction til the Messiah be vttered & reuciled, by whome they shoulde haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: wherof they shuld haue a certaine token in the destructiõ of the Babylonical kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles & afflictiõs in the world in al corners of the world & at sundry times. c Meaning ỹ Assyrian & Caldean empire, which was most strõg & fierce in power, & most soone come to their auctoritie as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, & they went on their feete, & were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart. d Meaning the Persians, which were barbarous & cruel. e They were smal in the beginning, & were shut vp in their mountaines and had no bruite. f That is, destroyed many kingdoms, and was insatiable. g To wit, the Angels by Gods cõmandemẽt, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the world. h Meaning, Alexander ỹ king of Macedonie. i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire amõg them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, & after him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolomeus had Egypt. k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that he gate all these countreis: for his army conteined, but thirty thousand men, & he ouercame in one battel Darius, which had ten hundreth thousand, when he was so heauie with sleepe that his eyes were scarce open, as ỹ stories report: therfore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane empire which was as a mõster & could not be compared to any beast, because ỹ nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which ỹ Romanes could not quietly enioy in other coũtreis, they would giue it to other Kings & rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o That is, sundry & diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the viceputies and preconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a king. p Which is meant of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of ỹ Senate, their power is cõpared to a litle horne. For Mahomet came not of ỹ Romane empire, & the Pope hath no vocatiõ of gouernement vnto before this cannot be applied vnto them. and alsom this propheeie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portiõ of the ten hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chusing the deputies to sende into the prouinces, & tooke the gouernement of certaine countreis to himselfe.

r These Romane Emperors at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenes, and were content that others, as the Cõsuls and Senate should beare the name of dignity, so that they might haue the profite, & therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruel, which is here meant by the proude mouth. s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these monarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first comming of Christ. t That is, God which was before al times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory. u That is, an infinite nõber of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement. x This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainely reueiled by his Gospell. y Meaning, that he was astonied, when he saw these Emperours in such dignity, and pride, and so suddenly destroied at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they florished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, & they that patiently abide Gods appointmẽt, shal enioy the promises. a Which is ment of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterwarde: but appeared then in a figure, & that in the clouds: that is, being separate frõ the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie. b To wit, when he ascẽded into the heaues, & his diuine maiestie appeared, & all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdom when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediator, to the intent that hee shoulde gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternal life. d Through the strangenesse of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as vers. 10.

that stode by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shall take the f kingdome of the Saints of the s most high, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so h vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, & his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the i residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to knowe of the ten hornes that were in his head, & of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth þ spake presumptuous things, whose k looke was more stout then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same l horne made battel against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Vntill m the Ancient of dayes came, & iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saints possessed þ kingdome.

23 Then hee sayde, The fourth beast shal bee the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall bee vnlike to all the kingdomes, & shal deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shall rise: and another shal rise after them, and he shal be vnlike to the first, and he shal subdue n three Kings,

25 And shall speake woordes against o the most high, & shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that hee may p change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hande, vntil a q time, and times and the dyuiding of time.

26 But the r iudgement shall sit, and they shall take awap his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende.

27 And the s kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall bee giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all t powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many u cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in mee: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4.13, and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome therof is theirs by right, which these four beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the worlde were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions shoulde haue an end at length.

g That is, of the most hie things, because God hath chosen thē out of this world that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a king, & the Romane Empire by consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernours yerely, & the other Monarchies reteined them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.

i Reade verse. 7.

k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were most cruel against the Church of God both of the Iewes & of the Gentiles.

m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, & by the preaching of the Gospell gaue vnto his some rest, & so obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God.

n Reade the exposition hereof verse 8.

o That is, shall make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, & send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.

p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods Lawes & mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shal suffer thē thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is ment by the time & times, but at length he wil asswage these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Mat. 24.22. which is here ment by the deuiding of time.

r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this litle horne, that it shall neuer rise vp againe.

s He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroied, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnes, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospell enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these wordes vnder the heauen: and therfore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

t That is, some of euery sorte that beare rule.

u Though hee had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet hee was content with that which God reueiled, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battel betweene a ramme and a goate.

20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto mee Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I sawe in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince b of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stode before the riuer a c ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was d hier then another, and the hiest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, & against the South: so that no e beastes might stande before him, nor could deliuer out of his hande, but he did what he lusted, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, f a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an g horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto þ ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, & being mooued against him, he h smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes:

a After the generall vision, he cōmeth to certaine particular visions: as touching þ destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, & Macedonias: for the ruine of the Babylonias was at hand, & also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdom of the Persians & Medes, d Meaning Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle & father in lawe.

e That is, no Kings or nation.

f Meaning Alexander that came frō Grecia with great speede and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of al Grecia, yet he bare the title & dignitie of the generall captaine, so that þ strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundrie battels, & so had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Persians and there was no power in the raumne to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the raumne out of his power.

and

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when hee was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared toward the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a litle horne, which waxed verie great towarde the [m] South, and towarde the [n] East, and toward the [o] pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grewe vp vnto the [p] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the grounde, and trode vpon them,

11 And exalted himselfe against the [q] prince of the hoste from whome the [r] dayly sacrifice was taken awap, & the place of his sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 And [s] a time shall be giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall [t] cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, & prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saintes speaking, and one of the Saintes spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the [x] desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the [y] armie vnder foote?

14 And [z] he answered me, Vnto the [a] euening and the morning, two thousande & three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning beholde, there stoode before me [b] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called and saide, Gabriel, [c] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he saide vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [d] in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last [e] wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ram which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goate is the king of Grecia, & the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stoode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stande vp [f] of that nation, but not [g] in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a king of [h] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shalbe mightie, but not [i] in his strength: and he shal destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, & practise, and shall destroy the [k] mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his [l] policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hande, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by [m] peace shall destroy many: he shall also stande vp against the [n] Prince of princes, but he shall be broken downe [o] without hand.

26 And the vision of the [p] euening and the morning which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shalbe after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was striken and sicke [q] certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings business, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstoode it.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fiftene yeere there were fiftene diuers successours before this monarchie was deuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature and also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therefore is here called the litle horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why hee should obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby hee meaneth Ptolemais.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.

q That is, God, who gouerneth and maintayneth his Church.

r Hee laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner from all the rest of the worlde to haue his Name there truely called vpon.

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whome hee would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

t This horne shall abolish for a time the true doctrine and so corrupt Gods seruice.

u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whome hee calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a maruelous one.

x That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.

z Christ answered mee for the comfort of the Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make sixe yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers howe he would be God manifested in flesh.

c This power to commaunde the Angel, declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church.

f That is, out of Grecia.

g They shal not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent & cruel, and also craftie that he could not be deceiued.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.

k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.

l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.

m That is, vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.

n Meaning, against God.

o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church, 2. Mac. 9.9.

CHAP. IX.

Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expounds vnto him the vision of the seuentie weeks. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

1 In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of [a] Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made king ouer the [b] realme of the Caldeans,

2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I a Who was also called Astyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other countreys, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was king in effect.

Daniel vnderstoode by [c] bookes þ nomber of the yeres, whereof the Lorde had spoken vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, that hee would accomplish seuentie yeres in the desolation of Jerusalem.
3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and [d] sought by prayer and sup-plications with fasting and sackecloth and ashes.
4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art [e] great and fearefull, and keepest conenant & mercie toward them which loue "thee, and towarde them that kéepe thy commandements.
5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy judgements.
6 For we would not obey thy seruãts the Prophetes, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to al the people of the land.
7 O Lorde, [f] righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs "open shame, as ap-peareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitantes of Jerusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both nére and farre off, through all the countreis, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thée.
8 O Lorde, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our [g] kinges, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.
9 Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.
10 For we haue not obeyed the [h] voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had layde before vs by the ministerie of his seruantes the Prophets.
11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not hearde thy voyce: therefore the [i] curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.
12 And hee hath confirmed his woordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that [k] iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Jerusalem.
13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before þ Lorde our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy truth.
14 Therefore hath the Lord "made readie the plague, and brought it vpon vs:
for the Lorde our God is righteous in all his woorkes which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.
15 * And nowe, O Lorde our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hande, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.
16 O Lord, according to all thy [k] righte-ousnes, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Jerusalem thine holy moun-taine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people are a reproche to all that are about vs.
17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to [l] shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for thy [m] Lords sake.
18 O my God, encline thine eare & heare:
open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie wherevpon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne [n] righteousnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.
19 O Lord, heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord [o] consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vp-on thy people.
20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God,
21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man [p] Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation.
22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.
23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commaundement came forth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision.
24 Seuentie [r] weekes are determined vpon [q] thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the [r] sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnes, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoint the most Holy.
25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from [s] the going forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to builde Jerusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shalbe seuen [t] weekes, and sixtie

Exod.14.28.
Numer.3.11.

c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet hee dayly increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He speaketh not of that ordinarie prayer, which he vsed in his house thrise a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, least their sinnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophecied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hast all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercie to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee.
"Ebr. him.
f He sheweth that whensoeuer God punisheth, he doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked do, but acknowledge that in themselues there is iust cause why he should so intreat them.
"Ebr. confusion of face.
g He doth not excuse the kings because of their authority, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues.
h He sheweth that they rebel against God, which serue him not according to his commandement & word.
i As Deut. 27. 15. or the curse confirmed by an othe.
k That is, according to all thy merciful promises and the performance thereof.
l Shew thy selfe fauourable.
m That is, for thy Christes sake in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly flee onely vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their owne workes when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not cõtent himselfe with any vehemencie of wordes: for he was so led with a feruent zeale cõsidering Gods promes, made to the citie in respect of his Church, and for the aduancemẽt of Gods glory.
Chap.8.16.
p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophecie, who prophecied that their captiuitie should be seuentie yeeres: but now Gods mercy should seuen folde exceede his iudgement, which should be foure hundred and ninety yeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should continue for euer.
q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whom he was carefull.

s from the time that Cyros gaue them leaue to depart.
t These weekes make 490 yere, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the temple, and 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the sixt yere of Darius who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes which make 434 yeres, which comprehend the time frō the building of the Temple, vnto the Baptisme of Christ. Ebran straighteth of time.

x In this last weeke of the seuētie shal Christ come and preach and suffer death. y He shal seeme to haue no beautie, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53. 2. z Meaning, Titus Vespasians sonne, who shoulde come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouerie. a By the preaching of the Gospell hee confirmed his promes, first to the Iewes, & after to the Gentiles. b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection. c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuarie should be vtterly destroied for their rebellion against God and their idolatrie: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, 11 VVhich sheweth him wherfore he is sent.

a He noteth this third yere, because at this time the building of the Tēple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made war in Asia minor against the Scythiās, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare that the godly shoulde not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promes.

c Called Abib, which cōteineth part of March and part of Aprill.

d Being caried by the spirite of prophecie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecie that followeth. Iere. 10. 9.

f The word also signifieth comelines, or beautie, so ỹ for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.

g Which declareth that when we are striken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hande, which is his power.

h Meaning Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the Tēple, but would haue farther raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for ỹ profite of ỹ Church.

i Though God could by one Angel destroy all ỹ world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth foorth double power, euē Michael, ỹ is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should ende and ceasse, yet his doctrine should continue till the cōming of Christ for the comfort of his Church.

l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man

m I was ouercome with feare and sorow, when I saw the vision.

n He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto ỹ people of Israel.

o Which declareth ỹ when God smiteth downe his childrē, he doth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by litle & litle.

p Meaning, that he would not only himself bridle the rage of Cābyses, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexāder ỹ king of Macedonia.

q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of ỹ Church vnder Christ, who is ỹ head therof.

u thre scoze and two wekes, & the stret shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a " troublous time.

26 And after thre scoze & two x wekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall y haue nothing, and the people of z the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the end therof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he a shall confirme the conenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke her shall cause the sacrifice & the oblation to b cease, c and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shal make it desolate, euen vntil the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

1 In the a thirde yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Beltesshazzar) and the worde was true, but the time appointed was b long, and he vnderstoode the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of daies.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my self at all, till three wekes of daies were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure & twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I d was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, & looked, and beholde, there was a man e clothed in linen, whose lomes were girded with fine golde of f Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, & his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, & his eyes as lampes of fire, & his armes & his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, & the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with mee, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled awaye and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in mee: for g my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: & when I heard the voice of his words, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And beholde, an hande x touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands, 11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, & stande in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto me, I stoode trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day ỹ thou didst set thine heart to vnderstande, & to humble thy self before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the h prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie daies: but lo, i Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to help me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shewe thee what shal come to thy people in ỹ later daies: for yet the k vision is for many daies.

15 And when he spake these words vnto me, I set my face towarde the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, l one like the similitude of the lomes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, & spake, and saide vnto him that stoode before me, O my Lorde, m by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon mee, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For howe can the seruant of this my Lorde talke with my Lorde being such one? for as for me, straightwaye there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: n peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I o was strengthened, and said, Let my Lorde speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherfore I am come vnto thee? but nowe will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the p prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I wil shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: q and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecie of the kingdomes, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when he ouercame the Caldeans.

1 Also I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I [a] stood to incourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet [b] three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shalbe farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shal stirre vp [c] all against the realme of Grecia.

b Wherof Cambyses the sonne of Hystaspis, & the fourth Xerxes, which al were enemies to the people of God and stoode against them.

3 But a [d] mighty King shall stande vp, that shal rule with great dominiō, and doe according to his pleasure.

c For he raised vp all the East countreis to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his armie nine hundreth thousand men, yet in foure battels he was discomfited and fled away with shame.

4 And when hee shall stande vp, [e] his kingdome shall be broken, [f] and shall be deuided towarde the [g] foure windes of heauen: and not to his [h] posteritie, nor according to [i] his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdome shall bee pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides [k] those.

d That is, Alexander the great.

e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, & so fel into a disease: or as some write, was poysoned by Cassander.

f For his twelue chiefe princes first deuided his kingdom among themselues.

5 And the [l] King of the South shall bee mightie, and one of [m] his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

g After this his Monarchie was deuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

6 And in the ende of yeeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the King [n] daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but shee shall not retayne the power of the [o] arme, neither shall [p] he continue, nor his [q] arme: but shee shalbe deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he [r] that begate her, and hee that comforted her in these times.

h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & cruelty in causing his posterity to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another.

7 But out of the budde of her [s] rootes shal one stande vp in his steade, [t] which i None of these foure shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

k That is, his posterity hauing no part thereof.

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia & Syria.

n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus shalbe giuē in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continual peace together.

o That force & strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawful wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus, nor Antiochus.

q Some read, seede, meaning the child begotten of Berenice.

r Some read, she that begate her, & therby vnderstand her nurce, which brought her vp: so that al they that were occasion of this mariage, were destroied.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes, after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus King of Syria.

shall come with an armie, & shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shal also carp captiues into Egypt their gods & their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of gold, and he shal continue [x] mo yeres then the King of the North.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned sixe and fourtie yeeres.

x Meaning, Seleucus & Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Ptolemeus Philopater the sone of Philadelphus.

9 So the King of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [y] sonnes shalbe stirred vp, & shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one [z] shal come, and ouerflow, & passe through: then shall [a] he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slain whiles the warres were preparing.

11 And the King of the South shalbe angrie, & shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for he shal set forth a great [b] multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

z That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, & also ready to inuade Egypt.

12 Then the multitude shalbe proud, and their heart shalbe lifted vp: for he shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.

a For Antiochus had six thousand horsemen and threescore thousand footemen.

13 For the King of the North [c] shall returne, and shal set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire.

14 And at the same time there shal [d] many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of the [e] people shall exalte them selues to establishe the vision, but they shall fall.

c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with the.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall [f] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

d For vnder Oenias which falsely alleaged that place of Isa. 19.

16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stande [g] against him: and hee shall stande in the [h] pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Againe hee shall [i] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall hee doe, and hee shall giue him the [k] daughter of women, to destroy her: but [l] she shall not stande on his side, neither be for him.

e For not onely the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this propheeie: also the Angell sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsel of God.

18 After this shal he turne his face vnto the f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, & shall enter into their countrey, wherof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidēce.

g This was the second battell of Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautiful woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsel, but shall loue her husband, as her duety requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the sea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called all countreys yles which were deuided from them by sea.

m For where as Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder ỹ pretence of pouertie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men slewe him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by foreine enemies, or battel, but by treason.

l ples, and shall take many, but a prince m shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon n himselfe.
19 For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of o his owne land: but he shal be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more p found.
20 ¶ Then shall Rande vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdom, one that shall raise taxes: but after few dayes he shal be destroyed, neither in r wrath, nor in battel.
21 And in his place shall stand vp a s vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, & obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.
22 And the t armes shalbe ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the u couenant.
23 And after x the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for hee shall come vp, and ouercome with a y small people.
24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and hee shall doe that which his fathers z haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: her shall deuide among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and hee shall forecast his deuices against the strong holdes, euen for a a time.
25 Also hee shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great armie, and the king of the South shalbe stirred vp to battell with a verie great and mightie armie: but hee shall not b stande: for they shall forecast and practise against him.
26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of c his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie d shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.
27 And both these kings hearts shalbe to doe e mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not as Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruel and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great foraine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shalbe ouerthrowne.

u Meaning, Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germaine, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because hee was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduite.

x For after the battel Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when hee suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a He wil content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shalbe ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shal brast out and venture their life to slay and to be slaine for the sauegarde of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephewe shal take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against another.

naple: for f yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.
28 Then shall hee returne into his lande with great s substance: for his heart shalbe against the holy couenant: so shal he do and returne to his owne land.
29 At the time appointed hee shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.
30 For the shippes h of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sorie and returne, and freat against the holy couenant: so shal he do, he shal euen returne i and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.
31 And armes k shall stande on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie l of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.
32 And such as wickedly m breake the couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do knowe their God, shall prenaile and prosper.
33 And they that vnderstand among n the people, shall instruct many: o yet they shal fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle many dayes.
34 Now when they shall fall, they shalbe holpen with a p litle helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them q faindly.
35 And some of them r of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till ṗ time be out: for there is a time appointed.
36 And the s king shal do what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, & magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, & shall prosper, till the wrath t be accomplished: for the determination is made.

f Signifying, ỹ it standeth not in the counsel of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot do what they list themselues.

g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to moue them to patience, knowing ỹ all things are done by Gods prouidēce.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in ỹ Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, alhogh with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of ỹ Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shal hold with Antiochus.

l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, alhough this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teache others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will hee not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees wherof he here prophecieth.

q That is, there shalbe euē of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them ỹ feare God & wil lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also that ỹ Church must continually be tried & purged & ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed ỹ time: therefore we must obey.

s Because the Angels purpose is to shew ỹ whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he nowe speaketh of the monarchie of the Romanes, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were wont all religion & cōtemned the true God.

t So long ỹ tyrāts shal preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth ỹ it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of religion, as other nations, but shal change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and prefer them selues to their gods.

x Signifying, ỹ they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it.

z Vnder pretẽce of worshipping the gods, they shal enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches.

37 Neither shall hee regard the [u] God of his fathers, nor the desires [x] of women, nor care for any god: for he shal magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the [y] god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with [z] golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shal he do in [a] ỹ holds of Mauzzim with a strange god whome he shall acknowledge: he shal increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall deuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the [b] South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and hee shall enter into the countreis, and shall ouerflow and passe through.

41 Hee shall enter also into the [c] pleasant lande, and many countreis shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his handes also vpon the countreis, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shal haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious thinges of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Moors where he shall passe.

44 But the tydings out of the East and the North shall [d] trouble him: therefore he shall goe forth [e] with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, & none shall helpe him.

a Although in their heartes they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods and worshipped them in their temples, least they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shalbe ouercome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their handes, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, for asmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine & Antonius discomfited. e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost. f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreis, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their crueltie God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

1 And at that [a] time shall Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shalbe a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shalbe found written in the booke.

2 And many [b] of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to [c] euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be [c] wise, shall shine, as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that [d] turne many to righteousnes, shal shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp ỹ words, and seale the booke [f] till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shalbe increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and beholde, there stoode other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the [g] riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the ende of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his [h] right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tarie for [i] a time, two times and an halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished [k] to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shalbe finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstoode it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the ende of these things?

9 And he said, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the ende of the time.

10 Many shalbe purified, made white, & tried: but the wicked shall do wickedly, & none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the [l] daily sacrifice shalbe take away, & the abominable desolation set vp, there [m] shalbe a thousand, two hundreth and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is hee that waiteth and commeth to the thousande, three hundreth and [n] fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But go [o] thou thy way till the ende be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the ende of the dayes.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first, that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christes comming, and next that God will send his Angel to deliuer it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because ỹ faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.

d He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next, all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, & bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though the most part despise this prophecie, yet keepe thou it sure & esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall runne to and fro to search ỹ knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

g Which was Tygris.

h Which was as it were a dreadable othe, and did the more confirme the thing.

i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should haue an ende.

k When the Church shalbe scattered & diminished in such sort as ie shal seeme to haue no power.

l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shal take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Lawe.

m Signifying that the time shall be long of Christes second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.

n In this nomber he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former nomber, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christes comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.

o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

HOSEA.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtile counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat,& in steade of his true seruice cõmanded by his worde worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grewe euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and where as they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God woulde take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to bee led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they shoulde neither bee discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenesse of Gods promises, hee setteth before them the two principall partes of the Lawe, which are the promes of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they shoulde haue true deliuerance: and for the seconde, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, eyther by Gods promises to allure them to bee godly, els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Lawe conteine these two pointes, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophecied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THE worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of [a] Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, & Hezekiah [b] kinges of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboã the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lorde saide vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went, and tooke [d] Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lorde saide vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that [g] day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God saide vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly [i] take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sworde nor by battel, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name [l] Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the nomber of the [m] children of Israel shalbe as the sande of the sea, which can not be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was saide vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shalbe said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be [n] gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached aboue threescore yere.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges.

e Meaning, that they shoulde be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was ỹ chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2 king. 10.8, 11, & I wil be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for he built vp ỹ idolatrie, which he had destroied.

f When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.

g That is, not obteining mercie: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.

h For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captines by the Assyrians.

i For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra. 1.1.

k That is, not my people.

l Because they thought ỹ God conlde not haue bin true in his promes except he had preserued them, he declareth, that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promes, shoulde be without number, which stande both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26.

m To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who ſ oulde be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

n The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shalbe so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

1 a Seing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you incourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I wil haue mercie. b God sheweth that the faulte was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa. 50.1. c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, ℣ they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25. d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel and doutie and certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vtterly destroy them. e Whē I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4. f That is, bastards, & begotten in adulterie. g Meaning, the idols which they serued and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance. h I will punish thee that then thou maiest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such streightnes, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton. i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profite of Gods rods. k This declareth that idolaters defraude God of his honour, when they attribute his benefites to their idoles. l Signifiyng that God will take away his benefites when man by his ingratitude doth abuse them. m That is, al her service, ceremonies & inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles. n I will punish her for her idolatrie. o By shewing how harlots trimme themselues to please others, hee declareth howe the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy daies.

SAy vnto your a brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,
2 b Pleade with your b mother: pleade with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husbande: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries c from betweene her breastes,
3 d Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was e borne, & make her as a wildernesse, and leaue her like a drie lande, and slay her for thirst.
4 And I wil haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the f children of fornications.
5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my g louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.
6 Therefore beholde, I wil stoppe h thy way with thornes, and make a hedge, that she shall not finde her paths.
7 Though she followe after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, i I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then nowe.
8 For she did not know that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal.
9 Therefore will I returne, and take away l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame.
10 And now will I discouer her m lewdenes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.
11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, & her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes.
12 And I will destroy her vines and her figge trees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewardes that my louers haue giuen me: & I will make them as a forest, and the wild beasts shal eate them.
13 And I wil visite vpon her n daies of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her o earings and her iewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.
14 Therefore beholde, I will p allure her, and bring her into the wildernesse, and speake friendly vnto her.
15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley q of Achor for a doore of hope, and she shall r sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.
16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me s Ishi, and shalt call me no more t Baali.
17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, & they shalbe no more remembred by their u names.
18 And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the x wilde beastes, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon y earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the swoorde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.
19 And I will marrie thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I will marrie thee vnto mee in righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.
20 I will euen marrie thee vnto mee in z faithfulnesse, and thou shalt know the Lorde.
21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lorde, I will euen heare a the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Jzreel.
23 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I wil haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, b Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

a By my benefites in offering her grace & mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentifull valley, & wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernesse, as Iosh. 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life. r She shall then praise God as she did whē she was deliuered out of Egypt. s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant. t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles. u No idolatrie shall onee come into their mouth but they shall serue me purely according to my worde. x Meaning, that he wil so bleste them, that al creatures shall fauour them. y With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken. z Then shall the heaven desire raine for the earth which shall bring forth for ℣ vse of man. Rom. 9.25. 1. Pet. 2.10.

CHAP. III.

The Iewes shalbe cast off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterwards they shall returne to the Lorde.

1 THen said the Lorde to me, a Go yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husbande, & was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Jsrael: yet they looked to other gods, and b loued the wine botels.
2 So c I bought her to me for fiftene pieces of siluer, and for an Homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie.
3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with d mee manie dayes: thou shalt a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, & did not withdraw the same when she gaue her selfe to idoles. b That is, gaue themselues wholy to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennes. c Yet I loued her and paide a small portion for her, least shee perceiuing the greatnes of my loue, shoulde haue abused me and not bin vnder duetie: for fiftene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exod. 21.32. d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widdowhoode whether thou wilt be mine or no.

e Meaning, not only all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

f That is, they should neyther haue policie nor religion, & their idoles also wherin they put their cõfidence, should be destroyed.

g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 72. 17.

not playe the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I wil be so vnto thee.

4 For ꝑ children of Israel shall e remaine many dayes without a king, and without a f prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lorde their God, and s Dauid their king, and shall feare the Lorde, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

CHAP. IIII.

A cõplaint against the people, & the Priests of Israel.

1 HEare the worde of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord a hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of ꝑ land, because there is no trueth, nor mercy nor knowledge of God in ꝑ land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring they breake out, and b blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shal the land mourne, & euery one that dwelleth therein, shalbe cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowles of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet c let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the d day, & the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I wil destroy thy e mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because f thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing g thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I wil also forget thy children.

7 As they were h increased, so they sinned against me: therefore wil I change their glory into shame.

8 i They eate vp the sinnes of my people, & lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there shalbe like people, like k priest: for I wil visite their waies vpon them, and reward them their deedes.

10 For they shal eat, & not haue ynough: they shall l commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

11 m Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.

12 My n people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the o spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hilles vnder the okes, & the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe therof is good: therefore your daughters shalbe p harlots, and your spouses shalbe whores.

14 I wil not q visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses whe they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shal fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet r let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto s Gilgal, neither go ye vp to t Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly reuerser. How the Lorde will feede them as a u lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, x Bring ye.

19 The winde hath y bounde them vp in her wynges, and they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

CHAP. V.

Against the Priestes and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

1 HEare ye this, O ye Priestes, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue eare, O house of the king: for iudgement is towarde you, because you haue been a a snare on Mizpah, & a net spred vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profounde, to decline to b slaughter, though I haue been a c reproker of them all.

3 I know d Ephraim, & Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They wil not giue their minds to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the e pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shal fall with them.

6 They shal go with their sheepe, & with their bullockes to seeke the Lorde: but i To wit, the Priests seeke to eat ꝑ peoples offrings, and flatter them in their sinnes.

k Signifying, that as they haue sinned together, so shal they be punished together.

l Shewing, that their wickednes shall be punished on all sortes: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shalbe deceiued of their hope.

m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beastes.

n Thus he speaketh by derisiõ in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stockes and stickes.

o They are carried away with a rage.

p Because they take away Gods honour, & giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lustes, that they shal dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1. 28.

q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you run headlong to your own damnation.

r God cõplaineth ꝑ Iudah is infected, and willeth thẽ to learne by their example to returne in time.

s For albeit the Lord had honored this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not that his people should resort thither.

t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying, that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

u God wil so disperse thẽ that they shal not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are so impudent in receyuing bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them.

y To cary them suddenly away.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.

they

f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.
g Their destruction is not far of.
h That is, all Israel cõprehẽded vnder this part, signifying that ỹ Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed.
i By the successe they shal know ỹ I haue surely determined this.
k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order, and all maner of religiõ.
l To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement and did not rather folow God.
m In stead of seeking for remedie at Gods hand.
n Who was king of the Assyrians.

thep shal not find him: for he hath withdrawen himselfe from them.
7 Thep haue transgressed against the Lorde: for thep haue begotten f strange children: now shall g a moneth deuoure them with their portions.
8 Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and ỹ thaume in Ramah: crp out at Bethauen, after thee, O h Beniamin.
9 Ephraim shalbe desolate in the dap of rebuke: amõg the tribes of Israel haue I caused to i know the truety.
10 The princes of Iudah were like them that k remoue the bounde: therefore wil I powre out mp wrath vpon them like water.
11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgemẽt, because he willingly walked after the l commandement.
12 Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennes.
13 When Ephraim saw his sickne, and Iudah his woũd, then went Ephraim vnto m Assur, & sent vnto king n Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wounde.
14 For I wil be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I wil spoile, & go away: I will take away, & none shall rescue it.
15 I will go, and returne to mp place, till thep acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction thep wil seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednes of the Priestes.

a He sheweth the people howe they ought to turne to ỹ Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.
b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe wil not be farre off, if we returne to him.
c You seeme to haue a certaine holines & repentance, but it is vpon the sudden & as a morning cloude.
d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were, framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meate to feede them, but a sword to slay them.
c My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.
f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, & the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.
g That is, like light and weake persons.

COme, and let vs a returne to the Lorde: for he hath spoyled, & he wil heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he wil binde vs vp.
2 After two dapes will b he reuiue vs, & in the third dap he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.
3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to knowe the Lorde: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.
4 O Ephraim, what shal I do vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreat thee? for c pour goudnes is as a morning cloud, & as the morning dewe it goeth away.
5 Therefore haue I d cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slayne them by the words of mp mouth, & e thp iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.
6 For I desired f mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of GOD more then burnt offrings.
7 But they like g men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.
8 h Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.
9 And as theeues waite for a man, so the companie of Priestes murther in the waye by consent: for they worke mischefe.
10 I haue seene villanp in the house of Israel: there is the whoredom of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.
11 Yea, Iudah hath set a i plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of mp people.

h Which was ỹ place where the Priests dwelt, & which should haue bene best instructed in my worde.
i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatric, & hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnes of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

a Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to al wickednes, both secret and open.
b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but howe to flatter and please him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raysed.
d They vsed all ryot and excesse in their feasts & solẽnities, wherby their king was ouercome with surfet, & brought into diseases, and delited in flatteries.
e By their occasion God hath deprined thẽ of all good rulers.
f That is, he confirmeth ỹ religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and rawe on ỹ other, that is, neither through hot nor through colde,

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednes of Samaria: for they haue delt falsly: and a the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.
2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in mp sight.
3 They make the b king glad w their wickednes, and the princes with their lies.
4 They are all adulterers, and as a hot c ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntil it be leauened.
5 This is the d dap of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.
6 For they haue made readp their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.
7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue e deuoured their iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.
8 Ephraim hath f mixt him selfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.
9 Stragers haue deuoured his strength, & he knoweth it not: yea, & grap heares are here & there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.
10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they do not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.
11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without h heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Assur.
12 But when they shal go, I wil spread mp net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastice them as their i congregation hath heard.
13 Wo vnto them: for they haue fled away but partly a Iew & partly a Gentile.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgement, as they that can not tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.
i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.

from

from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lyes against me.
14 And they haue not cried vnto me with their hearts, [l] when they houled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne and wine, and they rebell against me.
15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischefe against me.
16 They returne, but not to þ most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the swoorde, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shalbe their derision in the land of Egypt.

k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them frō death.
l When they were in affliction and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.
m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.
n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psalm. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

1 SEt the trumpet to thy [a] mouth: hee shal come as an egle against þ house of þ Lorde, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Law.
2 Israel shall [b] crie vnto me, My God, we know thee.
3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemie shall pursue him.
4 They haue set vp a [c] king, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knewe it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.
5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against thē: howe long will they be without [d] innocencie!
6 [e] For it came euen frō Israel: þ workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shal be broken in pieces.
7 For they haue [f] sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlewind: it hath no stalke: the budde shall bring foorth no meale: if so be it bring foorth, the strangers shall deuoure it.
8 Israel is deuoured, nowe shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.
9 For they are gone vp to Ashur: they are as a [g] wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.
10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe wil I gather them, and they shal sorow a litle, for the [h] burden of the king, and the princes.
11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sin.
12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.
13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offrings, & eate it: but the [k] Lorde accepteth them not: nowe will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.
14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, & Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

a God encouрageth þ Prophet to signifie þ speedy comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.
b They shall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.
c That is, Ieroboam, by whom thei sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernesse.
f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.
g They neuer cease but run to and fro to seeke helpe.
h That is, for the tribute which þ king and the princes shall lay vpon thē: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the worde of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.
k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

1 REioyce not, O Israel for ioye [a] as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne flooze.
2 [c] The flooze, and the wine presse shall not feede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.
3 They will not dwel in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane thinges in Ashur.
4 They shal not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shalbe vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shalbe polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shall not come into the House of the Lorde.
5 What will ye doe [f] then in the solemne day, & in the day of þ feast of the Lorde?
6 For lo, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shalbe in their tabernacles.
7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: [h] the Prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.
8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the house of his God.
9 They [k] are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.
10 I found Israel like [l] grapes in the wildernesse: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in þ figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to [m] their louers.
11 Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a birde: from the birth [n] and from succour.

a For though al other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.
b Thou hast cōmitted idolatrie in hope of reward, & to haue thy barnes filled c These outward things that thou seekest, shalbe taken from thee.
d Al their doings both touching policie and religion, shalbe reiected as thinges polluted.
e The meate offring which they offred for themselues.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shalbe the most grieuous poynt of your captiuitie, when you shal see your selues cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who chalenged to themselues to bee their Prophets and spirituall men.
i The Prophets duetie is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.
k This people is so rooted in their wickednes, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 22.
l Meaning, that hee so esteemed them and delited in them.
m They were as abominable vnto mee, as their louers the idoles.
n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by litle and litle.

the

o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus to preserue them from the colde aire of the sea, so was Ephraim at ỹ first vnto me, but now I wil giue him to the slaughter.

p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God towarde Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then ỹ this great slaughter should come vpõ their children.

q The chiefe cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deprive them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.
13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree * in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.
14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a p barren wombe and dry breasts.
15 All their wickednesse is in q Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.
16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.
17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

a Whereof though ỹ grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered newe strength, it increased newe wickednesse, so that ỹ correctiõ which shoulde haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their stubbornesse.

b As they were riche and had abundance.

c To wit, from God.

d The day shall come that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feele the fruit of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. king. 17. 6, 7.

e In promising to be faithfull towarde God.

f Thus their integritie and fidelitie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternes and griefe.

g When the calfe shalbe caried away.

1 Israel is an a emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of ỹ fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images.
2 Their heart is c deuided: nowe shall they be found faultie: hee shall breake downe their altars: hee shall destroy their images.
3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no d king because we feared not the Lorde: and what should a king doe to vs?
4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsely in making * a couenant: thus f iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the fielde.
5 The inhabitantes of Samaria shall s feare, because of ỹ calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shal mourne ouer it, and the h Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.
6 It shalbe also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shal receiue shame, and Israel shalbe ashamed of his owne counsell.
7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the foame vpon the water.
8 The hie places also of i Auen shalbe destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, * Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests, which did weare blacke apparel in their sacrifices, and cried with a loud voice: which superstition Eliah derided, 1 King. 18. 27. reade 2. king. 23. 5.

i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4. 15. Isa. 2. 19. Luke 23. 30. reuel. 6. 16. and 9. 6.

9 O Israel, thou hast k sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they l stoode: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touche them.
10 It is my desire * that I should chastice them, and the people shalbe gathered against them, when they shall bind themselues in their two ° furrowes.
11 And Ephraim is as an heiffer vsed to delite p in threshing: but I will passe by her q faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plow, and Iaakob shall breake his clodds.
12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnes: reape after the measure of mercie: r breake vp your fallowe grounde: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousnesse vpon you.
13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruite of lyes: because thou diddest trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,
14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as f Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.
15 So shall Beth-el do vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale coulde not be good in executing Godsiudgements, seeing thine own deeds were as wicked as theirs.

m The Israelites were not moued by their example to cease frõ their sinnes.

n Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.

o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.

p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine.

q I will laye my yoke vpon her fatte necke.

r Reade Ierem. 4. 4.

s That is, Shalmanazzar in the destruction of that citie spared neither kinde nor age.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefites of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

c That is, friendly and not as beasts or slaues.

d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shalbe led captiue into Assyria.

e To wit, the Prophets.

f God considereth with himselfe, & that with a certeine griefe, how to punish them.

When Israel * was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.
2 They called them, but they b went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.
3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.
4 I led them with cordes c of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laid the meate vnto them.
5 He shall no more returne into the lande of Egypt: but Asshur shalbe his d king, because they refused to conuert.
6 And the sworde shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.
7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though e they called them to the most hie, yet none at all would exalt him.
8 f How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? howe shal I make thee, as g Admah? how shal I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is h Meaning, that his loue wherewith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to do: & herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercie toward his shal ouercome his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse.

i To consume thee, but will cause thee to yeeld and so receiue thee to mercy: and this is meant of the smal nomber who shal walke after the Lord.
k The Egyptians & Assyrians shalbe afrayde when the Lorde mainteyneth his people.

turned within me: h my repentings are rouled together.
9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holie one in the middes of thee, and I will not i enter into the citie.
10 They shal walke after the Lord: he shal roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shal feare.
11 k They shal feare as a sparrowe out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the land of Assyria, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.
12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet raleth l with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

1 EPhraim is fed a with the winde, & followeth after the East winde: he increaseth daily lyes and destruction, & they doe make a couenant with Assyria, and b oyle is caried into Egypt.
2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with c Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will he recompense him.
3 He tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had d power with God,
4 And had e power ouer the Angel, and preuayled: he wept & prayed vnto him: f he founde him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.
5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lorde is himselfe his memoriall.
6 Therfore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.
7 He is g Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.
8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, h that were wickednes.
9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet wil I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in i the dayes of the solemne feast.
10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplyed visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.
11 Is there k iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, & their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.
12 l And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.
13 And by a m Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued.
14 But Ephraim prouoked him with bye places: therefore shal his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

a That is, flattereth himself with vaine cõfidence.
b Meaning, presents to get friendship.
c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.
d Seeing § God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.
e Read Gen. 32. 31.
f God founde Iaakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28. 12. & so spake w him there, that the fruite of § speach apperteined to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.
g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.
h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cãnot abide that any should reproue their doings.
i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefites, I wil bring thee ayaine to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now contemne.
k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead that holy place, & yet the Prophet sayth, that all their religion was but vanitie.
l If you boast of your riches & nobilitie, ye seme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitiue & seruant.
m Meaning, Moses, whereby appeareth, § whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnes.

CHAP. XIII.

The abomination of Israel, 9 And cause of their destruction.

1 WHen Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: he b exalted himselfe in Israel, but hee hath sinned in Baal, c and is dead.
2 And now they sinne more & more, and haue made them molte images of their siluer, & idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whyles they sacrifice a d man, Let them kisse the calues.
3 Therefore they shalbe as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth awaye, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlwind out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.
4 Yet I am the Lord thy God e from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beside me.
5 I did knowe thee in the wildernes, in the land of drought.
6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, & their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.
7 And I wil be vnto them as a verie lion, and as a leopard in the way of Assyria.
8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I wil breake the hall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon: the wild beast shal teare them.
9 O Israel, one f hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.
10 g I am: where is thy king, that should help thee in all thy cities? & thy iudges, of whome thou saidest, Giue me a king, and princes?
11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.
12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is h bounde vp: his sinne is hid.
13 The sorowes of a trauayling woman shall come vpon him: hee is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stand still at the tyme, euen at the i breaking forth of the children.
14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O k death, I will be thy death: O graue, a He sheweth the excellencie, & autority § this tribe had aboue all the rest.

b He made a king of his tribe.
c The Ephraimites are not far from destruction and haue lost their autoritie.
d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, & he sheweth howe they would exhort one another to § same, & to kisse & worship these calues which were their idols.
e He calleth the to repentance & reproueth their ingratitude.
f Thy destruction is certaine, & my benefites toward thee declare § it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatry and vaine cõfidence in men must needes be the cause thereof.
g I am all one, Iam. 1. 17.
h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Ierem. 17. 1.
i But wouldst come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger wherein he is, & not tarie to be stifeled.
k Meaning, that no power shal resist God when he wil deliuer his, but euen in death wil he giue them life.

graue,

l Because they will not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

graue, I will be thy destruction: l repentance is hid from mine eyes.
15 Though he grewe vp among his bretheren, an East winde shal come, euen the winde of the Lorde shall come vp from the wildernes, & drie vp his vayne, and his fountaine shalbe dryed vp: he shall spoile the treasure of al pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth prayse and thankes.

1 SAmaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoyde al these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lorde thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.
3 Take vnto you wordes, & turne to the Lorde, and say vnto him, b Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our c lips.

b He sheweth them howe they ought to confesse their sinnes.

c Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, euen thankes and prayse, Heb. 13. 15.

4 Assyria shall d not saue vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither wil we say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.
e I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.
6 I wil be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall growe as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.
7 His branches shall spread, & his beautie shalbe as the olyue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.
8 They that dwell vnder his f shadowe, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourishe as the vine: the fruit thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon.
9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to do any more with idoles? g I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene fyrre tree: vpon me is thy fruite found.
10 Who is h wise, and he shal vnderstand these things? and prudent, and he shall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shal walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

d We will leaue off all vaine confidence & pride.
e He declareth howe ready God is to receiue the that do repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, & to offer himself, as a protection, & sauegard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruite and profite.
h Signifying, that the true wisdom and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

IOEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THE Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being nowe punished with a great plague of famine, remayne still obstinate. Secondly he threateneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hardnes of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shal gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life, and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A propheeie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer, & fasting for the miseria that was at hand.

1 THE worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.
2 Heare ye this, O a Elders, & hearken ye all inhabitantes of the lande, whether b such a thing hath bene in your daies, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.
3 Tell you your children of it, & let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.
4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and that left of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, & the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpiller eaten.
5 Awake ye c drunkards, and weepe, and howle al ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shalbe pulled from your mouth.
6 For, d a nation commeth vpon my lande, mightie, and without nomber, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the tawes of a great lyon.
7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figtree: he maketh it bare, & casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.
8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackecloth for the e husband of her youth.
9 The meat offring, & the drinke offring is f cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests, g Lords ministers mourne.
10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: & the newe wine is dryed vp, & the oyle is decayed.
11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheat, and for the barly, because the haruest of the field is perished.
12 The vine is dried vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, & the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioye is withered away from the sonnes of men.
13 h Girde your selues and lament, ye Priestes: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackecloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offring, and the drinke offring is taken away a Signifying, the Princes, the Priests, and the gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.
c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse and drunkennes was taken away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them.

e Mourne grieuously as a woman, which hath lost her husband to whō she hath bene maried in her youth.
f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, in so much as Gods seruice was left off.
g Al comfort & substance for nourishment is taken away.
h He sheweth y the only meanes to auoyde Gods wrath, & to haue all things restored, is vnfayned repentance.

away from the House of your God.
14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and crie vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the [i] day of the Lord is at hande, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.
16 Is not the meat cut off before our eies? and ioy, and gladnes from the House of our God?
17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.
18 Howe did the beastes mourne? the herds of cattel pine awap, because they haue no pasture, & the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.
19 O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the fielde.
20 The beastes of the fielde crie also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the [k] fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes.

i We see by these great plagues, that vtter destruction is at hand.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

He prophecieth of the comming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moouse them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

1 BLowe [a] the trumpet in Zion, and shout in mine holy Mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.
2 A [b] day of darkenes, and of blackues, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spred vpon the mountaines, so is there a [c] great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeres of many generations.
3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of [d] Eden before him, and behind him a desolate wildernes, so that nothing shall escape him.
4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne.
5 Like the noyse of charets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, & as a mightie people prepared to the battell.
6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces [e] shall gather blackues.
7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall go forward in his wayes, and they shall not stap in their paths.
8 Neither shall one [f] thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fal vpon the sword, they shal not be wounded.
9 They shal runne to and fro in the city: they shal runne vpon the wal: they shal clime vp vpon the houses, & enter in at the windowes like the theefe.
10 The earth shal tremble before him, the heauens shal shake, the [g] sunne and the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shal withdrawe their shining,
11 And the Lord shal [h] vtter his voice before his host: for his host is verp great: for hee is strong that doeth his worde: for the day of the Lorde is great and verp terrible, and who can abide it?
12 Therefore also nowe the Lorde saith, Turne you vnto me with al your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And [i] rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lorde your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euil.
14 Who knoweth, if he will [k] returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen a meate offring, & a drinke offring vnto the Lord your God?
15 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assemblie.
16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the [l] children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegroome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.
17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lorde, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathen should rule ouer them. Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?
18 Then will the Lorde be [m] ielous ouer his land and spare his people.
19 Yea, the Lord will answere & say vnto his people, Beholde, I will sende you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproche among the heathen.
20 But I will remoue farre off from you the [n] Northen armie, and I will driue him into a lande, barein & desolate with his face toward the [o] East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, & his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascende, because he hath exalted him selfe to doe this.
21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will do great things.
22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wildernes are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figtree and the vine do giue their force.
23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lorde your God: for he hath giuen you the raine of [p] righteousnes, & he will cause to come downe

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God againſt the enemies of his people.

1 For behoulde, in [a] thoſe dapes and in that time, when I ſhall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ieruſalem,

2 I wil alſo gather all nations, and will bring them downe into [b] the valley of Iehoſhaphat, & will pleade with them there foꝛ my people, and foꝛ mine heritage Iſrael, whome they haue ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue caſt lottes foꝛ my people, and haue giuen the childe [c] foꝛ the harlot, and ſold the girle foꝛ wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and what [d] haue pou to do with me, O Tyrus & Sidon and all þ coaſtes of Paleſtina? will ye render me [e] a recompence? and if ye recompence me, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I render pour recompence vpon pour head:

5 Foꝛ ye haue taken my ſiluer and my golde, and haue caried into pour temples my goodly and pleaſant things.

6 The children alſo of Iudah and the children of Ieruſalem haue pou ſolde vnto the Grecians, that ye might ſende them farre from their border.

7 Behoulde, I will raiſe them out of the place where ye haue ſolde them, and will render pour rewarde vpon pour owne head,

8 And I will ſell pour ſonnes and pour daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they [f] ſhal ſel them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: foꝛ the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre drawe neere & come vp.

10 [g] Beat pour plowſhares into ſwords, and pour ſiethes into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble pour ſelues, and come all yee heathen and gather pour ſelues together round about: there ſhall the Lorde caſt downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, & come vp to the valley of Iehoſhaphat: foꝛ there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in pour [h] ſiethes, foꝛ the harueſt is ripe: come, get pou downe, foꝛ the winepreſſe is full: yea, the winepreſſes runne ouer, foꝛ their wickednes is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threſhing: foꝛ the day of the Lorde is neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne and moone ſhall bee darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdrawe their light.

16 The Lord alſo ſhal roare out of Sion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the heauens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lord will be the hope [i] of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord pour God dwelling in Sion, mine holy Mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem bee holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers goe [k] through her any more.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines [l] droppe downe new wine, and the hils ſhal flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah ſhal runne with waters, and a fountaine ſhal come forth of þ Houſe of the Lord, and ſhal water the valley of Shittim.

a When I ſhall deliuer my Church, which ſtandeth of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoſhaphat, when as God without mans helpe deſtroyed the enemies, 2.Chro.20.26, alſo he hath reſpect to this worde Iehoſhaphat, which ſignifieth pleading, or iudgement, becauſe God woulde iudge the enemies of his Church as hee did there.

c That which the enemie gate for the ſale of my people, hee beſtowed vpon harlottes and drinke.

d He taketh the cauſe of his Church in hand againſt the enemie, as though the iniurie were doue to himſelf.

e Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

f For afterward God ſolde them by Nebuchadnezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.

g When I ſhall execute my iudgements againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another, for my Church ſake.

h Thus he ſhall incourage the enemies when their wickednes is ful ripe, to deſtroy one another, which he calleth y valley of Gods iudgement.

i God aſſureth his againſt all troubles, that when he deſtroyeth his enemies, his children ſhalbe deliuered.

k The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they do, it is the people which by their ſinnes make y breach for the enemie.

l He promiſeth to his Church abundance of graces, reade the moſt barren Ezek.47.1. which ſhoulde water and comfort places, Amos 9.13.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace.

19 m Egypt shalbe waste, and Edom shal be a desolate wildernes, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shedde innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, & Ierusalem from generatiō to generation.

21 For I will [d] clense their blood, that I haue not clensed, and the Lord wil dwel in Zion.

n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthines, but nowe he promiseth to clense them and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God rayſed vp to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues for their wickednes and Idolatrie, he ſtirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or ſhepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and conſtancie to reproue all eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Meſſiah, by whom they ſhould haue perfite deliuerance and ſaluation.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lorde againſt Damaſcus, 6 The Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

a Which was a towne ſixe miles from Ieruſalem in Iudea, but he prophecied in Iſrael.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt flouriſh.

c Which, as Ioſephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vſurped the Prieſtes office, & therefore was ſmitten with the leproſie.

d Whatſoeuer is fruitful & pleaſant in Iſrael ſhall ſhortly periſh.

e He ſheweth firſt that all the people round about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifolde ſinnes: which are meant by three and foure which make ſeuen, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhould the more deepely conſider Gods iudgemēts toward them.

f If the Syrians ſhal not be feared for committing this crueltie againſt one citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhould eſcape puniſhment, which hath committed ſo many & grieuous ſinnes againſt God & man.

g The antiquitie of their buildings ſhall not auoid my iudgemēts, read Ier. 49. 27.

h Tiglath Pileſer led the Syrians captiue, & brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themſelues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

THE wordes of Amos, who was [a] one of the herdmen [a] at Tecoa, which hee ſawe vpon Iſrael, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and [m] in the dayes of [b] Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh king of Iſrael, two yere before the [c] earthquake.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord ſhall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſheepheardes ſhall periſh, and the toppe of [d] Carmel ſhall wither.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, For [e] three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue [f] thraſhed Gilead with thraſhing inſtruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I ſende a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall deuoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake alſo the barres of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the ſcepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram ſhall go into captiuitie vnto [h] Kir, ſaith the Lord.

6 Thus ſaith the Lorde, For three tranſgreſſions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they [i] carried away priſoners the whole captiuitie to ſhut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I ſende a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it ſhal deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aſhdod, & him that holdeth the ſcepter from Aſhkelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philiſtims ſhall periſh, ſaith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, becauſe they ſhut the whole captiuitie in Edom, & haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant,

10 Therefore will I ſende a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Edom, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, becauſe he did purſue his brother with the ſworde, and did [l] caſt off all pitie, and his anger ſpoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon Teman, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of the children of Ammon, & for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they [m] haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore wil I kindle a fire in [n] the wall of Rabbah, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces thereof, with ſhouting in the day of battell, and with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their king ſhal go into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, ſaith the Lord.

k For Eſau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admoniſhed them of their brotherly friendſhip, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.

l Or, corrupt his compaſſion. He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

m He noteth the great crueltie of the Ammonites that ſpared not the women, but moſt tyrannouſly torméted them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the houſholde of Abraham.

CHAP. II.

Againſt Moab, Iudah, and Iſrael.

1 THus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe it burnt the [a] bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon Moab, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab ſhall die with tumult, with ſhouting, & with the ſound of a trumpet.

a For the Moabites were ſo cruel againſt the king of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, ſeeing they would reuenge themſelues of the dead.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slap all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, [b] I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, & haue not kept his commaundements, & their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of [c] Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer and the poore for [d] shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the [e] dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father wil goe in to a maid to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layde to pledge [f] by euery altar: and they [g] drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the [h] Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and ledde you fourtie yeeres thorow the wildernes, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raysed vp of your sonnes for [i] Prophetes, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am [k] pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the [l] swift, & the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Nor hee that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall hee that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And hee that is of mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords wil, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoyled him & throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being nere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednes.

g They spoyle others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that he will dispence with them when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h The destruction of their enemies and his mercy toward them, should haue caused their heartes to melt for loue toward him.

i Ye contemned my benefites and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophetes.

k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isai. 1. 14.

l None shalbe deliuered by any meanes.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

1 HEare this word that the Lorde pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the lande of Egypt, saying,

2 You [a] only haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be [b] agreed?

4 Will a [c] lion roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpe crie out of his denne, if hee haue taken nothing?

5 [d] Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will hee take vp the [e] snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or [f] shall a trumpet be blowne in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shall there [g] be euil in a citie, & the Lorde hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God wil doe nothing, but he [h] reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afrayde? the Lorde God hath spoken: who can but [i] prophecie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at [k] Ashdod, & in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, & robberie [l] in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the countrey, & shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh [m] out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in [n] Damascus, as in a couche.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lorde God, the God of hostes.

14 Surely in the day that I shal visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shalbe hewen off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of pronoue shall perish, and the great houses shal be consumed, saith the Lord.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, & yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that hee speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth & moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraided?

g Doth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isai. 45. 7.

h God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

i Because y people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth y Gods Spirit moued them so to speak as they did.

k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims & Egyptians to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

l The fruite of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.

m When the lyon hath saciate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge or a tip of an eare, to shewe that the sheepe hath bene worried.

n Where they thought to haue had a sure holde, and to haue bene in safetie.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

1 Heare

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefites, forgate God, and therfore he calleth them by the name of beasts & not of men.
b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to poule them, so that they may haue profit by it.
c He alludeth to fishers which catche fish by hookes and thornes.
d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Reade Deut. 14.28.
f As Leui.7.13.
g You onely delite in these outwarde ceremonies and haue none other respect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meate.
i I staide the raine til the fruites of the earth were destroyed with drought, & yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.
k They coulde not finde water ynough where they had heard say it had rayned.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod 9.10.
m You were almost all consumed, and a fewe of you wonderfully preserued, 2.King.14.26.
n Turne to him by repentance.

1 HEare this woorde, ye [a] kine of Basan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and saye to their masters, [b] Bring, & let vs drinke.
2 The Lorde God hath sworne by his holynes, that lo, the daies shal come vpon you, that he will take you away with [c] thornes, and your posterity with fishe hookes.
3 And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kowe forwarde: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saieth the Lord.
4 Come to [d] Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeres.
5 And offer a thanksgiuing [f] of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offrings: for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saieth the Lord God.
6 And therfore haue I giuen you [h] cleanes of teeth in all your cities, & scarcenes of bread in al your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saieth the Lord.
7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three [i] moneths to the harnest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.
8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were [k] not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saieth the Lord.
9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your olive trees did the palmer woorme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saieth the Lord.
10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of [l] Egypt: your young men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a [m] fire brand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saieth the Lord.
12 Therefore, thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to [n] meete thy God, O Israel.
13 For lo, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lorde God of hostes is his name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

1 HEare ye this woorde, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.
2 The [a] virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raise her vp.
3 For thus saith the Lorde God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an [b] hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.
5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into [c] Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shal go into captiuitie, & Beth-el shall come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, lest he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there be none to quenche it in Beth-el.
7 They turne [d] iudgement to woormes wood, and leaue off righteousnes in the earth.
8 He [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, & powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his name.
9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mighty: and the destroyer shal come against the fortresse.
10 They haue hated him [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.
11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but yee shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyardes, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.
12 For I knowe your manifolde transgressions, and your mighty sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewardes, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.
13 Therefore [h] the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.
14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shalbe with you, as you haue spoken.
15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lorde God of hostes will bee mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.
16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saieth thus, Mourning shalbe in all stretes: and they shall say in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

a He so calleth the because they so boasted of the selues, or because they were giuen to wantonnes & deintines.
b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarsely be saued.
c In these places they worshipped newe idoles, which aforetime serued for the true honour of God: therefore he saith that these shall not saue them.
d Instead of iudgement and equitie they execute cruelrie & oppression.
e He describeth the power of God, Iob.9.9.
f They hate the Prophets, which reproue them in the open assemblies.
g Ye take both his money and also his goode wherewith he should liue.
h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admonish them of their faults.
i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

 17 And

k Thus he ſpeaketh becauſe ſ wicked & hypocrates ſayd they were content to abide gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30.7. ioel. 2. 2,11. zeph. 1.15.

l Becauſe ye haue corrupt my true ſeruice and remaine obſtinate in your vices, Iſai. 1.11. iere. 6.10.

m Do your duetie to God & to your neighbour, and ſo ye ſhall feele his grace plentifully, if you ſhew your abundant affections according to Gods worde.

n That idole which you eſteemed as your King, and caried about, as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certain diuinitie.

17 And in all the vines ſhalbe lamentation: for I will paſſe thorough thee, ſayeth the Lord.

18 Woo vnto you, that k deſire the day of the Lorde: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkenes and not light.

19 As if a man did flée from a lyon, and a beare met him, or went into the houſe and leaned his hand on the wall, and a ſerpent bit him.

20 Shal not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feaſt dayes, and I will not ſmel in your ſolemne aſſemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meat offrings, l I will not accept them: neither wil I regarde the peace offrings of your fat beaſts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy ſonges (for I will not heare the melodie of thy violes)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as m waters, and righteouſnes as a mighty riuer.

25 Haue ye offred vnto me ſacrifices and offrings in the wilderneſs fourty yeres, O houſe of Iſrael?

26 But you haue borne n Sicceth your King and Chiun your images, and the ſtarre of your gods, which ye made to your ſelues.

27 Therefore will I cauſe you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damaſcus, ſayth the Lorde, whoſe Name is the God of hoſtes.

CHAP. VI.

Againſt the princes of Iſrael liuing in pleaſures.

a The Prophet threatneth the welthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b Theſe two cities were famous by their firſt inhabitants the Canaanites: & ſeeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there borne, why ſhould you looke that they ſhoulde ſaue you

1 WOo to a them that are at eaſe in Zion & truſt in the mountaine of Samaria, b which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the houſe of Iſrael came to them.

2 Go you vnto Calneh, & ſee: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then go downe to Gath of the Philiſtims: be c they better then theſe kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border.

3 Ye that put farre away the d euill day, and approche to the ſeate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and ſtretch them ſelues vpon their beddes, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the ſtall.

5 They ſing to the ſound of the viole: they inuent to them ſelues inſtrumentes of muſike like e Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoint them ſelues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is f ſory for the affliction of Ioſeph.

7 Therefore nowe ſhal they goe captiue with the firſt that goe captiue, and g the ſorowe of them ſ ſtretched them ſelues, is at hand.

8 h The Lorde God hath ſworne by him ſelfe, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes, I abhorre i the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one houſe, they ſhall die.

10 And his vncle k ſhall take him vp and burne him to carry out the bones out of the houſe, & ſhall ſay vnto him, that is by the l ſides of the houſe, Is there yet any with thee? And he ſhall ſay, None. Then ſhall he ſay, m Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commaundeth, and he will ſmite the great houſe with breaches, and the litle houſe with clefts.

12 Shall horſes n runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for ye haue turned iudgement into gal, and the fruit of righteouſnes into o wormes wood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye ſay, Haue not we gotten vs rhoines by our owne ſtrength?

14 But beholde, I will raiſe vp againſt you a nation, O houſe of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes: and they ſhall afflict you, from p entring in of Hamath vnto the riuer of the wilderneſs.

which were brought in to dwell in other mens poſſeſſions? c If God haue deſtroyed theſe excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, & of the Philiſtims, & hath brought their wide borders into a greater ſtreightneſſe, then yours yet are, thynke you to bee better or to eſcape? d Yee that continue ſtill in your wickednesſe and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your ſelues to all idleneſſe, wantonneſſe and note.

e As hee cauſed diuers kindes of inſtruments to be made to ſerue Gods glory, ſo theſe did contende to inuent as many to ſerue their wanton affections and luſtes.

f They pitied not their brethren, whereof nowe many were ſlaine and caried away captiue.

g Some reade, the ioy of them that ſtretch thē ſelues, ſhall departe.

h Reade Iere. 51.14.

i That is, the riches and pompe.

k The deſtruction ſhall be ſo great, that none ſhall almoſt be left to burie the dead: and therefore they ſhall burne them at home, to carie out the burnt aſhes with more eaſe.

l That is, to ſome neighbour, that dwelleth round about.

m They ſhalbe ſo aſtoniſhed at this deſtruction, that they ſhal boaſt no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they ſhalbe dumme when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are deſperate or reprobate. n He compareth them to barren rockes whereupon it is in vayne to beſtow labour: ſhewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them. o Reade chap. 5.7. p That is, power and glory, p From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God ſheweth certaine viſions, whereby he ſignifieth the deſtruction of the people of Iſrael. 10 The falſe accuſation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counſell.

1 THus hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto mee, and beholde, hee formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the ſhooting vp of the later growth: and beholde, it was in the later growth b after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the graſſe of the lande, then I ſayde, O Lorde God, ſpare, I beſeeche thee: who ſhall raiſe vp Iaakob? for he is ſmall.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It ſhall not be, ſayth the Lord.

4 Thus alſo hath the Lord God ſhewed vnto me, and beholde, the Lorde God a To deuoure) to vnading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as ſome reade, when the Kings ſhorne.

c That is, ſtayed this plague at called my prayer.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubbernnes of this people.

called to iudgement by fire, d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

e Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.

5 Then saide, I, O Lord God, ceasse, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

f That is, when Amos had prophecied that the King should be destroyed: for this wicked Priest wrote for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue toward the King, thought this accusation sufficient to cõdemne him, where as none other could take place.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, & behold, the Lorde stoode vpon a wall made by line, e with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Izhak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: & I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ f Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shal die by the sword, and Israel shalbe ledde away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also g Amaziah saide vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the lande of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the king, he assayed by an other practise: that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profite.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappel, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophetes sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, & the Lord said vnto me, Go, prophecie vnto my people Israel.

h Hereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in faule for lacke of Gods word, which is the foode thereof.

16 Nowe therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Izhak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, i Thy wife shalbe an harlot in the citie, & thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shalbe deuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles: which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet do by theirs.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

a Which signified the ripenes of their sinnes, and the readines of Gods iudgements.

1 THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of sommer fruite.

2 And he saide, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of sommer a fruit. Then said the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

b There shalbe none left to mourne for them.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that daye, saith the Lorde God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shal cast them forth with b silence.

c By staying the sale of foode and necessarie things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause ỹ poore to spend quickly that litle they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.

4 Heare this, O ye that c swallow vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the d newe moneth be gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make e the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceite?

d When the dearth was once come, they were so greedie of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

6 That we may bye the poore for siluer, & the needie for shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

e That is, the measure small, & the price great.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shal not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholy as a flood, and it shalbe cast out, and f drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the g sunne to go downe at noone: and I wil darken the earth in the cleare day.

g In the middes of their prosperitie, I wil sende great affliction.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnes vpon euery head: & I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

h Whereby hee sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in faule for lacke of Gods word, which is the foode thereof.

12 And they shal wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the h word of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and the young men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne i of Samaria, and that say, Thy god, O Dan, liueth, and k the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

i That is, the idolatrie that Ieroboam set vp.

k That is, the common maner of worshipping and the seruice or religion there vsed.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel.

b Both ỹ chiefe of them and also the common people.

1 I Saw the Lord standing vpon the a altar, and he said, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the b heades of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sworde: he that fleeth of them, shal not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence shal mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring 9 them downe.

c He sheweth that God wil declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shalbe enemies to destroy them.
3 And though they hide themselues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shal bite them.
4 And though they go into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them:
and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.
d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God, by the making of the heauens & the elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.
5 And the Lord God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholy like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.
6 Hee buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, and hath layde the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth.

die by the sworde, which say, The euill nacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, & close vp the breaches thereof, and I will tie of my people of Israel: and they shal builde the waste cities, & inhabite them, and they shal plant vineyards, & drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans, which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, & therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundrie kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were nowe in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, & to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, whuch he had promised.

a God hath certainely reuealed to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Iere. 49.14.
b Thus the heathen incourage themselues to rise against Edom.
c Which despiseſt all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet art but an handfull in comparison of others, and art shut vp among the hilles as separate from the rest of the world.

1 THe [a] visiõ of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, [a] We haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, &
[b] let vs rise vp against her to battell.
2 Behold, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.
3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath decei-ued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?
4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the egle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith
the Lord.
d Came there thees to thee or robbers by night? howe wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stollen, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?
6 Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?
7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy [e] bread, haue layd a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.
8 Shall not I in that daye, saith the Lorde, euen destroy the wise men out
d God will so destroy them that he wil leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but til they haue ynough, & they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behind them, Iere. 49.9.
e They in whom thou diddest trust, for to haue help and friendship of them, f That is, thy familiar friendes and ghestes haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom nowe hee comforteth by punishing their enemies.

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shalbee afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy [g] brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and haddest parte of the spoile, and so didest reioyce whē my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

11 When thou stoodest [h] on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lottes vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made [i] a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudely in the day of affliction.

i When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, & gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layed handes on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stande in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that shoulde escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant therof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day [k] of the Lorde is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy rewarde shall returne vpon thine head.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

16 For as ye haue [l] drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shal all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swalow vp, and they shalbe [m] as though they had not bene.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shalbe vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reserue my Church and restore it.

17 But vpon mount Sion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, n God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to him self, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall be [n] a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, & the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

o He describeth how the church shalbe enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefely is accomplished vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lordes

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the [o] mount of Esau: and the plaine of the Philistims, and they shal possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the [p] Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shal possesse the cities of the South.

p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

21 And they [q] that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Sion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lordes.

q Meanyng, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lorde and head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen Ionah had long prophecied in Israel, and had litle profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. Hee prophecied vnder Ioash, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preache. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

a After that he had preached a long time in Israel and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophecied in Iuda, hee had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1.

1 THe worde of the Lorde came [a] also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to [b] Nineueh, that [c] great citie, and crie against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, hee sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authors write, it contained in circuite about eyght and fourtie mile, and had a thousande and fiue hundred towres, and at this time there were an hundreth and twentie thousande children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

3 But Ionah rose vp to [d] flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to [e] Iaphe: and he founde a ship going to Tarshish: so he payd the fare therof, & went downe into it, that d Whereby he declared his weakenesse, that would not promptly followe the Lordes calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which persuaded him that hee should nothing at all profite there, seeing he had done so smal good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

e Which was the hauen and porte to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

he

he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would haue assisted him.

4 But the Lorde sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the shippe, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe g into the sides of the shippe, and he lay downe, and was fast a sleepe.

g As one that would haue cast off this care, and solicitude by seking rest and quietnesse.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy h God, if so be that GOD will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

h As they had called on their idoles, which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeke, they can not tell to whom.

7 And they said euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast i lottes, that we may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

i Which declared that the matter was in great extremitie, and dout, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs: what is thine occupation? and whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lorde God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the drie land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought & was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, k We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lorde, hast done, as it pleased thee.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they knowe no manifest signe of wickednes.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men l feared the Lorde exceedingly, and offred a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whom they sawe themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods worde.

17 Now the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swalowe vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the m belly of the fish three daies, and three nightes.

m That the Lorde would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

a Being nowe swallowed vp of death, & seeing no remedie to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lorde, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God a out of the fishes belly,

2 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lorde, and he heard mee: out of the belly b of hell cryed I, and thou hearedst my voyce.

b For he was now in the fishes belly as in a graue or place of darkenesse.

3 For thou haddest cast me into the bottome in the mids of the sea, & the floods compassed mee about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgemēts for the same: but yet in the ende faith gate the victorie.

4 Then I said, I am c cast away out of thy sight: yet wil I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my d life from the pit, O Lorde my God.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the bellie of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were raising me from death to life.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lorde: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.

8 They that wayte vpon lying e vanities, forsake their owne f mercie.

f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnes which they shoulde els receiue of God.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lorde spake vnto the fishe, & it cast out Ionah vpon the dry lande.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercie, & hee receiueth him againe and sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

ANd the worde of the Lorde came vnto a Ionah the seconde time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preache vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a b great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

b Read Chap. 1.2

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes c iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumme beaſts had ſinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be aſtoniſhed, conſidering that for his ſinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

f He willed, that the men ſhould earneſtly call vnto God for mercy.

g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conſcience, he douted whether God woulde ſhew them mercie.

ned God and proclaimed a faſt, and put on ſackecloth from the greateſt of them euen to the leaſt of them.

6 For worde came vnto the king of Niniueh, and he roſe from his throne, and layde his robe from him, and couered him with ſackecloth, and ſate in aſhes.

7 And he proclaimed and ſayd through Niniueh, (by the counſell of the king & his nobles) ſaying, Let neither mã, nor beaſt, bullocke nor ſheepe taſte any thing, neyther feede nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beaſt put on ſackecloth, and f crye mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill waye, and from the wickednes that is in their handes.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we periſh not?

10 And God ſawe their h woorkes that they turned from their euill wayes: and i God repented of the euill that he had ſayd that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

h That is, the fruites of their repentance, which did proceede of faith which God had planted by the miniſterie of his Prophet. i Reade Ierem. 18.8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnes of God toward his creatures.

1 THerefore it diſpleaſed a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and ſayde, I praye thee, O Lorde, was not this my ſaying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarſhish: for I knewe that thou art a gratious God, and merciful, ſlowe to anger, and of great kindeneſſe, and repenteſt thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beſeech thee, my life from mee: for it is better for me to dye then to liue.

4 Then ſaid the Lord, Doeſt thou well to be c angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the citie & ſate on the Eaſt ſide of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and ſate vnder it in the ſhadowe d till he might ſee what ſhould be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a e gourd, & made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a ſhadow ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourde.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning roſe the next day, and it ſmote the gourde, that it withered.

8 And when the ſunne did ariſe, God prepared alſo a feruent Eaſt winde: & the ſunne bet vpon the head of Ionah, that he fainted, and wiſhed in his heart to dye, and ſayd, It is better for me to dye, then to liue.

9 And God ſaid vnto Ionah, Doeſt thou well to be angry for the gourde? And he ſayde, I do well to be f angry vnto the death.

10 Then ſayd the Lorde, Thou haſt had pitie on the gourde for the which thou haſt not laboured, neyther madeſt it growe, which came vp in a night, and periſhed in a night,

11 And ſhoulde g not I ſpare Niniueh that great citie, wherein are ſixe ſcore thouſand perſons, that h cannot diſcerne betwene their right hand, and their left hand, and alſo much cattel?

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing leſt Gods name by this forgiuenes might be blaſphemed, as though hee ſent his prophets forth to denoſice his iudgements in vayne.

d Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glory, and when I do not?

e For he douted as yet whether God would ſhew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourty dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what iſſue God would ſend.

f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heate of the ſunne, as he remayned in his boothe.

g This declareth the great inconueniences wherein to Gods ſeruants do fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly ſubmit themſelues to God.

h Thus God mercifully reproueth him, which would pitie himſelf and this gourde, and yet would reſtrayne God to ſhew his compaſſion to ſo many thouſande people. i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

MIcah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſerued in the woorke of the Lorde, concerning Iudah and Iſrael, at the leaſt thirtie yeeres: at what time Iſaiah prophecied. He declareth the deſtruction, firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifolde wickednes, but chiefely for their idolatrie. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the cruelties of the princes and gouernours, and the permiſſion of the falſe prophets, and the delite in them. Then he ſetteth foorth the comming of Chriſt, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah which reſiſted Ahab, and all his falſe prophets, as 1. King. 22. 8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah & Iſrael becauſe of their idolatrie.

1 THe worde of the Lorde, that came vnto Micah the a Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kynges of Iudah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria and Ieruſalem.

2 Heare, b all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lorde God be witneſſe againſt you, euen the Lorde from his holie Temple.

a Borne in Mareſhah a citie of Iudah.

b Becauſe of the malice and obſtinacie of the people whome he had ſo oft exhorted to repentance, he ſummoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures, and God himſelfe to witneſſe, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abuſed, ſhalbe reuenged.

3 For

3 For behold, the Lorde commeth out of his place, & will come c downe, & treade vpon the hye places of the earth.
4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so that the valleys cleane) as waxe before the fire, & as the waters that are powred downeward.
5 For the wickednes of Iaakob is al this, & for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the hye e places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?
6 Therefore I wil make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyarde, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I wil discouer the foundations thereof.
7 And all the graue images therof shalbe broken, and all the f gifts thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, & al the idoles therof will I destroye: for he gathered it of the hyre of an harlot, and they shall returne it to the wages of an harlot.
8 Therefore I wil mourne and howle: I will go without clothes, & naked: I wil make lamentation like the dragons, & mourning as the ostriches.
9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come vnto Iudah: he enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.
10 Declare yee it not at g Gath, neyther weepe ye: for ye house of h Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.
11 Thou i dwellest at k Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: she l dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie shall receiue of you for his standing.
12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lorde vnto the m gate of Ierusalem.
13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, bynde the charet to the beast: n of price: she o is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.
14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth p Gath: p houses of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the kings of Israel.
15 Yet will I bring an q heire vnto thee, O inhabitat of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, r the glory of Israel.
16 Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldenes as the egle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

c Meaning hereby that God wil come to iudgement against the strong cities and holdes.
d Samaria, which should haue bene an example to al Israel of true religion and iustice, was the puddle, and stewes of all idolatrie & corruption, and boasted themselues of their father Iaakob.
e That is, of idolatrie & infection.
f Which they gathered by euil practises, and thoughe they their idoles had enriched them therwith for their seruice vnto the.
g The gaine that came by their idoles, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.
h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.
i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem, Ios. 18.23 there called Ophrah, and signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust, for their dusty citie.
k These were cities whereby the enemie should passe as he came to Iudah.
l He shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.
m For Rabshakeh had shut vp Ierusalem, that they could not send to succour them.
n To flee away: for Sancherib layde siege first to that citie, and remayned therein when he sent his captaines, and army against Ierusalem.
o Thou first receyuedst the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and so didst infect Ierusalem.
p Thou shalt bribe the Philistims thy neyghbours, but they shal deceiue thee, as wel as they of Ierusalem.
q He prophecieth against his owne citie, and because it signified an heritage, he sayth that God woulde sende an heyre to possesse it.
r For so they thought themselues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the wanton and deyntie people. 6 They would teache the Prophets to preach.

1 WO vnto them, that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednesse a vpon their beddes: when the morning is light they practise it because their hand hath power.
2 And they couet fieldes, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.
3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, wherout ye shal not pluck your neckes, and ye shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euil.
4 In that day shal they take vp a parable against you, & lament with a doleful lamentation, and saye, b We be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the possession of my people: howe hath he taken it away to restore it vnto mee? he hath deuided our fieldes.
5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shal cast a corde by lot in c the Congregation of the Lord.
6 d They that prophecied, prophecie ye not. e They shal not prophecie to them, neither shal they take shame.
7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortned? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him f that walketh vprightly?
8 But he that was h yesterday my people, is risen vp on y other side, as against an enemie: they spoyle the i beautifull garment frō them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.
9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, & from their children haue ye taken away k my glory continually.
10 Arise and depart, for this is not your l rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.
11 If a man m walke in the Spirite, and woulde lye falsely, saying, n I will prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen bee the prophet of this people.
12 I will surely gather o thee wholly, O Iaakob: I wil surely gather p remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cities shall be full of hunte of the men.
13 The p breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall go before them, and the Lorde of his glory.

a Assoone as they ryse, they execute their wicked deuices of the night, and according to their power hurt others.
" Ebr. in power.
b Thus the Iewes lament & say that there is no hope of restitution, seeyng their possessions are deuided among the enemies.
c Ye shall haue no more landes to deuide, as you had in times past and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.
d Thus the people warne the Prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.
e God saith, that they shall not prophecie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.
f Are these your workes according to his law?
g Do not the godly finde my words comfortable?
h That is, aforetime.
i The poore can haue no cōmoditie by them, but they spoyle them, as though they were enemies.
k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, & as it were, part of his glory.
l Ierusalem shall not be your safegarde: but the cause of your destruction.
m That is, shewe himselfe to be a Prophet.
n He sheweth what prophets they delite in: that is, in flatterers, which tel them pleasant tales, & speake of their cōmodities.
o To destroy thee.
p The enemie shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea.

shalbe

q To driue them forwarde, and to helpe their enemies.

shalbe upon their heades.

CHAP. III.

Against the tyrannie of princes & false prophetes.

1 AND I said, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinnes from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the b flesh of my people, & flay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones, & choppe them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then c shall they crie vnto the LORDE, but he will not heare them: yea he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus saith the LORDE, Concerning the prophetes that deceiue my people, and d bite them with their teeth, & crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore e night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenes shal be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shal goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer f their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full g of power by the Spirit of the LORDE, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with h blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teache for hire, and the prophetes therof prophecie for money: yet will they i leane vpon the LORDE, and say, Is not the LORDE among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be k plowed as a fielde, and Ierusalem shal be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, & also to discharge your owne conscience?

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours, not onely of couetousnes, theft and murther, but copareth them to wolues, lions, and most cruel beastes.

c That is, when I shal visite their wickednes: for though I heare the godly before they crie, Isa.65. 24. yet I will not heare these though they crie Isa.1.15. ezek.8. 18. iam.2.13. 1 pet.3.11,12.

d They deuoure al their substãce, and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darkenesse, & to prophecie lies, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnes, & ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blind men grope as in the night. f When God shall discouer them to the worlde, they shall be afraid to speake: for all shall knowe that they were but false prophetes, and did belie the worde of God. g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing howe God both gaue him giftes, habilitie, and knowledge to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by briberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie. k Reade Ieremiah 26.18.

CHAP IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

1 BVt in the a last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the LORDE shalbe prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shall be exalted aboue the b hilles, and people shall flowe vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come & say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the LORDE, and to the House of the God of Iaakob, and he wil c teache vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Lawe shall goe forth of Zion, and the worde of the LORDE from Ierusalem.

3 And he shall iudge among many people, and d rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their swordes into mattockes, and their speares into e sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they f learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraide: for the mouth of the LORDE of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke g euery one in the name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the LORDE our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the LORDE, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, h a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the LORD shall reigne ouer them in Mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O i towre of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen k the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Nowe why dost thou crie out with lamentation? is l there no King in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorowe and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou go forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the LORDE shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, & our eye shall looke vpō Zion.

12 But they m knowe not the thoughtes a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shal be destroyed.

b Reade Isa.2.2.

c He sheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure worde.

d By his correctiõs & threatnings hee will bring the people into subiection which are in the vtmost corners of the worlde.

e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise them selues in godlines and in well doing to others.

f Reade Isai.2.4.

g Hee sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the world should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatrie.

h I will cause that Israel, which is nowe as one lame & halting, and so almost destroyed, shall liue againe and growe into a great people.

i Meaning Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ. l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations, when they sawe them selues neither to haue king nor counsell. m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the bragges and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance,

n God giueth his Church this victorie so oft as he ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shalbe at the last comming of Christ.

of the Lorde: they vnderstande not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, a O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

1 NOwe assemble thy garisons, O daughter a of garisons: hee hath layed siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rodde vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah are b little to be among the thousandes of Iudah, yet out of thee shall hee come forth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel: whose c goinges forth haue bene from the beginning & from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that d shee which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And hee shall e stande, and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lorde his God, and they shall dwell still: for nowe shall hee be magnified vnto the endes of the worlde.

5 And he f shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our lande: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepherdes, and eight principal men.

6 And they shall destroy g Asshur with the swoorde, and the lande of Nimrod with their swoordes: thus shall he b deliuer vs from Asshur, when he commeth into our land, and when he shall treade within our borders.

7 And the i remnant of Iaakob shall be among many people, as a dewe from the Lorde, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that wayteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shall be among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beastes of the forest, & as the lions whelpe among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorowe, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hande shalbe lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lorde, that I will cut off thine h horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthowe all thy strong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more sothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the midst of thee: and thou shalt no more worshippe the worke of thine handes.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, k which they haue not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde. 6 What maner of sacrifices doe please God.

1 HEarken ye nowe what the Lorde saith, Arise thou, and contend before the a mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lordes quarel, & ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lorde hath a quarell against his people, and hee will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I b brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember nowe what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from c Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may knowe the d rightes of the Lord.

6 Wherewith e shall I come before the Lorde, and bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a peere olde?

7 Will the Lorde be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousande a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shall come, before they enioy these comfortes, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lord woulde now cause other garisons to vexe her, and that her Rulers shoulde be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

b For so the Iewes deuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth-leem was not able to make a thousande, he calleth it litle, but yet God will raise vp his captaine & gouernour therein: & thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite, as Matth. 2. 6.

c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d Hee compareth the Iewes to women with childe, who for a time shoulde haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Iohn. 16. 21.

e That is, Christes kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people, aswell the Gentiles as the Iewes shall dwel in safetie.

f This Messiah shalbe a sufficient sauegarde for vs, and though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shalbe able to deliuer vs.

g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our lande.

i This Remnant or Church which God shall deliuer, shall onely depende on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the fielde, and not on the hope of man.

k I will destroy al things wherin thou putteste thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee.

l It shalbe so terrible that the like hath not bene heard of.

a He taketh the hie mountaines & hard rocks to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, & also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, the trueth of his promises & his manifolde benefites towarde you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske howe to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites wil offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoid his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections & to giue themselues willingly to serue God as he commãdeth.

g The Prophet in fewe wordes calleth them to the obseruation of the second table, to knowe if they will obey God aright, or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to do this.

h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestie, & consider not the mortal man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem.

k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe & euils.

l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to saue her men, as they that lay holde on that which they would preserue.

m You haue receiued all the corruption & idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri & Ahab his sonne: & to excuse your doings, you alledge the Kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisdome and policie in so doing, but you shal not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, & taken you for my people, so shal your plagues be accordingly, Luk. 12. 47.

riners of oile: shal I giue my ſ first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my body for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lorde requireth of thee: g surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walk with thy God.

9 The Lords voice crieth vnto the h citie, and the man of wisedome shall see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednes in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, & the bag of deceitful weights?

12 For the riche men i thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitantes thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, & in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and k thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou l shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sworde.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the olives, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the m statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I shoulde make thee waste, and the inhabitantes thereof an hissing: therefore yee shall beare the reproche of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the smal number of the righteous. 4 The wickednes of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which cõplaineth that all her fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, ſ there is no godly man remayning: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

1 WO is me, for I am as a the sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for ſ euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as e a briar, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the daye of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shalbe their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friende, neyther put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter ryseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in lawe, & a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore g I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wayte for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, h O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenes, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntill he plead my cause, & execute iudgment for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shal see his righteousnes.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shal couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall beholde her: nowe shall shee be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 This is i the daye, that thy walles shall be built: this day shal driue farre away k the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Ashur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of m their inuentions.

14 n Feede thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 o According to the dayes of thy coming out of the lande of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shal see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p lape b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge & the riche man are linked together, all to doe euill and to cloke the doings one of another.

c That is, the riche man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes nor injurie.

d These men agree among themselues and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

e They that are of most estimation & are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and bryers to pricke.

f Meaning, of the Prophets & gouernours.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils is to flee vnto God for succour.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

i Towit, when God shal shewe himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruel empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they ſ were enemies afore, shal come out of al the corners of the world vnto her, so that neyther holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shal be able to let them.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which can not sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednes.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitarie places in Babylon, & to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people as he had bin aforetime.

p They shalbe as dumme men and dare bragge no more.

their

q They shalbe astonished, and afrayde to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction.

17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afrayde of the Lorde our God, and shall feare because of thee.

r They shall fall flat on ỹ ground for feare.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh awap iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? Hee retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercy pleaseth him.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he wil subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

t Meaning, of his elect.

20 Thou wilt performe thy u trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast swoine vnto our fathers in olde time.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promes by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and ready to receyue the worde of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to encrease their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begunne, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies shoulde be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

a Reade Isai. 13.1.

b The vision or reuelatiõ, which God cõmanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuites.

d Meaning, of his glory.

e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer asswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he defer it.

f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasiõ to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force & iustice.

g If all creatures be at Gods commandement and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?

h Lest the faithful should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies apperteine vnto them, & that he hath care ouer them.

1 THe a burden of Nineueh. b The booke of the vision of Nahum ỹ c Elkeshite.

2 God is d iealous, & the Lorde reuengeth: the Lorde reuengeth: euen the Lorde e of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The f Lorde is slowe to anger, but he is great in power, & will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his wap in the whirlewinde, and in the stoorme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the worlde, and all that dwell therein.

6 g Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good h & as a strong holde in the daye of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will vtterly destroy the i place thereof, & darkenes shal pursue his enemies.

i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lye in perpetuall darknes, & neuer recouer their strength againe.

9 What do ye k imagine against ỹ Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shal not rise vp the second time.

k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that he should not neede to returne the second time.

10 For he shal come as vnto l thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennes: they shalbe deuoured as stubble fully dryed.

l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes ỹ pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shalbe nothing able to resist him.

11 There m commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

m Which may be vnderstande eyther of Sanecherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.

12 Thus saieth the Lorde, Though they be n quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he wil destroy them: notwithstãding he cõforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.

13 For nowe I wil breake his yoke from thee, and wil burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be o sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, & the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

o Meaning, Sanecherib, who shoulde haue no more children, but be slayne in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19. 36, 37. Isa. 52.7. rom. 10.15.

15 p Behold vpon ỹ mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, perfourme thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sanecherib.

CHAP. II.

Hee deſcribeth the victories of the Caldeans againſt the Aſſyrians.

1 THe a deſtroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loines ſtrong: increaſe thy ſtrength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath b turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glorie of Iſrael: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and c marred their vine branches.

3 The ſhield of his mightie men is made red: d the valiant men are in ſcarlet: the charets ſhalbe as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and e the firre trées ſhal tremble.

4 The charets ſhall rage in the ſtreets: they ſhall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they ſhall ſeeme like lampes: they ſhal ſhoote like the lightning.

5 f He ſhall remember his ſtrong men: they ſhal ſtumble as they goe: they ſhal make haſte to the wall thereof, and the defence ſhalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the riuer ſhalbe opened, and the palace ſhal melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene ſhalbe led away captiue, and her maids ſhall leade her as with the voice of doues, ſmiting vpon their breſts.

8 But Nineueh is g of olde like a poole of water: yet they ſhal flee away. Stand, ſtand, ſhal they crye: but none ſhall looke backe.

9 h Spoile ye the ſilner, ſpoile the golde: for there is none end of the ſtore, & glorie of al the pleaſant veſſels.

10 i She is emptie and voide and waſte, and the heart melteth, and the knées ſmite together, & ſorowe is in all loines, & the faces k of the al gather blackneſs.

11 Where is the l dwelling of the lyons, & the paſture of the lyons whelps: where the lyon, & the lioneſſe walked, & the lyons whelpe, & none made them afraid.

12 The lyon did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and wonred for his lioneſſe, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with ſpoyle.

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, & I wil burne her charets in the m ſmoke, & the ſworde ſhal deuoure thy yong lyons, & I will cut off thy ſpoile from the earth, & the voyce of thy n meſſengers ſhal no more be heard.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readines to deſtroy the Aſſyrians: and the Prophet deſcribeth the enterpriſes of the Aſſyrians, which prepared to reſiſt him.

b Seeing God hath puniſhed his owne people Iudah & Iſrael, he wil now puniſh the enemies by whome he ſcourged them, reade Iſa. 10. 12.

c Signifying, that the Iſraelites were vtterly deſtroyed.

d Both to feare the enemie, and alſo that they themſelues ſhoulde not ſo ſoone eſpy blood one of another to diſcourage them.

e Meaning, their ſpeares ſhoulde ſhake and craſh together.

f Then the Aſſyrians ſhal ſeek by all meanes to gather their power, but all things ſhall faile them.

g The Aſſyrians wil flatter them ſelues and ſay, that Nineueh is ſo ancient that it can neuer periſh, and is as a fiſhpoole, whoſe waters they that walke on the bankes can not touche, but they ſhalbe ſcattered, and ſhall not looke backe though men would call them.

h God commandeth the enemies to ſpoile Nineueh, and promiſeth them infinite riches and treaſures.

i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof ſhalbe after this ſort.

k Reade Ioel. 2. 6.

l Meaning, Nineueh, whoſe inhabitants were cruel like the lyons, and giuen to all oppreſſion, and ſpared no violence or tyrannie to ſpoile for their wiues and children.

m That is, as ſoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.

n Signifying the heraldes, which were accuſtomed to proclaime warre. Some reade of thy gumme-teeth, wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruiſe the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can eſcape the hand of God.

1 OBloodie citie, it is all full of lyes, and robberie: a the pray departeth not:

2 The noyſe of a whippe, b and the noiſe of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horſes, and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horſeman lifteth vp both the bright ſworde, and the glittering ſpeare, and a multitude is ſlaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their corpſes: they ſtumble vpon their carpſes,

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the fornications of the c harlot that is beautiful, and is a maiſtreſſe of witchcraft, and ſelleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, & wil diſcouer thy ſkirts vpon thy face, and will ſhewe the nations thy filthines, and the kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And I wil caſt filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gaſing ſtocke.

7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that all they that looke vpon thee, ſhal flee from thee, and ſay, Nineueh is deſtroyed, who wil haue pitie vpon her? where ſhal I ſeeke comforters for thée?

8 Art thou better then d No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters rounde about it? whoſe ditch was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were e her helpers.

10 Yet was ſhe caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of all the ſtreetes: and they caſt lottes for her noble men, and al her mightie men were bound in chaines.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt be dronken: thou ſhalt hide thy ſelfe, and ſhalt ſeeke helpe becauſe of the enemie.

12 All thy ſtrong cities ſhalbe like figge trees with the firſt ripe figs: for if they be ſhaken, they fal into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy lande ſhall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire ſhall deuoure thy barres.

14 Drawe thee waters for the ſiege: fortifie thy ſtrong holdes: goe into the clape, and temper the mortar: make ſtrong bricke.

15 There ſhall the fire deuoure thée: the ſworde ſhal cut thee off: it ſhal eate thee vp like the f locuſtes, though thou bee multiplied like the locuſtes, & multiplied like the graſhopper.

16 Thou haſt multiplied thy marchants aboue the ſtarres of heauen: the locuſt ſpoyleth and fleeth away.

17 Thy princes are as the graſhoppers, and a It neuer ceaſeth to ſpoyle and robbe.

b He ſheweth how the Caldeans ſhall haſte, & howe courageous their horſes ſhall be in beating the ground whē they come againſt the Aſſyrians.

c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and ſubtiltie intiſeth young men, and bringeth them to deſtruction.

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with ſo many nations, and yet was now deſtroyed.

e Or, ſhine.

f Signifying, that Gods iudgements ſhould ſuddenly deſtroy the Aſſyrians, as theſe vermine are with rayne or change of weather.

and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flie away and their place is not knowen where they are.

f Thy princes & counsellers.

18 Thy fshepheards doe sleepe, O king of Assyria: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wounde: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the bruite of thee, shall clap the hands ouer thee: for vpon gwhom hath not thy malice passed continually?

g Meaning, that there was no people, to whom ♄ Assyrians had not done hurt

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, & the miserable oppression of the godly, which indure al kind of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans shoulde come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbernnes and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shalbe at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithful to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

1 THe burden, when Habakkuk the Prophete did see.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God & bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in stead here of raigneth crueltie, theft, contention & strife.

2 O Lord, how long shal I crie, and thou wilt not heare! euen crie out vnto thee afor violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doest thou shewe me iniquitie, and cause mee to beholde sorowe? for spoyling, and violence are before me: & there are that raise vp strife & contention.

b To suppresse him if any should shew him selfe zealous of Gods cause.

4 Therefore the lawe is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer go forth: for the wicked doth bcompasse about the righteous: therefore cwrong iudgement proceedeth.

c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as euil as they rest.

5 Beholde among the heathen, & regard, and wonder, and marualle: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: dye will not beleeue it, though it be tolde you.

d As in times past you woulde not beleeue gods word, so shal yee not now beleeue the straunge plagues which are at hand.

6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall go vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and feareful: etheir iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of them selues.

e They themselues shalbe your iudges in this cause, and none shal haue authoritie ouer them to control them. Zeph. 3. 3.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the eeuening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shal come from farre: they shall flie as the egle hasting to meate.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an cEastwinde, and they shal gather the captiuitie, gas the sand.

g They shalbe so many in number.

10 And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shall be a skorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather hdust, and take it.

h They shall cast vp mounts against it.

11 Then shall they itake a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithful ♄ God wil also destroy the Babylonians, because they shal abuse this victorie and become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

12 Art not thou of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall knot die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

k He assureth ♄ godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can do no more then God hath appointed, & also that their sinnes required such a sharp rod.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the lfishes of the sea, and as the creeping thinges, that haue no ruler ouer them?

l So that the great deuoureth the smal and ♄ Caldeans destroy al the world.

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catche it in their net, & gather it in their parne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their mnet, & burne incense vnto their parne, because by them their portion is fat and their meat plenteous.

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter them selues, and glorie in their owne force, power, and wit.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slaye nthe nations?

n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, 5 Against pride, couetousnes, drunkennes and idolatrie.

I Wil stand vpon my awatche, and set me vpon the towre, and wil looke and see what he woulde saye vnto me, and what I shal answere to him that rebuketh me.

a I wil renounce mine own iudgement, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shal answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

2 And the Lorde answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne bthat readeth it.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though god execute not according to mans hastie affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.

d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom. 1. 17. galat. 3. 11. heb. 10. 38.

e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, & make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godlie, and against the Caldeans.

f Signifying, that all ỹ world shal wish the destruction of tyrants, & that by their oppression, and couetousnes they heape but vpon thẽselues more heauy burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifiyng that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as hee thinketh to enrich it by crueltie and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come, and destroy all their labours, a- though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare through all the worlde.

m Hee reproacheth thus the King of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnes and crueltie, so he prouoked others to the same, & inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glorie of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the c last it shall speake, and not lye: though it tarie, waite for it, shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Beholde, d he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, in deede ỹ proud man is as e he that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerbe against him, & say, Vo, he that encreaseth that which is not his: f howe long? & he that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall g they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? & awake, that shall sturre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the lande, in the cutie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Vo, he that coueteth an euill couetousnes to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou h hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the i stone shall crye out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Vo vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a cutie by iniquitie.

13 Beholde, is it not of the k Lord of hoste that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen weary themselues for verie vanitie.

14 For the earth shall l be filled with the knowledge of the glorie of the Lorde, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Vo vnto him that giueth his neighbour m drinke: thou powrest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame n for glorie: drinke thou also, & be made naked: the cup of the Lordes right hand shalbe turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glorie.

17 For the o crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shal the spoyle of the beasts, which made them afrayde, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the lande, in the citie, and vnto all that dwel therein.

18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker therof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lyes, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles.

19 Vo vnto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: q behold, it is laid ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lorde is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that ỹ like crueltie shalbe executed against them.

p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blocks or stones, reade Ierem. 10. 8.

q If thou wilt consider what it is, and howe that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

CHAP. III.

2 A prayer for the fatl full.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the a ignorances.

2 b O Lord, I haue heard thy voice, and was afrayde: O Lorde, reuiue thy c work in the middes of the people, in the midst of the yeres make it knowne: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from d Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glorie couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

4 And his brightnes was as ỹ light: e he had homes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, & burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stoode and measured the earth: he beheld and dissolued the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the auncient hilles did bowe: his f wayes are euerlasting.

7 I For his iniquitie I saw the tentes of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angrie against the h riuers? or was thine anger against the floodes? or was thy wrath against the sea, ỹ thou didest ride i vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy k bow was manifestly reuealed, & the l othes of ỹ tribes were a sure word, now as it was then. c Whereby is meant a power, that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reuealed in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31. 16.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afraide when they heard Gods threatnings, & prayed.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were nere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he woulde deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this King of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgemẽt, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3. 10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7. 22.

h Meaning, that God was not angrie w the waters, but that by this meanes he woulde destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church.

i And so diddest vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renued it with his posteritie.

m Read Nom. 20.11.

Selah, thou [m] diddeſt cleaue the earth with riuers.

n He alludeth to the red ſea & Iorden, which gaue paſſage to Gods people, & ſhewed ſignes of their obedience, as it were by liſting vp of their handes.

10 The mountaines ſawe thee, and they trembled: the ſtreame of the water [n] paſſed by: the deepe made a noyſe, and lift vp his hand on hie.

o As appeareth Ioſh. 10.12.

11 The [o] ſunne & moone ſtood ſtill in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright ſhining of thy ſpeares.

p According to thy commandement the ſunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cauſe, as though it durſt not goe forward.

12 Thou trodeſt down the land in anger, and diddeſt threſh the heathē in diſpleaſure.

13 Thou wenteſt forth for the ſaluation of thy people, euen for ſaluation with thine [q] Anoynted: thou haſt wounded the head of the houſe of the wicked, and diſcouereadſt the foundations vnto the [r] necke, Selah.

q Signifyng that there is no ſaluation, but by Chriſt.

14 Thou dideſt [ſ] ſtrike thorow with his owne ſtaues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirlewind to ſcatter me: their reioycing was as to deuour the poore ſecretly.

r From the top to the toe thou haſt deſtroyed the enemies. ſ God deſtroyed his enemies both great & ſmal with their owne weapons, though they were neuer ſo fierce againſt his Church.

15 Thou diddeſt walke in the ſea with thine horſes vpon the heape of great waters.

t He returneth to that which he ſpake in the ſecond verſe, and ſheweth how he was afraide of Gods iudgements.

16 When I [t] heard, my bellie trembled: my lyppes ſhooke at the voyce: rottēneſs entred into my bones, and I trembled in my ſelfe, that I might reſt in [u] the day of trouble: for when hee commeth vp [x] vnto the people, he ſhall deſtroy them.

u He ſheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true reſt, except thei feele before ỹ weight of Gods iudgements.

17 For the figtrée ſhall not flouriſh, neither ſhall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the olive ſhall faile, & the fieldes ſhall yeelde no meate: the ſheepe ſhalbe cut off from the folde, & there ſhal be no bullocke in the ſtalles.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly ſhall be quiet, knowing that all things ſhall turne to good vnto them.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy [y] in the God of my ſaluation.

19 The Lord God is my ſtrength, he wil make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. [z] To the chiefe ſinger on Negionothai.

y He declareth wherein ſtandeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they ſee neuer ſo great afflictions prepared.

z The chief ſinger vpon the inſtruments of muſike ſhal haue occaſion to praiſe God for his great deliuerance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth ỹ great iudgement of God, which was at hand, ſhewing ỹ their countrey ſhould be vtterly deſtroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophecied of Gods vengeance againſt their enemies, as the Philiſtims, Moabites, Aſſyrians and others, to aſſure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked ſhould be puniſhed for their ſinnes and tranſgreſſions: ſo he exhorteth the godly to patience, & to truſt to find mercie by reaſon of the free promes of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God ſhew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they ſhould be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatnings againſt Iudah and Ieruſalem, becauſe of their idolatrie.

2. King. 22.1. 2. King. 21.19.

1 THe worde of the Lorde, which came vnto Zephaniah the ſonne of Cuſhi, the ſonne of Gedaliah, the ſonne of Amariah, the ſonne of Vizkiah, in the dayes of [a] Ioſiah, the ſonne of [a] Amon king of Iudah.

a Not that God was angry with theſe dumme creatures, but becauſe mā was ſo wicked for whoſe cauſe they were created, God maketh thē to take part of the puniſhment with him.

2 I wyll ſurely deſtroy all thinges from off the lande, ſaith the Lord.

3 I will deſtroye man and beaſt: I will deſtroy the [a] foules of the heauen, and the fiſhes of the ſea, and rumes ſhal be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the lande, ſaith the Lorde.

b Which were an order of ſuperſtitious prieſts appointed to miniſter in the ſeruice of Baal, and were as his peculiar chaplens, reade 2 King. 23.5. Hoſea. 10.5.

4 I wil alſo ſtretch out mine hande vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitantes of Ieruſalem, & I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Chemarims with the Prieſtes,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, & thoſe that haue not ſought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be ſtill at the preſence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lorde is at hande: for the Lord hath prepared a ſacrifice, and hath ſanctified his gheſts.

8 And it ſhalbe in the day of the Lordes ſacrifice, that I will viſite the princes & the kings children, and all ſuch as are clothed with [d] ſtrange apparell.

d Meaning, the courtiers which did imitate the ſtrange apparel of other nations to win their fauour thereby, and to appeare glorious in the eyes of all other, read Eze. 23.14.

9 In the ſame day alſo wil I viſit al thoſe that [e] dannce vpon the threſholde ſo proudly, which fill their maſters houſes by crueltie and deceit.

He moueth to returne to God, 5 Prophecying deſtruction againſt the Philiſtims, Moabites and others.

1 Gather a your ſelues, euen gather you, O nation not worthie to be loued,

2 Before the decrée come forth, and ye be as chaffe that paſſeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lorde come vpon you, and before the day of ꝑ Lordes anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which b haue wrought his iudgement: ſeeke righteouſnes, ſeeke lowlines, if ſo be that ye may be hidde in the day of the Lordes wrath.

4 For c Azzah ſhalbe forſaken, and Aſhkelon deſolate: they ſhal driue out Aſhdod at the noone day, and Ekron ſhalbe rooted vp.

5 Wo vnto the inhabitants of the ſea d coaſt: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is againſt you: O Canaan, the land of the Philiſtims, I will euen deſtroy thée without an inhabitant.

6 And ꝑ ſea coaſt ſhalbe dwellings & cotages for ſheepheards and ſheepefolds.

7 And that coaſt ſhalbe for the remnant of the houſe of Judah, to feede thereupon: in the houſes of Aſhkelon ſhal they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God ſhall viſite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue hearde the reproche of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and e magnified themſelues againſt their borders.

9 Therefore, as I liue, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, ſurely Moab ſhalbe as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles and ſalt pits, and a perpetuall deſolation: the reſidue of my folke ſhal ſpoile them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſſe them.

10 This ſhall they haue for their pryde, becauſe they haue reproched and magnified themſelues againſt the Lorde of hoſtes people.

11 The Lord wil be terrible vnto them: for he wil conſume al the gods of the earth, and euery man ſhal worſhip him from his place, euen al the iles of the heathé.

12 Ye Morians alſo ſhalbe ſlayne by my ſword with them.

13 And hée will ſtretch out his hande againſt the North, and deſtroy Aſſhur, & wil make Nineueh deſolate, & waſte like a wilderines.

4 Her prophets are lyght, & wicked perſons: her prieſtes haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wreſted the Lawe.

5 The c iuſt Lord is in the midſt thereof:

d That is, Galilea: by theſe nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes and in ſtead of friendſhip were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whom the Lorde appoynted to be ſlaine.

e He ſheweth why God would deſtroy their enemies, becauſe their countrey might be a reſting place for his Church.

f Theſe nations preſumed to take from the Iewes that coũtrey which the Lord had giuen them.

g When he ſhall deliuer his people and deſtroy their enemies & idoles, his glory ſhal ſhine thorowout all the world.

a That is, Ieruſalem. Ezech.22.25, 27. micah.3.11. Habak.1.8.

b They are ſo greedie ſ they eate vp bones and all.

c The wicked thus boaſted ſ God was euer among them, but the Prophet anſwereth that that can not excuſe their wickednes: for God wil not beare with their ſinnes: yet that he did paciently abide and ſent his Prophetes continually to call them to repentance, but he profited nothing.

d By the destruction of other nations he sheweth that the Iewes should haue learned to feare God.

e Thei were most earnest & ready to do wickedly.

f Seeing ye will not repent, you shall look for my vengeance aswel as other nations.

g Lest any should thinke then that Gods glorie should haue perished when Iudah was destroyed, he sheweth that hee wil publish his grace through al the world.

"Or, with one shoulder, as Hos. 6.9.

h That is, the Iewes shall come as wel as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderstand vnder the time of the Gospel.

i For they shall haue full remission of their sinnes: and the hypocrites which boasted of y Temple, which was also thy pride in time past, shalbe taken from thee.

he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked wil not learne to be ashamed.

6 I haue d cut off the nations: their towres are desolate: I haue made their stretes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant.

7 I sayde, Surely thou wilt feare mée: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling shoulde not be destroyed how soeuer I visited them, but e they rose early and corrupted all their workes.

8 Therefore f waite ye vpon mee, sayth the Lorde, vntill the day that I rise vp to the pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignatiō, euen al my fierce wrath: for al the earth shalbe deuoured with the fire of my iealousie.

9 Surely g then wil I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all cal vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him "with one consent.

10 From beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia, the h daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto mée, shall bring mée an offring.

11 In that daye shalt thou not be ashamed for i all thy workes, wherein thou hast transgressed against mée: for then I will take away out of the middes of thée them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more bee proude of mine holy Mountaine.

12 Then will I leaue in the midst of thée an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquitie, nor speake lyes: neyther shall a deceitfull tongue bee founde in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, & lie downe, and none shall make them afraide.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: bée ye ioyful, O Israel: be glad & reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lord hath take away thy k iudgements: he hath cast out thine l enemie: the King of Israel, euen the Lorde is in the middes of m thée: thou shalt see no more euill.

16 In that day it shalbe saide to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lorde thy God in the middes of thée is mightie: he will saue, he will reioyce ouer thée with ioy: her will quiet himselfe in n his loue: hee will reioyce ouer thée with ioy.

18 After a certayne time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the repoche for o it.

19 Beholde, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thée, & I will p saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise & fame in al the q lands of their shame.

20 At r time will I bring you againe, & then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name & a praise among all people of the earth, whe I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, sayth the Lord.

k That is, the punishment for thy sinne.

l As the Assyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians, and other nations.

m To defend thee as by thy sinnes thou hast put him away & left thy selfe naked, as Exod. 32.25.

n Signifying, that God deliteth to shew his loue & great affection toward his Church.

o That is, them that were had in hatred and reuiled for the Church and because of their religion.

p I wil deliuer the Church which now is afflicted, as Micah. 4.6.

q As among the Assyrians & Caldeans which did mocke them & put them to shame.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen the time of the seuentie yeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stoode in Christ. And because that al were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust rewarde of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they wil returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begonne, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfit ioye and glorie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to builde the Temple againe.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis, & the third King of the Persians, as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had neede to be stirred vp and admonished of their dueties, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very colde in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the buylding therof, but thy preferred policie, and priuate profit to religion, being cōtent with smal beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before

IN the seród yere of King a Darius, in the firt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lorde (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto b Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, c that the Lordes house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lorde by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for you selues to dwell in your d ceiled houses, and this House lye waste?

5 Nowe therefore thus sayth the Lorde of of hostes, Consider your own wayes in your heartes.

e Consider the plagues of God vpo you for preferring your policies to his religion, & becausе ye seeke not him first of all.

6 e Ye haue sowen much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

f Meaning, that they shoud leaue off their own cōmodities, & goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.

7 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe f vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will be fauourable vnto it, and I will g be glorified, saith the Lord.

g That is, I will heare your prairs according to my promes, 1. King. 8. 21, 29.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine house that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you staied it selfe from dewe, and the earth staied her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the lande, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

h That is, my glorie shalbe set forth by you i And so bring it to nothing.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all h remnant of the people, hearde the k voice of the Lorde their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as h Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

k This declared that God was the autour of the doctrine, & that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14. 31 Iudg. 7. 20 Act. 15. 28.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lordes messenger in the Lordes message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

l Which declareth y men are vnapt & dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his worde or his messengers before God reforme their heartes and giue thē newe spirits, Iohn. 6. 44.

14 And the Lorde stirred vp l the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lorde of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glorie of the seconde Temple shall exceede the first.

a For the people, according as Hag. 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophecied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spiritual Temple, the Church of Christ

1 In the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yere of King Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, & to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that saw this a House in her first glory, and howe doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saieth the Lorde, and bee of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the lande, saith the Lorde, and b do it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes, b That is, go forward in building the Temple.

6 According to the word that I commanded with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shal remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, c Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drie land:

c He exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the prophets had declared: for this should be accōplished in Christ by whom al things should be renued.

8 And I will moue al nations, and d the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glorie, saith the Lord of hostes.

d Meaning, Christ whom all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie al precious things, as riches & such like.

9 The e siluer is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

e Therfore whē his time commeth, hee can make al the treasures of y world to serue his purpose: but the glorie of this seconde Temple doeth not stand in materiall things, neyther can be burie.

10 The glorie of this last House shall be greater then the first, saieth the Lorde of hostes: and in this place will I giue f peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings & felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4. 7.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yere of Darius, came the worde of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Lawe, and say, 13 If one beare g holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, & with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priestes answered and said, No.

g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that y thing which of it self is good, cannot make an other thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices & ceremonies: but contrary he h

14 Then said Haggai, If a pounted person touch any of these, shal it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shal be vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your minds: from this i day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layed vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twenty measures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine presse for to draw out fifte vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in al the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from k this day, & afore from the foure &

h Consider howe God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple. i That is, before the building was begun. k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: & albeit as yet the fruite was not come foorth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your myndes.

1 He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till ỹ harueſt came, and then they ſhould ſee Gods bleſſings

20 Is the [l] ſeede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pome granate, and the olyue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſſe you.

m I will make a change & renue all things in Chriſt, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

21 And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, ſaying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and ſay, I [m] will ſhake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdoms, & I will deſtroy the ſtrength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and thoſe that ride in them, and the horſe and the riders ſhall come downe, euery one by the ſworde of his brother.

n Hereby he ſheweth that there ſhalbe no let or hinderãce when God will make this wonderfull reſtitutiõ of his Church.

24 In that day, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſeruant, the ſonne of Shealtiel, ſayth the Lorde, and will make thee as a [o] ſignet: for I haue choſen thee, ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes.

o Signifying that his dignitie ſhould be moſt excellent, which thing was accõpliſhed in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begonne to prophecie, Zechariah was alſo ſent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the ſame doctrine. Firſt therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cauſe God had ſo ſore puniſhed their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfaynedly, and not abuſe this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull ſhould haue, from death and ſinne by Chriſt. But becauſe they ſtyll remayned in their wickednesſe, and coldnes to ſet foorth Gods glorie, and were not yet made better by their long baniſhment, he rebuketh them moſt ſharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promiſe of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receyue Chriſt, in whome all ſhould be ſanctified to the Lorde.

CHAP. I.

1 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lorde, and to eſchewe the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He ſignifieth the reſtitution of Ieruſalem and the Temple.

1 In the eight moneth of the ſeconde yere of [a] Darius, came the woorde of the Lorde vnto [b] Zechariah, the ſonne of Berechiah, the ſonne of Iddo, the Prophet, ſaying, a Who was the ſonne of Hyſtaſpis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chro. 24. 20. but had the ſame name, & is called the ſonne of Berechiah, as he was, becauſe he came of thoſe progenitors as of Ioiada or Berechiah & Iddo.

2 The Lorde hath bene [c] ſore diſpleaſed with your fathers.

3 Therefore ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, and I will turne vnto you, ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former [e] Prophets haue cryed, ſaying, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſts, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.

5 Your fathers, where [f] are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes & my ſtatutes, which I commanded by my ſeruantes the Prophets, take holde of [g] your fathers? and [h] they returned, and ſayde, As the Lord of hoſtes hath determined to do vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, ſo hath he delt with vs.

c He ſpeaketh this to feare thẽ with Gods iudgements that they ſhould not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whome he ſo grieuouſly puniſhed.

d Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God muſt conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. lamen. 5. 21. iſa. 21. 8. and 31. 6. and 45. 21. Ierem. 3. 12. ezek. 18. 30. hoſ. 14. 2. ioel. 2. 12. e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgments in puniſhing them ought ſtill to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2. Pet. 1. 15.

f Seeing ye ſawe the force of my doctrine in puniſhing your fathers, why do not ye feare ỹ threatnings conteined in the ſame and declared by my Prophets?

g As men aſtoniſhed with my iudgements, and not that they were touched w true repentance.

7 Vpon the foure & twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth [i] Shebat, in the ſecond yere of Darius, came the woorde of the Lorde vnto Zechariah the ſonne of Berechiah, the ſonne of Iddo the Prophet, ſaying, h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie and part of Februarie.

8 I ſaw by night, and behold [k] a man riding vpon a red horſe, & he ſtood among the mirre trees, that were in a bottom, and behind him were there [l] red horſes ſpeckled and white.

i This viſion ſignifieth ỹ reſtauration of the Church, but as yet it ſhould not appeare to mans eyes, which is here ment by ỹ night, by the bottome and by the mirre trees, 9 Then ſaid I, O my Lord, what are theſe? and the [p] Angel that talked with me, ſayd vnto me, I will ſhew thee what theſe be.

10 And the man that ſtoode among the mirre trees, anſwered and ſayde, Theſe are they whom the Lord hath ſent to go through the worlde.

11 And they anſwered the Angell of the Lord, that ſtood among the mirre trees, and ſayde, We haue gone through the worlde: and behold, all the world ſitteth ſtill, and is at reſt.

yet he compareth God to a king, who hath his poſts & meſſengers abroad, by who he ſtill worketh his purpoſe and bringeth his matters to paſſe.

12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lord anſwered and ſayde, O Lord of hoſtes, how long wilt thou not haue mercie on Ieruſalem and on the cities of Iudah, againſt which thou haſt had indignation theſe ſeuentie yeres?

k Who was the chief among the reſt of the horſemen. l Theſe ſignified the diuers offices of Gods Angels by whom God ſometime puniſheth and ſometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his workes in diuers ſortes. m That is, Chriſt the Mediatour prayed for the ſaluatiõ of his Church, which was now troubled when all the countreys about them were at reſt.

n Though for a time God defer his helpe and comforte from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them ſtill moſt derely, as a moſt merciful father his children, or an huſband his wife, & when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In deſtroying the reprobate I ſhewed my ſelfe but a litle angrie towarde my Church, but the enemy woulde haue deſtroyed them alſo, and conſidered not the ende of my chaſtiſements.

p To meaſure out the buildings.

q The abundance ſhalbe ſo great that the places of ſtore ſhall not be able to cõteine theſe bleſſinges that God wil ſend, but ſhal euen breake for fulnes.

r Which ſignified al the enemies of the Church, Eaſt, Weſt, North, South.

red and ſaide, O Lorde of hoſtes, howe long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ieruſalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou haſt bene diſpleaſed nowe theſe threeſcore and ten yeres?

13 And the Lord anſwered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, ſaid vnto me, Crie thou, and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, I am [o] ielous ouer Ieruſalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angrie againſt the careleſſe heathen: for I was angrie but [p] a litle, and they helped forwarde the affliction.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, I will returne vnto Ieruſalem with tender mercie: mine houſe ſhalbe buylded in it, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and a line [q] ſhall be ſtretched vpon Ieruſalem.

17 Crie yet, and ſpeake, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, My cities ſhall yet [r] be broken with plentie: the Lord ſhall yet comfort Zion, and ſhal yet chuſe Ieruſalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and ſawe, and beholde, [s] foure hornes.

19 And I ſaid vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And he anſwered me, Theſe are [t] hornes which haue ſcattered Iudah, Iſrael, & Ieruſalem.

20 And the Lorde ſhewed me foure [u] carpenters.

21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to doe? And he anſwered, and ſaide, Theſe are the hornes, which haue ſcattered Iudah, ſo that a man durſt not lift vp his head: but theſe are come to frap them, and to caſt out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to ſcatter it.

s Though God hath begun to ſhew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the ſame ſtil toward you, and therefore ſendeth me his Angel, and his Chriſt to defende you from your enemies, that they ſhall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home. k Ye are ſo deare vnto God, that he can no more ſuffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thruſt in the eye, Pſalm. 17.8. l Vpon the heathen your enemies. m They ſhall be your ſeruants as you haue bene theirs. n This muſt neceſſarily be vnderſtande of Chriſt, who being God equal with his Father, was ſent as he was Mediator to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

t That is, the Angel who was Chriſt for in reſpect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in reſpect of his eternall eſſence, is God and ſo called.

b Meaning him ſelf Zechariah.

c Signifiyng the ſpirituall Ieruſalem & Church vnder Chriſte, which ſhoulde be extended by the Goſpel through al the world, & ſhould need no material walles, nor truſt in any worldly ſtrength, but ſhould be ſafely preſerued and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

u That is, Chriſt ſpeaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church that he woulde rebuke Satan: and here he ſheweth himſelfe to be the continual preſeruer of his Church.

d Meaning, that Iehoſhua was wonderfully preſerued in the captiuitie, and now Satan ſought to afflict & trouble him when he was doing his office.

CHAP. II.

The reſtoring of Ieruſalem and Iudah.

1 I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and beholde, a [a] man with a meaſuring line in his hand.

2 Then ſaid I, Whither goeſt thou? And he ſaid vnto me, To meaſure Ieruſalem, that I may ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angell went out to mete him,

4 And ſaide vnto him, Runne, ſpeake to this [b] yong man, and ſay, [c] Ieruſalem ſhalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men & cattel therein.

5 For I, ſaith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of [d] fire rounde about, and wil [e] be the glorie in the middes of her.

6 Ho, ho, come [f] forth, and flee from the land of the North, ſaith the Lord: for I haue ſcattered you into [g] foure winds of the heauen, ſaith the Lord.

7 [h] Saue thy ſelfe, O Zion, that dwelleſt with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, After this [i] glorie hath he ſent me vnto the nations, which ſpoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the [k] apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hande [l] vpon them: and [m] they ſhalbe a ſpoile to thoſe that ſerued them, and ye ſhall knowe, that the Lorde of hoſtes hath [n] ſent me.

10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for lo, I come, and wil dwell in the middes of thee, ſaith the Lord.

11 And many nations ſhall be ioyned to the Lorde in that day, & ſhall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoſtes hath ſent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord ſhal inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and ſhal chooſe Ieruſalem againe.

13 Let all fleſh be ſtill before the Lord: for he is rayſed vp out of his holy place.

a He prayed to Chriſt the Mediatour for the ſtate of the Church.

b Which declareth that the faithful haue not onely warre with fleſh and blood, but with Satan himſelfe and ſpirituall wickednes, Ephe. 6.12.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to deſtroy them if they approch neere.

e In me they ſhall haue their full felicitie and glory.

f He calleth to them, which partely for feare and partly for their owne eaſe, remained ſtill in captiuitie, and ſo preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefites of God promiſed in his Church.

g As it was I that ſcattered you, ſo haue I power to reſtore you.

h By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church.

CHAP. III.

A prophecie of Chriſt and of his kingdome.

1 AND hee ſhewed me Iehoſhua the [a] hie Prieſt, [a] ſtanding before the Angel of the Lord, & [b] Satan ſtood at his right hand to reſiſt him.

2 And the [c] Lord ſayd vnto Satan, The Lorde rebuke thee, O Satan: euen the Lorde that hath choſen Ieruſalem, rebuke thee. Is not this a [d] brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoſhua was clothed with filthie garments, and ſtoode before the Angel.

4 And he anſwered and ſpake vnto thoſe

e In respect of the glorious garments, and precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shal make the full restitution of his Church.

f He sheweth of what apparel he speaketh, which is when our filthy sinnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is ment of the spiritual restitutiō.

g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the raiment the Priest might also haue tire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, & obteineth it.

that stoode before him, saying, Take away the [e] filthie garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde, I haue [f] caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I wil clothe thee with change of rayment.

5 And I saide, Let them [g] set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, & clothed him with garments, & the Angel of the Lorde stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watche, thou shalt also [h] iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my [i] courts, and I will giue thee place amōg [k] these that stand by.

8 Heare nowe, O Iehoshua [l] the Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they [l] are monstruous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the [m] Branche my seruant.

9 For lo the [n] stone that I haue laide before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: behold, I will [o] cut out the graning thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take [p] away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the [q] vine, & vnder the figge tree.

h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church. k That is, the Angels who represented the whole nomber of the faithfull: signifying that all the godly should willingly receiue him. l Because they follow my worde, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8.18. m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11.1. Ierem 23.5, and 33.14,15. n He sheweth that the ministers cannot builde, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that al ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4.10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all pointes, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.

p Though I haue punished this lande for a time, yet I wil euen now be pacified, and visite their sinnes no more. q Ye shall then liue in peace & quietnes, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 2.2. micah. 4.4. hag. 2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

r Which was euer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

1 And the Angell that talked with me, came againe and waked me, as a man that is rayled out of his sleepe,

2 And saide vnto me, What seest thou? and I said, I haue looked, and behold, a [r] candlestick all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, & his seuen lampes therin, and seuen [b] pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

b Which conueyed the oyle

3 And two olme trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, & the other vpon the left side thereof.

that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and saide vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the worde of the Lord vnto [c] Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by [d] an armie nor strength, but by my Spirite, saith the Lord of hostes.

c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to al the Church who are his body and members.

d He sheweth that Gods power only is sufficient to preserue his church, though he vse not mans helpe therunto.

7 Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and [e] he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whome the enemies dayly labour to let, in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to slay this building, yet Zerubbabel shal lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that al the godly shal reioyce and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour towarde the Temple. g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my father for the building, & preseruation of my spirituall Temple. h Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple. i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should go forwarde with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things plesant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continual prouidence, so that neyther Satan nor any power in the worlde can goe about, or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3.9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that stil they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God wil continually maintayne and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces,

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundatiō of this house: his hands shal also finish it, and [s] thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the [t] small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [u] tinne in the hande of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which go thorowe the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olme trees vpon the right & vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two olme braches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde?

13 And he answered me, & said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two [l] olme branches, that stande with the ruler of the whole earth.

CHAP.

CHAP V.

f The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theues, and such as abuse the name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by cõtemning his worde, and casting off al iudgment and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.

c Meaning, whersoeuer he be in the world.

d He that transgresseth the first table, and serueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods name.

e Which was a measure in dry things conteining about ten pottels.

f That is, all ỹ wickednes of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.

g To couer the measure.

h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

1 THen I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

2 And hee sayde vnto mee, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying a booke: the length thereof is twentie cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then sayde hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that b stealeth, shall be cut off aswel on this side, as on that: and euery one that c sweareth, shall be cut off aswel on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saieth the Lorde of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the theefe, and into the house of him, ỹ falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the midst of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth, and sayde vnto mee, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he saide, this is an d Ephah that goeth forth. He said moreouer, This is the f sight of them, through all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a g talent of lead: and this is a h woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

8 And hee sayde, This is i wickednesse, and hee cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two k women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And he sayd vnto me, l To build it an house in the lande of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

i Signifying that Satan shoulde not haue such power against ỹ Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.

k Which declared that GOD would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes.

l To remoue the iniquitie & afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute & declare his will.

1 AGaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure a charets out from betweene b two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet were c red horses, and in the second charet d blacke horses,

3 And in the thirde charet, e white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of f diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angell that talked with mee, What are these, my Lorde?

5 And the Angell answered, and sayde vnto mee, These are the g foure spirits of the heauen, which go forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, & the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth towarde the h South countrey.

7 And the i reddish went out, and required to go, and passe through the worlde, & he said, Go passe through the worlde. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cryed he vpon mee, and spake vnto mee, saying, Beholde, these that go toward the North countrey, haue pacified my k spirite in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, & go vnto the house l of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer, and gold, and make crownes, and set them vpon the m head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, & saith, Behold the mã whose name is n Branch, and he shall grow o vp out of his place, & he shal p build the Temple of the Lorde.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord. and he shall beare the q glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, & he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, & the counsell of peace shalbe betweene r them both.

b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsel and prouidence of God, wherby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shal come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

c Which signified the great cruelty and persecutions that ỹ Church had endured vnder diuerse enemies, d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonias.

e These represented their state vnder ỹ Persians which restored them to libertie.

f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and poure his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh & Babylon, and other their enemies.

g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsel he causeth to appeare through all the worlde.

h That is, towarde Egypt, and other countreis thereabout.

i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Iob. 1.12.

k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.

l To receiue of him, and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, & doubted of the restitution of the kingdom and of the Priesthood, & hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Lawe, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning Christ, of whome Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of him selfe, without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could buyld this temple, wherof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: & therefore it was spirituall, and not material, Hag. 2.10.

q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow.

r The two offices of the kingdome, and priesthoode shalbe so ioined together, that they shalbe no more diseuered.

s Who was also called Heldai.
t He also was called Iosiah.
u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently:
both.
14 And the crownes shalbe to s Helem, & to Tobiah, and to Iedaiah, & to t Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a u memorial in the Temple of the Lord.
15 And they that are x far off, shall come and builde in the Temple of the Lorde, and ye shall knowe, that the Lorde of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye wil y obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Actes. 1,6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospell shall helpe towarde the building of this spirituall Temple. y If ye will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

3 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

a Which conteined part of Nouember, and part of December.
b That is, y rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to y Church at Ierusalem for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were consented vpon by the agreement of y whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other, when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere.41.2.
c By weeping and mourning appere what exercises they vsed in their fasting.
d That is, prepare my self with all deuotion to this fast.

1 And in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the worde of the Lorde came vnto Zechariah in the fourth daye of the nynth moneth, euen in a Chisleu,
2 For b they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lorde,
3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I c weep in the fift moneth, and d separate my selfe as I haue done these so many c yeeres?
4 Then came the word of the Lorde of hostes vnto me, saying,
5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the e Priests, and saye, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? is doe I approue it?
6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate f for your selues, and drinke for your selues?
7 Should ye not heare the words, which the Lorde g hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the playne was inhabited?
8 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto Zechariah, saying,
9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, h Execute true iudgement, & shewe mercie and compassion, euery man to his brother,
10 And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, & let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart.
11 But they refused to hearken, & i pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.
12 Yea, they made their heartes as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Law and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his m spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophetes: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.
13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cryed, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hostes.
14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knewe not: thus the lande was desolate n after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they layde the pleasant lande o waste.

e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed. f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which douted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe poyntes of their religion. g For they thought they had deserued towarde God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: & though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued. h Did ye not eate & drinke for your own commoditie & necessitie? and so likewise ye did absteine according to your owne fantasies, & not after y prescript of my Lawe. i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such thinges as they inuented, and in the meane season woulde not serue him as he had commanded.

k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that thei lacked these offices of charity, which should haue declared that they were godly, Mat.23.23.
l And would not eary the Lordes burden, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their own, which was heauie & grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehem.9.29.
m Which declareth, that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God y spake in them. n That is, after they were caried captiue. o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 Again the word of p Lord of hostes came to me, saying,
2 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, I was a zelous for Zion with great zelousie, and I was zelous for her with great wrath.
3 Thus sayth the Lorde, I will returne vnto Zion, and wil dwel in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a b citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lorde of hostes, the holye Mountaine.
4 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, There shall yet olde c men and olde women dwell in the stretes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hande for very age.
5 And the streetes of the citie shalbe full of boyes & girles, playing in the stretes thereof.
6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be d vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniurie.

b Because shee shalbe faithfull, and loyall toward me her husband.
c Though their enemies dyd greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwel among them, and so preserue them so long as nature woulde suffer them to liue, and encrease their children in great abundance.
d Hee sheweth that God can perfourme that which he hath promised though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gen.18.14. Rom.4.20.

nant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Behold, I wil deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the middes of Ierusalem, and they shalbe my people, and I will be their God in trueth and in righteousnes.

9 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was layde, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man nor any hire for beast, neyther was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But nowe, I will not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, sayth the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shalbe prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, & the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathē, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, & repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to do well vnto Ierusalem, & to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do. Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement true ly and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euil in your hearts against his neighbour, & loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the worde of the Lorde of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shalbe to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous hie feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also. Isa.2.3.mica.4.2.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shal come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lorde.

23 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will go with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

1 The burden of the worde of the Lorde in the lande of Hadrach: & Damascus shalbe his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border there by: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and he will smite her power in the sea, & she shalbe deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shalbe very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwel in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shalbe for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite.

8 And I wil campe about mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for nowe I haue seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy king commeth vnto thee:

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.
b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chief citie, and not spare so much as that.
c When the Iewes shal conuert and repent, then God wil destroy their enemies.
d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rodde and plague.
e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft & subtiltie, which they cloked with this name of wisedome.
f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth the rounde about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.
g Meaning, that all should be destroyed saue a very fewe, that shoulde remayne as strangers.
h He promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shal take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them.
i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.
k He sheweth that Gods power only shal be sufficient to defende his Church against all aduersaries, be they neuer so cruell or assemble their power neuer so often.
l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries & afflictions wherewith they haue been afflicted by their enemies.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God wil accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shall be sure and stable.
f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.
g For God curseth your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profite of their labours.
h Reade Ezek. 18.20.
i Which declareth, that man cannot turne to God till hee change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to do wel, which is to pardon his sinnes and to giue him his graces.
k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, & turne wholy to God, they shal haue no more occasion to fast, or to shewe signes of heauines: for God wil send them ioy and gladnes.
l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ.

m That is, he hath righteousnes, and saluation in him selfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.

n Which declareth that they shoulde not looke for such a King as should be glorious in ỹ eyes of man, but should be poore and yet in himselfe haue al power to deliuer his: and this is ment of Christ, as Mat. 21. 5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, & he shal peaceably gouerne them by his worde.

p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he ment an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.

q That is, from Euphrates.

r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church, which m he is iust and saued himself, poore and riding vpon an n asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I wil cut off the o charets from Ephraim, & the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shalbe from sea vnto sea, and from the q River to the ende of the lande.

11 r Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy ſ prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the t strong holde, ye u prisoners of hope: euen to daye doe I declare, that I wil render the x double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I y bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hande haue I filled, and I haue raysed vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants swoorde.

14 And the Lorde shall bee seene ouer them, and his arrowe shal goe foorth as the lightening: and the Lorde God shall blowe the trumpet, and shal come foorth with the whirlewindes of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shal defende them, and they shall deuoure them, z and subdue them with sling stones, & they shall drinke, and make a noyse as throughe wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lorde their God shall deliuer them in that daye as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the a stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his lande.

17 For howe great is his goodnes! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the young men cheereful, and new wine the maydes.

is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Churche, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of al dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy lande where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defende you. u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to bee in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefites, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids tyme to the captiuitie. y I wil make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroye their enemies and haue abundance, and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie. a The faithfull shal be preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall bee compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glorie shal shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, whē he met Iadi the high Priest.

CHAP. X.

1 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

1 Aske you of the b Lord rayne in the time of the latter rayne: so shal the Lord make white clouds, and giue you showres of rayne, and to euery one grasse in the fielde.

2 Surely c the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vayne: therefore d they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kyndled against the shepherds, and I did visite the e goats: but the Lorde of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, & will make them as f his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out g of him shal the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, & out of him euery h appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the myre of the streetes in the battell, and they shal fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shal be confounded.

6 And I wil strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house i of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a giant, and their heart shal reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shal see it, and be glad: and their heart shal reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will k hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: & they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

9 And I will l sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreyes: and they shall liue with their children and l turne again.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assur: and I wil bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes, because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, & so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoyde this plague he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abūdance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorcerers who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

d Meaning, ỹ cruel gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34 16, 17.

e He wil be merciful to his Church & cherish them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse which shal be for his owne vse in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shal the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building, & as a nayle to fasten it together.

g Ouer their enemies.

h That is, the ten tribes which shouldbe gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse he can cal them from al places suddenly.

k Though they shal yet be scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shalbe profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospell, among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they shoulde returne into their countrey, but bee gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospell.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, where as the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

11 And he m shall go into the sea with affliction, and shal smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the ruer shal drye vp: and the pride of Assur shalbe cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shal depart away.
12 And I wyll strengthen them in the Lord, and they shal walke in his Name sayth the Lord.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth y when God sendeth the enemies, it shal shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

b Shewing that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to holde out.

d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.

e Which being now destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the lions mouth.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of 1 OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, b firre trées: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: howle ye, O okes of Bashan, for the c defenced forest is cut downe.
3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepherdes: for their d glorie is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.
4 Thus sayth the Lorde my God, Fede the sheepe of the e slaughter.
5 They that possesse them, slaye them f & synne not: and they that sell them, saye, g Blessed be the Lorde: for I am riche, and their owne shepherdes spare them not.
6 Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but lo, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hande, & into the hand of his i king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their handes I wil not deliuer them.
7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I toke vnto me l two staues: the one I called Beautie, & the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe.
8 m Three shepherds also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed n them, & their soule abhorred me.
9 Then sayd I, I wil not fede you: that that dyeth, let it dye: and that that perisheth, let it perishe: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesshe of his neighbour.
10 And I toke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanul my couenant, which I had made with all people.
11 And it was broken in that day: and so the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the worde of the Lord.
12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue mee p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.
13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of the. And I toke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lorde.
14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah & Israel.
15 And the Lorde said vnto me, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolishe shepherd.
16 For loe, I wil raise vp a shepherde in the lande, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor fede that that standeth vp: but he shal eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.
17 O idole shepherd that leaueth the flock: the swoorde shalbe vpon his s arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dryed vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they deny God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren. h I will cause one to destroye another. i Their gouernours shall execute cruelrie ouer them. k That is, y small remnant, whom he thought worthy to shew mercie vnto. l God sheweth his great benefites toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernment, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some read, for Bandes, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Whereby hee sheweth his care & diligence y he would suffer thē to haue no euil rulers, because they should consider his great loue. n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God.

o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements.

p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednes, which did not onely forget his benefites, but esteemed them as thinges of nought.

q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which couldе scarce suffice to make a fewe tiles for to couer the Temple.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outwarde shewe of gouernment: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolues, & deuouring beasts in steade of shepherds.

f And is in health & sounde.

t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doeth wisdome & iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shal take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction & building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde vpon a Israel, sayth the Lord, which spred the heauens, & layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.
2 Behold, I wil make Ierusalem a b cup of poyson vnto all the people rounde about: and also with Iudah wil he be, in the siege against Ierusalem.
3 And in that daye wil I make Ierusalem an heauy stone for al people: al that lift it vp, shalbe torne, though all c peoples of the earth be gathered togither against it.
4 In that day, sayth the Lord, I wil smite euery horse with stonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I wil open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and wil smite euery horse of the people with blindenesse.
5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The d inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lorde of hostes their God.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remaine in captiuitie, thē to returne home, when God called them.

b Ierusalem shal be defended against al her enemies: so shal God defende all Iudah also, and shal destroy the enemies.

c Euery captain, that had many vnder him afore, shal now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defende them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

d The people which are nowe as it were diſperſed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, ſhalbe no leſſe preſerued by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is ment by the houſe of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, & like a fire brande in the sheafe, and they ſhall deuoure all the people round about on the right hande, and on the left: and Ieruſalem ſhalbe inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ieruſalem.

7 The Lord alſo ſhall preſerue the d tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the houſe of Dauid ſhall not boaſt, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem againſt Iudah.

e They ſhall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and knowe that I haue cõpaſſion on them.

8 In that day ſhall the Lorde defend the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day ſhall be as Dauid: & the houſe of Dauid ſhal be as Gods houſe, and as the Angel of the Lorde before them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obſtinacie, and grieued my ſpirit, Ioh. 19. 37. where it is referred to Chriſts body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

9 And in that day wil I ſeeke to deſtroy all the nations that come againſt Ieruſalem.

g They ſhal turne to God by true repentance, whome before they had ſo grieuouſly offended by their ingratitude.

10 And I will powre vpon the houſe of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitantes of Ieruſalem the Spirit of e grace and of compaſſion, and they ſhall looke vpon me, whome they haue f pearced, and they ſhall lamẽt for g him, as one mourneth for his onely ſonne, and be ſorie for him as one is ſorie for his firſt borne.

h They ſhall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences againſt God.

11 In that daye ſhall there bee a great mourning in Ieruſalẽ, as the h mourning of i Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the k land ſhal bewaile euery familie l apart, the familie of the m houſe of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The familie of þ houſe of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of n Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that o remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Ioſiah was ſlaine, 2. Chro. 35. 22. k That is, in all places where the Iewes ſhall remaine. l Signifiyng that this mourning or repentance ſhould not be a vayne ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe ſhall lament. m Vnder theſe certayne families he conteyneth al the tribes, and ſheweth that both þ Kings & the Prieſts had by their ſinnes perced Chriſt. n Called alſo Simeon. o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preſerued from the common deſtruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane ridance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly againſt falſe prophets.

a He ſheweth what ſhalbe the fruite of their repentance, to wit, remiſſion of ſinnes by the blood of Chriſt, which ſhalbe a continual running fountaine, and purge thẽ from all vncleannes.

1 In that day there a ſhalbe a fountaine opened to the houſe of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, for ſinne and for vncleannes.

2 And in that daye, ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, I wil cut off the b names of the idoles out of the lande: and they ſhall no more be remembred: & I will cauſe the c prophets, and the vncleane ſpirit to depart out of the land.

b He promiſeth that God wil alſo purge them from al ſuperſtition, and that their religion ſhalbe pure.

c Meaning, the falſe prophets & teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whome the Prophet here calleth vncleane ſpintes.

3 And when any ſhal yet d prophecie, his father & his mother that begate him, ſhal ſay vnto him, Thou ſhalt not liue: for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the name of the Lorde: and his father & his mother þ begate him, e ſhal thruſt him thorough, when he prophecieth.

d That is, when they ſhal prophecie lyes, & make God, who is the author of trueth, a cloke thereunto.

4 And in that day ſhall the prophets f be aſhamed euery one of his viſion, when he hath prophecied: neither ſhall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

e He ſheweth what zeale the godly ſhal haue vnder the kingdome of Chriſt, Deut. 13. 6, 9.

5 But he ſhal ſay, I am no g prophet: I am an husband man: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp.

f God ſhal make them aſhamed of their errors and lies & bring them to repentance, and they ſhall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine ſeme more holy.

6 And one ſhal ſay vnto him, What are theſe h woundes in thine hands? Then he ſhall anſwere, Thus was I wounded in the houſe of my friends.

g They ſhal confeſſe their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing. h Hereby he ſheweth that though their parents and friends delt more gently with them, & put them not to death, yet they would ſo puniſh their children, that became falſe prophets, that the markes and ſignes ſhould remaine for euer. i The Prophet warneth þ Iewes, that before this great comfort ſhould come vnder Chriſt, there ſhould be an horrible diſſipation among the people: for their gouernours & paſtors ſhould be deſtroyed, and the people ſhould be as ſcattered ſheepe: and the Euangeliſt applieth this to Chriſt, becauſe hee was the head of al Paſtours, Mat. 26. 31. k The greateſt part ſhal haue no portion of theſe bleſſings, & yet they that ſhal enioy them, ſhalbe tryed with great afflictions, ſo that it ſhalbe knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preſerue them.

7 ¶ Ariſe, O ſworde, vpon my i ſhepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellowe, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: ſmite the ſhepheard, and the ſheepe ſhalbe ſcattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in al the land, ſaith the Lord, k two parts therein ſhalbe cut off, and die: but the third ſhalbe left therein.

9 And I wil bring þ third part thorowe the fire, and will fine them as the ſiluer is fined, and will trie them as golde is tried: they ſhall call on my Name, & I wil heare the: I will ſay, It is my people, and they ſhall ſay, The Lorde is my God.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the deſtruction that ſhall proceede out of the Church, and of the reſtauration thereof.

a He armeth the godly againſt the great tentations, that ſhould come, before they enioyed this proſperous eſtate promiſed vnder Chriſt, that when theſe dangers ſhould come, they might knowe that they were warned of them afore.

1 BEhold, the day of þ Lord commeth, and thy ſpoile ſhalbe a deuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations againſt Ieruſalem to battel, and the citie ſhalbe taken, and the houſes ſpoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie ſhall go into captiuitie, and the reſidue of the people ſhall not be cut off frõ the citie.

3 Then ſhall the Lord go forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when [b] he fought in the day of battel.
4 And his feete ſhall ſtande in that daye vpon the [c] mount of olives, which is before Ieruſalem on the Eaſtſide, and the mount of olives ſhall cleaue in the middes thereof: towarde the Eaſt and towarde the Weſt there ſhall be a verye great [d] valley, and halfe of the mountaine ſhall remoue towarde the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.
5 And yée ſhall flée vnto the [e] valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines ſhall reach vnto Azal: yea, yée ſhall flée like as yée fledde from the [f] earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lorde [g] my God ſhall come, & all the Saintes with thée.
6 And in that daye ſhall there bée no cleare light, but darke.
7 And there ſhall be a day (it is knowen to the Lorde) [h] neyther day nor nyght, but about the euening time it ſhall bée light.
8 And in that day ſhal there [i] waters of liue goe out from Ieruſalem, halfe of them toward the Eaſt ſea, and halfe of them toward the vttermoſt ſea, & ſhall be, both in ſommer and winter.
9 And the Lord ſhalbe king ouer all the earth: in ꝑ day ſhal there be one [k] Lorde, and his Name ſhalbe one.
10 All the land ſhalbe turned [l] as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, towarde the South of Ieruſalem, and it ſhall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the firſt gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananel, vnto the Kings wine preſſes.
11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhalbe no more deſtruction, but Ieruſalem ſhalbe ſafely inhabited.
12 And this ſhall be the plague, wherewith the Lorde wyll ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Ieruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtande vpon their feete, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhall conſume in their mouth.
13 But in that daye [m] a great tumult of the Lord ſhall be among them, and euery one ſhal take [n] the hand of his neighbour, & his hand ſhal riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour.
14 And Iudah ſhal fight alſo againſt Ieruſalem, and the arme of al the heathen ſhall bée gathered rounde about, with [o] golde and ſiluer, and great abundance of apparell.
15 Yet this ſhalbe ꝑ plague of ꝑ horſe, of the mule, of the camell and of the aſſe & of al the beaſts that be in theſe tents as this [p] plague.
16 But it ſhall come to paſſe that euery one that is left of all ꝑ nations, which came againſt Ieruſalem, ſhall goe vp from yére to yere to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſtes, & to kéepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.
17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ieruſalem to worſhippe the King the Lorde of hoſtes, vpon them ſhall come no raine.
18 And if the familie of [q] Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhall not raine vpon them. This ſhall bée the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all the heathen, that come not vp to kéepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.
19 This ſhall be the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations that come not vp to kéepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.
20 In that day ſhall there be written vpon the [r] bridles of the horſes, The holines vnto the Lord, and the [s] pots in the Lords houſe ſhalbe like the bowles before the altar.
21 Yea, euery pot in Ieruſalem and Iudah ſhalbe holy vnto the Lord of hoſts, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſethe therein: and in that daye there ſhall bee no more the [t] Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoſtes.

b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at ꝑ red Sea and at al other times.
c By this maner of ſpeach the Prophet ſheweth Gods power, and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle ſaue it.
d So that out of all the parts of the world they ſhall ſee Ieruſalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the ſpiritual Ieruſalem the Church.
e He ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence, but ſhould flee into all places where they might hide them among the mountaines.
f Reade Amos. 1.1.
g Becauſe they did not credit the Prophets words, he turneth to God, & comforteth him ſelfe in that that he knewe that theſe things ſhoulde come, & ſaith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.
h Signifying, that there ſhoulde be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here ment by the euening) God would ſend comfort.
i That is, the ſpiritual graces of God, which ſhould euer continue in moſt abundance.
k All idolatrie and ſuperſtition ſhalbe aboliſhed, & there ſhalbe one God, one faith, and one religion.
l This newe Ieruſalem ſhalbe ſeene through all the world, and ſhall excell the firſt in excellencie, welth & greatneſſe.
m God will not onely raiſe vp warre without, but ſedition at home to try them.
n To hurt, and oppreſſe him.
o The enemies are rich, and therefore ſhall not come for a pray, but to deſtroy and ſhed blood.
p As the men ſhould be deſtroyed, verſ. 12.
q By the Egyptians, which were greateſt enemies to true religion, he meaneth all ꝑ Gentiles.
r Signifying, that to what ſeruice they were put nowe (whether to labour, or to ſerue in warre) they were now holy, becauſe ꝑ Lord had ſanctified them.
s As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhalbe ſanctified.
t But all ſhalbe pure and cleane, and there ſhall neither be hypocrite, or any that ſhal corrupt the true ſeruice of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptiſt was ſent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhould with more feruent deſires looke for the comming of Meſſiah. He confirmeth the ſame doctrine, that the two former do, but chiefly he reprooueth the Prieſtes for their couetouſnes, & for that they ſerued God after their owne fantaſies, & not according to the preſcript of his word. He alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and manie wiues, murmurmuringes against God, impacience, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promes made vnto their fathers, but would sende Christ his messenger, in whom the couenant shoulde be accompl shed, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chi fly the Priests.

1 The [a] burden of the worde of the Lord to Israel by þ ministerie of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, saieth the Lorde: yet ye say, [b] Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iacobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob,

3 And I [c] hated Esau, & made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernesse for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne and buylde the desolate places, yet saieth the Lorde of hostes, They shall buylde, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angrie for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord wilbe magnified vpō the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my feare, saieth þ Lord of hostes vnto you, [d] O Priests, that despise my Name? and ye say, [e] Wherin haue we despised thy Name?

7 Ye offer [f] vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and yon say, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is [h] not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saieth the Lord of hostes?

9 And nowe, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will he regard [k] your persons, saith þ Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would shut the doores? and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine, I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offring at your hand.

11 For from the rysing of the sunne vnto the going downe of þ same, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offered vnto my Name, and a pure offring: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is [n] polluted, and the fruite thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye lude also, Beholde, it is a [o] wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hosts, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offred an offering: should I accept this of your hande, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be þ deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto þ Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my name is terrible among the heathen.

a Read Isa.13.1

b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder.

c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared eue when he was made seruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lieth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it, where as ye my people who the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom.9.13.

d Besides the rest of the people hee condemneth the Priestes chiefly, because they shoulde haue reproued others for their hypocrisie, and obstinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

e Hee noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faultes, but most impudently couered them, and so were blynde guides.

f Ye receiue all maner offeringes for your owne gricdinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Lawe or no.

g Not that they saide thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.

h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as hee hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that purenes of religion, which hee requireth, and therefore in reproshe he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.

i Hee derideth the Priestes who bare the people in hande, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.

k Wil God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous, & wicked?

l Because the Leuites who kept the doores, did not try whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisheth that they wouldst rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfect.

m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice shalbe the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: & here the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe, framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospell, when an ende shoulde be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice.

n Both the Priestes, and the people were infected with this errour, that they passed not what was offered. For they thought that God was alwell content with the leane as with the fatte: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, & so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse.

o The priestes and people were both wearie with seruing God, and passed not what maner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to GOD, for that which was least profitable, was thought good ynough for the Lorde.

p That is, hath habilitie to serue the Lord according to his worde, and yet will serue him according to his couetous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priestes being seducers of the people.

1 And nowe, O ye [a] Priestes, this commandement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glorie [b] vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your [c] blessinges: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye do not consider it in your heart.

3 Beholde, I will corrupt [d] your seede, and cast dongue vpon your faces, a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.

b To serue me according to my worde.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefites.

d Your seede sowen shall come to no profite.

e You boast of your holines, sacrifices & feasts, but they shal turne to your shame, and be as vile as dongue.
f The Priests obiected against the prophet that he could not reproue them, but he must speake against ỹ priesthode, & the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines & dongue are called by their owne names.
g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui: on Gods part, that he would giue them long life & felicitie, and on their part, that they shoulde faithfully serue him according to his word.
h I prescribed Leui a certain law to serue me.
i He serued me and set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission.
k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.
l He is as the treasure house of Gods word and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, and not to reserue it for himselfe.
m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger, and Priest.
n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God & man: for seeing they were al borne of one father Abrahã, & God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.
o Whereby they had bounde themselues to God to be an holy people.
p They haue ioyned themselues in mariage with them that are of another religion.
q That is, the Priestes.
r Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regarde their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vayne.
s This is another faulte, whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of mariage.
t As the one halfe of thy selfe.
u She that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, & by the inuocatiõ of Gods Name.

even the [a] dõgne of your solemne feasts, and you shalbe like vnto it.
4 And ye shall knowe, that I haue [b] sent this commãdement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, saith the Lord of hostes.
5 My [c] couenant was with him of lyfe and peace, and I [d] gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was afrayde before [e] my Name.
6 The law of [f] truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lippes: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.
7 For the Priestes [g] lips should preserue knowledge, and they shoulde seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for he is the [h] messenger of the Lord of hostes.
8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fal by the Law: ye haue broken the couenant of Leui, (sayeth the Lord of hostes.
9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my waies, but haue bene partiall in the Law.
10 Haue we not all [i] one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, & breake the couenant of [k] our fathers?
11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel & in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which he loued, and hath maried the [l] daughter of a strange god.
12 The Lord wil cut off the man that doth this: both the master and the scruãt out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that [m] offreth an offring vnto the Lord of hostes.
13 And this haue ye done agayne, & [n] couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offring is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your handes.
14 Yet ye say, Wherin? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee & the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy [o] companion, and the wife of thy [p] couenant.
15 And did not [q] he make one? yet had he [r] abundance of spirite: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly [s] seede: therefore keepe your selues in your [t] spirite, & let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.
16 If thou hatest her, [u] put her away, sayth the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth [x] the iniurie vnder his garment, sayth the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not.
17 Ye haue [y] wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet ye saye, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [z] doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lorde, and he delyteth in them. Or where is the God of [a] iudgement?

[a] This is meant of John Baptist, as Christ expoũdeth it, Luk. 7.27
[b] Meaning, Messiah, as psal. 40.1, 7. dan. 9.17, 25.
[c] That is, Christ by whome the couenant was made & ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to his Father. & is Lorde or King, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.
[d] He sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lords coming, wil not abide when he draweth nere: for he will consume them, and purge his and make thẽ cleane
[e] He beginneth at ỹ Priests, that they might be lights & shine vnto others.
[f] They murmured against God, because thei saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token, that he doeth stil defend thẽ: and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.
[x] Did not God make man and woman as one flesshe and not many?
[y] By his power and vertue he coulde haue made many women for one man.
[z] Such as should be borne in lawful and moderate marriage wherein is no excesse of lustes.
[a] Conteine your selues within your boundes, and be sober in minde, & bridle your affections.
[b] Not that he doeth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults he sheweth, which is the lesse.
[c] Hee thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife stil, albeit he take others, and so as it were couereth his fault.
[d] Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you assoone as ye called.
[e] In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, & hath no respect to them that serue him.
[f] Thus they blaspheme God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christs office.

1 BEholde, I will send my [a] messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the [b] Lord whome ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the [c] messenger of the couenant whome ye desire: behold, he shal come, sayth the Lord of hostes.
2 But who [d] may abide the daye of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for hee is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.
3 And he shall sit downe to trye and fine the siluer: he shal euen fine the sonnes of [e] Leui, and purifie them as gold and siluer, that they may bring offrings vnto the Lord in righteousnes.
4 Then shal the offrings of Iudah and Ierusalem bee acceptable vnto the Lorde, as in olde time and in the yeres afore.
5 And I wil come nere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse [f] against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, & against those that wrongfully [g] kepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widow & the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.
6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob [h] are not consumed.

g There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that wil defraud their gods of their honor, or deale deceitfully with them.

i Whereby the seruice of God shoulde haue bin maintained, and the priestes, and ỹ poore relieued.

k Not hauing respect howe much ye neede, but I wil giue you in al abundance: so that ye shal lacke place to put my blessings in.

l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruites.

m The Prophet condemneth thē of double blasphemie against God: first in that they said that God had no respect to them that serued him, & next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.

n They are not onely preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers. o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, & incouraged others to feare God. p Both because the thing was strāge, that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners. q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shalbe as mine owne proper goods. r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirite.

7 From the daies of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: f returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lorde of hostes: but ye said, Wherein shall we returne?
8 Wil a g man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In i tithes, & offrings.
9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation.
10 Bring ye all the tythes into the storehouse that there may be meat in mine house, & proue me now herewith, saith the Lorde of hostes, if I will not open the windows of heauen vnto you, & powre you out a blessing k without measure.
11 And I will rebuke ỹ deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruite of your grounde, neither shal your vine be baren in the fielde, saith the Lorde of hostes.
12 And all nations shall call you blessed:
for ye shalbe a pleasant lande, saith the Lorde of hostes.
13 Your wordes haue been stoute l against me, saith the Lorde: yet ye say,
What haue we spoken against thee?
14 Ye haue saide, It is in vaine to serue
God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his cōmandement, & that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?
15 Therefore we count the proud blessed:
euen they that worke wickednes, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are m deliuered.
16 o Then spake they that feared ỹ Lord, euery one to his neighbour, & the Lorde hearkened and heard it, and a q booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lorde, and that thought vpon his Name.
17 And they shalbe to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that daye r that I shal doe this, for a flocke, and I wil s spare them, as a man sparyth his owne sonne that serueth him.
18 Then shall you returne, & discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord, before the which Eliah should come.

1 For beholde, the daye commeth that shal t burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that do wickedly, shal be stubble, and the day that cōmeth, shall burne them vp, saieth the Lorde of hostes, and shall leaue them, neither roote nor branche.
2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the u sunne of righteousnes arise, and health shalbe vnder his wings, and ye shall x go forth, and growe vp as fat calues.
3 And ye shall treade downe the wicked:
for they shalbe dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shal do this, saith the Lorde of hostes.
4 y Remember the law of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements.
5 Beholde, I will send you z Eliah the Prophet before the comming of the great and a fearefull day of the Lord.
6 And he shall b turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come c and smite the earth with cursing.

a He propheseth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.

b Meaning Christ, who with his wings or beames of his grace should lighten and comfort his Church, Ephes. 5.14. and he is called the sunne of righteousnes, because in him selfe he hath al perfection, and also the iustice of the father dwelleth in him: whereby he regenereateth vs into righteousnes, clenseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God. c Ye shalbe set at liberty and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2. Cor. 3.17. d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be destitute of Prophets vntill the tyme of Christ, because they shoulde with more feruent myndes desire his commyng, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the Lawe of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion & also be armed against all tentations. e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Matth. 11.13, 14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly and call them to repentance. g He sheweth wherin Iohns office should stande: in the turning of men to God and ioyning the father & children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted to Christ, and the sonne shal imbrace the faith of the true fathers, Abrahā, Izhak and Iaakob. h The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ

The ende of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that folow in order after the Prophets vnto the New Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to be read & expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to prooue any point of Christian religion, saue in asmuch as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the tryall of his children.

I. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed King. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

1 AND Iosias kept the [a] Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, & offered the passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

[a] 2. King. 23. 21. 2. Chron. 35. 1.

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built.

4 And sayd, Ye shal no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, & prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passeouer, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and kepte the Passeouer after the Lordes commaundement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priestes, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias & Zacharias & [b] Ophius the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passeouer two thousand sixe hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues.

[b] Or, Iehiel.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samarias, and Nathanael his brethren, & [c] Habias, and [d] Chelias, & [e] Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousand sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues.

[c] Or, Hasabias. [d] Or, Iehiel. [e] Or, Chorsba.

10 And when these things were done, the Priestes and the Leuites stoode in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes,

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lorde, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as [f] apperteined, & they sod their offrings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes, [f] Exod. 12. 8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterwarde they prepared for them selues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priestes offred the fat vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make readie for them selues, and for the Priestes their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and [g] Eddinus, which was of the Kings appointment.

[g] Or, Iedithun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Leuites made readie for them.

17 And in that day those things which apperteined to the sacrifice of the Lorde, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commaundement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer, & the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the priestes and the Leuites, & the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Jerusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yéere of the reigne of Josias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Josias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, aboue euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with *sensible things, so that the words of the Lord stoode vp against Israel.

25 ¶ * Nowe after all these actes of Josias, it came to passe that when Pharao king of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Josias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to do with thee, O king of Judea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and nowe the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Josias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared him selfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Jeremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battel aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to king Josias.

30 And the king sayd to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am verie weake. And by & by his seruants bare him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Jerusalem he chaunged his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Judea was Josias bewayled, yea, Jeremias the Prophete did lament for Josias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Judea, and euery one of the actes that Josias did, and his glorie, and his knowledge in the lawe of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things nowe rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Judea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachaz the sonne of Josias, and made him king in steade of his father Josias, when he was three and twentie yere olde.

35 And he reigned in Judea and in Jerusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem.

36 He tared also the people of an hundreth talents of siluer, and one talent of golde.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joacim his brother king of Judea and Jerusalem.

38 And he bound Joachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zarates his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fiue yere olde was Joacim, when he reigned in Judea and Jerusalem, and he did euil in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and carried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, & his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, he was eighteene yere olde.

44 And he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Jerusalem, and he did euil in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Judea and Jerusalem, when he was one and twentie yere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And he did euil in the sight of the Lorde, neither did he feare the woordes spoken *by Jeremias the Prophete from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that he was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, he forsware him selfe by the name of the Lord and fel away, & hardned his necke & his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, & the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Jerusalem.

50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them & his owne Tabernacle, 51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that he, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commaunded the kings of the Chaldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their young men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare young man, nor maiden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and carried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, and burnt their towers with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, & brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sworde, he carried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, & to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the

2.Chro.36.22. ezra 1.1.

I N * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfil þ worde of the Lorde by the mouth of Ieremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lorde of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me king ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, ẽ his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the House of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then þ dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and siluer,

7 With giftes, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shalbe brought, according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lord had moued to go vp, and build an House to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped thẽ in all things with siluer ẽ gold, horses, and cattel, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holie vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in þ Temple of his idols.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were giuen to [a] Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

[a] Or, Shashbazar, or Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the nomber: a thousand golden cuppes, and a thousand siluer cuppes, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie violes, of golde thirtie, ẽ of siluer two thousand, foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So al the vessels of gold and siluer, which they carped away, were fiue thousãd, foure hundreth, thrée score and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

Ezra.4.6. [b] Or, Bishlemus. [c] Or, Shimshi.

16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerres King of the Persians [b] Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, ẽ Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and [c] Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria ẽ in other places, wrote vnto him this epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD, 17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our Lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist kinges.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, goe forwarde, we thought it not mete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our Lorde the King, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwaies rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, rapsing alwaies warres therein: for þ which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O Lorde the king, we declare it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shal haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Hamellius the secretarie, ẽ to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commaunded, þ it should be sought out, ẽ it was found, that this citie hath alwaies practised against kinges, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, ẽ how that mighty kinges and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commaunded to forbid these men to builde vp the citie, and þ it be taken hede that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked thinges, which should molest the king, go not forward.

40 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerres had written, they moued their tentes with spéede to Ierusalem with horses and men in arap, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceassed vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

¶ The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

1 NOw when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects, & to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten & drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, & king Darius went into his chamber, and slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the garde, keepers of the Kings body, sayde one to another.

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shal ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifres, & great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple, & to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of golde, an head tyre of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shal sit next to Darius for his wisdome, and shalbe called Darius cosin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius,

9 And sayde, when the King rose, they woulde giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the King rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the Counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he saide, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And saide on this maner, O ye men, how strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bonde man and of the free man, of the poore man, and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioye and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorowe, nor dette.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither King nor gouernour, & causeth to speake all things by [a] talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friendes or brethren, and a litle after they drawe out swordes.

23 But when they are from the wine, they do not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued, 47 And his petition graunted.

1 THen the second which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, & ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is Lorde of them, so that they doe all things which he commaundeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines and walles & towers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commaundement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, aswel the spoyles as all other things,

6 And those also which go not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowen it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one go and doe his owne busines, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, howe should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O ye men, neither the mightie king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king, and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments & make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautiful woman?

19 Doe

[a] Or, pounds.

19 Doe they not leaue all those things & giue themselues wholy vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then gold or siluer, or any precious thing?
20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne countrie, and is ioyned with his wife.
21 And for the woman he ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor countrie.
22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?
23 Yea, a man taketh his sworde and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion and goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.
25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.
26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruaunts for them.
27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.
28 Now therefore do you not beleeue me? is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?
29 Yet I saw him & Apame the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.
30 And she tooke the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the king with her left hand.
31 Yet in the meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if she were angrie with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.
32 Yolwe then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?
33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the trueth.
34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is hie, and the sunne is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.
35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.
36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.
37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, & all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their vniquitie.
38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth & reigneth for euer & euer.
39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.
40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.
41 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and sayd, Trueth is great and strongest.
42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides þ which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, & shalt be called my cousin.
43 ¶ Then he sayd to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Jerusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to sende againe all the vessels that were take out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vowe to cut off Babylon, & vowed to sende them thither.
45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Judea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.
46 And now, O Lord the King, this is that which I desire & require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.
47 Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewardes and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Jerusalem.
48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria & Phenice, & to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring ceder wood from Libanus to Jerusalem, and build the citie with him.
49 And he wrote for all the Jewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Judea, concerning their libertie, that no prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their dores,
50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Jewes which they held,
51 And that euery yere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntil it were built,
52 And to maintaine the burnt offrings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commaundement to offer seuentene) other ten talents euery yeere.
53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the Citie, should haue libertie, as wel they as their posteritie, & all the Priestes that went away.
54 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.
55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntil the house were finished, and Jerusalem built.
56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.
57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and what soeuer Cyrus had commaunded to doe, he also commaunded to doe it, and to sende to Jerusalem.

38 And whē the [a]yong man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towardes Jerusalem, and gaue thankes to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thée is the victorie, & of thée is wisedome, and of thée is glorie, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisedome: for vnto thée I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters & went out and came to Babylon, & tolde all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedome and libertie

63 To goe vp and to builde Jerusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renoumed, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

[a] Ezr. 3. 1.

48 Then Jesus the sonne of Josedec and his brethren the Priestes, with Zozobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethre, rising vp, made ready the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is writte in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the lande: but they diressed the altar in his own place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, & they offered sacrifices according to the season, & burnt offringes to the Lozd, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is [a] ordeined in the Law, and offred sacrifices euery day, as was requisite,

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offringes of the Sabbaths and of the newe moneths and of all holie feastes.

53 ¶ And all they which had made any vow to God, bega to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the temple of God was not yet built.

[a] Ezr. 3. 6.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meat and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And charets to the Sidonians & to those of Tyrus to bring ceder wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by flots to the hauen of Joppe, according to the commaundement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second pere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zozobabel the sonne of Salathiel, & Jesus the sonne of Josedec, & their brethren, and the priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jerusalem.

57 And [a] laid the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second pere, after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem.

[a] Ecclus. 49. 12.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie pere old ouer the works of the Lozd, & Jesus & his sonne, & his brethren, & his brother Cadmiel, & the sonnes of Madiadon with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes & brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accozde did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the temple of the Lozd.

59 And the Prieſts ſtoode clothed with their long garments, with muſicall inſtruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the ſonnes of Aſaph with cymbales, 60 Singing & bleſſing the Lord, accordyng to the ordinance of Dauid king of Iſrael.
61 And they ſung with loude voyce ſonges to the prayſe of the Lord, becauſe his mercy and glory is for euer in all Iſrael.
62 Then all the people blewe trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, prayſing the Lord for the raiſing vp of the houſe of the Lord.
63 Alſo ſome of the Prieſts & Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had ſeene the former houſe, 64 Came to ſee the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets & ioye cryed with loude voyce,
65 So y the people could not heare the trumpets, becauſe of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, ſo that they were heard farre off.
66 ¶ Wherfore whē the enemies of the tribes of Iuda & Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noyſe of trumpets it was,
67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lorde God of Iſrael.
68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jeſus, and the chiefe of the families, ſayd vnto them, Let vs build alſo with you.
69 For we obey your Lord, as you doe, and ſacrifice vnto him ſince the dayes of *Aſbaſareth king of the Aſſyrias, which brought vs hither.
70 Then Zorobabel, & Jeſus, and the chiefe of the families of Iſrael ſayd to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an houſe to the Lord our God.
71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Iſrael, as it becommeth vs, and as *Cyrus the King of the Perſians bade vs.
72 Howbeit the people of the land made them ſtuggith that were in Judea, & letted them to build the worke, and by their ambuſhments and ſeditions and conſpiracies hindered the finiſhing of the building, 73 All the time of King Cyrus life: ſo that they were let from the building two yeere, vntil the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Siſinnes would let them. 7 His Epiſtle to Darius. 13 The kings anſwere to the contrarie.

1 BVt * in the ſecond yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the ſonne of Addo the Prophets prophecied to the Jewes, euen vnto thē that were in Judea & Jeruſalem, in the name of the Lord God of Iſrael, which thy called* vpō.
2 Then Zorobabel ſonne of Salathiel, and Jeſus the ſonne of Joſedec ſtoode vp, and began to build the houſe of the Lord, which is in Jeruſalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.
3 ¶ In that time Siſinnes the gouernour of Syria, and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,
4 And ſaid vnto them, By whoſe commandement builde you this houſe & this building, and enterpriſe all theſe other things? and who are the builders that enterpriſe ſuch things?
5 But the Ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord, after that he had viſited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was ſignified vnto Darius of theſe matters, and an anſwere was receiued.
7 ¶ The copie of the epiſtle, which hee did write and ſend to Darius, SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, preſidents in Syria & Phenice, Salute king Darius.
8 It may pleaſe the king our maiſter plainely to vnderſtand, that when we came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into the citie of Jeruſalem, we found in the citie of Jeruſalem the ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an houſe to the Lord, great and newe, of hewen ſtones, & of great price, and the timber all ready layd vpon the walles.
10 And theſe workes are done with great ſpeede, yea, and the worke hath good ſucceſſe in their handes, ſo that it will be finiſhed with all glory and diligence.
11 Then we aſked their ancients, ſaying, By whoſe commaundement builde you this houſe, & lay the fundation of theſe workes?
12 We aſked them theſe things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demaunded the names of the gournours in writing.
13 But they anſwered, ſaying, We are the ſeruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.
14 And * this houſe was built vp many yeeres agoe by a King of Iſrael great and ſtrong, and was finiſhed.
15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, ſinned againſt the Lord of Iſrael, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the handes of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the houſe and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.
17 But in the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this houſe ſhould be built vp.
18 And the holy veſſels of gold and of ſilver, which Nabuchodonoſor had caried out of the houſe at Jeruſalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to *Sanabaſſarus ruler.
19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he ſhould carie away thoſe veſſels, and put them in the Temple at Jeruſalem, and that this Temple of the Lorde ſhould be built in this place.
20 Then the ſame Sanaballarus, being come hither, layd the foundations of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem, and ſince that time till now, it is in building, and is not finiſhed.

21 Now

21 Now therefore if it pleaſe the king, let it be ſought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.
22 And if it be found that the building of the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem hath bene done by the conſent of King Cyrus, and if it ſeeme good to the lorde our King, let him make vs anſwere concerning theſe things.
23 Then king Darius commanded to ſearch in the kings libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where ſuch things were layde vp for memorie.
24 In the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commaunded the houſe of the Lord at Jeruſalem to be builded, where they did ſacrifice with the continuall fire.
25 Of the which the height ſhould be of three ſcore cubites, the breadth of threeſcore cubites with three rowes of hewen ſtones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the coſts ſhould be payed out of the houſe of king Cyrus.
26 And that the holy veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, aſwel thoſe of golde as of ſilver, which Nabuchodonoſor had caried out of the houſe in Jeruſalem, and brought into Babylon, ſhould be reſtored to the houſe, which is in Jeruſalem, and ſet in the place where they were afore.
27 Alſo he commaunded that Sithmes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and thoſe which were conſtitute captaines in Syria & Phenice, ſhould take heede to reſraine from that place, & to ſuffer Zorobabel the ſeruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the elders of the Jewes to build that houſe of the Lord in that place.
28 And I alſo haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, & that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, till the houſe of the Lord be finiſhed,
29 And that ſome part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice ſhould be diligently giuen to theſe men for ſacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:
30 Alſo corne, and ſalt, & wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Prieſts, which are in Jeruſalem ſhall teſtifie to be ſpent euery day, 31 That offrings may be made to the hie God for the King, & his children, and that they may pray for their liues.
32 Furthermore he commanded that whoſoeuer ſhould tranſgreſſe any thing afore ſpoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree ſhould be taken out of his poſſeſſion, & he be hanged thereon, and that his goods ſhould be the Kings.
33 And therefore let the Lord whoſe name is there called vpon, deſtroy euery king and nation, which ſtretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that houſe of the Lord which is in Jeruſalem.
Ezra.6.12. 34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it ſhould be diligently executed according to theſe things.

loſyria & Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, & their companions, obeying king Darius commaundements, 2 Aſſiſted diligently the holy workes, working with the ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.
3 And the holy workes proſpered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.
4 So they finiſhed all things by the cõmandement of the Lord God of Iſrael, & with the conſent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Perſians.
5 Thus the holy houſe was finiſhed in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the ſixt yeere of Darius king of the Perſians.
6 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, & the Prieſts and the Leuites, and the reſt, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyſes.
7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rams, fourre hundreth lambs,
8 And twelue goates for the ſinne of all Iſrael, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Iſrael.
9 And the Prieſts and the Leuites ſtood according to their kindreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Iſrael, according to the booke of Moyſes, and alſo the porters in euery gate.
10 And the children of Iſrael offered the Paſſeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the firſt moneth, after that the Prieſtes and Leuites were ſanctified.
11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not ſanctified together, but all the Leuites were ſanctified together.
12 And they offred the Paſſeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Prieſts, and for themſelues.
13 Then all the children of Iſrael which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had ſeparated themſelues from the abominations of the people of the land, and ſought the Lord.
14 And they kept ꝓ feaſt of vnleauened bread ſeuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Becauſe he had turned the counſell of the King of the Aſſyrians towardes them to ſtrengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Iſrael.

3 This Eſdras went out of Babylon, and was a ſcribe wel taught in ꝑ Law of Moyſes, giuen vp the Lord God of Iſrael.
4 Alſo the king gaue him great honour, and he founde grace in his ſight in all his requeſtes, 5 With him alſo there departed ſome of the children of Iſrael, and of the Prieſtes & Leuites, and of the holy ſingers, & of the porters, & of the miniſters of the Temple vnto Jeruſalem,
6 In the ſeuenth yere of the reigne of Artaxerres, & in the firſt moneth: this was the ſeuenth yere of the king (for they went out of Babylon in the firſt day of the firſt moneth,
7 And came to Jeruſalem according as the Lord gaue them ſpeede in their iourney).
8 For Eſdras had gotten great knawledge, ſo that he woulde let nothing paſſe that was in the lawe of the Lord, and in the cōmandements, and he taught all Iſrael all the ordinances and iudgements.
9 So the commiſſion written vp king Artaxerres was giuen Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Lawe of the Lorde: the copie thereof followeth.
10 King Artaxerres to Eſdras the Prieſt, & reader of the Lawe of the Lorde, Salutation.
11 For as much as I conſider things with pity, I haue commanded that they that wil and deſire of the nation of the Jewes, and of the Prieſtes and Leuites, which are in our kingdome, ſhould goe with thee vnto Iſrael.
12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath ſeemed good to me and my ſeuen friendes the counſellers, 13 That they may viſite the things that are in Judea and Jeruſalem diligently, as it is contained in the law of the Lord, 14 And carie the gifts to the Lord of Iſrael in Jeruſalem, which I & my friends haue vowed: alſo all the golde and ſiluer, which ſhall be found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jeruſalem, 15 With that which is giuen of the people to the temple of the Lorde their God, that it might be brought to Jeruſalem, as well ſiluer as gold, for bulles, & rams, & lambes, and things thereunto pertaining,
16 That they may offer ſacrifices to the Lord vpon ꝑ altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jeruſalem.
17 And whatſoeuer thou & thy brethren wil doe with the golde or ſiluer, accompliſh it according to the will of thy God.
18 And the holy veſſels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vſe of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jeruſalem, thou ſhalt ſet before thy God in Jeruſalem.
19 And what other things ſo euer thou ſhalt remember for the vſe of the Temple of thy God, thou ſhalt giue it out of the Kinges treaſure.
20 And I alſo king Artaxerres haue commanded ꝑ treaſurers of Syria & Phenice, that what ſoeuer Eſdras, the Prieſt and reader of the Lawe of the hieſt God, ſhall send for, they ſhould giue it him with all ſpeede, euen to the ſumme of an hundreth talents of ſiluer, 21 And likewiſe vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.
22 Let all things be done to the hieſt God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the king and of his ſonnes.
23 Alſo to you it is cōmanded, that of none of the Prieſtes or Leuites, or holie ſingers, or porters or miniſters of the Temple, or of the workmen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be take, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.
24 Thou alſo, Eſdras, according to the wiſdome of God, ordeine iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria &
Phenice all thoſe which are wel inſtructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach thoſe, which are not inſtructed.
25 And let all thoſe which ſhall tranſgreſſe the Lawe of God & the king, be diligently puniſhed, either with death, or other puniſhment, either with penaltie of money, or baniſhment.
26 ¶ Then Eſdras the ſcribe ſaide, Bleſſed be the only Lorde God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his Houſe which is in Jeruſalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the king, and the counſellers, and all his friends, &

43 I ſent to Eleazar, & beholde, there came *Maaſman, and Alnathan, and Samuan, and *Joribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Moſollamon the chiefe, and beſt learned.
44 And I bade them to goe to Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treaſurie, 45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, & the treaſurers that were there, to ſend to vs them, which ſhould offer ſacrifice in the houſe of our Lorde.
46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lorde learned men of the ſonnes of Moſi, the ſonne of Leui, the ſonne of Jſrael, to wit, *Eſebebian & his ſonnes, and his brethren being eyghteene.
47 And Aſebia, and *Annon, and Oſaian his brethren of the ſonnes of *Canaaneus with their ſonnes, twentie perſons.
48 And of the miniſters of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, & thoſe which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, miniſters of the Temple, two hundreth & twentie, of whō al þ names were regiſtred.
49 ¶ And *there I proclaimed a faſt for the yong men before the Lorde to aſke of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

51 Becauſe we had ſaid to the king, that the power of our Lorde ſhoulde be with them þ ſought him, to direct them in all thinges.
52 Wherefore we prayed our Lorde againe, according to theſe thinges, whom we found fauourable.
53 Then I choſe from among the chiefe of the tribes, & of the Prieſtes, twelue men, to wit, *Eſebias and Aſſanias, and with them tenne of their brethren.
54 And I weighed them the ſiluer and the gold, & the holy veſſels of the houſe of our Lord, which the king and his counſellers, and his princes, and all Jſrael had giuen.
55 And I weighed them, ſix hundreth & fiftie talents of ſiluer, & ſiluer veſſels of an hundreth talents, & an hundreth talents of gold, 56 And twentie golden baſons, & twelue veſſels of braſſe, of fine braſſe ſhining like gold.
57 And I ſaid to them, You are alſo holy to the Lorde, and the veſſels are holy, and the golde, and the ſiluer is a vowe to the Lorde of our fathers.
58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heades of the families of the Prieſtes, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Jſrael in Jeruſalem in the chambers of the houſe of our God.
59 So the Prieſtes and Leuites tooke the ſiluer & the gold, & the veſſels, & caried them to Jeruſalem to the Temple of the Lorde.
60 And we departed from the flood Thera, on the twelueth day of the firſt moneth, and came to Jeruſalem, according to the mightie power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies, & ſo we came to Jeruſalem.
61 And three dayes being paſt there, in the fourth day the ſiluer that was weighed, & the golde was deliuered in the houſe of our Lorde to *Marmoth the Prieſt, the ſonne of Jouri, 62 And with him to Eleazar the ſonne of Phinees: & there were with them, Joſabad the ſonne of Jeſus, and *Moeth ſonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered the by number and weight.
63 And all the weight of them was written that ſame houre.
64 Afterwardes thoſe that were come out of the captiuitie, offered ſacrifices to the Lord God of Jſrael, euen twelue bulles for all Jſrael, rams foure ſcore and ſixtene, 65 Lambes three ſcore and twelue, twelue goates for ſaluation, all in ſacrifice to the Lorde.
66 And they preſented the commandements of the king to the kings ſtewardes, & to þ gouernours of Coeloſyria & Phenice, who honoured the people, & the Temple of God.
67 ¶ *When theſe things were done, the gouernours came to me, ſaying, The people of Jſrael, the Princes and the Prieſtes, and the Leuites haue not ſeparated from them the ſtrange people of the land, 68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, & Chetites, & Phereſites, and Jebuſites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.
69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their ſonnes, and the holie ſeede is mixed with the ſtrange people of the lande, & the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednes from the beginning of the thing.
70 And as ſoone as I had hearde theſe thinges, I rent my clothes, and the holie garment, & I pulled the heare off my head, and off my beard, and ſate me downe ſorowfull, and verie ſad.
71 Then alſo all they that were moued with the worde of the Lorde God of Jſrael, came to me whyles I wept for the iniquitie, but I ſate verie ſad till the euening ſacrifice.

72 Then

Ezra.9.6. 73 And ſayd, *O Lord, I am aſhamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our ſinnes are increaſed above our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great ſinne vnto this day.

76 For our ſinnes therefore, & our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings and Prieſtes haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the ſwoorde and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all ſhame vnto this day.

77 And nowe howe great hath thy mercie bene, O Lorde, that there ſhould be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holineſſe!

78 And that thou ſhouldeſt reueale to vs a light in the houſe of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our ſeruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Perſians, that they ſhould giue vs meate, 80 And that they ſhould honour the Temple of our Lord, and raiſe vp Sion that is deſolate, and giue vs aſſurance in Judea and Jeruſalem.

81 And nowe, O Lord, what ſhall we ſay, hauing theſe things? for we haue tranſgreſſed thy commandements, which thou haſt giuen vp the hands of thy ſeruants the Prophets, ſaying,

Deut.7.2. 82 *Becauſe the land, which ye goe to inherite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the ſtrangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthineſſe,

83 Therefore nowe ye ſhall not ioyne your daughters with your ſonnes, neither giue your daughters to their ſonnes, 84 Neither ſhall you deſire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made ſtrong, and eat the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to paſſe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great ſinnes: yet, Lord, thou haſt for borne our ſinnes, 86 And haſt giuen vs ſuch a roote: but we againe haue turned backe to tranſgreſſe thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleanneſs of the people of the land.

87 Wilteſt thou not be angrie with vs to deſtroy vs, ſo that thou ſhouldeſt neither leaue vs roote nor ſeede nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Iſrael, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, we are nowe before thee with our iniquities, neither can we indure before thee for theſe things.

Ezra.10.1. 90 ¶ And * as Eſdras prayed and confeſſed & wept, & lay vpon the ground before the temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jeruſalem of men and women, and yong children; for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Jechonias the ſonne of Jeel of the ſonnes of Iſrael, crying out, ſayd, O Eſdras, we haue ſinned againſt the Lorde God: we haue taken in mariage ſtrange women of the nations of the land. *Or, Iehiel.

92 And nowe all Iſrael is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lorde to put away all our wiues, which are ſtrangers, with their children.

93 If it ſeeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the law of the Lord, riſe vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee ſtrong.

95 Then Eſdras aroſe, & made all the chiefe of the families of the Prieſts and Leuites of all Iſrael to ſweare, that they would doe thus: and they ſware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Eſdras had read the lawe for the ſtrange wiues, 10 They promiſe to put them away.

1 THen * Eſdras roſe from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joanan the ſonne of Eliaſib, Ezra.10.6.

2 And being lodged there, he did eate no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jeruſalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they ſhould be gathered to Jeruſalem,

4 And that all they which ſhould not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, ſhould haue their cattel confiſcate to the Temple, and he caſt out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda and Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Jeruſalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude ſate in the broade place of the Temple ſhaking, becauſe of the extreme winter.

7 Then Eſdras aroſe and ſayd to them, Ye haue ſinned: for ye haue maried ſtrange wiues, ſo that ye haue augmented the ſinnes of Iſrael.

8 Now therefore confeſſe & glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and ſeparate your ſelues from the people of the land, and from the ſtrange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out & ſayd with a lowde voyce, We will doe ſo as thou haſt ſayd.

11 But becauſe the multitude is great, and the time is winter, ſo that we can not ſtand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, ſeeing that many of vs haue ſinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue ſtrange wiues of our families, tarrie:

13 And let the Prieſtes and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeaſed the wrath of the Lord againſt vs for this matter.

14 Then

14 Then Jonathas Asaels sonne, and [a]Ezechias sonne of [b]Thecan were appointed concerning these thinges, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them.
15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.
16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.
17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them that had marryed strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.
18 And there were founde of the Priestes, which had married strange wiues, 19 Of the sonnes of Jesus, the sonne of Josedec, and of his brethren, [a]Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Joribus, and [b]Jonadan.
20 Who also gaue their handes to cast out their wiues, and offered a ram for their reconciliation in their purgation.
21 And of the sonnes of Emmer, [a]Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Samelus, and Hierael, and Azarias.
22 And of the sonnes of [a]Phassur, Elionas, Masias, Ismaelus, and Nathanael, and [b]Ocidelus, and Talsas.
23 And of the Leuites, [a]Jozabadus, and Semis, & Colius, who was called [b]Calitas, and Pathens, and Oudas, and Jonas.
24 Of the holy singers, [a]Eliasnus, Bacchurus.
25 Of the porters, [a]Salumus, & Tolbanes.
26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus, [a]Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazar, and Asibias, and [b]Banaias.
27 Of the sonnes of [a]Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and [b]Hierielas, and [c]Hieremoth, and Aedias.
28 And of the sonnes of [a]Lamoth, Eliadas, Eliasimus, Othonias, Jarmoth, and [b]Sabatus, and Sardeus.
29 Of the sonnes of [a]Bebai, Joannes, and Ananias, and [b]Josabad, and Amatheas.
30 Of the sonnes of [a]Mani, Olamus, Maluchus, Jedeias, Jasubus, Jasari, and Jeremoth.
31 And of the sonnes of [a]Addi, Naathus, Mooslas, Laccunus, & Naidus, and Mathanias, and [b]Belchel, and Balmus, and Manasseas.
32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aleas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Chosamite.
33 And of the sonnes of [a]Asom, Altaneus, and [b]Matthias, and Bannaias, Eliphalat, and Manasses, and Hemei.
34 And of the sonnes of [a]Maani, Jeremias, Momdis, Omairus, Inel, Mamai, and Paclias, and Amos, Carabasion, and Esaubus, and Mammimataanaius, Eleasis, Banus, Eliali, Samis, Melemias, Nathanias, and of the sonnes of Ozoias, Sesis, Esril, Azailus, Samatas, Sambis, Josiphus.
35 And of the sonnes of Ethma, Pazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Jnel, Banaias, 36 All these married strange wiues, and put them away with their children.
37 And the Priestes & the Leuites dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.
38 ¶ [a]Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broade place before the gate of the Temple towarde the East, Nehem. 8.
39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moses, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Israel.
40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest the Law to all the multitude, both man & woman, and to all the Priestes, that they might heare the Lawe the first day of the seuenth moneth.
41 And he read in the first broade place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, & all the multitude hearkened to the Law.
42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stoode vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.
43 And there stoode by him [a]Matgarthias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand, [a]or, Mathithias.
44 And at his left hand Phaldaius, & Sail, [a]Melchias, Nothasaphus, Nabarias. [a]or, Pedaias.
45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for he sate honourably before them all.)
46 And they all stoode vpright when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of hostes.
47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.
48 Then Jesus and [a]Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Jacobus, Sabatatias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, and Jozabdus, & Ananias, and Biastas the Leuites list vp their handes, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord, [a]or, Banl.
49 And taught the Lawe of the Lorde, and stoode also earnestly vpon the reading.
50 Then said [a]Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and reader, & to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, & all haue wept in hearing of the Lawe. [a]or, Nehemias.
51 Go therefore and eat the fat meates, and drinke the sweete drinkes, & sende presents to them that haue not.
52 For this day is holy to the Lorde, and be not sory: for the Lorde God will glorifie you.
53 So the Leuites cōmanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.
54 Then they departed all to eate & drinke, and to reioyce, & to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheare.
55 For they were put filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, whē they were assembled together.

CHAP. I.

The people is reproued for their vnfaithfulnes. 30 God will haue an other people, if these will not be reformed.

1 The ſecond boke of the Prophet *Eſdras, the ſonne of Saraias, the ſonne of Azarias, the ſonne of Helcias, the ſonne of Sadamias, the ſonne of Sadoc, the ſonne of Achitob,

2 The ſonne of Achias, the ſonne of Phinees, the ſonne of Heli, the ſonne of Amerias, the ſonne of Mie, the ſonne of Marimoth, the ſonne of Arna, the ſonne of Oziæs, the ſonne of Bouith, the ſone of Abiſei, the ſonne of Phinees, the ſonne of Eleazar,

3 The ſonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which Eſdras was priſoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes King of Perſia.

Iſai.58.1. 4 *And the word of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

5 Go, and ſhew my people their ſinnes, and their children their wickednes, which they haue committed againſt me, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the ſinnes of their fathers are increaſed in them, becauſe they haue forgotten me, and haue offred vnto ſtrange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the houſe of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and deſpiſed my counſels.

8 Pull thou off then þ heare of thine head, and caſt all euill vpon them: for they haue not beene obedient vnto my lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 Howe long ſhall I forbeare them, vnto whome I haue done ſo much good?

Exod.14.28. 10 *Many kings haue I deſtroyed for their ſakes: Pharao with his ſeruantes and all his armie haue I ſmitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I deſtroyed before thē: *I haue deſtroyed the Eaſt, the people of the two coūtries Tyrus and Sidon, and haue ſlaine all their enemies.

Num.21.24. Iohn.3.33.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, ſaying, Thus ſayth the Lord,

Exod.14.29. 13 *I haue led you thorow the Sea, & haue giuen you a ſure *way, ſince the beginning: *I gaue you Hoples for a guide, and Aaron for a Prieſt.

Or, ſtreete. Exod.3.10. & 4.14.*

Exod.13.21. 14 *I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, ſaith the Lord.

15 Thus ſaith þ almightie Lord, The quailes *were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for ſafegard, wherein ye murmured.

Exod.16.13. Pſal.104.40.

16 And ye triumphed not in my name for the deſtruction of your enemies, but yet murmure ſtill.

17 Where are þ benefites that I haue done for you? when ye were hungrie in the wildernes,* did ye not crie vnto me, Numb.14.3. 18 Saying, Why haſt thou brought vs into this wildernes to kil vs? It had bene better for vs to haue ſerued the Egyptians, then to die in this wildernes.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: *ſo ye did eate Angels foode. Wiſd.16.20.

20 *When ye were thirſtie, did not I cleaue the ſtone, and waters did flow out to ſatiſfie you? from the heat I couered you with the leaues of the trees, Num.20.11. wiſd.11.4.

21 And I gaue you fat countries: I caſt out the Cananites, the Phereſites, and Philiſtims before you: *what ſhall I doe more for you, ſaith the Lord? Iſa.5.4.

22 Thus ſaith the almightie Lord, *Why ye were in the wildernes at þ bitter waters, being a thirſt, & blaſpheming my Name, Exod.15.23.

23 I gaue you not fire for the blaſphemies, but caſt a tree into the water, and made the riuer ſweete.

24 What ſhall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou *Iuda wouldeſt not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto thoſe will I giue my name, that they may kepe my Lawes. Exod.32.8.

25 Seeing ye haue forſaken me, I will alſo forſake you: when ye aſke mercy of me, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

26 *When ye call vpon me, I wil not heare you: for ye haue defiled your handes with blood, and your feete are ſwift to commit murther, Iſa.1.15.

27 Although ye haue not forſaken me, but your owne ſelues, ſaith the Lord.

28 Thus ſaith the almightie Lorde, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his ſonnes, and as a mother her daughters, & as a nurce her yong babes, 29 That ye would be my people, as I am your God, and that ye would be my children, as I am your Father?

30 *I gathered you together as an henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what ſhall I do vnto you? I will caſt you out from my ſight. Mat.23.37.

31 *When you bring gifts vnto me, I will turne my face from you: for your ſolemne feaſt dayes, your newe moones, and your circumciſions haue I forſaken. Iſa.1.13.

32 I ſent vnto you my ſeruantes the Prophetes, whome ye haue taken & ſlaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whoſe blood I will reuenge, ſaith the Lord.

33 Thus ſaith þ almightie Lord, Your houſe ſhall be deſolate: I will caſt you out as the wynde doth the ſtubble.

34 Your children ſhall not haue generation: for they haue deſpiſed my cōmandement, and done the thing, that I hate, before me.

35 Your houſes wil I giue vnto a people to come, who ſhall beleeue me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer ſhewed miracle, ſhall doe the things that I commande them.

36 Though they ſee no Prophetes, yet ſhall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whoſe children reioyce in gladneſſe, and though they haue not ſeene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I ſay.

38 Nowe therefore brother, beholde what great glory, and ſee the people that come from the Eaſt,

39 Vnto

30 Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abiahaim, Isaac, Jacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Jonas, 40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord.)

Malac.3.1.

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

1 THus saith the Lorde, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophetes, whome they woulde not heare, but despised my counsels.
2 The mother that bare them, saieth vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.
3 I brought you vp with gladnes, but with sorowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.
4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widowe and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.
5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which woulde not keepe my couenant, 6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kinred be not continued.
7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.
8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember* what I did vnto Sodom & Gomorrha, Gen.19.24.

9 Whose land is mixed with clouds of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almightie Lorde.
10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I woulde haue giuen vnto Israel.
11 And I will get me glorie by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.
12 They shall haue as will the tree of life, smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.
13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: wayt that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is alredy prepared for you: watch.
14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.
15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnes: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lorde.
16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp fro their places, & bring the out of the graues: for I haue knowen my name in Israel.
17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.
18 I will send thee my seruants Esaie and Jeremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified & prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites.
19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke & honie, & seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there growe roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.
20 Execute iudge for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defende the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.
21 Heale the wounded, & sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, & let the blind come into my light of my clerenes.
22 Keepe the olde and the young that are within thy walles.
23 *Whereseuer thou findest the dead, take them and burie them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

Tobit.1.17.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.
25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablishe their feete.
26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.
27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorowfull, but thou shalt be merie, and haue abundance.
28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.
29 Mine handes shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.
30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.
31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring the out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almightie.
32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.
33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lorde vpon the mount Horeb, that I shoulde goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commaundement of the Lorde.
34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstande, Wayte for your shepheard, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for he is nere at hand, that shall come in the end of the worlde.
35 Be readie to the reward of the kingdom: for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.
36 Flee the shadowe of this world: receiue the ioy of your glorye: I testifie my Sauiour openly.
37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.
38 Arise, & stand vp, & behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the worlde, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lorde.
40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp the that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.
41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseeche the power of the Lorde, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 *I

Reuel.7.9. 42 *I Esdras sawe vpon mount Sion a great people whome I could not number, and they all praysed the Lord with songs.
43 And in the middes of them there was a pong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heades he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.
44 So I asked the Angel, and sayd, Who are these, my Lord?
45 Who answered, & said vnto me, These be they that haue put off the mortal clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the name of God: nowe are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.
46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What pong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, & giueth them the palmes in their handes?
47 And he answered, and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commende them, that had stande so stronglp for the Name of the Lord.
48 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Goe thy way, & tel my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue ruled ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

1 IN the thirtieth yere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, & my thoughts came vp to mine heart,
2 Because I sawe the desolation of Sion, & the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.
3 So my spirite was soze moued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most high, and sayd,
4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at ꝑ beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commaundement vnto the people,
Gen.2.7. 5 *And a bodie vnto Adam, without soule, who was also the workemanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,
6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hande had planted, or euer the earth *brought forth.
*Or, went forward. 7 Euen then thou gauest him commaundement to loue thy wap: but he transgressed it, & immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kinreds out of number.
Deut.8.11. 8 *And euery people walked after their owne will, & did wonderful things before thee, and despised thy commaundements.
Gene.7.10. 9 *But at the time appointed, thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them, 10 So ꝑ by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam.
1.Pet.3.20. 11 Yet thou lefteſt one, euen *Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous me.
12 And when they ꝑ dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, & the number of ꝑ childie, people, & many nations were increased, they began to be moze vngodly then ꝑ first,
13 Nowe when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou diddest choose the a man fro among them, whose name was *Abraham. Gene.11.28 Gene.17.5.
14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whome onely thou shewedst thy will,
15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede.
16 *And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, *vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, *and diddest choose Jacob, & cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude. Gene.21.2,3. Gen.25.23,26. Mal.1.2,3. rom.9.13.
17 And when thou leddest his seed out of Egypt, *thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, Exod.19.2. deut.4.20.
18 And inclinedst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and diddest moue the ground, and cause the deepthes to shake, and diddest astonish the world.
19 And thy glory went thozow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Lawe vnto the seede of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.
20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy lawe might bring forth fruite in them.
21 For *Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, & all they that are borne of him. Gen.3.6.
22 Thus remained weakenes ioyned with the lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednes of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euil abode still.
23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were brought to an end, *till thou diddest raise the vp a seruant called Dauid. 1.Sam.16.13.
24 *Whom thou commaundedst to build a Citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice. 2.Sam.5.2. and 7.5,11.
25 When this was done many yeres, the inhabitants forsoke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generatiō: for they also had a wicked heart.
27 Therefore thou gauest thy Citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.
28 But doe they that dwel at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?
29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deeds without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I see many treipassing) I was discouraged.
30 For I saw, how thou suffredst them that sinne, & sparedst the wicked doers, where as thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, & thou hast not shewed it.
31 I cannot perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?
32 Or is there any other people ꝑ knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies, as Jacob?
33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them richly, and thinke not vpon thy commaundements.
34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in

in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commaundementes?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

The Angel reproueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

1 AND the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And saide, Thine heart hath taken too much vpō it in this worlde, & thou thinkest to comprehende the wayes of the Hiest.

3 Then saide I, Yea, my Lorde. And he answered me, & saide, I am sent to shewe thee three wayes, and to set foorth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shewe thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, & I will shewe thee fro whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I saide, Tell on, my Lord. Then sayde he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or cal me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can doe that, which thou requirest me, concerning these thinges?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which thinges thou canst not be separated, & yet canst thou giue me none answere of them.

10 He saide moreouer vnto me, Thine owne thinges, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How should thy vessell then be able to cōprehend the wayes of the Hiest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt worlde, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at al, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and saide, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees helde a counsell, Iud.9.8. 2.chro.25. 18.

14 And said, Come, let vs go fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, & that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and saide, Come, let vs go vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrie for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land stoode vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whome wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verily it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, & said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens. Isai.33.8. Ioh.3.31. 1.cor.2.13, 14.

22 Then answered I, & saide, I beseech thee, O Lorde, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie thinges, but of such as we daily meddle withall, namely wherefore Israel is made a reproche to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Lawe of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why wee are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a verie feare, and we are not thought worthie to obteine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these thinges haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and sayde, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marueile: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot cōprehend the thinges, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill nowe that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, & if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then can not þ thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam fro the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath he brought vp vnto this time? And howe much shall he bring forth vntil the harueste come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalkes shal be cut downe, which are without nomber, how great an harueste must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, & said, How, & when shal these thinges come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres fewe and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to be aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to be aboue him, though thou indeuour neuer so much.
35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shal I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages?
36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the seeds is filled in you: for he hath weighed the worlde in the balance.
37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shal not be moued or shaken, til the measure thereof be fulfilled.
38 Then answered I, & said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture is harmed of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwel vpon earth.
40 So he answered me, and said, Go, and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.
41 Then said I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.
42 For as she that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauel, so do these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.
43 That which thou desirest to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.
44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore,
45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past then are to come.
46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I know not.
47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.
48 So I stood, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.
49 After this there passed before me a warie cloude, and sent downe much rayne with a stormie: and when the stormie rayne was past, the droppes came after.
50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the rayne is more then the drops, & as the fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the droppes and the smoke were much.
51 Then I prayed, and sayde, May I liue, thinkest thou vntil that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?
52 He answered me, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a parte: but I am not sent to shewe thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth shalbe hid, & vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shal reigne in the worlde. 23 Israel is reuolted, & God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all thing in season.

1 NEuertheless concerning the tokens, beholde, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shalbe taken in a great number, & the way of the trueth shalbe hid, & the land shalbe baren from faith,
2 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene nowe, or hast heard in time past. Mat.24.12.
3 And it shal come to passe, that one thal set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which nowe reigneth.
4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the thirde trumpet, that the sunne shal suddenly shine againe in the night, and the Moone three times a day.
5 Blood shall droppe out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.
6 And he shall rule, of whome they hope not that dwel vpon earth, and the foules shall change place.
7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not knowe, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.
8 There shalbe a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters,
9 And salt waters shall bee found in the sweete, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secrete chamber.
10 It shalbe sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall vnrighteousnesse and voluptuousnes haue the vpper hand vpon earth.
11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorowe thee? And it shall say, No.
12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obteine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.
13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.
14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.
15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, helde me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feete.
16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? And why is thy countenance so heauie?
17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?
18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flocke in the hands of the cruell wolues.
19 Then said I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Vriel the Angel had cõmaunded me.
21 And after seuen dayes the thoughtes of mine heart were very grieuous vnto me againe.
22 And I had a desire to reason againe,
, and I began to talke with the most high
againe,
23 And said, O Lorde, Lord: of euery forrest of the earth, & of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyarde.
24 And of all landes of the worlde thou hast chosen thee one pitte, and of all the flowres of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lilie.
25 And of al the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of al builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.
26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of al the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.
27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a lawe, that is proued of all.
28 And nowe, O Lorde, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, & hast scattered thine onely people among many.
29 They tread the downe which haue withstand thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.
30 And if thou didest so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne handes.
31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes,
The Angel that came to mee the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teache thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.
33 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou the better, then he doeth that made them?
34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorowe haue I spoken: for my very paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most high, & to seeke out part of his iudgement.
35 And he saide vnto me, Thou canst not.
And I saide, Wherefore, Lorde, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue: so had I not seene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the flocke of Israel.
36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me thinges that are not yet come, or gather me the drops that are scattred, or make me
the withered flowres greene againe.
37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the windes that are shut vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, & then will I declare thee that thing, that thou askest and labourest to knowe.
38 And I saide, O Lorde, Lorde, who can knowe these thinges, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?
39 But I that am ignorant, howe can I speake of these thinges, wherein thou akest me?
40 Then saide he vnto mee, Like as thou canst do none of these thinges, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor y least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.
41 Then I sayde, Beholde, O Lorde, the last thinges are present vnto thee, & what shall they doe that haue bene before mee, or we that be nowe, or they that shal come after vs?
42 And he saide vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnes of the first.
43 Then I answered, and saide, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are nowe, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the sooner?
44 Then answered he me, The creature, said he, can not preuent the creator, neither can the worlde holde them at once, that shalbe created therein.
45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou, which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also conteine al men at once.
46 And he sayde vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and saye vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth trime at once.
47 And I saide, Surely she can not, but by distance of time.
48 Then saide he vnto me, So haue I de-uided the number of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.
49 For as a young childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.
50 ¶ I asked againe, and saide, Seeing thou hast now shewed me y way, I wil proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, who thou hast tolde me is yong, draweth she nere vnto age?
51 He answered me, and saide, Aske a woman that trauelleth, and she will tell thee.
52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought forth) like those y were before thee, but lesse of stature?
53 And shee shall answere thee, Some were borne in the flowre of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe fayled.
54 Consider nowe thy selfe, howe that yee are lesse of stature, then those that were before you,
55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which nowe begin to be old, & haue passed ouer the strength of youth.
56 Then saide I, Lord, I beseeche thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whom doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreſeene all thinges in his ſecret counſell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

1 AND he ſaide vnto me, In the beginning when þ round world was made, and before the borders of the worlde were ſet, and before the windes blewe one againſt an other:
2 Before the noyſe of thunders ſounded, before the bright lightning did ſhine forth, before the foundations of Paradiſe were laid:
3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were ſtabliſhed, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:
4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the meaſures of the heauens were named, before the chimneis in Sion were hote:
5 Before the preſent peres were ſought out, and before the affections of them that now ſinne, were turned away, and they that haue laid vp the treaſure of faith, were ſealed, 6 Then did I purpoſe theſe thinges, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me alſo they ſhalbe ended, and by none other.
7 Then anſwered I, and ſaide, What ſhall be the diuiſion of times? or when ſhall be the ende of the firſt, and the beginning of it that followeth?
8 And he ſaide vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Iſaac, when Iacob and Eſau were Gen.25.26. borne of him.* Iacobs hande helde firſt the heele of Eſau.
9 For Eſau is the ende of this world, & Ia-cob is the beginning of it that followeth.
10 The hande of man is betwixt the heele and the hande. Other thing, Eſdras, aſke thou not.
11 ¶ I anſwered then, and ſaide, O Lorde, Lorde, if I haue founde fauour in thy ſight, 12 I beſeeche thee, make an end to ſhew thy ſeruant thy tokens, whereof thou ſhewedſt me parte the laſt night.
13 So he anſwered me, and ſaide, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie ſound-ing voyce.
14 There ſhall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou ſtandeſt, ſhall not be moued.
15 And therefore when he ſpeaketh, be not afrayde: for of the ende ſhal be the worde, and of the foundation of the earth ſhall it be underſtand.
16 Therefore while one ſpeaketh of them,
it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it muſt be changed at the ende.
17 And when I had hearde it, I ſtoode vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voyce that ſpake, and the ſounde of it was like the ſounde of many waters:
18 And it ſaide, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth, 19 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteouſneſſe haue hurt others, and when the affliction of them ſhal be fulfilled,
20 And the worlde, that ſhall vaniſh away, ſhal be ſealed, thē will I ſhew theſe ſignes:
the bookes ſhal be opened before the heauen, and they ſhall ſee all it together.
21 And the children of a yere olde ſhal ſpeake with their voyces: the women with childe ſhall bring forth vntimely children of thre or foure moneths olde, and they ſhall liue that are rayſed vp.
22 Then ſuddenly ſhal the ſowen places ap-peare as the vnſowen, and the full ſtore-houſes ſhal ſuddenly be found emptie.
23 And the trumpet ſhall ſounde, and al they that heare it, ſhall bee ſuddenly afrayde.
24 At that time ſhall friendes fight with friendes, as with enemies, and the earth ſhal feare with them: the ſpringes of the welles ſhall ſtand ſtill, and in three houres they ſhal not runne.
25 Whoſoeuer remayneth from all theſe thinges that I haue tolde thee, ſhalbe ſaued and ſee my ſaluation, and the ende of your worlde.
26 And the men that are receiued, ſhall ſee it: they that haue not taſted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitats ſhall be changed, and turned to an other meaning.
27 For euill ſhall be put out, and decepte
ſhall be quenched, 28 But faith ſhall flouriſhe: corruption ſhall be ouercome, and the trueth which hath bene ſo long without fruite, ſhal come forth.
29 ¶ And when he talked with me, behold,
I looked a little vpon him before whom I ſtoode.
30 And theſe wordes ſayde hee vnto me, I am come to ſhew thee the time of the night to come.
31 If thou wilt pray againe, and faſt ſeuen
dayes more, I will tell thee more thinges, & greater then theſe, which I haue heard in the day.
32 For thy voyce is heard before the Higheſt: ſurely the mightie hath ſeene thy righteous dealing: he hath ſeene alſo thy chaſtitie, which thou haſt kept ſince thy youth.
33 Therefore hath he ſent me to ſhewe thee all theſe thinges, and to ſay vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not, 34 And haſte not in the vaine conſideration of the firſt times, nor make haſte to the latter times.
35 And after this I wept againe & faſted ſeuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes, which he had appointed me.
36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to ſpeake before the moſt High.
37 For my ſpirite was greatly ſet on fire, and my ſoule was in diſtreſſe, 38 And I ſayde, O Lorde, thou ſpakeſt expreſſly

pzesly in the first creation (euē the first day)
Gen.1.1. and commandedst * that the heauen & the earth shoulde be made, and the worke followed thy worde.
39 And then was there the spirit, & the darknes was on euery side with silence: there was no mās voyce as yet created of thē.
40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come foorth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.
41 Upon the seconde day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commandedst it, þ, going betweene, it should make a deuision betweene the waters, that þ one parte might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.
42 Upon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seuenth parte of the earth: sire partes biddest thou byte, & kept them to the intent þ of these there should be that should serue thē, being sowen of God and tilled.
43 Assoone as thy worde went forth, the worke was incontinently made.
44 For immediately great & innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the tast, & flowres of vnchāgeable colour, & odours of a most wōderful smell, & these things were created the thirde day.
Gen.1.14. 45 * Upon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres, Gen.1.14,15. 46 And gauest them a charge, to do * seruice deut.4.19. euen vnto man that was for to be made.
47 And vpon the fift daye thou saidest vnto
Gen.1.20. the seuenth parte * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as foules and fishes: and it was so.
48 For the dumme waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commaundement of God, þ the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.
49 Thē biddest þ prepare two liuing things:
1 Or, Enoch. the one thou calledst 1 Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, 50 And biddest separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not holde them.
51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwel in the same part, wherein are a thousande hilles, 52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.
53 Upon the first day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thē it should bring forth beastes, cattel and creeping things.
54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest Loyde ouer all the workes which thou hast created, of him come we all, & the people also, whome thou hast chosen.
55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the worlde for our sakes.
56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them þ they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.
57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lordes ouer vs, & to deuour vs.
58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, & thy feruent louer) are giuen into their handes.
59 If þ world then be created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or howe long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 21 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 42 After the which all corruption shal cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

1 And when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nightes afore.
2 And he said vnto me, Up, Esdras, & heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.
3 And I saide, Speake on, my God. Then saide he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be depe and great,
4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,
5 Who could goe into the sea to loke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not thorow þ narow, how could he come into þ broade?
6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broade fielde, and is full of all good things:
7 The entrance thereof is narowe and in a dangerous place to fal, that there is fire at the right hand, & a depe water at the left,
8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betweene the fire & the water, so that there could but one man goe there.
9 If this citie were giuē vnto a man for an inheritāce, if he neuer wōt thorow þ peril before it, how could he receiue his inheritāce?
10 And I said, It is so, Loyde. Then saide he, So is the portion of Israel.
11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam trangressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.
12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrow, full of sorow and trauaile: they are but fewe and euil, and full of perils, and very painfull.
13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide & sure, and brought immortal fruite.
14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these straight & brittle things, they cānot attain to those things þ are hid.
15 Why then disquietest thou thy self, seeing thou art corruptible? And why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?
16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde þ things to come, rather then them that are present?
17 Then saide I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou Deut.5.5. hast ordained in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perishe, 18 Should the righteous suffer straightnes in hoping for large things? yet they þ haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnes, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he saide vnto me, There is no iudge more vnto then God, & there is none more wise then the most High.
20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.
21 For God hath diligētly admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should do to haue life, & what they should obserue, to auoide punishment.
22 Neuertheles, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.
24 But they despised his lawe, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.
25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, & to the full, full things.
26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shal appeare, and she shall come forth, and be seene that nowe is vnder the earth.
27 And whosoeuer shal escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.
28 For my sonne Jesus shal appeare vp those that be with him, & they that remaine, shal reioyce within foure hundreth yeres.
29 After these same yeres shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.
30 And the world shalbe turned into the olde silence for seuen daies, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.
31 But after seuen daies, the world that is yet a sléepe, shalbe raised vp: and that shal die, that is corrupt.
32 Then the earth shall restore those, þ haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.
33 And the most High shal appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, & miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shal haue an end.
34 Justice onely shal cōmune: the truetly shal remaine, and faith shall be strong.
35 The worke shal follow, & the reward shalbe shewed: the good deedes shalbe of force, and vnrighteousnes shall beare no more rule.
Gen.18.23. Exo.32.33,11. 36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, & * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernes, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel,
2.Sam.24.17. 38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * & Salomon for them þ came into the Sanctuarie,
2.Chro.6.14. 1.King.17. 21.& 18. 4.13,55. 2.King.19.15 39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 And * Ezechias for the people in þ time of Sennacherib, & diuers others for many.
41 Euen so now, séeing vice is increased, and wickednes aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shal not the same effect follow also now?
42 Then he answered me, and saide, This present life is not the end: oft times honor is reteined in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.
43 But the day of iudgement shalbe the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease, 44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shalbe cut off: righteousnes shal growe vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.
45 Then shall no man be able to saue him þ is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.
46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.
47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauines, and after death to feare punishment?
48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that þ thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thée. Rom.5.12.
49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when we do the workes that bring death?
50 And that an euerlasting hope shoulde be promised vs, séeing þ we betide our selues to deadly vanities?
51 And that there should be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?
52 And þ the glorie of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?
53 And that an eternall Paradise should be shewed, whose fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?
54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)
55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstemed, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darkenes?
56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.
57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast saide: but if he get the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I said.
59 For this is the life, wherof Moyses spake vnto the people while he liued, saying, * Chuse thée life that thou mayest liue. Deut.30.19.
60 Neuertheles, they beléeued him not, neither the Prophetes after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauines should not so be to their destruction, as for should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.
62 I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,
63 And that he hath pitie on those þ walke

in

in his Lawe,

Rom.2.4. 64 And that *he is patiẽt: for he lõg suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall: for he will gme as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for he ouercõmeth in mercie those þ are present, & that are past, & them which are to come.

67 For if thee were not aboundant in his mercies, the world coulde not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse that they, which haue done euil, might be relieued from their wickednes, the ten thousand part of men should not remame alme.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not those that be healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peradventure be very few left in an vnnumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godlie is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promise of salvation to the iust. 53 The destruction of the vniust.

1 And he answered me, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come for fewe.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that gold commeth of, so is it vth the worke of this world.

Mal.3.18. 3 *There be many created, but fewe shal be saued.

4 Then answered I, and saide, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophecie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreat thee, that thou maiest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set him selfe for many?

7 For thou art alone, and wee all are one workemanshippe of thine hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the bodie is facioned nowe in the wombe, & þ hast giuen it members, thy creature is preserued by fire & water, & the work, created by thee, doth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is facioned in it.

9 But the thing þ conteineth, & that which is conteined, shall both be preserued, and when time is come, þ womb, being preserued, deliuereth the things that growe in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the mẽbers, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breastes, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nurterest it in thy Lawe, & reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou shapest it as thy creature, & giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is facioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather pitie) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorie, 16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whome I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued.

17 For them will I pray before thee, aswel for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the swifte comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, & vnderstand my words, which I wil speake before thee. The beginning of the wordes of Esdras, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, & his glory incomprehensible, before whome the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, & sayings stedfast, whose commandement is strong, and gouernement terrible, 23 Whose looke dyeth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witnesse.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and reuiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deeds of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpō those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not be thy will to destroy thē, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpō them that haue cleerely taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For we & our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therfore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs thou shalt be called mercifull towards vs, which haue no works of righteousnes.

33 For the righteous, which haue layed vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieued towards it?

1. King. 8. 46. 2. chro. 6. 36. 35 * For verily there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thée, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnesse & thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy wordes it shalbe.

38 For I will not verily consider the works of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

Gen. 4. 4. 39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation & the rewarde that they shal haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken nowe, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much séede vpon the ground, and planteth many trées, and yet alwap the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then and said, if I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine handes, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, & likened him vnto the husbandmans séede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, & said, The things present are for the present, and the thinges to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen nére vnto thée and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thée, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remain for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shal walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and séeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is Paradise opened: the trée of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfite goodnesse and absolute wisedome.

53 The roote of euill is sealed vp from you: the weakenes and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell flieth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his law and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1. 58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knewe that they shoulde die.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst & paine prepared for them: for God woulde not that man should perish:

60 But they, after þ they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnthankful vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like thee: then I answered, and saide, 63 Behold now, O Lorde: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to do in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

1 All things in this worlde haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude: 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

1 HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, & whē thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thée before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most high will beginne to visite the world which he made,

Mat. 24. 7. 3 Therefore when there shall be seene * an earthquake in the worlde, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the daies þ were before thée, euen frō the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the worlde, hath a beginning and an ende, & the ende is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and ende in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beléeued,

8 Shall be preserued from the saide perilles and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept mée holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my Law, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendement, and would not vnderstand, but despised it,

12 They

12 They muſt be taught it after death by paine.
13 And therefore be thou no more careful, to knowe how the vngodly ſhall be puniſhed, but inquire howe the righteous ſhalbe ſaued, and whoſe the world is, and for whom it is, and when.
14 Then anſwered I, and ſaid,
15 I haue afore ſaid that which I ſay now & will ſpeake it hereafter, that there be many of them which periſh, then of them
Chap. 7. 3. mat. 20. 16. that ſhalbe *ſaued, 16 As the flood is greater then a drop.
17 And he anſwered me, ſaying, As the fielde is, ſo is alſo the ſeede: as the flowers be, ſo are the colours alſo: ſuch as the workman is, ſuch is the worke: and as the huſbandman is, ſo is his huſbandry: for it was the time of the world.
18 Surely when I prepared the worlde, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that nowe line, no man ſpake againſt me.
19 For then euery one obeyed, but nowe the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall ſeede, and by a Lawe, whereout they can not rid them ſelues.
20 So I conſidered the worlde, and behold, there was perill, becauſe of the deuiſes, that were ſprung vp into it.
21 Yet when I ſawe it, I ſpared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluſter, and a plant out of a great people.
22 Let therefore the multitude periſh, which are borne in vaine: & let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dreſſed with great labour.
23 ¶ Neuertheles, if thou wilt ceaſe ſeuen dayes mo (but thou ſhalt not faſt in them, 24 But ſhalt goe into a faire field, where no houſe is builded, and ſhalt eate only of the flowers of the field, & eat no fleſh, nor drink wine, but the flowers only,
25 And pray vnto the moſt High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.
26 So I went my way, as he had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I ſate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the ſame ſatiſfied me.
27 And after ſeuen dayes, as I ſate vpō the graſſe, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore, 28 I opened my mouth, & beganne to talke before the moſt High, and to ſay, 29 O Lorde, when thou wouldeſt ſhew thy ſelf vnto vs, *thou declaredſt thy ſelfe vnto
Exod. 19. and 24. deut. 4. 11. our fathers in the wildernes, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt.
30 And expreſſely ſpakeſt vnto them, ſaying, Heare me, O Iſrael, & marke my wordes, thou ſeede of Jacob.
31 For behold, I ſowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruite in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.
32 But our fathers, which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obſerued thine ordinances, neither did the fruite of the Lawe appeare, neither could it, for is was thine.
33 *For they that receiued it, periſhed be- Exod. 32. 28.
cauſe they kept not the thing that was ſowen in them.
34 And lo, it is a cuſtome when the grounde receiueth ſeede, or the ſea a ſhip, or a veſſell meate and drinke, if that periſh wherein a thing is ſowē, or wherein any thing is put,
35 Likewiſe the thing that is ſowen, or is put therein, and the thinges that are receiued, muſt periſh: ſo ſ things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but m vs it commeth not ſo to paſſe.
36 For we that haue receiued the Lawe, periſh in ſinne, and our heart alſo which receiued it:
37 But the Lawe periſheth not, but remaineth in his force.
38 ¶ And when I ſpake theſe things in mine heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right ſide *I ſawe a woman, which mourned Chap. 10. 44.
ſore, and lamented with a loude voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and the had aſhes vpon her head.
39 Then I left my thoughtes, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And ſaide vnto her, Wherefore weepeſt thou? why art thou ſo ſore in minde?
41 And ſhe ſaide vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my ſelfe, and increaſe ſorow: for I am ſore vexed in my minde, & brought very lowe.
42 Then I ſaide vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.
43 And ſhee ſaide vnto me, I thy ſeruaunt haue bene barren, and haue had no child, hauing an huſband thirtie yeres.
44 And euery houre, and euery day theſe thirtie yeres I pray to the moſt High day and night.
45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard me thine handmaide, and looked vpon my miſerie, conſidered my trouble, and gaue me a ſonne, and I was glad of him: ſo was mine huſbande alſo, & all they of my countrey, and wee gaue great honour vnto the Almightie.
46 And I nouriſhed him with great trauell.
47 So when he grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feaſt.

CHAP. X.

Eſdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

1 BVt when my ſonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and dyed.
2 Then we all ouerthrewe the lightes, and all my neighbours roſe vp to comfort me: ſo I reſted vntil ſ ſecond day at night.
3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I ſhoulde be quiet, then I roſe vp by night, and fled, & am come into this field as thou ſeeſt,
4 And am not purpoſed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, & neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and faſt, vntil I die.
5 Then left I my purpoſe wherein I was, and ſpake to her angerly, and ſayde, 6 Thou fooliſh woman above all other, ſeeſt thou thou not our heauines, and what cõmeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.
8 Seeing we be all now in heauines, & make our mone (for we be all sorowful) art thou sore for our sonne?
9 Demande the earth, and she shall tell thée that it is she which ought to mourne for þ fall of so many that grow vpon her.
10 For from the beginning all mẽ are borne of her, and other shall come, & behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shalbe destroyed.
11 Who should then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sore but for one?
12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, Thy mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost þ fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, & bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)
14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.
15 Nowe therefore withholde thy sorowe in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thée.
16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.
17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.
18 ¶ Then she saide vnto me, I will not. I will not go into the citie, but here will I die.
19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for howe many falles hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorow of Jerusalem.
21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is laid waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:
22 Our psalterion faileth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is banished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, & the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priestes are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgines are defiled, and our wiues rauished, & our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, & our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong mẽ are become weake,
23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the handes of them that hate vs.
24 And therefore shake off thy great heauines, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almightie may be mercifull vnto thée, and that the most High may giue thée rest and ease from thy labour.
25 And whẽ I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraide of her and mused what it might be.
26 And behold, immediatly shee cast out a great voyce, verie fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.
27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mée no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the grounde and foundation. Then was I afrayd, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said, 28 Where is Vriel the Angel *which came to mee at the first? for he hath caused mée to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. *Chap. 4.1.
29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto mée, and loked vpon mee.
30 And lo, I lay as one dead, & mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke mee by the right hande and comforted mee, and set me vpon my feete, and said vnto mee, 31 What ayleth thee? & why is thyne vnderstanding vered? and thy vnderstanding of thyne heart? and wherefore art thou sore?
32 And I saide, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done *according vnto thy wordes: I went into the fielde, & there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse. *Chap. 5.20.
33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.
34 Then said I, Speake vnto mee, my Lord, and forsake mee not, lest I dye through rashnesse.
35 For I haue séene that I knewe not, and heare that I do not know.
36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my mynde, being hastie, erre?
37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shewe thy seruant of this wonder.
38 Then he answered me, & said, Heare mee, & I will enforme thee, & tell thee wherefore thou art afrayde: for the most High hath reuealed many secrete things vnto thee.
39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sore continually for thy people, & makest great lamentation for Sion.
40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while ago.
41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her:
42 But nowe seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.
43 And where as shée tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,
44 This woman, which thou sawest, shée is Sion: and where as shee told thee (euen shee which thou seest now as a citie builded)
45 And as touching that shee saide vnto thee, that shee was baren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offring offred in her.
46 But after thirtie yeres, Salomon buylt the the citie, and offred offrings: then bare the barren a ſonne.

47 And where as ſhe told thee, that ſhe nou-riſhed him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jeruſalem.
48 But where as ſhe tolde thée that her ſonne, as his chaunce was, died when ſhe came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jeruſalem.
49 And when thou ſaweſt her like one that mourned for her ſonne, thou began-neſt to comfort her: of theſe things which haue chaunced, theſe are to bee opened vnto thée.
50 For nowe the moſt Hygh ſeeth, that thou art ſorie in thy mind, and becauſe thou ſuffreſt with all thine heart for her, he ſhewed thee the clérenes of her glorie, & the fairenes of her beautie.
51 And therefore I bade thée remaine in the field where no houſe was built.
52 For I knewe that the moſt Hygh would ſhewe theſe thinges vnto thee.
53 Therefore I commaunded thée to go into the fielde, where no foundation nor building is.
54 For the worke of mans buylding can not ſtande in that place where the citie of the moſt Hygh ſhould be ſhewed.
55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afrayde, but go in, and ſée the beautie and greatneſſe of the building as much as thou art able to ſée with thine eyes.
56 And after this ſhalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.
57 For thou art bleſſed aboue many, and art called with the moſt Hygh among the few.
58 But to morowe at night thou ſhalt re-maine here,
59 And the moſt Hygh ſhall ſhewe thée viſi-ons of hygh thinges, which the moſte Hygh will do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the laſt dayes. So I ſlept the ſame night and another, as he had commaunded me.

CHAP. XI.

1. The viſion of an egle comming foorth of the Sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lion comming out of the forreſt.

1 THen ſawe I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the ſea an egle, which had twelue feathered winges and three heads.
2 And I ſawe, and beholde, ſhee ſpred her winges ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the aire blew on her, and gathered them ſelues.
3 And I beheld, & out of her feathers grew out other contrarie feathers, and they became litle feathers and ſmall.
4 But her heads remained ſtil, and the head in the midſt was greater then the other heads, yet reſted it with them.
5 Moreouer, I ſawe that the egle flewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.
6 And I ſawe that all thinges vnder heauen were ſubiect vnto her, and no man ſpake againſt her, no not one creature vp-on earth.
7 I ſawe alſo that the egle ſtoode vp vpon her clawes, and ſpake to her feathers, ſaying,
8 Watch not al together: ſleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by courſe.
9 But let the heades bée preſerued for the laſt.
10 Neuertheleſs, I ſaw that the voice went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her bodie.
11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and beholde, there were eight of them.
12 And I looked, and behold vpon the right ſide there aroſe one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.
13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next ſtoode vp, and reigned:
it continued a long time.
14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came alſo, and as the firſt, ſo it appeared no more.
15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and ſaid, 16 Heare thou that haſt kept the earth ſo long: this I ſay vnto thée, before thou be-gynneſt to appeare no more, 17 There ſhall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.
18 Then aroſe the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more alſo.
19 So came it to all the others one after an other, ſo that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.
20 Then I looked, and beholde in proceſſe of time the feathers that followed, ſtoode vp on the right ſide, that they might rule alſo, and ſome of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.
21 For ſome of them were ſet vp, but ruled
not.
22 After this I looked and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two winges.
23 And there was no more vpon the egles bodie, but two heades that reſted, and ſixe winges.
24 Then ſawe I alſo that two winges de-uided them ſelues from the ſixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right ſide: for the foure continued in their place.
25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to ſet vp them ſelues, and to haue the rule.
26 Then was there one ſet vp, but ſhortly it appeared no more.
27 And the ſeconde were ſooner gone then the firſt.
28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought alſo in them ſelues to reigne.
29 And when they ſo thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at reſt, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.
30 And then I ſawe, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.
31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings y would haue reigned.

32 But

32 But this head put þ whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the woylde, moze then al the wynges that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no moze, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, & ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon þ right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I sawe that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reigne in my woylde, that by them the ende of tymes might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, & hath power ouer the woyld with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the woylde with deceite?

41 For thou hast not iudged the earth with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pryde vnto the Mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proude times, and beholde, they are ended, and they abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no moze, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vayne bodie, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that shee maye hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former vision.

1 AND when the lion spake these woyds to the egle, I sawe,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no moze, neither did the foure wings appeare any moze, that came to it, and set vp them selues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproyes.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no moze, & the whole body of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and traunce of my minde, and from the great feare, and saide vnto my spirite,

4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the waies of the moste High.

5 Loe, yet am I wearie in my minde, and here weake in my spirite, & litle strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore nowe I will beseeche the moste High that he wil comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I saide, O Lorde, Lorde, If I haue founde grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede bee come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort mee, and shewe me thy seruaunt the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayst perfectly comfort my soule, 9 Seeing thou hast iudged mée woorthy to shewe me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he saide vnto mee, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The egle, whom thou sawest come vp frō the sea, is the *kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue Kinges reigne one after an other,

15 Whereof the seconde shal begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for þ voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the heads, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall bee in danger to fal, but it shal not then fall, but shal be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder wings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, & their yeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But whē the middle time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the ende.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the moste High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many thinges into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called þ heads of the egle:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednes, and shall finish his last end,

26 And

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.
27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.
28 For the sworde of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shal he fall by the sworde him selfe.
29 And whereas þ sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their end, whose kingdō is litle, and full of trouble as thou sawest.
31 And the lyon whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the woordes that thou hast heard, 32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, & for their wickednesse vnto the ende, and he shall reproue them, and cast before them their spoiles.
33 For he shall set them alme in the iudgement, & shal rebuke them and correct them.
34 For he wil deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, & he shal make the ioyful, vntil the comming of þ day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee frō the beginning.
35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.
36 Thou onely hast bene mete to know this secret of the most High.
37 Therfore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke and hide them, 38 And teache them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secretes.
39 But wait thou here yet seuen dayes mo, that it may be shewed thee what so euer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.
40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, & came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,
41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?
42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.
43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs sufficient?
44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, þ we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?
45 For we are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then answered I them, and saide, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Iacob.
47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almightie hath not forgotten you in temptation.
48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed frō you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercye for the lowe estate of your sanctuarie.
49 And now go your way home euery man, & after these dayes will I come vnto you.
50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:
51 But I remained still in the fielde seuen dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate only of the flowers of the fielde, & had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde comming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His properties and power against his enemies. 12. The declaration of this vision.

1 And after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.
2 And behold, there arose a wind from the sea, and it moued al the waues thereof.
3 And I looked, & behold, there was a mightie man vp to the thousands of heauen: & whe he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled þ were seene vnder him.
4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned þ heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.
5 After these things I sawe, & beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of me out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.
6 And I looked, and behold, he graued him selfe a great mountaine, & flew vp vpon it.
7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I coulde not.
8 I sawe after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.
9 Neuertheles, when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hande: for he held no sworde nor any instrument of warre,
10 But onely, as I sawe, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, & out of his lips the winde of the flame, & out of his tongue he cast out sparkes & stormes.
11 And they were al mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon þ multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but only dust, & smell of smoke. When I sawe this, I was afraid.
12 ¶ Afterwarde sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him an other peaceable multitude.
13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyful countenance, & some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke though great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my praier.
15 Shew me nowe therefore the interpretation of this dreame.
16 For this I consider in mine vnderstanding, bing. Wo vnto the that shalbe left in those dayes, and much more wo vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Now vnderstande I the things that are laid vp in the latter dayes, which shal come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger, should fal into these, and forese the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the worlde.

21 Then answered he me, and saide, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in þ time, he shall keepe him selfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith towarde the most mightie.

24 Knowe therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision. Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the middes of the sea, 26 The same is he whom þ most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behinde.

27 And whereas thou sawest, þ out of his mouth there came as a blast & fire & storme,

28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenes he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Beholde, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, *and nation against nation, & realme against realme.

*Mat.24.7.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my Sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest go vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shal in their owne lād leaue the battel that they haue one against another.

34 And an vnnumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shalbe shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen forth without any handes.

37 And this my Sonne shal rebuke þ wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the torment, 38 And into toyments like to flame, whereby they shalbe tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And where as thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried awap captiues out of their own land, *in the time of Oseas the king, whom Salmanasar þ king of the Assyrians toke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

*2. King.17.6

41 But they tooke this counsel to themselues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, *and staied the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

*Exod.14.21. ioſh.3.13.16.

45 For through þ countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the same region is called *Arsareth.

*Or, Armenia

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall hold the springs of the riuer againe, that they may go thorowe: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they þ be left behinde of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when he destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall he shewe great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the middes of the sea?

52 And he sayde vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, þ are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and wherefore thou only art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it, 55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisedome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

How God appeared to Moyses, in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 13 The latter times worse

then

then the former. 19 The ingratitude of Israel. 33 The resurrection and iudgement.

VPon the thirde day I sate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came forth a voyce vnto mee out of the bush, & saide, Esdras, Esdras.

2 And I saide, Here am I, Lord, and stoode vp vpon my feete.

Exod.3.2,3. 3 Then said he vnto me, *In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt:

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Horeb, & I held him with me a long season.

5 And I told him many wonders, & shewed him the secretes of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,

6 These woyds shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou laye vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine hencefoorth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the woyld hath lost his youth, and the times beginne to waxe olde.

10 For the woylde is deuided into twelue partes, and ten parts of it are gone alreoy, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, & reforme thy people, & comfort such of thē as be in trouble, & now renounce ꝺ corruptiō.

13 Cast from thee mortall thoughtes: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the woyld is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for nowe hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, & said before thee,

19 Beholde, O Lorde, I will goe as thou hast commaunded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they ꝺ shall be borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the woyld is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, & I will write all that hath bene done in the woylde since the beginning, which was written in thy lawe, that men may finde the path, & that they which will liue in ꝺ latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered mee, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourtie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these men, Sarea, Dabria, Helcrnia, Scanno, & Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the thinges be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, & some things shalt thou shewe secretly vnto the wise: to morrowe this houre shalt thou beginne to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commaunded me, and gathered all the people together, and said,

28 Heare these woyds, O Israel,

29 *Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, Gen.47.4.

30 And receiued the Law of life, *which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them. Act.7.38

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most high commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And nowe are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, & reforme your heart, ye shall bee kept alive, & after death shall ye obteine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, & the works of the vngodlie shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come nowe vnto me, nor seeke me these fourtie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day beholde, a voyce called me, saying, Esdras, *open thy mouth, & drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezek.3.2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, & beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and when I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grewe in my breast: for my spirite was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the hie things of the night, which they vnderstoode not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, & held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes, they wrote two hundreth and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that

that thou hast writte, publish openly, that the worthie and unworthie may reade it.
46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou maiest giue them to the wise among thy people:
47 For in their is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euill that shal come to the worlde. 9 The Lorde will auenge the innocent blood. 22 Egypt shall lament. 26 Sedition, 30 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 34 Cursed are they that sinne. 39 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

1 BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the woords of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, sayeth the Lorde:
2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.
3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnes of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.
4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnes.
5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the worlde, the sworde, famine, death and destruction:
6 Because that iniquitie hath fully possessed all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.
7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednes, (they do vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the thinges, that they do wickedly.
8 Behold, the innocent & righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crie continually.
9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lorde, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.
10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them nowe to dwell in the lande of Egypt, 11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand & a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the lande thereof.
12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.
13 The plowemen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seeds shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.
14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.
15 For the sworde, & their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stande vp to fight against another with swoords in their hands.
16 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shal measure their doings by their power.
17 A man shall desire to go into a citie, and shall not be able.
18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraide, men shall feare.
19 A man shal haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the swoorde, and their goodes shal be spoiled for lacke of breade, and because of great trouble.
20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth to reuerence me, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East and from Arabia, to turne vpon them, and to repay the thinges that they haue done to them.
21 As they doe per this day vnto my chosen, so will I do also, & recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hand shal not spare the sinners, neither shall the sworde cease from them, that sheade innocent blood vpon earth.
23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw, that is kindled.
24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lorde.
25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, frō the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.
26 For the Lorde knoweth all the that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.
27 For now are the plagues come vpon the worlde, and ye shall remaine in them: for God wil not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.
28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth frō the East, 29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, & the multitude of them shalbe carried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.
30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the beres of the forest, & shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.
31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, & shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.
32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.
33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie besege them, and consume some of them, and in their hosle shall be feare and dread, and strife among their Kings.
34 Behold clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.
35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre. & the blood shall be from the sworde vnto the belly.
36 And the dragons of Arabia the Queenes litter.
37 And there shalbe great feare, horrible and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath,

Reuel. 6. 10. and 19. 2.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and yaet from the West.
39 And from the East shal winds arist, & shal open it with the clouds, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West wind, shalbe destroyed.
40 And the great & mightie cloudes shall be lift vp, full of wrath, & the starre, that they may make all the earth afraped, and them that dwel therein, & that they may powre out ouer euery hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation.
41 As fire & haple, & flying swords, & many waters, that all fields may be full, & all riuers with the abundance of great waters.
42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.
43 And they shal goe with a streight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraped.
44 They shall come to her, and beslege her, and shal powre forth the constellation, & all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.
45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.
46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, & the glory of her person, 47 Wo vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast decht thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway despyed to commit whoredome with thee.
48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I wil sende plagues vpon thee, widowshead, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.
50 And the glorie of thy power shalbe dryed vp, as a flowre when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.
51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.
52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,
53 If thou haddest not alway blame my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and layd ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,
54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance?
55 The rewarde of thy whoredome shalbe in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.
56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so wil God doe vnto thee, and wil deliuer thee vnto the plague.
57 And thy children shal die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sworde, and thy cities shalbe broken downe, & all thy men shal fal by the sword in the field.
58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.
59 And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thorowe the sea, and receiue plagues againe.
60 In the passage they shall cast downe the flame citie, & shal teare out one part of thy land, & consume the portion of thy glorie, & shall returne to her that was destroyed.
61 When thou shalt be cast down, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fyre.
62 And they shall destroy thee, & thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.
63 Thy children shall they carie away captiue, and shal spoyle thy substance, & marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt & Syria. 17. 31 Of the ends that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit them all vnto the Lord. 55 VVho is mightie prouidence & iustice is to be reuerenced.

1 WO to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.
2 And pour selues with sacke and heare cloth, and mourne pour children, and be sory: for pour destruction is at hand.
3 A sworde is sent vnto pou, and who will turne it backe? a fyre is sent among pou, and who wil quench it?
4 Plagues are sent vnto pou, and who can driue them away?
5 May any man driue away an hungrie Lyon in the wood? or quenche the fire in stubble when it hath once begunne to burne? may one turne against the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?
6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?
7 He shal cast lightenings, and who shal not feare? he shal thunder, and who shal not be afraped?
8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh & the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes therof, before the Lord and the glorie of his power.
9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that he shooteth, are sharpe, & shall not misse, when they beginne to be shot into the ends of the world.
10 Beholde, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, til they come vpon earth.
11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.
12 As an arrowe which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shalbe sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.
13 Wo is me, wo is me: who wil deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes & great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of evils, & al shall tremble. What thal I do in these things, when the plagues come?
15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendement.
16 But for all these thinges they will not turne from their wickednes, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.
17 Behold, victailes shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke them selues to be in good case: but then shall the evils bud forth vpō earth, euen the sworde, the famine, and great confusion.
18 For many of them that dwel vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shal the sword destroy.
19 And the dead shalbe cast out as doung, & there shalbe no man to comfort them: for the earth shalbe wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.
20 There shal be no man left to til the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruite, but who shal gather them?
21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shal treade them? for all places shalbe desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.
22 For of one citie there shalbe ten left, & two of þ field, which shal hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rockes.
23 As when there remaine three or foure olives in the place where Olives growe, or among other trees, 24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought through the vineyarde:
25 So in those dayes there shalbe three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.
26 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fieldes thereof shall ware olde, & her waies & all her paths shall growe full of thornes, because no man shal trauaile therethrough.
27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbandes: their daughters shal mourn, hauing no helpers.
28 In the warres shal their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shal perishe with famine.
29 But, ye seruantes of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.
30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whom the Lorde speaketh: behold, the plagues drawe neere, and are not slacke.
31 As a trauailing woman which in þ ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her bodie, and when the child commeth to the birth, they tarry not a whit:
32 So shal not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, & the world shal mourne, & sorowes shal come vpon it on every side.
33 O my people, heare my word: make you readie to the battel, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.
34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way: & he that byeth, as one þ wil lose.
35 Who so occupieth marchandise, as he þ winneth not: & he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwel therein:
36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:
37 They that marry, as they that shal get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widdowes.
38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.
39 For strangers shal reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, & ouerthrow their houses, & take their childe captiue: for in captiuitie & famine shall they get their children.
40 And they that occupie their marchandise with couetousnes, þ more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.
42 As a whore enuieth an honest & vertuous woman,
43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, & shal accuse her openly, when he shal come that shall bridle the autor of all sinne vpon earth.
44 And therfore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for ouer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, & righteousnes shall reigne among you,
45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coles of fire shall burne vpon his head, which sayth, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glorie.
46 Behold, the Lord * knoweth all þ works of me, their imaginations, their thoughtes and their hearts. Luke 16.15.
47 *For assoone as he saide, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heane be made, and it was created. Gene.1.1.
48 By his worde were þ starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them. Psal.147.4.
49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures therof: he hath measured the sea, & what it conteineth.
50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath he panged the earth vpon the waters.
51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vawte vpon the waters hath he founded it.
52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, & pooles vpō the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the hie rockes to water the earth.
53 He made man, and put his heart in the middes of the bodie, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding.
54 And the Spirit of the almightie God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of þ earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne & woulde hide your sinnes.
56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shal stand as your accusers in that day.
58 What will ye doe, or howe will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?
59 Beholde, God himselfe is the Judge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.
60 For beholde, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idols.
61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproche, and troden vnder foote.
62 For in euery place and cities that are nere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.
63 They shall be like madde men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.
64 For they shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.
65 Then shal the trial of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tried by the fire.
66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: Beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afrayde: doubt not, for God is your captaine.
67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift them selues vp.
68 Woe vnto them that are bounde with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof couered vp thornes, whereby no man may trauel: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 23 He feareth, and his goods are confiscate, 25 And after restored.

Tobias, being captiue amongst the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of trueth.

1 THe booke of the words of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananuel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seede of Asael, of the tribe of Nephthalim,
2 Who in the time of [a]Enemessar, king of the Assyrians was led away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee aboue Aser.

[a] Or, Salmanasar. 2. King. 17. 3.

Tobias was merciful.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, & I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.
4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell frō the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.
1. Kin. 12. 30. 5 [b] Now all the tribes, which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the calfe called Baal.

He fledde from idoles. Exo. 22. 29. deut. 12. 6.

6 But I (as it was ordeyned to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feastes [c] bringing the first fruites, and the tenth of beastes, with that which was first shorne, & offred them at the altar to the Priestes the children of Aaron.
7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came and bestowed it euery yere at Jerusalem.
8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whome it was mete, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupill.
9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of [d] mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

He marieth to wife Anna, which beareth to him Tobiah. Num. 36. 7. Gen. 43. 32.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the [e] bread of the Gentiles.
11 But I kept my selfe from eating,
12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.
13 Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueyer.

He founde grace in the sight of Salmanasar.

14 ¶ And I went vnto Media, and I deliuered tenne talents of siluer to Gabael the [f] brother of Gabrias [g] in the lande of Media.

[f] Or, sonne. [g] Or, in Rages, a citie of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state, because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.
16 ¶ But in the time of [h] Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungrie, [h] Or, Salmanasar.

The charitie of Tobias.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.
18 And if the king Sennacherib had slayne any, when he [i] was come and fledde from Judea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

[i] 2. King. 19. 35. 36. isai. 37. 36. 37. ecclus. 48. 18, 22.

19 Therefore when a certaine Ninenite had

1. mac. 7. 41. 2. mac. 8. 19.

accused me to the king, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheless within fine & fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accomptes, and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

2. King. 19. 37. 2. chro. 32. 21.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Ninive: nowe Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersawe the accomptes: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

Tobit returneth.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to burie the dead. 10 How he became blind. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproacheth him bitterly.

1 NOw when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate down to eate.

2 And when I sawe abundance of meate, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doeth remember God, and loe, I wil tarie for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

3 But he came againe, and sayde, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the sunne.

Tobit, leauing his gheests, taketh vp the dead bodie into his house to burie it.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse,

6 Remembring that prophecie of * Amos, which had sayd, Your solemne feastes shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wayling.

Amos. 8. 10. 1. mac. 1. 41.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, & sayd, Doeth he not feare to die for this cause, who * fledde away, and yet, loe, he buryeth the dead againe?

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours. Chap. 1. 19.

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

10 And I knewe not that sparrowes were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparowes cast downe warme doung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicians, but they helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, until I went into Elimais.

He is made blinde for an example of patiencie to his posteritie.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens woorkes to doe.

The wife of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

12 And when she had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kid.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I sayde vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stolen.

The innocencie of Tobit. Deut. 22. 1.

14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush, because of her. Furthermore she sayde, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnes? beholde, they all nowe appeare in thee.

Iob. 2. 9.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

1 THen I, being sorowful, did weepe, and in my sorrowe prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, & all thy woorks, and all thy wayes are mercie and trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoyle, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and nowe * thou hast many and iust causes,

Deut. 28. 15, 37.

* Or, thy iudgements are many, and true.

5 To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commaundements, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirite to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to line, because I haue heard false reproches, & am very sorowful: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, & go into ꝑ euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides, Sarra is checked of her fathers maides.

8 Because she had bene maried to seuen husbands, whome Asmodeus the euill spirite had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not know, sayd they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou * beate vs for them? if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

* Or, when she beat them for their faults, they said.

10 When she heard these things, she was very sorowful, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she sayd, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slaunder him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrowe.

11 Then

Sarra praieth and fasteth that she may be deliuered from shame.

11 Then she praied toward the window and saide, Blessed art thou, O Lorde my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, & honorable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.
12 And nowe, O Lorde, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproche.

The innocencie of Sarra.

14 Thou knowest, O Lorde, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

Her chastitie.

15 And þ I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the Name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any man childe to be his heire, neither any "nere kinsman or child borne of him, to whome I may kepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, & why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I shoulde die, command to looke on me, and to pitie me that I doe no more heare reproche.

*Greeke, were brother.

The praiers of Tobit, & Sarra are heard both at a time.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.
17 And Raphael was sent to heale thē both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirite, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

Chap.1.14. 1 IN that day Tobit remembred "the sum ner, which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media, 2 And saide with him selfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonishe him before I die?

Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when he thought he should die.

3 And when he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie me, and despise not thy mother, but * honor her all the daies of thy life, & doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

The mother is to be reuerenced.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers she sustained when thou wast in her wōbe,
5 And when she dieth, burye her by me in the same graue.

Exod.20.12. ecclus.7.27.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne or transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnes: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeede to thee, & to all them which liue iustly.

God must be in our harts.

Almes. Prouer.3.9. ecclus.4.1. & 14.13. luke.14.13. Eccl.35.10

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eie be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.
8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraide to giue a litle almes.
9 For thou lapest vp a good store for thy self against the day of necessitie, Eccl.29.13. 10 * Because that almes doth deliuer from death, & suffreth not to come into darknes.

11 For almes is a good gifte before the most high to all them which vse it.

Aduoutrie. 1.Thes.4.3.

12 Beware of al "whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of þ seede of thy fathers, & take not a strāge woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherite the land.

Pride.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, & despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes & daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of thē: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fierceneſſe is scarcitie and great powertie: for "fiercenes is the mother of famine.

"or, vnprofitablenes.

Wages of an hired seruāt. Leuit.19.13. deu.24.14,15

14 Let not þ * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarry vp thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, & be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

Mat.7.12. luk.6.31.

15 * Doe that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy journey.

Luk.14.13 The hungrie.

16 * Giue of thy bread to the hungry, & of thy garments to them þ are naked, and * of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when þ giuest almes.

Mat.6.1.

"or, be liberall to the iust, death.

17 "Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.
18 Aske counsell alwap of the wise, & despise not any counsell that is profitable.

even to their

Counsel. God is to be blessed.

19 Blesse thy Lord God alwap, and desire of him that thy waies may be made streight, and that all thy purposes & counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsel: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whome he will, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

Chap.3.14.

20 * Furthermore I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael þ sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

Powertie with the feare of God.

21 And feare not, my sonne, for although we are made poore: for þ hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, & doe þ thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

Tobias sent to Rages, 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

1 TObias then answered, & saide, Father, I will doe all things which thou hast commanded me.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages, seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whome he bringeth to his father.

2 But howe can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?
3 Then he gaue him þ handwriting. & said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may go with thee, whiles I pet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.
4 Therefore when he was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.
5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the lande of Media?

and knowest thou those places well?
6 To whome the Angel said, I wil go with thée: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.
7 Then Tobias saide to him, Tarie for me, till I tell my father.
8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, & tarie not: so he went in & said to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will go with me. Thē he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thée.
9 So he called him, and he came in, & they saluted one another.
10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and familie thou art.
11 To whome he said, Doest þ séeke a stocke or familie, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Thē Tobit said vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kinred and thy name.
12 Then he said, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.
13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome brother, be not now angrie with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred, & thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knew Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with þ errour of our brethrē: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.
14 But tell me, What wages shall I giue thée? wilt thou a groate a day & things necessarie, as to mine owne sonne?
15 Yea, moreouer if pe returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.
16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe pou on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father saide, Go thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper pour iourney, and the Angell of God keepe pou compaine. So they went forth both and departed, and the dogge of the pong man with them.
17 But * Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hande to minister vnto vs?
18 Would to God we had not laied money vpō money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.
19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.
20 Then saide Tobit, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safetie, & thine eyes shall see him.
21 For the good Angel doeth kéepe him companie, and his iourney shalbe prosperous, and he shall returne safe.
22 Then she made an ende of weéping.

or, thou commest happily.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angell keeping him companie.

His mother weepeth. Chap. 10. 4.

CHAP. VI.

a Tobias deliuered from the fishe. 8 Raphael sheweth him certeine medicines. 10 He conducteth him toward Sara.

1 ANd as they went on their iourney, they came at nyght to the flood Tygris, and there abode.
2 And when the young man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him. Tobias, inuaded of a fish, is deliuered by the Angel.
3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the young man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.
4 To whom the Angel saide, Cut the fish, & take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.
5 So the young man did as the Angel commaunded him: & when they had rosted the fishe, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.
6 ¶ Then the young man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gal of the fish?
7 And he saide vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirite trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shalbe no more vexed.
8 As for the gal, anoint a man þ hath whitenes in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.
9 ¶ And whē they were come nere to Rages,
10 The Angel said to the young man, Brother, to day we shall lodge wþ Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giuen thée for a wife.
11 For to thée doth *the right of her perteine, séeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred, Numb. 27. 8. and 36. 3.
12 And the maide is faire and wise: nowe therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that wee may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to an other according to the law of Moyses: else he shoulde deserue death, because the right doeth rather apperteine to thée then to any other man.
13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber:
14 And I am the only begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest I go in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirite loueth her, which hurteth no bodie, but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare least I die, & bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with sorowe: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.
15 Then þ Angel saide vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thée, þ thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for she shalbe thy wife, neither be þ carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thée in marriage.
16 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chāber, thou shalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish, 17 Which if the spirit doe smel, he will flée away, and neuer come againe any more: but when when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is merciful, who will haue pitie on you, & saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee frō the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, & she shall go with thee: moreouer I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, & his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

1 AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whome they saide, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, & of the captiues that dwelt at Ninene.

4 Then he said to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinseman? And they said, Wee knowe him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, & in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kissed him, & wept,

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued them with a ready minde, & after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put foorth those thinges whereof thou spakest in the way, that this business may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marry my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen mē, who died the night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eate nothing here, vntil ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, & she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias. Numb. 36. 6.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the * Lawe of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them,

14 And called his wife Edna, & he tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chāber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as he had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lorde of heauen & earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in lawe. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lorde.

1 AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembred the words of Raphael, & tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fishe thereupon, and made a perfume.

Tobias soloweth Raphaels counsell, as Cha. 6. 7.

3 The which smel when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the * vttmost partes of Egypt, whome the Angel bound.

Or, vpmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise & let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy & glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, & all thy creatures.

Tobias prayer.

6 Thou madest Adam, & gauest him * Eua his wife for an helpe, & stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast saide, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto him selfe.

Gen. 2. 7, 18, 22.

7 And nowe, O Lorde, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore graunt me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she saide with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

Raguel, thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He saide to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether he be aliue: if not, that I may bury him, & none know it.

13 So the maid opened the doore, and went in, and found them both a sleepe, 14 And came foorth, and tolde them that he was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and saide, O God, thou art worthie to be praised with all pure, and holy praise: therefore let thy saintes praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

Raguel prayseth God for Tobias.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercy, O Lorde, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast fourteene daies,

20 For Raguel had ſaide vnto him by an othe, that he ſhould not depart before the foureteene dayes of the mariage were expired, Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

21 And then he ſhould take the halfe of his goods and returne in ſafetie to his father, and ſhould haue the reſt, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

1 Then Tobias called Raphael, and ſaid vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a ſeruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, & bring me the money and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath ſworne that I ſhall not depart.

Tobits care for his ſone.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tarry long, he will be very ſorie.

The Angell goeth on Tobias meſſage.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bagges which were ſealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their ſonne. 10 Raguel ſendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

1 NOw Tobit his father counted euery day, and whē the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

The father & mother are in heauines for Tobias tarying.

2 Tobit ſaid, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very ſorie.

4 Then his wife ſaide to him, My ſonne is dead, ſeeing he tarryeth: and ſhee began to *bewaile him, and ſaid,

*Chap. 5. 17.

5 Now I care for nothing, my ſonne, ſince I haue loſt thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whome Tobit ſaide, Holde thy peace: be not careful, for he is ſafe.

7 But ſhe ſaid, Holde thy peace, and deceiue me not: my ſonne is dead: and ſhee went out euery day by the way, which they went, neither did ſhe eate meate on the day time, and did conſume whole nights in bewailing her ſonne Tobias vntill the fourteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had ſworne, that hee ſhould tarry there. Then Tobias ſaide to Raguel, Let me go: for my father and my mother looke no more to ſee me.

8 But his father in law ſaid vnto him, Tarie with me, and I will ſend to thy father, and they ſhall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias ſaide, No, but let me go to my father.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leaue to depart.

10 Then Raguel aroſe, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as ſeruants, and cattel, and money, 11 And he bleſſed them, & ſent them away, ſaying, The God of heauen make you, my children, proſper before I die.

Sarra is inſtructed by her parents.

12 And he ſaid to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kiſſed them. Edna alſo ſaid to Tobias, The Lorde of heauen reſtore thee, my deare brother, & graūt that I may ſee thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioice before the Lord. Behold now, I cōmit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: do not entreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was receiued. 10 His father hath his ſight reſtored and praiſeth the Lord.

1 After theſe thinges Tobias went his way, praiſing God that he had giuen him a proſperous iourney, and bleſſed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drewe neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael ſaid to Tobias, thou knowest, brother, howe thou diddeſt leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haſte before thy wife, and prepare the houſe,

The Angels counſell to Tobias.

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fiſh. So they went their way, and the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna ſate in the way looking for her ſonne,

6 Whom when ſhe ſaw comming, ſhe ſaide to his father, Behold, thy ſonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then ſaid Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father ſhall receiue his ſight.

8 Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he ſhal rub and make the whiteneſſe to fall away, and ſhall ſee thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her ſonne, and ſaide vnto him, Seeing I haue ſeene thee, my ſonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit alſo went forth toward the doore, & ſtumbled, but his ſonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke holde of his father & ſprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, ſaying, Bee of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whiteneſſe pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he ſawe his ſonne, he fel vpon his neeke, 14 And he wept and ſaide, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord, and bleſſed be thy Name for euer, and bleſſed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou haſt ſcourged me, and haſt had pitie on me: for behold, I ſee my ſonne Tobias: and his ſonne, being glad, went in, & told his father the great things that had come to paſſe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioycing and praiſing God to the gate of Nineue: and they which ſawe him go, marueiled, becauſe he had receiued his ſight.

17 But Tobit teſtified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when hee came nere to Sarra his daughter in law, he bleſſed her, ſaying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be bleſſed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and bleſſed be thy father: and there was great ioye among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And

18 And Achiacharus and Nadab his brothers sonne came.
19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioye.

CHAP. XII.

9 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, 5 The which he would recompense. 11. 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angell sent of God.

1 THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, & saide vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.
2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shal not grieue me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.
3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.
4 Then the olde man saide, It is due vnto him.
5 So he called the Angell, & saide vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and go away in safetie.
6 But he tooke them both apart, and saide vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the thinges which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shewe forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.
7 It is good to kéepe close the secretes of a King, but it is honorable to reueile the workes of God: do that which is good, and no euil shall touche you.
8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousnes. A litle with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes then to laye vp golde.
9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousnes, shalbe filled with life.
10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.
11 Surely I will kéepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I saide it was good to kéepe close the secrete of a King, but that it was honorable to reueile ꝺ workes of God.
12 Nowe therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the Holie one: and when thou diddest burie the dead, I was with thée likewise.
He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with tentation, 13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good déede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.
14 And now God hath sent me to heale thée, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.
15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy Angels, which present ꝺ prayers of ꝺ Saints, & which go forth before his holy maiestie.
16 Then they were both troubled, & fell vpon their face: for they feared.
17 But he saide vnto them, Feare not, for it shall go wel with you: praise God therefore.
18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good wil of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.
19 *All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision. Gen.18.8. and 19.3. Iudg.13.16.
20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.
21 And when they rose, they sawe him no more.
22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and howe the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

1 THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, & saide, Blessed be God ꝺ liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.
2 *For he doeth scourge, and hath pitie: he leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoide his hande. Deut.32. 1.sam.2. 6.wisd.16.13.
3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.
4 There declare his greatnes, and extol him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God and our Father for euer.
5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whome we are scattered.
6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, & deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, & will not hide his face from you, but see shall see what he will do with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteousnes, & extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnes to a sinful nation. O ye sinners, turne and do iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?
7 I will extoll my God, & my soule shal praise the king of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnes.
8 Let al men speake, and let al praise him for his righteousnes.
9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.
10 Giue prayse to the Lord duly, & praise the euerlasting king, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.
11 Many nations shall come frō farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their handes, euen giftes to the king of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.
12 Cursed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.
13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the hill: for they shalbe gathered, and shall dwelle the Lord of the hill.

14 Blessed are they which love thee: for they shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which have been sorowful for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Jerusalem shalbe built up with sapphires, & emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

17 And the streetes of Jerusalem shalbe paued with beral, and carbuncle, and stones of [a] Ophir.

[a] Or, Semphir.

18 And all her streetes shall say, [b] Halleluiah, and they shall prayse him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled [c] it for euer.

[b] Or, prayse ye the Lord.
[c] That is, Jerusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 5 He prophecieth the destruction of Nineue, 7 And the restoring of Jerusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

1 SO Tobit made an end of praysing God.

2 And he was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to prayse him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, & sayd to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am ready to departout of this life)

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Jerusalem shalbe desolate, & the house of God in it shalbe burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

Ezra.3.8. and 6.14.

5 Yet againe God [a] will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shal all nations prayse the Lorde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shewe mercie to our brethren.

8 And nowe, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, & the commaundements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust that it may goe wel with thee.

10 And burie me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, howe out of light he brought him into darkenes, & how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darkenes. Manasses gaue almes, & escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnes doeth deliuer. When he had sayd these things, [a] he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honorably.

[a] Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he nurped his father and mother in lawe honorably, and he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, & before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

IVDETH.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane, 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 11 He threatneth them that would not helpe him.

1 IN the twelfth yere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles rounde about, of hewen stone, three cubites broade, and sixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubites, & the breadth thereof in the foundation three score cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fourtie cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in arap of his footemen)

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arpharad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by

Euphra-

Euphrates, and Tygris, & Hydaspes, and the countrie of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battel of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great fielde of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities therof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, & Betane, and Chelus, & Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Vnto one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitantes of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitantes of this countrey did not passe for the commaundement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neyther would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angrie with all this countrey, & sware by his throne and kingdome that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and al that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the seuentenith yere, and he preuayled in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsmen, and all his charets.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, & spoyled the stretes thereof, and turned the beautie therof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him through with his dartes, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both he and all his companie with a very great multitude of men of warre, & there he passed the time, and banketed, both he, and his armie, an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commaunded presumptuously that all people shoulde be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

1 AND in the eighteenth yere, the two & twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, that he should auenge him selfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsel, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commaundement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsel, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, & the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commaundement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for mee the lande and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoyle vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflowe, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, & take vp for me all their countrey: & if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for mee vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them wheresoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, what soeuer I haue spoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commaundements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue cõmaunded thee, & deferre not to do them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lorde, & called all the gouernours, and captaines, & officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battel, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth & twentie thousand, & twelue thousand archers on horsebacke,

16 And he set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision,

18 And vitaile for euery man of the armie, and very much golde and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to go to go before in the voyage of King Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westwarde, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footemen.

20 A great multitude also of sundrie sortes came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.
21 And they went forth of Niniue three dayes iourney towarde the countrey of Bectileth, & pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.
22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wildernes at the South of the Chelians.
24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.
25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.
26 He compassed also al the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.
27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate harueste, and burnt vp all their fieldes, and destroyed their flockes and the heardes: hee robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.
28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitantes of the sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people submitte to Olofernes. 8 He destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might only be worshipped.

1 So they sent ambassadors to him with messages of peace, saying,
2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: we ye downe before thee: vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.
3 Behold, our houses and all our places, & all our fieldes of wheate, and our flockes, and our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.
4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.
5 So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.
6 Then came he downe towarde the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.
7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them, with crownes, with dances, and with timbrels.
8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations shoulde worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues & tribes should call vpon him as God.
9 Also hee came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Judea, ouer against the great strayte of Judea, 10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there he tarried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraide and defended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they shoulde fortifie themselues. 9 They cryed to the Lorde, and humbled themselues before him.

1 NOw the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, hearde all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe he had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.
2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the Temple of the Lorde their God.
3 For they were newely returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.
4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoron, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,
5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fieldes were of late reaped.
6 Also Joacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Bethomestham, which is ouer against Esdraelon towarde the open countrey neere to Dothaim, 7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Judea, and it was easie to let them that woulde come vp, because the passage was streyte for two men at the most.
8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancientes of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem.
9 Then cryed euery man of Israel to God with great feruencie, and their soules with great affection.
10 Both they, and their wiues, & their children, and their cattel, and euery stranger, and hireling, & their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.
11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitantes of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinckled ashes ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackcloth before the face of the Lorde: also they put sackecloth about the altar, 12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that he would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproche, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea & Ierusalem before the Sanctuarie of the Lord almighty.

14 And Ioacim the hie Priest, and all the Priests that stode before the Lord, & ministred vnto the Lorde, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offring, with prayers and the free giftes of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mytres, and cryed vnto the Lorde with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Holofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

1 THen was it declared to Holofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the toppes of the hie hilles, and had layde impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, & called al the princes of Moab, & the captains of Ammon, & all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he layd vnto them, Shewe me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? & what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

Chap. 11.7,9. 5 ¶ Then* layd Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, & I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, nere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruāt.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

Gen.11.31. 7 And* they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the lande of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whome they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, & soiourned there many dayes.

Gen.12.1. 9 Then* their God commanded them to depart from the place where they soiourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with verie much cattel.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their liuage.

Exod.1.8. 11 * Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the* Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

Exod.13. 51,33.

13 And* God dried the red sea in their presence,

Exod.14.21.

14 And* brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast fourth all that dwelt in the wildernes.

Exod.19.1.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they* cast forth before them the Chananites, and the Pherezites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes.

Iosh.12.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

18 But* when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderful sort, * and were led captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, & their cities were taken by the enemies.

Iud.2.11. & 3.8. 2.King.25. 1,11.

19 But* now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering where in they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

Ezra.1.1,3.

20 Now therefore my lorde and gouernour, if there be any faute in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, & let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproche before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kil him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meete the children of Israel: for lo, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, O lord Holofernes, and they shalbe meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crie vnto the Lord.

1 AND when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell, was ceassed, Holofernes, Holofernes, the chiefe capeaine of the armie of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were sted of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast sayd that the people of Israelites is able to fight, because their God will defend them; and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

Chap. 5. 21.

3 He wil send his power, & wil destroy them from the face of the earth, & their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For we will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, & their fieldes shall be filled with their dead bodies, & their footesteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hath said, euen he hath sud, None of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in ỳ day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntil I take vengeance of ỳ people ỳ is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountains, and they shal leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou persuade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, & none of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

10 Then commanded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, & deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middes of ỳ plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the toppe of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, & left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stode about him, and loosed him & brought him into Bethulia, & presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assemblie: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsel of Holofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Holofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fel downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the basenesse of our people, and beholde this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assemblie into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsel of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

1 THe next day, Holofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streites of the hill, & to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie fotemen, & twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine nere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp al the whole earth: for neither the hie mountains nor the valleis, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Holofernes brought forth all his horsemen in ỳ sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And vewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garrisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, & all the captaines of the sea coast, and sayd, 9 Let our captaine now heare a worde, least any inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For

30 For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the toppes of their mountaines.
31 Now therfore, my lord, fight not against them in battell arap, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.
12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey, that cometh forth at the foote of the mountaine.
13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watche that none goe out of the citie.
14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall be consumed with famine, & before the swoorde come against them, they shalbe ouerthrowen in the stretes where they dwell.
15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled & obeyed not thy person peaceably.
16 And these words pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.
17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of ꝑ waters of the childrē of Israel.
18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and cāped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of them selues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Kebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.
19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.
20 Thus all the companie of Assur remayned about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure & thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.
21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.
22 Therefore their children swooned, & their wiues and young men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.
23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, & to the chiefe of the citie, both young men & women, and children, & cryed with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders, Exod. 5. 21. 24 The' Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.
25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their handes, that we should be throwen downe before thē with thirst and great destruction.
26 Now therefore call them together, & deliuer the whole citie for a spoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.
27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that we may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.
28 We take to witnes against you the heauē and the earth, & our God & Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.
29 Then there was a great cry of all with one consent in the middes of the assemblie, and they cryed vnto the Lorde God with a loude voyce.
30 Then said Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs wait yet fiue daies, in the which space the Lorde our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for hee will not forsake vs in the ende.
31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will do according to your worde.
32 So he separated the people euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life and conuersation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 17 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemie.

1 NOw at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sone of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Elin, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sone of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.
2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who died in the barley harueſt.
3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the fielde, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, & died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the fielde betweene Dothaim and Balamo.
4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yeres and foure moneths.
5 And she made a tent vpon her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparel.
6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhode, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feastes and solemne dayes dapes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance & very beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and siluer, and men seruants, and maid seruants, & cattel, and possessions, where she remained.
8 And there was none that could bring an euil report of her: for she feared God greatly.
9 Now when she heard the euil wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had Chap. 7.26,31 *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dapes)
10 Then she sent her maid that had the gouernment of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the Ancients of the citie.
11 And they came vnto her, and she said vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this oth which ye made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dapes the Lord turne to helpe you.
12 And nowe who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?
13 So nowe you seeke the Lorde Almightie, but you shal neuer know any thing.
14 For you can not find out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and knowe his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.
15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fiue dapes, he hath power to defende vs when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.
16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to indgement.
17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.
18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any nowe in these dapes, neither tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforetime.
Iud.3.17. & 4.1. & 6.1.
19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen to the swoorde, and for a spoyle, & had a great fall before our enemies.
20 But we knowe none other God: therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.
21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shall Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shal be spoyled, and he will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth.
22 And the feare of our brethren, & the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wheresoeuer we shalbe in bondage, and we shalbe an offence & a reproch to all that possesse vs.
23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.
24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the House, & the Altar rest vpon vs.
25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.
26 Remember what things he did to *Abraham, and howe he tried Isaac, and all that he did to *Iacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother. Gen.22.1. Gen.28.5.
27 For he hath not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.
28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.
29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.
30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to do vnto them, as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an oth which we may not transgresse.
31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lorde may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.
32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing, which shalbe declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.
33 You shal stand this night in the gate, & I will go forth with mine handmaid: and within the dapes that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.
34 But inquire not you of mine act: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.
35 Then said Ozias & the princes vnto her, Go in peace, & the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.
36 So they returned from the tent, & went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

Iudeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people, 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

1 Then Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, and put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offred in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cryed with a loude voyce, and said, 2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to Gen.34.25.
whom thou gauest a swoorde to take vengeance geance of the ſtrangers which opened the wombe of the mayde, and defiled her, and diſcourred the thigh with ſhame, and polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou haddeſt commaunded that it ſhould not ſo be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gaueſt their princes to the ſlaughter, for they were deceiued and waſhed their beds with blood) and haſt ſtricken the ſeruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,
4 And haſt giuen their wiues for a praye, and their daughters to be captiues, and all their ſpoyles for a bootie to the children that thou louedſt: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thée for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me alſo a wid-dowe.
5 For thou haſt wrought the things afore, & theſe, and the things that ſhall be after, and thou conſidereſt the things that are preſent, and the things that are to come.
6 For the things which thou doeſt purpoſe, are preſent, and ſay, Beholde, we are here:
for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudge-ments are foreknowen.
7 Beholde, the Aſſyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themſelues with horſes and horſemen: they glory in the ſtrength of their footemen: they truſt in ſhield, ſpeare and bow, and ſling, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lorde that breakeſt the battels: the Lorde is thy Name.
8 Breake thou their ſtrength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purpoſed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to polute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name reſteth, & to caſt down with weapons the hornes of the Altar.
9 Behold their pride, & ſend thy wrath vp-on their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widowe, the ſtrength that I haue conceiued.
Iſay.4.21. and 5 26. 10 Smite by the deceite of my lippes the ſeruant with the prince, & the prince with the ſeruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.
Iſay.7.2. 2.Chro.14. 11.and 16.8. and 20.6. 11 For thy power ſtandeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in ſtrong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and litle ones, the defender of the weake, and the protector of them that are forſaken, and the Sauiour of them that are without hope.
12 Surely, ſurely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Iſ-rael, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures:
heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt me words and craft, and a wound, and a ſtroke againſt them that enterpriſe cruel things againſt thy couenant, and againſt thine holy houſe, & againſt the top of Sion, & againſt the houſe of the poſſeſſion of thy children.
14 Shewe euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power and ſtrength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Iſrael, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudith decketh her ſelfe and goeth forth of the citie, 11 She is taken of the watch of the Aſſyrians and brought to Olofernes.

1 NOw after ſhe had ceaſed to crye vnto the God of Iſrael, and had made an ende of all theſe wordes, 2 She roſe where ſhe had fallen downe, and called her mayde, and went down into the houſe, in the which ſhe abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feaſt dayes, 3 And putting away the ſackcloth wherewith ſhe was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowehode, ſhe waſhed her body with water, & anointed it with moſt oyntment, & dreſſed the heare of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnes, wherewith ſhe was clad during the life of Manaſſes her husband.
4 And ſhe put ſlippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and ſtarres, and rings, and earings, and all her ornaments, & ſhe decked her ſelfe braueſt to allure the eyes of all men that ſhould ſee her.
5 Then ſhe gaue her mayde a bottel of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a ſcrippe with flowre, and with dryed figges, and with fine bread: ſo ſhe lapped by all theſe things together and lapde them vpon her.
6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found ſtanding there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Cha-bris and Charmis.
7 And when they ſaw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her won-derfull beautie, and ſayd vnto her, 8 The God, the God of our fathers giue the fauour, and accompliſh thine enterpriſes to the glorie of the children of Iſrael, and to the exaltation of Ieruſalem. Then they worſhipped God.
9 And ſhe ſayd vnto them, Commaund the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accompliſh the things which you haue ſpoken to me. So they commaunded the young men to open vnto her, as ſhe had ſpoken.
10 And when they had done ſo, Iudeth went out, ſhe and her mayde with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill ſhe was gone downe the mountaine, and till ſhe had paſſed the valley, and could ſee her no more.
11 Thus they went ſtreight forth in the valley, and the firſt watch of the Aſſyrians met her, 12 And tooke her, & aſked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commeſt thou? and whither goeſt thou? And ſhe ſayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, & am fled from them: for they ſhalbe giuen you to be conſumed.
13 And I come before Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will ſhewe before him the way whereby he shall go and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Nowe when the men heard her wordes, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come down to the presence of our lorde: nowe therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afrayde in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he wil intreate thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayde, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her comming was hyred among the tents: and they came and stode rounde about her: for the stode without the tent of Holofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one sayd vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes garde went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fell down vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 And asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her fayre wordes.

1 Then sayd Holofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to them selues.

3 But nowe tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegarde: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shal hurt thee, but intreate thee wel, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth sayd vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmayd to speake in thy presence, and I wil declare no lye to my lorde this night.

6 And if thou wilt followe the wordes of thine handmayd, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fielde, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shal liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirite, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, & in feates of warre marueilous.

9 Nowe * as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsel, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee. Chap. 5.

10 Therefore, O lorde and gouernour, reiect not his worde, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Nowe therefore least my lorde should be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, & that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their victailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattel, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheat, & the tithes of the wine, & of the oile which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawful for any of the people to touch with their handes.

14 Moreouer they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Nowe when they shal bring them worde, they wil doe it, and they shalbe giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmayd, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, & God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shal wonder, & whosoeuer shal heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day & night, and nowe let me remaine with thee, my lorde, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will praye

vnto God, that her may reueile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes, 18 And I will come and shewe it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine armie, & there shalbe none of them that shall resist thee.
19 And I will leade thée thyough þ middes of Judea, vntill thou come before Jerusalem, and I will set thy throne in þ middes thereof, and thou shalt dyue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, & a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these thinges haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thée.
20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Holofernes, & al his seruants, & they marueiled at her wisedome, and sayde, 21 There is not such a woman in al þ world, both for beauty of face, & wisdom of words.
22 Likewise Holofernes sayd vnto her, God *hath done this, to sẽd thée before the people, that strength might be in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.
23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, & wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, & thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, & shalt be renowmed throughout the whole earth.

*Or, hath done wel.

CHAP. XII.

Judeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 11 Holofernes causeth her to come to the banket.

1 Then hée commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were laid, & bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should dyncke of his owne wine.
2 But Judeth said, *I may not eate of thé, least there should be an offence, but I can suffice my self with the things that I haue brought.

*Gen. 43.32. Dan. 1.8. Wisd. 14.11.

3 Then Holofernes said vnto her, If þ things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thée the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.
4 Then said Judeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.
5 Then the seruants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntil midnight, and rose at the morning watch,
6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord commaund that thine handmaide may go forth vnto prayer.
7 Then Holofernes commanded his garde þ they should not stay her: thus she abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.
8 And when she came out, thé prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.
9 So she returned, & remained pure in the tent, vntil she ate her meate at euening.
10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banket, that had the affaires in hand.
11 Then said he to Bagoas þ eunuche who had charge ouer all that he had, Go & perswade this Hebrew womã, which is with thee, that shé come vnto vs and eate, and dyncke with vs.
12 For it were a shame for vs, if wee should let such a woman alone, & not taike vs her, & if we do not allure her, she will mocke vs.
13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, & came to her, and said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to dyncke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.
14 Then said Judeth vnto him, Who am I nowe, þ I should gainsay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will do spédily, and it shalbe my ioy vnto the day of my death.
15 So she arose and trimmed her with garments, & with all the ornamentes of woman, & her maide went, and spred forth her skinnes on the grounde ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that shé might sit & eate vpon them.
16 Now when Judeth came and sate down, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, & his spirit was moued, & hee desired greatly her companie: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had séene her.
17 Then said Holofernes vnto her, Dyncke nowe, and be merry with vs.
18 So Judeth said, I dyncke now, my lorde, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.
19 Then she tooke, & ate & dranke before him the things that her maide had prepared.
20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, & dranke much more wine then he had dronke at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP XIII.

Judeth prayeth for Strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

1 Nowe when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, & Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beddes: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.
2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, & Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with *wine.

*Eccles. 31. 29, 35.

3 ¶ Now Judeth had cõmanded her maide to stande without her chamber, & to waite for her comming forth as she did daily: for she said, she would go forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the saine purpose.

4 So all went foorth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neyther little nor great: then Judeth standing vp his bedde, saide in her heart, O Lorde God of all power, beholde at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Jerusalem.
5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.
6 Then she came to the poste of the bedde which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchyn from thence,
7 And approched to the bed, & tooke hold of the heare of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lorde God of Israel this day.
8 And she smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,
9 And roled his bodie downe from the bed, & pulled downe the canopie from the pulars, and anon after she went foorth, & gaue Olofernes head to her maide,
10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, & went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.
11 ¶ Then said Judeth a farre off to ꝑ watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Jerusalem, & his force against his enemies, as he hath euē done this day.
12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe down to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.
13 And they ranne all together both small & great: for it was aboue their expectation, ꝑ she shoulde come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, & made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.
14 Then she said to them with a loude voyce, Prayse God, prayse God: for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine handes this night.
15 So she tooke the head out of the scrippe & shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennes, & the Lord hath smitten him by the hande of a woman.
16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, & he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or vilenie.
17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, & worshipped God, and saide with one accorde, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.
18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, & blessed be the lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.
19 Surely thy thine hope shal neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shal remember the power of God for euer.
20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall prayse, and visite thee with good thinges, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a streight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Judeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth him selfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites go out against the Assyrians.

1 Then said Judeth vnto thē, Heare me also, my brethren, & * take this head, and hang it vpon the hiest place of your walles. 1. Macca. 15. 35.
2 And so soone as the morning shal appeare & the sunne shal come forth vpō the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and go forth euery valiant man out of the citie, & set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the fielde, toward the watche of the Assyrians, but go not downe.
3 Then they shall take their armour, and shal go into their campe, & raise vp ꝑ captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shal runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shal flee before your face.
4 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel, shal pursue them, & ouerthrowe them as they goe.
5 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and know him ꝑ despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.
6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, & when he was come & sawe the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hād in the assemblie of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.
7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Judeths feete, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all ꝑ tabernacle of Juda, and in all nations, which, hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.
8 Nowe therefore tell me al the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Judeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre she spake vnto them.
9 And when she had left off speaking, ꝑ people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnes through their citie.
10 And Achior, seeing all thinges that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskinne of his flesh, and was ioined vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.
11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and and euery man tooke his weapons, & they went forth by bandes vnto the straytes of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, & to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent and said to him that had þ charge of all his things, Waken our lorde: for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battel, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the dooze of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Judeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and founde him cast vpon the flooze, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore hee cryed with a loude voyce, with weeping & mourning, and a mightie crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Judeth where she vsed to remaine, & found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cryed, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these woordes, they rent their coates, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

The Assyrians are afraied and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Judeth and to praise God for her.

1 And when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at þ thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines rounde about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among the, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola and to all the coastes of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things þ were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, & they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them w a great slaughter vntill they came to Damascus and to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned frō the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was verye great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accorde, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almightie Lorde for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, & they gaue vnto Judeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, & shee tooke it and laid it on her mules, and made readie her charets, and laied them theron.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hande, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, and her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dannce, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, & with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Judeth praiseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lorde Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her contentment, life & death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

1 Then Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Judeth sayde, Begin vnto my God with tymbrels: sing vnto my Lorde with cymbals: tune vnto him a psalme: exalte his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of the people, and deliuered me out of the hande of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines southy of the North: he came with thousandes in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleis. Chap. 2. 17, 13.

5 Hee saide that he would burne vp my borders & kill my young men with the sworde, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoile.

6 But the almightie Lorde hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the young men, neither did the sonnes of Titā smite him, nor the hie giantes inuade him, but Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widow-hode, for the exaltation of those þ were oppressed in Israel, & anointed her face with ointment, and bond vp her heare in a coif, and toke a linen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie toke his minde prisoner, and the sawchin passed through his necke.
10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled w her hardines.
11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feble ones howted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.
12 The children of maides perced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battel of þ Lord.
13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song & praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.
Gen.1.24. Psal.33.9. 14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.
15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.
16 For al sacrifice is too litle for a swéte sauour, and all the fatte is too litle for thy burnt offring: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.
17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lorde almightie will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall féele them and wéepe for euer.
18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lorde, and assone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offrings, and their free offrings, and their giftes.
19 Judeth also offred all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had giuen her, & gaue the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.
20 So the people reioyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three monethes, and Judeth remained with them.
21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.
22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after þ Manasses her husband was dead, & was gathered to *his people. *or, her people.
23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbandes house, being an hundreth & fiue yere olde, and made her maid free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.
Gen.50.14. 24 And *the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goodes to al them þ were nerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, & to them that were þ nérest of her kinred.
25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in þ dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latin translations.

Which followe the tenth Chapter.

4 THen Mardochéus sayd, God hath done these things.
5 For I remember a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.
6 A litle fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the king married, and made Quéene.
7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.
8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jewes.
9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, & the Lorde hath deliuered vs frō all these euils, & God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which haue not beue done among the Gentiles.
10 Therefore hath he made two lottes, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.
11 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.
12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.
13 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth and fiftenth day of the same moneth, with an assemblie and ioy, and with gladnes before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

1 IN the fourth yere of the reigne of Ptolomeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a Priest and Leuite, & Ptolomeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of *Phurai, which they sayd Ptolimachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted, *Or, Lotus.
2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardochéus the sonne of Jairus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame,
3 A Jewe dwelling in þ citie of Susis, a noble man, þ bare office in the Kings court.
4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from Jerusalem with Jechonias.
5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noyse of a tempest with thunders, & earthquakes, and vproare in the lande.
6 Beholde, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against an other.

7 Their

7 Their crie was great, wherebp al the heathen were readie to fight against the righteous people.
8 And the same day was full of darknes and obscuritie, & trouble, & anguish: yea, aduersitie, & great affliction was vpon the earth.
9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being readie to dye, cryed vnto God.
10 And while they were crying, the litle wel grewe into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.
11 The light & the sunne rose vp, & the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.
12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke & rose vp and thought in his heart vntill þ night, what God would do, and so he desired to know al the matter.

CHAP. XII.

1 AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kinges court with Bagathas, & Thara, the kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.
Esther 2.21. and 6.2.
2 * But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, he perceiued that they went about to lape their handes vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so he certified the King thereof.
3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with tormentes, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.
4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.
5 So the king cõmanded that Mardocheus shoulde remaine in the court, & for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.
6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

Ioseph. antiq. lib. 11. cap. 6.
1 THe copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes writeth these thinges to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.
2 When I was made lorde ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenes to gouerne my subiects, & wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely go thorow on euery side, & to renewe peace againe, which all men desire.
3 Nowe when I asked my counsellours howe these thinges might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisedome, and constant in good will, and shewed him selfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the seconde place in the kingdome, euen Aman,
4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of Kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begonne, can not be gouerned without offence.
5 Seeing nowe we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, & hauing an euill opinion of our doinges, and go about to stablishe wicked matters, that our kingdome shoulde not come to good estate,
6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our seconde father) shall all with their wiues & children be destroyed & rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercie, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,
7 That they which of olde, and nowe also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hel, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.
8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes and of the Lorde, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying. O Lord, Lord, the King almightie (for al things are in thy power) and if thou hast appoynted to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.
10 For thou hast made heauen & earth, and al the wonderous things vnder the heauē.
11 Thou art Lord of all thinges, and there is no man þ can resist thee, which art þ Lord.
12 Thou knowest all thinges, & thou knowest, Lorde, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glorie, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proude Aman.
13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluatiõ of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feete.
14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glorie of God, and would not worshippe any but one in thee, my Lorde, and this haue I not done of pride.
15 And therefore, O Lorde God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.
16 Despise not the portion, which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine own selfe.
17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorowe into ioy, that we may liue, O Lorde, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.
18 All Israel in like maner cryed most earnestly vnto the Lorde, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

1 QVeene Esther also, being in danger of death, reloyred vnto the Lord,
2 And laid away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, & mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, shee scattered ashes, and dong vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the heare that she pluckt off.
3 And she prayed vnto the Lorde God of Israel, saying. O my Lorde, thou onely art our king: helpe me desolate woma, which haue no helper but thee.
4 For my danger is at hand.
5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among al people, and our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetual inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise thē.
6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the hads of our enemies, 7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.
8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue strooken hands with their idoles,
9 That they will abolishe the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, & to quech the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,
10 And to open the mouthes of the heathē, that they may praise the power of the idoles, & to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.
11 O Lorde, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorn in our miserie: but turne their deuice vpon themselues, and make him an example, that hath begonne the same against vs.
12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shewe thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, & strengthen me, O king of gods, and Lorde of al power.
13 Giue me an eloquēt speach in my mouth before the Lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.
14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, & helpe me that am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.
15 Thou knowest all things, O Lorde: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the uncircumcised, and of all the heathen.
16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe, 17 And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, & that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor dronke the wine of the drinke offrings, 18 And that I thine handmaid haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lorde God of Abraham.
19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them, that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the King, and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

1 MArdocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.
2 Remember, saith he, the dayes of thy low estate, howe thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.
3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lorde, and speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.
4 And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she layde away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,
5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Sauiour of all things, and tooke two handmaides with her.
6 Vpon the one she leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.
7 And the other folowed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.
8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was chearefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.
9 Then she went in thorow al the doores, & stoode before ꝑ king, & the king sate vpon his royal throne, and was clothed in his goodly arap, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very terrible.
10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the maide, that went with her.
11 Neuertheless, God turned the kinges mind ꝑ he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, & tooke her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, & saide, 12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come nere.
14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and saide, Talke with me.
16 Then said she, I sawe thee, O lorde, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy Maiestie.
17 For wonderful art thou, O lorde, and thy face is full of grace.
18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fel downe againe for faintnes.
19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

CHAP.

Ioseph. Antiq. 11. chap. 6.

1 The great king Artarerres, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth & seuen & twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes & rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of princes and honour giuen vnto them, become verie proude,

3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in welth, do also imagine destruction against those that do them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnesse away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmindefull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth al things, and is contrarie to euill.

5 And oft times many, which be set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are cõmitted, by vaine entisements do wrap them in calamities, that can not be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie, and gentlenes of princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those thinges that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take hede hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenes.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deed a stranger from the Persians blood, & farre from our goodnes, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that we beare toward al nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse him selfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceite also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in al things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, & by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they ought be destroyed) are not euill doers, but vse most iust Lawes,

16 And that they be þ children of the most hie and almightie and euerliuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, & our progenitours in verie good order.

17 Wherefore ye shal do wel, if ye do not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates with al his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserning.

19 Therefore ye shall publishe the copie of this letter in all places, þ the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For almightie God hath turned to ioye the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes ye shal kéepe this day with al gladnes, 23 That both nowe and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and al such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destructiõ to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities & countries that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

The wisdome of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

1 Howe we ought to searche and enquire after God. 3 VVho be those that finde him. 5 The holy Ghost. 8. 11 VVe ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 VVhereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrighteousnesse.

1.King.3. 3. Esa.56.1.

1 Loue *righteousnesse, ye that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, & seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

Deut.4.29. 2.chron.15.4.

2 *For he will be found of thẽ þ tempt him not, & appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithful vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, reproueth the vnwise,

4 Because wisdome can not enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

Ierem.4.22 5 For the holy *Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit & withdraweth him selfe from the thoughtes that are without vnderstãding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

Galat.5.23 6 For the Spirit of wisedome *is loning, and will not absolue him, that blasphemeth with with his lippes: for God is a witnesse of his reines, & a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lorde filleth all the worlde: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproche let him escape.

9 For inquisitiō shalbe made for þ thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of iealousie heareth all things, and the noyse of the grudgings shal not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue frō slander: for there is no word so secrete, that shal go for nought, & the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: Deut.4.23. * destroy not your selues throgow þ workes of your owne hands.

Ezek.18.23. and 33.11. 13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, þ they might haue their being: and the generations of the worlde are preserued, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, & the kingdome of hel is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnes is immortall, but vnrighteousnes bringeth death.

a To wit, death. 16 And the vngodly call a it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsell against the faithfull.

Iob.7.1. and 14.1. mat.22.23. 1.cor.15.32. 1 FOr the vngodly say, as they falsly imagine with themselues, * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouery, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we shalbe hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrels, and the words as a spark raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirite vanisheth as the soft ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, & come to nought as the mist that is driue away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heate therof. Our name also shalbe forgotten in time, and no mā shall haue our workes in remembrāce.

2.Chron.29. 35.chap.5.9. 5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our ende there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no mā commeth againe.

Isai.22.13. and 56.12. 1.cor.15.32. 6 * Come therefore, & let vs enioy the pleasures, that are present, & let vs cheerefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine and oyntments, & let not the flowre of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues ere rose buddes afore they be withered.

9 Let vs al be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, & this is our lotte.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore, that is righteous: let vs not spare the widowe, nor reuerence the white heares of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the lawe of vnrighteousnes: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous: for he is not for our profit, & he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the lawe, & blameth vs as transgressours of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth him selfe the sonne of the Lord.

14 He is made * to reproue our thoughtes. Ioh.7.7.

15 It grieueth vs also to looke * vpon him: ephe.5.13. for his life is not like other mens: his Isai.53.3. wayes are of another facion.

16 He counteth vs as bastards, and he withdraweth him selfe from our wayes as frō filthines: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iust, and boasteth that God is his Father.

17 Let vs see then if his words be true: let vs proue what end he shal haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne Psal.22.8,9 of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him mat.27.43. from the handes of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and Iorem.11.19. torments, that we may knowe his meekenes, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shamefull death: for he shalbe preserued as he him selfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go astray: for their own wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 And they do not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnes, nor can discerne the honour of the soules that are faultelesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his Gen.1.27. owne likenesse. and 2.7.&

24 * Neuertheless, throgow enuie of þ deuil 5.1.ecclus. came death into the worlde: and they that 17.2,3. holde of his side, proue it. Gen.3.1,2.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersation & assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 VVho are miserable.

1 BVt the * soules of the righteous are in Deut.33.3. the hand of God, and no torment shall touche them.

2 * In the sight of the vnwise they appeared Chap.5.4. to die, & their end was thought grieuous,

3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortalitie. Rom.8.24.

5 They are punished, but in fewe thinges, 2.cor.5.1. yet in many thinges shall they be well 1.pet.1.13 rewarded:

Exod.16. 4 Deut.8.2. rewarded: * for God proueth them, and findeth them meete for him selfe.
6 He trieth them as the golde in the fornace, & receiueth them as a perfect fruit offring.
Mat.13.43. 7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne thorowe as the sparkes among the stubble.
Mat.19. 28.1 Cor.6.2. 8 They * shall judge the nations, & haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lorde shall reigne for euer.
9 They that trust in him, shal understand the truth, and the faithful shall remaine with him in loue: for grace & mercie is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.
Mat.25.41. 10 * But the vngodly shalbe punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, & forsaken the Lord.
11 Who so despiseth wisedome & discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their workes vnprofitable.
12 Their wiues are vndiscreete, & their children wicked: their offring is cursed.
13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is Isai.56.5. vndefiled, & knoweth not the sinful bed: * she shal haue fruit in the visitation of ꝺ soules.
14 And the eunuche, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be giuen the special gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.
15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the roote of wisdome shall neuer fade away.
16 But the children of aduterers shal not be partakers of the holy things, and the seede of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.
17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shal be without honour.
18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.
19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, & the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

1 BEtter is barrennes with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.
2 When it is present, men take example ther-at, & if it go away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned & triumpheth, and winneth the battel and the vndefiled rewardes.
3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastarde plants shall take no depe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.
4 For though they bud foorth in the branches for a time, * yet they shall be shaken Mat.7.19. with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out.
5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruite shall be vnprofitable and sowre to eate, and meete for nothing.
6 For al the children that are borne of ꝺ wicked bed, shall be witnes of the wickednes against their parents when they be asked.
7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, yet shal he be in rest.
8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeres.
9 But wisedome is the grap heare, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.
10 * He pleased God, & was beloued of him, Gen.5.24. so that where as he liued among sinners, hebr.11.5. he translated him.
11 He was take away, lest wickednes should alter his vnderstanding, or deceite beguile his minde.
12 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the things ꝺ are good, and the vnstedfastnes of concupiscence peruerteth ꝺ simple minde.
13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.
14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednes.
15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, howe that grace and mercie is vpon his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.
16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.
17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath decreed for him, and wherefore the Lorde hath preserued him in safete.
18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord wil laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shal haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shal he burst them & cast them downe, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shalbe vtterly wasted, & they shalbe in sorowe, and their memorial shall perish.
20 So they being afrayde, shall remember their sinnes, & their owne wickednes shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnes of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfaithful is vayne. 15 The blessednes of the Saints and godly.

1 THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnes before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.
2 When they see him, they shalbe vered with horrible feare, and shalbe amased for his wonderful deliuerance,
3 And shal change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, & say within themselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.
4 * We fooles thought his life madnes, and Chap.3.2. his end without honour.
5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the saints!
6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.
7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednes and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but we haue

haue not knowen the wap of the Lord.
8 What hath pride profited vs? or what pro-fite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?
1.Chro.29. 9 All those things are * passed away like a 15.chap.2.5. shadowe, and as a poste that passeth by:
10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:
Prouerb. 11 Or as * a birde that flyeth thorow in the 30.19. aire, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noyse of her wings, beating the light wind, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and flyeth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her wap can be found:
12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man can not knowe where it went thorowe.
13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, we began to drawe to our ende, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednes.
Iob.8.9. 14 For * the hope of the vngodly is like the psal.1.4. & dust that is blowen awap with the winde, 143.4.pro. and like a thinne foame that is scattered a-10.25. & broads with the storme, and as the smoke, 11.7.sam.1. which is dispersed with the winde, and as 30,11. the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a dap.
15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most High hath care of them.
16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautiful crowne of the Lordes hand: for with his right hand shall he couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.
17 He shall take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.
18 He shal put on righteousnesse for a breast-plate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.
19 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shield.
20 He will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vnwise.
21 Then shall the thunder bolts goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bow of þ clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shalbe wroth against them, and the floods shal mightily ouerflowe.
22 And a mightie winde shall stand vp against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wildernes, & wickednes shall ouerthrow the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, princes and iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisdome.

1 HEare therefore, O ye kings, and vn-derstand: learne, ye that be iudges of the ends of the earth.
2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes and glory in the multitude of people.
3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lord, and Rom.13.1. power by þ most high, which will trie your workes, & search out your imaginations.
4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the wil of God, 5 Horribly and suddenly wil he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.
6 For he þ is most lowe, is worthie mercie, but the mighty shalbe mightily tormented.
7 For he that is Lorde ouer all, will spare no * person, neither shall he feare any great- Deut.10.
nesse: for he hath made the small and great, 17.2.chro.
and careth for all alike, 19.7.iob.
8 But for the mighty abideth the sorer trial. 34.19.ec-9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, do I speak, clus.35.12.
þ ye may learne wil dome, & not go amisse. 16.act.10.
10 For they that kéepe holines holily, shalbe 34.rom.2.
holy, and they that are learned there, shall 11.gal.2.6.
finde a defence. ephe.6.9.
11 Wherefore set your delite vpon my words coloss.3.25.
and desire them, and ye shalbe instructed. 1.pet.1.17.
12 Wisdome shineth & neuer fadeth away, and is easely séene of them that loue her,
and found of such as séeke her, 13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shewe her selfe vnto them.
14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shal find her sitting at his doores.
15 To thinke vpon her then is perfit vnder-standing: and who so watcheth for her, shal be soone without care.
16 For she goeth about, séeking such as are mete for her, & sheweth her selfe cherefully vnto them in the wayes, & meeteth them in euery thought.
17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: & the care of discipline is loue:
18 And loue is the kéeping of her lawes: and the kéeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:
19 And immortalitie maketh vs nere vnto
God.
20 Therefore the desire of wisdome leadeth to the kingdome.
21 If your delite be then in thrones, & scepters, O kings of the people, honour wis-dome, that ye may reigne for euer.
22 Now I wil tell you what wisedome is,
and whence it commeth, and wil not hide the mysteries from you, but will séeke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and wil not kéepe backe the trueth.
23 Neither wil I haue to doe with consuming enuie: for such a man shal not be partaker of wisedome.
24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, and a wise king is the stay of the people.
25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

VVisdome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

1 I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And

2 And in my mothers wombe was I facioned to be fleshy in ten monethes: I was Iob.10.10, 11. *brought together into blood of the seed of man, & by the pleasure þ cōmeth wt sleepe.
3 And when I was borne, I receyued the common aire, & fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other do.
4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.
5 For there is no King that had any other beginning of birth.
Iob.1.21. 6 All* men then haue one entraunce vnto
1.Sam.6.7. life, and a like going out.
7 Wherfore I prayed, & vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, & the Spirite of wisedome came vnto me.
8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.
Iob.28.15. 9 * Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a litle grauell in respect of her, and siluer shalbe counted but clay before her.
10 I loued her aboue health & beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light can not be quenched.
1.King.3. 11 All* good thinges therefore came to me
13.matth. together with her, & innumerable riches
6.33. thorowe her handes.
12 So I was glad in all: for wisdome was the author thereof, and I knewe not that she was the mother of these things.
13 And I learned vnfaynedly, and communicated without enuie, and I do not hide her riches.
14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.
15 God hath graunted me to speake according to my mind, & to iudge worthily of þ things, þ are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdome, and the director of þ wise.
16 For in his hande, are both wee and our wordes, and all wisdome, and the knowledge of the workes.
17 For he hath giuen mee the true knowledge of the things that are, so þ I knowe howe the worlde was made, and the powers of the elements,
18 The beginning & the ende, & the middes of the times: how the times alter, and the change of the seasons,
19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beasts, the power of þ windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.
21 And all things both secret and knowen do I knowe: for wisdome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.
22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtill, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing þ good, sharpe, which can not be letted, doing good,
23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorough all intellectuall, pure, and subtill spirits.
24 For wisdome is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her pureues.
25 For ther is the breath of the power of God, & a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almightie: therfore can no defiled thing come vnto her.
26 For* she is þ brightnesse of þ euerlasting Heb.1.3. light, the vndefiled mirrour of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnes.
27 And being one, she can do all things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages she entreth into þ holy soules, & maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.
28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisdome.
29 For she is more beautifull thē the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, & the light is not to be compared vnto her.
30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickednesse can not ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

1 SHe also reacheth from one end to an other mightily, and comely doeth she order all things.
2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beautie.
3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, þ Lord of al things loueth her.
4 For she is the scholemistres of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.
5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdome, that worketh al things?
6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among al things, þ worketh better thē she?
7 If a man loue righteousnes, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobernes and prudencie, righteousnes and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.
8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentēces: shee foreseeth the signes & wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.
9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that she would counsell me good thinges, and comfort me in cares and griefes.
10 For her sake shall I haue glorie among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be yong.
11 I shalbe found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shalbe marueilous in the sight of great men.
12 When I hold my tongue, they shal abide my leasure: when I speake, they shal heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.
13 Moreouer, by her I shall obteine immor-talitie,

talitie, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.
14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shal be subdued vnto me.
15 Horrible tyrants shalbe afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.
16 When I come home, I shal rest wᵗ her: for her cõpany hath no bitternes, & her felowship hath no tediousnes, but mirth & ioy.
17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, & pondered them in mine heart, howe that to be ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and ỏ in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glorie by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.
19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirite.
20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled bodie.
21 Neuertheles, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisdome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I wẽt vnto the Lord, and besought him, & with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obteine wisdome.

1 O God of fathers, & lord of mercy, which hast made al things with thy word,
2 And ordeined man thorough thy wisdome, that he should haue *dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made, — Gen.1.1,28,
3 And gouerne ỏ world according to equitie and righteousnes, & execute iudgement with an vpright heart.
4 Giue me that wisdome, which sitteth by thy throne, & put me not out from among thy children. — 1 King.3.9.
5 For I thy *seruant, and sonne of thine handmaide, am a feeble person, & of a short time, and yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes. — Psal.116.16.
6 And though a man be neuer so perfite among the children of men, yet if thy wisdõ be not wᵗ him, he shalbe nothing regarded.
7 *Thou hast chosen me to be a king of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. — 1 Chro.28.5. 2 chro.1.9.
8 Thou hast cõmanded me to build a temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an altar in the citie, wherein thou dwellest, a likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.
9 And thy *wisdome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knewe what was acceptable in thy sight, & right in thy commandements. — *Prou.8.22. iohn.1.1,2,3, 10.
10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy maiestie ỏ she may be with me, and labour, ỏ I may knowe what is acceptable in thy sight.
11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shal leade me soberly in my workes, and preserue me by her glorie, 12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meete for my fathers throne.
13 For *what man is he that cã knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is? — *Isai.40.13. rom.11.34. 1.cor.2.16.
14 For ỏ thoughts of mortal men are fearefull, and our forecastes are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is ful of cares.
16 And hardly can we discerne the things that are vpon earth, & with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?
17 Who can knowe thy counsel, except thou giue him wisedome, & send thine holy Spirit from aboue?
18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth, are reformed, & men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued thorough wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

1 She preserued the first father of ỏ world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence.
2 And *gaue him power to rule all things, — Gen.2.20.
3 *But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie. — Gen.4.8.
4 For whose cause the *earth was ouerflowen, but wisdome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a litle wood. — Gen.7.21.
5 Moreouer, *when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preserued him faultles vnto God, and *kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne. — Gen.11.1,31. & 12.1. *Or, kept him strong in his tender loue toward his sonne.
6 She preserued the righteous, *when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.
7 Of whose wickednes the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, & the trees ỏ beare fruit ỏ neuer commeth to ripenes: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salte. — Gen.19.16.
8 For all such as regarded not wisedome, had not only this hurt, ỏ they knewe not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnes, so ỏ in the things wherein they sinned, they can not lie hid.
9 But wisdome deliuered thẽ, ỏ serued her.
10 *When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him ỏ kingdom of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labors, & made his paines profitable. — Gen.28.5.
11 Against ỏ couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him & made him rich.
12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them, that laye in waite, & she gaue him the price in a mightie battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then al things.
13 *When the righteous was solde, she for- — Gen.37.28. & 39.7. all.700

ſtoke him not, but delmered him from ſinne: ſhe went downe with him into the dungeon, 14 And failed him not in the bands, til ſhee had brought him the ſcepter of the realme, & power againſt thoſe that oppreſſed him: & them þ had accuſed him, ſhe declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glorie.

Exod.1.19. & 12.40. 15 * She delmered the righteous people and faultleſſe ſeede from the nations that oppreſſed them.

Exod.5.2. 16 She entred into the ſoule of the ſeruant of the Lord, and ſtood * by him in wonders and ſignes againſt the terrible kings.

17 She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, & led them foorth a marueilous way: on the day time ſhe was a ſhadowe vnto them, & a light of ſtarres in the night.

Exo.14.21,22. pſal.78.13. 18 * She brought them thorowe the red ſea, & caried them through the great water, 19 But ſhe drowned their enemies, & brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

Exod.15.1. 20 So the righteous tooke the ſpoiles of the vngodlie, * and praiſed thine holy Name, O Lord, & magnified thy victorious hande with one accorde.

21 For wiſedome openeth the mouth of the dombe, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Iſrael. 13 The vengeance of ſinners. 21 The great power and mercie of God.

1 She proſpered their works in the hands of thine holy Prophet.

Exod.15.1. 2 * They went through the wildernes that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

Exo.17.10, 11. 3 * They ſtoode againſt their enemies, and were auenged of their aduerſaries.

Num.20.11. 4 * When they were thirſtie, they called vpō thee, and water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, & their thirſt was quenched out of the hard ſtone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were puniſhed, by the ſame were the Iſraelites helped in their neede.

6 For in ſtead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commaundement of the killing of the children, but thou gaueſt vnto thine own abundance of water vnlooked for,

Exod.7.20. 7 Declaring by the thirſt that, was at that time * howe thou haddeſt puniſhed thine aduerſaries.

8 For when they were tryed and chaſtiſed with mercie, they knewe how the vngodly were iudged and puniſhed in wrath.

9 For thoſe haſt thou exhorted as a father, & proued them: but thou haſt condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou diddeſt examine them.

10 Whether they were abſent or preſent, their puniſhment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things paſt.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And ſeeing the things that came to paſſe, at the laſt they wondred at him, whome afore they had caſt out, denied and derided: for they had another thirſt then the iuſt.

13 Becauſe of the fooliſh deuices of their wickednes wherewith they were deceiued, and worſhipped * ſerpents, that had not the vſe of reaſon, and vile beaſtes, thou ſentſt Chap.12.24. rom.1.23. vpon the for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man ſinneth, by the ſame alſo ſhall he be puniſhed.

14 For vnto thine almightie hand, þ made the world of * nought, it was not vnpoſſible to ſende among them a multitude of Gen.1.2. * beares, or fierce lions, Lenit.26.22. 15 Or furious beaſtes newly created, and vnknowen, which ſhould breathe out blaſtes ierem.5.16,17. chap.16.5. of fire, and caſt out ſmoke, as a tempeſt, or ſhoote horrible ſparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only deſtroy them with hurting, but alſo kill them with their horrible ſight.

17 Yea, without theſe might they haue bene caſt down with one wind, being perſecuted by thy vengeance, and ſcattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou haſt ordred all things in meaſure, number and weight.

18 For thou haſt euer had great ſtrength and might, and who can withſtande the power of thine arme?

19 For as the ſmall thing that the balance weigheth, ſo is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou haſt mercie vpon all: for þ haſt power of all things, and makeſt as though thou ſaweſt not the ſinnes of men, becauſe they ſhould amend.

21 For thou loueſt all the things that are, & hateſt none of thē whom thou haſt made: for thou wouldeſt haue created nothing that thou haddeſt hated.

22 And howe might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing be preſerued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou ſpareſt all: for they are thine, O Lorde, which art the louer of ſoules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercie of God toward ſinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreprouable. 19 God giueth leaſure to repent.

1 For thine incorruptible ſpirite is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chaſteneſt thē meaſurably that go wrong, & warneſt them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednes, they may beleeue in thee, O Lorde.

3 * As for thoſe olde inhabitants of the holy Deut.9.5. & 12.31. land, thou diddeſt hate them.

4 For they committed abominable workes, & 18.12. as ſorceries and wicked ſacrifices,

5 And ſlaying of their owne children without mercie, & eating of the bowels of mans fleſh in banketting, where the raging Prieſtes ſhed abominable blood.

6 And

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the ſoules, deſtitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldeſt deſtroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou loueſt aboue al other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

Exod.33.8. deut.3.22. 8 * Neuertheles, thou ſparedſt them alſo, as men, and ſendedſt the forerunners of thine hoſte, euen hornets to deſtroy them by litle and litle, 9 Not that thou waſt vnable to ſubdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruel beaſts, or with one rough word to deſtroy them together.

10 But in punifhing them by litle and litle, thou gaueſt them ſpace to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation & wicked of nature, and that their thought coulde neuer be altered.

11 For it was a curſed ſeede from the beginning: yet haſt thou not ſpared them when they ſinned, becauſe thou feareditt any ma.

Rom.9.20. 12 For who dare ſaye, * What haſt thou done? or who dare ſtād againſt thy iudgement? or who dare accuſe thee for the nations that periſh, whome thou haſt made? or who dare ſtande againſt thee to reuenge the wicked men?

1.Pet.5.7. 13 For there is none other God but thou, * that careſt for all thinges, that thou maiſt declare howe that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy ſight require accountes of them whome thou haſt puniſhed.

15 For ſo much then as thou art righteous in thy ſelfe, thou ordereſt all things righteouſly, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deſerued to be puniſhed.

Iob.34.19. 16 For thy power is the beginning of righteouſnes, and becauſe thou art Lord of al things, it cauſeth thee to ſpare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfite power, thou declareſt thy power, and reprouеſt the boldenes of the wiſe.

18 But thou ruling thy power, iudgeſt with equitie, and gouerneſt vs with great fauour: for thou mayeſt ſhewe thy power when thou wilt.

19 By ſuch workes now haſt thou taught thy people, that a man ſhould be iuſt and louing, and haſt made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giueſt repentance to ſinners.

20 For if thou haſt puniſhed the enemies of thy children that had deſerued death with ſo great conſideration, and requeſting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednes,

21 With howe great circumſpection wilt thou punith thyne owne children, vnto whoſe fathers thou haſt ſworne and made couenants of good promiſes?

22 So whē thou doeſt chaſten vs, thou puniſheſt our enemies a thouſand times more, to the intent that whē we iudge, we ſhould diligently conſider thy goodneſſe, & when we are iudged, we ſhoulde hope for mercie,

23 Wherefore thou haſt tormented the wicked that haue lined a diſſolute life by their owne imagmations.

24 * For they went aſtray verye farre in the wayes of errour, and eſteemed the beaſtes, which their enemies deſpiſed, for gods, being abuſed after the maner of children, that haue none vnderſtanding. Chap.11. 15,16. rom.1.23.

25 Therefore haſt thou ſent this puniſhment that they ſhould be in derision as children without reaſon.

26 But they that will not be reformed by thoſe ſcornefull rebukes, ſhall feele the worthie puniſhment of God.

27 For in thoſe things when they ſuffred, they diſdeined: but in theſe whome they counted godly, when they ſaw them ſelues puniſhed by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

Rom.1.19. 1 SVrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and could not knowe him that is, by the good things that are ſeene, neither conſider by the workes, the workemaiſter.

Deut.4.19. & 17.3. 2 * But they thought the fire, or the winde or the ſwift aire, or the courſe of the ſtarres, or the ragmg water, or the lightes of heauen to be gouernours of the worlde, and gods.

3 Though they had ſuch pleaſure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet ſhould they haue knowē, how much more excellent he is that made them: for the firſt author of beauty hath created theſe things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of theſe, yet ſhould they haue perceiued therebp, how much he that made theſe things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnes of their beautie, & of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be conſidered.

6 But yet the blame is leſſe in theſe, that ſeeke God and would finde him, & yet peraduenture do erre.

Rom.1.21. 7 For * they go about by his workes to ſeeke him, & are perſuaded by the ſight, becauſe the things are beautifull that are ſeene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excuſed.

9 For if they can know ſo much, that they can diſcerne the worlde, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miſerable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hāds, gold, and ſilver, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the ſimilitude of beaſts, or ane vaine ſtone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

Iſa.44.13. ierem.10.3. 11 * Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, & pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a veſſel profitable for the vſe of life.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, he beſtoweth to dreſſe his meate to fill him ſelfe,

13 And

13 And that which is left of these thinges, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) he caruеth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, & stretcheth it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spotte that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, & maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it can not helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath nede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, & for his marriage and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him þ is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, & successe of his affaires, he requireth furtherance of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images, 7 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 12 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

1 AGaine, another mã purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpõ a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carieth him.

Or, the ship.

2 For as for it, couetousnesse of money hath founde it out, and the craftesman made it by cunning.

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: * for thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues,

Exod. 14. 22.

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the works of thy wisdom should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a smal piece of wood, & passe ouer the stormie sea in a shippe, and are saued.

Gen. 6. 4. and 7. 10.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proude giants perished, þ hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hande, and so left seede of generation vnto the worlde.

7 For blessed is the trée whereby righteousnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed þ is made with hands, both it, and he that made it: he because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

Psal. 115. 8. Sauue. 5. 3.

Psal. 5. 5.

9 * For the vngodlie, and his vngodlinesse are both like hated of God: so truely the worke and he that made it, shalbe punished together.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitatiõ for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * & stumbling blocke vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the fête of the vnwise.

Iere. 10. 3. Baruc. 6. 11.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glorie of men brought them into the worlde: therefore shall they come shortly to an ende.

14 When a father mourned grieuously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whom nowe he worshipped as a god, and ordeined to his seruantes ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, & idols were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so fare off that men might not worshippe them presently, they did counterfet the visage that was farre off, & made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorough the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, & so tooke him now for a god, which a litle afore was but honored as a man.

20 And this was the deceining of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secrete ceremonies, or raging dissolutenes by strange rites, Deut. 18. 10. Ierem. 7. 9. and, 19. 4.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were al mixt together, blood, & slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulnes, tumultes, periurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankefulnesse, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in mariage, adulterie and vncleannes.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the ende of all euill.

27 For either they be madde when they be merie, or prophecie lyes, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forsweare them selues.

28 For in so much as their trust is in þ idols, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shal they justly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting them selues vnto idoles, and because they sweare vnmisly to deceiue, and despise houses.

30 For it is not the power of them by whō they sweare, but the vengeance of the that sinne, which punisheth alwayes þ offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

1 BVt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffring, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we knowe thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfit righteousnes, & to knowe thy power is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours,

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked thinges, are worthie to haue such thinges to trust to, & they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

Rom. 9. 21. 7 The* potter also tempereth soft earth, & facioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both þ vessels, that serue to cleane vses, & the contrarie likewise: but whereto euery vessell serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour vse maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen he, which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, Luke 12. 20. *when he shal make a count for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but he striueth with the goldsmithes, & siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, & taketh it for an honour to make deceiuable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honor then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his own maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power & breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to bee but a passime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Howe he that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth him selfe to offende aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are most vnwise, & more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noles to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, & their feete are slowe to goe.

16 For man made them, & he that hath but a borowed spirite, facioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto him selfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortal him selfe, it is but mortal that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whō he worshipped: for he lined, but they neuer lined.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neyther haue they any beautie to be desired in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, & of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

1 THerfore by such things they are worthily punished and *tormented by the multitude of beastes. Chap. 11. 19. & 14. num. 21. 6.

2 Instead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, euen *quailes, Num. 11. 31.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, & that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also taste a newe taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme pouertie, & that to these onely it should be shewed, howe their enemies were tormented.

5 *For when the cruel fiercenes of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of crueil serpents, Num. 21. 6. 1. cor. 10. 9.

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, þ they might be reformed, hauing a *signe of saluation, to remember the commandement of thy Lawe. The signe of the brasen serpent.

7 For he that turned towarde it, was not healed by the thing that he sawe, but by thee, O Sauiour of all. Num. 21. 9.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 *For the byting of grashoppers and flyes killed them, & there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthie to bee punished by such. Exod. 8. 24. and 10. 4. reuel. 9. 7.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, & healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnes, that they coulde not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life & death, *and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe. Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. tob. 13. 2.

14 A man in deede by his wickednes may slaye another: but when the spirite is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.
Exod.9.23. 16 * For the ungodly that would not knowe thee, were punished by the stregth of thine arme, with strange raine and with hayle, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoyde, & were consumed with fire.
17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might do more then water, which quencheth all things: but the worlde is the auenger of the righteous.
18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see and knowe, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.
19 And sometime burnt the fire in þ middes of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.
Exod.16.14. num.11.7. psal.78.25. wisd.6.21. 20 * In the stead wherof thou hast fed thine owne people with angels foode, & sent thē bread ready from heauē without their labor, which had abundance of all pleasures in it and was meete for all tastes.
21 For thy sustenance declared thy swetnes vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him, that tooke it, and was mete to that that euery man would.
Exod.9.23. 22 Moreouer the * snowe & yce abode the fire & melted not, þ they might know, that the fire burning in þ haile, & sparkeling in the raine, destroid þ fruite of the enemies.
23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.
24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing þ vnrighteous: but it is easie to do good vnto such as put their trust in thee.
25 Therefore was it chaunged at the same time vnto all facions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had nede thereof,
Deut.8.3. mat.4.4. 26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * þ it is not the encrease of fruits that feedeth me, but that it is thy word, which preserueth thē þ trust in thee.
27 For that which could not be destroyed in the fire, being onely warmed a litle with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen þ we ought to preuent þ sunne rising to giue thankes vnto thee, & to salute thee before the day spring.
29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shal melt as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

1 FOr thy iudgements are great, and can not be expressed: therefore men do erre, that wil not be reformed.
2 For when þ vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenes, & long night, & being shut vp vnder þ roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.
3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroade in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.
4 For the denne that hid them, kept thē not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.
5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.
6 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire, verye dreadfull: so that being afraide of this vision, * which they could not see, they thought the things, which they sawe, to be worse. * That is, the mightie vision.
7 * And the illusions of the magicall artes were brought downe, and it was a moste shameful reproche for the boasting of their knowledge. Exod.7.22. & 8.7.18.
8 For they þ promised to driue away feare & trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.
9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraide at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they sawe not the aire, which by no meanes can be auoyded.
10 For it is a fearefull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruel things.
11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.
12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.
13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with mōstrous visions, and sometime they swouned, as though their owne soule should betrap them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.
15 And thus, whosoeuer fell downe, he was kept & shut in prison, but without chaines.
16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, he must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoyde:
17 (For with one chayne of darknesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing wind, or a swete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water,
18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not be seene, or the noyse of cruel beasts, that roared, or þ * sound that answereth againe in the holowe mountaines: these fearefull things made thē to swoone. * Or, Echo.
19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.
20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauie night, an image of that darknes that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darknes.

them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

Exo.13.21. & 14.24. Psal.78.14. & 105.39. 3 *Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnknowen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honorable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to be depriued of the light, & to be kept in darkenes, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom þ vncorrupt light of the law should be giuen to the world.

Exod.1.16. 5 *Where as they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away þ multitude of their children and destroyed them altogether in the mightie water.

6 Of þ night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credit, might be of good chere.

Exod.14.24, 25. 7 Thus thy *people receiued the health of þ righteous, but the enemies were destroied.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whõ thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good mẽ offred secretly, & made a lawe of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good & euil in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing crye was heard of the enemies, & there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewayled.

Exod.11.5. & 12.29. 11 For the *master & the seruant were punished with like punishment, & the cõmon people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they altogether had innumerable þ died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to burp them: for in the twinckling of an eye þ noblest ofspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because of the inchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almightie word lept downe from heauen out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the lande that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfained cõmandement as a sharpe sword, & stood vp, & filled all things wt death, & being come down to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vered them suddenly, & fearefulnes came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there on here, another there half dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vered them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched þ right- Num.16.46 eous also, and among the multitude in the wildernes there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, & defended them, & tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set him selfe against þ wrath, & so brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruãt.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodyly power, nor with force of weapons, but with þ word he subdued him that punished, alleadging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, & parted it from comming to the liuing.

that they had tasted the wrath.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elemẽts serue to the wil of God.

1 AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the end: for he knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them go, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorow was before them, & they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so þ they persecuted them in their fleeing, whõ they had *cast out afore with prayer. *That is, the children of Israel whom they before had desired and prayed to go their way.

4 For the destinie, whereof they were worthy, brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a mar-uelous passage, and that these might find a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, & serued in their owne offices inioyned them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene fielde.

a Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them whē they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage þ had done them good.

14 Beside al these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handeled þ strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them wt great banketting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindnes, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the * righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darknesse, sought the entrance of his doore. Gen.19.11.

17 Thus the elements agreed among them selues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melody stil remaineth, which may easely be perceiued by the sight of þ things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, & the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrarie vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the fleshe of the corruptible beasts þ walked therin, neither melted they that which semed to be [b] pere, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meate.

The wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was founde in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Jesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he lived in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himself witnesseth, was a man of great diligēce, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, & had bene before him, but he him self also spake many full of great knowledge & wisdome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, & Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it & put it in order in a booke, & called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, & his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, & to consider it more diligently. Therfore this booke conteineth wise sayings, & darke sentences, & similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable & ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefites the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deede.

The prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHere as many, & great things haue bin giuen vs by the Law, & the Prophets, and by others þ haue folowed them, (for þ which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine & wisdome, wherby the readers ought not only to become learned them selues, but also may be able by the diligent studie therof to be profitable vnto strāgers both by speaking & writing) after þ my grādfather Jesus had giuen him self to the reading of the Law, & the Prophets, & other bookes of our fathers, and had gotte therin sufficient iudgemēt, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisedom, to the intent þ they which were desirous to learne, & woulde giue them selues to these things, might profite much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherfore, I erhort you to receiue it louingly, & to read it wt diligence, & to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such wordes as are harde to be expressed: for the things þ are spoken in the Hebrewe tongue, haue another force in them selues then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these thinges, but other thinges also, as the Lawe it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoke in their owne language. Therefore in the eight & thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary, to bestowe my diligence, and trauaile to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in bāishment, and are desirous to learne, might applie them selues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe. 1.King.4.9. and 4.19.

CHAP. I.

1 VVisdome commeth of God. 17 A praise of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisdome.

ALl wisdome * commeth of the Lorde, [and hath bene euer wt him] and is wt him for euer. That which is marked wt these two markes, [] is read in the Latin copies, and not in þ Greeke.

1 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the droppes of the raine, crime, and the dapes of the worlde? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the bredth of the earth, and the depthe?

3 Who can finde þ wisdom [of God which hath bene afore all things?]
4 Wisedome hath bene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.
5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisdome, and the euerlasting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]
Rom.11.34. 6 * Vnto whome hath the roote of wisdome bene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?
7 [Vnto whome hath the doctrine of wisdome bene discouered and shewed? and who hath vnderstoode the manifolde entrance vnto her?]
8 There is one wise, [euen the most high Creator of all things, the almightie, the King of power] and verie terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.
9 He is the Lord, that hath created her [through the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbred her, [and measured her.]
10 He hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.
11 The feare of the Lord is glorie, and gladnes, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.
12 The feare of the Lorde maketh a merie heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioye and long life.
13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.
14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whome it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, & for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]
Psal.111.10. prou.9.10. eccl.1.16. 15 * The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the faithful in the woombe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.
16 The feare of the Lorde is an holy knowledge.
17 Holinesse shall preserue, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnes.
18 Who so feareth the Lord, shal prosper, and in the day of his ende, he shalbe blessed.]
19 She hath built her euerlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their seede.
20 To feare God is the fulnes of wisdome, and filleth men with her fruites.
21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desirable, and the garners with the things, that the bringeth forth, and both twaine are giftes of God.
22 The feare of the Lorde, is the crowne of wisdom, and giueth peace & perfit health: he hath seene her and numbred her.
For, wisdome 23 * She raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisdome, and hath brought vnto honour, them that possessed her.
24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdome, and her branches are long life.
25 [In the treasures of wisdome is vnderstanding, & holy knowledge, but wisdome is abhorred of sinners.]
26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: and when she is present, she driueth away anger.
27 ¶ For wicked anger can not be iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.
28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioye.
29 He wil hide his words for a time, & many mens lippes shall speake of his wisdome.
30 In the treasures of wisedome are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.
31 If thou desire wisdome, kepe the commandements, and the Lorde shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]
32 For the feare of the Lorde is wisdome and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meekenes.
33 Be not disobedient to the feare of þ Lord, & come not vnto him with a double heart.
34 ¶ Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heede what thou speakest.
35 Exalt not thy selfe, least thou fall & bring thy saule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secretes, and cast thee downe in the middes of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruantes of God to righteousnes, loue, vnderstanding, and pacience, 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impacient.

1 My sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousnes and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.
2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bow downe thine eare, and receiue the wordes of vnderstanding,] and hastne not away, when thou art assailed, [but waite vpon God paciently.]
3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou maiest be increased at thy last ende.
4 Whatsoeuer commeth vnto thee, receiue it paciently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.
VVisd.3.6. prou.17.3. 5 * For as gold [and siluer are] tried in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.]
6 Beleeue in God, and he will help thee: order thy way aright, & trust in him: [holde fast his feare, and grow olde therein.]
7 Ye þ feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shrink not away from him that ye fal not.
8 Ye that feare the Lorde, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.
9 O ye þ feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioye and mercie.
10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, & your hearts shalbe lightened.]
11 Consider the olde generations [of men, ye children,] and marke them wel: * was there Psal.37.25. euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lorde? or who hath continued in his feare, feare, and was forſaken? or whome did he euer deſpiſe, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gratious and mercifull, and forgiueth ſinnes, and ſaueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that ſeeke him in the trueth.]
Or, double. 13 Woe vnto them, that haue * a feareful heart, [and to the wicked lippes] and to the faint handes, and to the ſinner that goeth two* maner of waies.
1 King. 18. 21.
14 Wo vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleeueth not: therefore ſhall he not be defended.
15 Wo vnto you that haue loſt patience, [& haue forſaken the right waies, and are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what will ye do when the Lord ſhall viſite you?
16 They that feare the Lord, will not diſobey his worde: and they that * loue him, will keepe his waies.
Ioh. 14. 23. 24.
17 They that feare the Lorde, will ſeeke out the things that are pleaſant vnto him: & they that loue him, ſhalbe fulfilled with his Lawe.
18 They that feare the Lorde, will prepare their hearts, and humble their ſoules in his ſight.
19 [They that feare the Lorde, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till he ſee them, 20 Saying, If we doe not repent] we ſhall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.
21 Yet as his greatneſſe is, ſo is his mercie.

2 To our father and mother ought wee to giue double honour. 10 Of the bleſſing and curſe of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouercuriouſly to ſearch out the ſecrets of God.

1 [THe children of wiſedome are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]
2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be ſafe.
3 For the Lorde will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.
4 Who ſo honoureth his father, his ſinnes ſhall be forgiuen him, [and he ſhall abſteine from them, & ſhall haue his daily deſires.]
5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treaſure.
6 Who ſo honoureth his father, ſhall haue ioye of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he ſhalbe heard.
7 He that honoureth his father, ſhall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, ſhall comfort his mother.
8 He that feareth the Lorde, honoureth his parents, and doeth ſeruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

Or, the bleſſing of men.
10 For the bleſſing of the father eſtabliſheth the houſes of the children, & the mothers curſe rooteth out the foundations.
11 Reioyce not at the diſhonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but ſhame, 12 Seeing that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, & the reproch of the mother is diſhonour to the children.
13 My ſonne, helpe thy father in his age, & grieue him not as long as he liueth.
14 And if his vnderſtanding faile, haue patience with him, and deſpiſe him not whē thou art in thy full ſtrength.
15 For the good intreatie of thy father ſhall not be forgotte, but it ſhalbe a fortreſſe for thee againſt ſinnes, [& for thy mothers offence ſhalt be recompenſed with good, & it ſhalbe founded for thee in righteouſnes.]

17 He that forſaketh his father, ſhall come to ſhame, and he that angreth his mother, is curſed of God.
18 ¶ My ſonne, performe thy doings with meekneſs, ſo ſhalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.
19 The greater thou art, the more humble thy ſelfe [in all things,] and thou ſhalt find fauour before the Lorde. Phil. 2. 3.
20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the ſecretes are reueiled vnto the meeke.

24 Be not curious in ſuperfluous thinges: for many thinges are ſhewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.
25 The meddling with ſuch hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.
26 Thou canſt not ſee without eyes: profeſſe not the knowledge therefore that thou haſt not.
27 A ſtubburne heart ſhal fare euil at the laſt: & he that loueth danger, ſhal periſh therein.
28 An heart that goeth two ways, ſhal not proſper: and he that is froward of heart, ſhall ſtumble therein.
29 An obſtinate heart ſhal bee laden with ſorowes: and the wicked man ſhall heape ſinne vpon ſinne.
30 The perſuaſion of the proude is without remedie, and his ſteppes ſhalbe plucked vp: for the plant of ſinne hath taken roote in him, [and he ſhall not be eſteemed.]
31 The heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, ſhal perceiue ſecret thinges, and an attentiue eare is the deſire of a wiſe man.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, & be not faint hearted *when thou iudgest.

*Or, to defend him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husbãd vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: & he shal loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, & receiueth them that seeke her. [and will goe before them in the way of righteousnesse.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioye.

13 He that keepeth her, shal inherite glory: for vnto whom she entreth, him the Lorde will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lorde doeth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

Rom.11.8. 1.thess.5.22. a To be ashamed to confesse thy God, thy faith, to testifie the trueth, and to reproue sinne, doth bring sinne vnto thee: the contrary shame bringeth worship.

17 For first she wil walke with him by crooked waies, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill shee haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she returne the streight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnes.]

19 But if he go wrong, she wil forsake him, and giue him ouer into the handes of his destruction.

20 [¶ My sonne,] make much of time, and *eschewe the thing that is euill, 21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decay. [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisedome knowen, & learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisedome and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, & resist not the course of the ruer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Strine for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shal fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

31 *Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue. Act.20.35.

CHAP. V.

¶ In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

1 TRust not vnto thy *riches, and saye not, I haue ynough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.] Luke.12.15, 19,20. cha.11. 28,19. prou.10. 2.ezek.7.19. zeph.1.18.

2 Follow not thine own mind & thy strẽgth to walke in the waies of thine heart:

3 Neither saye thou, *[I owe haue I had strength?] or who wil bring me vnder for my workes? For God the auenger wil reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto me? For the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but hee will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgiue my manifolde sinnes: for mercie & wrath come from him, & his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shal the wrath of the Lord breake forth, & in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [& vengeance.]

9 Be not carried about with euery winde, & goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [& in the way and knowledge of the Lorde] and haue but one maner of worde. [and nes.

11 Be humble to heare the woꝛde of God, that thou mayeſt underſtand it, and make a true anſwere with wiſdome.] Ecclus.5.13. 12 *Be ſwift to heare good thinges, and let thy life be pure, & giue a patient anſwere.
13 If thou haſt underſtanding, anſwere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [leaſt thou be trapped in an vndiſcrete woꝛd, and ſo be blamed.] 14 Honour and ſhame is in the talke, & the tongue of a man cauſeth him to fall.
Leuit.19.16. 15 Be not counted *a talebearer, & lie not in waite with thy tongue: foꝛ ſhame [and repentance] folow the thiefe, & an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter, ſhall be hated, enuied and confounded.] 16 Do not raſhly, neither in ſmal thinges noꝛ in great.

CHAP VI.

It is the propertie of a ſinner to be euil tongued. & Of friendſhippe. 33 Deſire to be taught.

a For that is againſt the rule of charitie, which loueth all, and hateth nothing but only ſinne.
1 BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] a enemy: foꝛ ſuch ſhall haue an euil name, ſhame and reproche, & be ſhalbe in infamie as a wicked that hath a double tongue.
2 Bee not proude in the deuice of thine own mynde, leaſt thy ſoule rent thee as b a bull, b As a bull teareth in pieces a yong tree with his hornes, ſo thou truſting in thine owne wiſdome, & ſtanding in thine owne conceite, becauſe of thy wit, thy power, or riches, ſhouldſt deſtroy thy ſelfe.
3 And eate vp thy leaues, and deſtroy thy fruite, and ſo thou bee left as a dꝛie tree [in the wildernelle.]
4 Foꝛ a wicked ſoule deſtropeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to ſcorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodlie.]
5 A ſweete talke multiplieth the friends [& pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a ſweete tongue increaſeth much good talke.
6 Holde friendſhip with many, neuertheles haue but one counſeler of a thouſand.
7 If thou getteſt a friend, proue him firſt, & be not haſtie to credit him.
8 Foꝛ ſome man is a friend foꝛ his own occaſion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.
9 And there is ſome friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part againſt thee, and in contention he wil declare thy ſhame.
10 Againe ſome * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine afflictiō hee continueth not.
Chap.17.5. 11 But in thy proſperitie he will be as thou thy ſelfe, and will vſe libertie ouer thy ſer-uants.
12 If thou be brought lowe, he will be a-gainſt thee, and wil hide himſelfe from thy face.
13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friendes.
14 A faithfull friend is a ſtrong defence, and he that findeth ſuch one, findeth a treaſure.
15 A faithfull friend ought not to bee changed foꝛ any thing, and the weight [of golde and ſiluer] is not to be compared to the goodneſſe [of his faith.]
16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immoꝛtalitie,] and they that feare
the Lord, ſhall finde him.
17 Who ſo feareth the Lord, ſhall diꝛect his friendſhip aright, and as his owne ſelfe, ſo ſhall his friend be.
18 ¶ My ſonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: ſo ſhalt thou finde wiſedome [which ſhall indure] till thine olde age.
19 Go to her as one that ploweth, & ſoweth, & waite foꝛ her good fruites: foꝛ thou ſhalt haue but litle labour in her woꝛk: but thou ſhalt eate of her fruites right ſoone.
20 Howe exceeding ſharpe is ſhee to the vn-learned! he that is without iudgement, wil not remaine with her.
21 Vnto ſuch one ſhee is as a fine touchſtone, and he caſteth her from him without delay.
22 Foꝛ they haue the name of wiſdome, but there be but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.
23 [Foꝛ with them that know her, ſhee abi-deth vnto the appearing of God.]
24 Giue eare, my ſonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuſe not my counſel, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.
26 Bowe downe thy ſhoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.
27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, & keepe her wayes with all thy power.
28 Seeke after her, and ſearch her, and ſhee ſhall bee ſhewed thee: and when thou haſt gotten her, forſake her not.
29 Foꝛ at the laſt thou ſhalt finde reſt in her,
and that ſhall be turned to thy ioy.
30 Then ſhal her fetters bee a ſtrong defence foꝛ thee, [and a ſure foundation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.
31 Foꝛ there is a golden ornament in her, & her bandes are the laces of purple colour.
32 Thou ſhalt put her on as a robe of honour, and ſhalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.
33 My ſonne, if thou wilt, thou ſhalt bee taught, and if thou wilt applie thy mynde, thou ſhalt be wittie.
34 If thou loue to heare, thou ſhalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou ſhalt be wiſe.
35 Stande with the multitude of the elders, which are wiſe, and ioyne with him that is wiſe.

18 Do no secrete thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.
19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, least he be vnthankefull to thée, [and put thée to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of iealousie. 13 An olde friende is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men should be hidden to thy table.

1 BE not iealous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, neither a teach her by thy meanes an euil lesson.
a Let her not haue rule ouer thee, for then will shee be contrarie vnto thee, take away thy heart and strength, & bring thee to confusion amõg thine enemies, as did Heuah to Adam, Delilah to Samson, and strange women to Salomon.
2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, least shée ouercome thy strength, [& so thou be confounded.]
3 Méete not an harlot, least thou fall into her snares.
4 Vse not the companie of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] least thou be taken by her craftines.
5 Gaze not on a * maide, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.
Gen.6.1,2. & 34.2. Pro.5.2. Mat.5.28.
6 * Cast not thy mynde vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] least thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage.
7 Go not about gazing in the stréetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.
8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue perished by the beautie of womé: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

11 Sit not at all with an other mans wyfe, [neither lie vỹ her vpõ the bed,] nor banket with her, least thine heart incline vnto her, & so through thy desire fall into destructiõ.
12 ¶ Forsake not an olde friende: for the new shal not be like him: a new friend is as new wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall bée his ende.
14 Delite not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shal not be found inst vnto their graue.
15 Kéepe thee from ỹ man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: & if thou come vnto him, make no fraute, least he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the mids of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towres of the citie.
16 Trie thy neighbour as nere as thou canst, * and aske counsel of the wise.
Chap.6.36, 37, & 8.1, & 17.22.

19 In * the hands of the craftesmen shall the woorkes be commended, & the wise prince of the people by his worde, [and the word by the wisdome of the Elders.]
* Or, the workeman is praysed according to the worke.
20 A man ful of words is dangerous in his citie, & he that is rashe in his talking, shal be hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praysed.

1 A Wise iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.
2 As the iudge of the people is him selfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are al they that dwell therein.
3 * An vnwise king destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.
1.King.12. 1.Esd.4.
4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hand of the Lorde, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.
5 In the hande of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes will he lay his honour.
6 * Be not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and do nothing by iniurious practises.
Leu.19.17.
7 Pride is hatefull before God & man, and by both doeth one commit iniquitie.
8 * Because of vnrighteous dealing & wrõgs & riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.
Iere.27.6. dan.4.14.
9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would euen sell his soule, & for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.
10 [All tyrannie is of smal indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the physition.]
11 The physition cutteth off the sore disease, & he that is to day a king, to morow is dead.
12 Why is earth & ashes proude, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?
13 The beginning of mans pride is to fall away from God, & to turne away his heart from his maker.
14 For pride is the originall of sinne, and hée that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the ende.

in their ſteade.
16 The Lorde plucketh vp the rootes of the [proude] nations, and planteth the lowly with glorie among them.
17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, & deſtroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he cauſeth them to wither away, and deſtroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to ceaſe out of the earth.
18 [God deſtroyeth the memoriall of the proude, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]
19 Pride was not created in men, neyther wrath in the generation of women.
20 There is a ſéede of man, which is an honourable ſéede: the honorable ſéede are they that feare the Lord: there is a ſéede of man, which is without honour: the ſéede without honour, are they that tranſgreſſe the commandements of the Lorde: it is a ſéede that remaineth which feareth the Lorde, & a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a ſéede without honour, that deſpiſe þ law, and a deceiuable ſéede that breake the commandements.
21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: ſo are they that feare the Lord in his ſight.
22 The feare of the Lord cauſeth that þ kingdome fauleth not, but the kingdome is loſt by cruelties and pride.
23 The feare of the Lorde is the glorie as wel of the riche and the noble, as of the poore.
24 It is not méete to deſpiſe the poore man that hath vnderſtanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the riche that is a wicked man.
25 The great man and the iudge & the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lorde.

27 Séeke not excuſes when thou ſhouldeſt do thy worke, neyther bée aſhamed thereof thiough pride in the time of aduerſitie.
Pro.12.9,11. 28 * Better is hée that laboureth and hath plenteouſnes of all thinges, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.
29 My ſonne, get thy ſelfe praiſe by méekenes, and eſteeme thy ſelf as thou deſerueſt.
30 Who will count him iuſt that ſinneth againſt him ſelfe? or honour him, that diſhonoureth his owne ſoule?
31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the riche is had in reputation becauſe of his goods.
32 He that is honourable in pouertie, howe much more ſhall he be when he is riche? & he that is vnhoneſt being riche, how much worſe will he be ſo when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praiſe of humilitie. 2 After the outwarde appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of raſh iudgement. 14 All thinges come of God. 19 All men are not to be brought into thine houſe.

4 Be not proude of clothing & rayment, * & exalt not thy ſelfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lorde are wonderful, [& glorious,] ſecret, [and vnknowen] are his workes among men. Ecc.32.11,12
5 Many tyrants haue ſit down vpō þ earth, * & the vnlikely hath worne the crowne. 1.Sam.15.
6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to diſhonour, and the honourable haue beene deliuered into other mens hands. 18.after.6. 10.
7 ¶ * Blame no [man] before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderſtand firſt, & then reproue [righteouſly.] Deut.13.14. & 17.4. 10ſh.7.22.
8 * Giue no ſentence, before thou haſt heard the cauſe, neither interrupt men in þ midſt of their tales. Pro.18.13.
9 Striue not for a matter that thou haſt not to do with, and ſit not in the iudgement of ſinners.
10 My ſonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou ſhalt not be blameles, and if thou followe after it, yet ſhalt thou not attaine it, neyther ſhalt thou eſcape, though thou flée from it. Mat.19.22. 1.Tim.6.9.
11 * There is ſome man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he haſteth, the more he wanteth. Pro.10.4
12 Againe there is ſome that is ſlouthfull, & hath néede of help: for he wanteth ſtrength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lorde looketh vpon him to good, and ſetteth him vp from his lowe eſtate. Iob.40.10.
13 And he lifteth vp his head, ſo that many men marualle at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]
14 * Proſperitie & aduerſitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of the Lorde. Iob.1.12. 12.2k.28.4.
15 Wiſdome and knowledge, and vnderſtanding of the Lawe are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.
16 Errour and darkenes are appoynted for ſinners, and they that exalt them ſelues in euil, ware olde in euil.
17 The gifte of the Lorde remaineth for the godlie, and his good will gineth proſperitie for euer.
18 ¶ Some man is riche by his care and nigardſhip, & this is þ portion of his wages, 19 In that he ſaith, * I haue gotten reſt, and nowe will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee conſidereth not that the time draweth nére, þ he muſt leaue all theſe thinges vnto other men, and die him ſelfe. Luke 12.19.
20 Stande thou in thy ſtate, and exerciſe thy ſelfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.
21 Marueile not at þ workes of ſinners, but truſt in the Lord, & abide in thy labour: for * it is an eaſie thing in the ſight of the Lorde, ſuddenly to make a poore man riche.
22 The bleſſing of the Lorde is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his proſperitie ſoone to flouriſh,

23 ¶ Say

23 ¶ Say not, What profite & pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?
24 Againe say not, I haue ynough, and possesse many things, & what euill can come to me hereafter?
Chap.11.24. 25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.
26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his waies.
27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discouered.
28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowen by his children.
29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that beiche stinkingly.]
30 As a partriche is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proude man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.
31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise he will finde some faute.
32 Of one litle sparke is made a greate fire, [& of one deceitfull man is bloud increased:] for a sinfull man layeth waite for bloud.
33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.
34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whome we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

1 WHen thou wilt doe good, knowe to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefites.
Gal.6.10. 2 *Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.
Alm.5.8. 3 He can not haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]
4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.
5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, & giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: els thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.
6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.
7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.
8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknowen in aduersitie.
9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.
10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.
11 And though he make much crouching & kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, & beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he þ wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped awap.
12 Set him not by thee, least he destroy thee, and stande in thy place.
13 Neither set him at thy right hande, least he seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings.
14 *Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished. Chap.7.2. and 21.2.
15 Who will haue pitie of the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come nere the beastes? so is it with him þ keepeth companie with a wicked man, & wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.
16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble he tarrieth not.
17 *An enemie is swete in his lips: he can Isai.41.6. make many good wordes, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth howe to throwe thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with bloud.
18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hãds, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

1 HE* that toucheth pitch, shalbe defiled Deut.7.2. with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shall be like vnto him.
2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.
3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, & threatneth with all: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straightwayes be threatened.
4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if þ haue nothing, he will forsake thee.
5 If thou haue any thing, he will liue with thee: yea, he wil make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.
6 If he haue neede of thee, he will defraude thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?
7 Thus will he shame thee in his meat, vntil he haue spet thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.
8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]
9 Beware that thou be not deceiued in thine owne conceit and brought downe by thy simples simplenesse: [be not too humble in thy wisdome.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shal he call thee þ more oft.
11 Presse not thou unto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, least he forget thee.
12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.
13 He is unmercifull, and keepeth not promises: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.
14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when þ hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.
15 Loue the Lorde all thy life, and call upon him for thy saluation.
16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.
17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe companie with such as he is himselfe.
18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the ungodly wt the righteous.
19 What felowship hath [a] hyena with a dogge? and what peace is betweene þ rich and the poore?
20 As the wilde asse is the Lions pray in the wildernes, so are poore men the meate of the riche.
21 As the proude hate humilitie, so doe the riche abhorre the poore.
22 If a riche man fall, his friendes set him up againe: but when the poore falleth, his friendes driue him away.
23 If a riche man offend, he hath many helpers: he speaketh proude words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.
24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what he layeth, they praise it unto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What felowe is this? and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.
25 Riches are good unto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the ungodly.
26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.
27 A chearefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

[a] Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voyce of men, and deuiseth the out of their houses and deuoureth them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happie is he that continueth in wisedome.

Cha.19.6,16. Iam.3.2. BLessed is the man* that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorowe of sinne.
2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.
3 Riches are not comely for a nigard, & what should an enuious man doe with money?
4 He þ gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.
5 He that is wicked unto himself, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.
6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a rewarde of his wickednes.
7 And if he doe any good, he doeth it, not knowing thereof and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.
8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.
9 A couetous mãs eye hath neuer ynough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.
10 A* wicked eye enuieth the bread, & there is scarcenesse upon his table. Prou.27.20.
11 My sonne, do good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offrings.
12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the [a] couenant of the graue is not shewed unto thee. a That is, the day of death.
13 * Do good unto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine ability stretch out thine hand, and giue him. Chap.4.1. tob.4.7. luke.14.13.
14 Defraude not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.
15 Shalt thou not leane thy trauelles unto an other, and thy labours for the deuiding of the heritage?
16 Giue & take & sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnes before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.
17 ¶ * All flesche wareth olde, as a garment, and this is the cõdition of al times, Thou shalt die the death. Isa.40.6. 1.pet.1.24. sam.1.19.
18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some growe, so is the generation of flesh and bloud: one commeth to an ende, and another is borne.
19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.
20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour therefore.]
21 * Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisdome, [and exerciseth him selfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holie things by his understanding, Psal.1.2.
22 Which cõsidereth in his heart her waies, and understandeth her secrets.
23 Goe after her as one þ seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her waies.
24 He shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.
25 He shal abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: he shall pitche his tent beside her.
26 And he shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children under her couering, and shall dwell under her branches.
27 By her he shalbe couered from the heat, and in her glorie shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnes that followeth him which feareth God. 3 God reiecteth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the author of euill.

1 HE that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Lawe, Lawe, will keepe it sure.

a As a pure virgin newly married, doth friendly entreate her husbãde, so shall iustice pure & vndefiled, gently entertaine her louers. Iohn.4.10.

2 As an [honorable] mother shall she meete him, and she, * as his wife married of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shal she feede him, and giue him the water of [wholesom] wisdome to drinke.

4 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall holde himselfe fast by her, and shal not be confounded.

5 She shal exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall she open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisedome, and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall cause him to inherite ioye, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meete her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pride [and deceit,] & men that lie, cannot remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, & shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdome, [and bee plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lorde that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of errour:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

Gen.1.27. 14 * He made man from the beginning, & left him in the hand of his counsell, [& gaue him his commandements and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 He hath set water & fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

Iere.21.8. 17 * Before man is life and death, [good & euill:] what him liketh, shalbe giuen him.

18 For the wisdome of the Lord is great, & he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

Psal.34.15,16 Iohn.9.31. 19 * And the eyes [of the Lorde] are vpon the that feare him, & he knoweth al the works of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for hee desireth not a multitude of infidels, & vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappie, and wicked children. 17 No man can hide him selfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

1 DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shalbe wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire. Chap.21.9,18

7 * He spared not the olde giants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength. Gen.6.4.

8 * Neither spared he where as Lot dwelt, those whome he abhorred for their pride. Gen.19.21,25.

9 He had no pitie vpon þ people that were destroyed, and pined vp in their sinnes.

10 * And so hee preserued the fiue hundreth thousand footmen, þ were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them & pitying them, in smiting them & healing them, with mercie, and with chastisement. Num.14.37, & 26. 51.

11 Therefore if there be one stiffnecked amõg the people, it is marueile if he scape vnpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him: he is mightie to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

12 * As his mercie is great, so is his punishment also: hee iudgeth a man according to his workes. Chap.5.6.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoyle, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deeds, and euery one shal find according to his works, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lorde hardened Pharao, that hee should not know him, and that his works should be knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowen to all creatures: he hath separate his light from the darknesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my self from þ Lord: for who will thinke vpõ me from aboue? I shall not be knowen in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule amõg such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the * heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, & the earth, and al that therein is, shalbe moued when he shall visite. 1.Pet.3.20 1.king.8.27. 2.chr.6.18.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but hee vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme þ no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare þ workes of his righteousnes? or who can abide them? for his ordinãce is farre off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider their

these things: but an vnwise and erroneous man casteth his minde vpō foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thē weightie doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lorde hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of thē hath he sundred from the other when he first made them.

27 He hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall indure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease frō their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lorde looked vpon the earth and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beastes hath he couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnesse that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes, 22 And repentance.

Gen.3.17. & 5.2. wisd.2 23. & 7.1,6. 9,ver.21.7. ecclus.3.18.

1 THe* Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

2 He gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had need, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beastes, and fowles.

Gen.2.22. 3,ver.21.9.

5 [*He created out of him an helper like vnto him selfe,] and gaue them discretion & tongue, & eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, & fifthly he gaue them a spirit, & seuenthly he gaue them speach to declare his workes,

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euil.

7 He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they shoulde prudently declare his workes, and that the elect should prayse his holy name together.

9 Beside this, hee gaue them knowledge, & gaue them the Law of life for an heritage, that they might now know that they were *mortall.

a Through their owne transgression.

10 He made an euerlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes sawe the maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voice.

Exo.20.18,17. and 21.23.

12 And he saide vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things.* He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, & are not hid from his eyes.

b That is, soft & gentle, for the holy ghost to write his lawes in.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, & their stonie hearts can not become bflesh.

15 He appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when he deuided the nations of the whole earth.

Deut.4.20. & 10.15.

16 *And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to him selfe, whome he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, & giueth him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

17 All their workes are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their waies.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but all their sinnes are before the Lord.

19 And as he is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

Chap.39.25.

20 *The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, & giueth repentance to their sonnes, and daughters.

Matt.25.31.

21 *At the last shall he arise, and rewarde them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

Act.3.19.

22 *But vnto them that will repent, he giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the veritie.]

Iere.3.22.

23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darknesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnes, & hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Knowe the righteousnesse and iudgements of God: stande in the portion that is set foorth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and goe in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

Psal.6.5. & 88.10, 12.

26 *Who can prayse the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodlie, but prayse the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing and he that is sound of heart, prayseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercie.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holines!

30 For all things can not be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shal be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, & all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

The marueilous workes of God. 6. 7 The miserie & wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of Vowes.

Gen.1.1. HE liueth for euer,* made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and

he

he remaineth a victorious King for euer.]
2 He ordereth the worlde with the power of his hande, and all thinges obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and deuideth the holy things frō the prophane.
3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will serche out the ground of his noble actes?
4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnes? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercie?
5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.
6 But when a man hath done his best, he must beginne againe, & when he thinketh to come to an ende, he must goe againe to his labour.
7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth he? what good or euil can he do?
Psal.90.10. 8 * If the number of a mans dayes be an hundreth yeere, it is much: & no man hath certeine knowledge of his death.
9 As droppes of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande, so are a thousand yeeres to þ dayes euerlasting.
2.Pet.3.8.
10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, & powreth out his mercie vpon them.
11 He sawe and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euil: therefore heaped he vp his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnes.]
12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lorde is vpon al flesh: he chasteneth, & nurtureth, and teacheth, & bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.
13 He hath mercie of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seke after his iudgements.
14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: & whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable wordes.
15 Shall not the dewe asswage the heate? so is a worde better then a gift.
16 Loe, is not a worde better then a good gifte? but a gratious man giueth them both.
17 A fole will reproche churlishly, & a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.
18 [Get thee righteousnes before thou come to iudgement: learne before thou speake, & vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.
Ecclus.11.31. 19 * Examine thy selfe, before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie.
20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shewe thy conuersion.
21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, and deferre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God endureth for euer.]
22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, & be not as one that tempteth the Lord.
23 Thinke vpon the * wrath, that shalbe at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when he shal turne away his face. Ecclus.7.17,36.
24 * When thou hast ynough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art riche, thinke vpon pouertie and nede. Ecclus.11.13.
25 From the morning vntil the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.
26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression he keepeth him selfe from sinne: but the fole doeth not obserue the time.
27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisdome, and knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.
28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstād þ trueth and righteousnesse,] and powre out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.
29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lorde alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.
30 ¶ * Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites. Rom.6.6. and 13.14.
31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.
32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, & intangle not thy selfe with such companie.
33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou hast borowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: els thou shouldest slaunderously lie in waite for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and wheredome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy wordes vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest knowe what is in man.

1 A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small thinges, shal fall by litle and litle.
2 * Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reproche.] Gen.19.33. 1.King.11.1, 3,4.
3 And he that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottennes & wormes shall haue him to heritage, & he that is too bolde, shalbe taken away, and be made a publike example.
4 * He that is hastie to giue credit, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule. Iosh.22.22, 12.
5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shall be punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shalbe shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.
6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, & he that hateth babbling, shal haue lesse euil.
7 Rehearse not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindred.
8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: & if the sinne appertene not vnto thee, reuele it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.

Chap. 22. 22. and 27. 17. 10 * If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure, it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrowe that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

Leuit. 19. 17. mat. 18. 15. 13 * Reproue a friende lest he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he do it no more.

14 Reproue a friende that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friende his faute: for oft times a slaunder is raised, and giue no credence to euery worde.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: *and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

Iam. 3. 2.

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, & being without anger, giue place vnto the Lawe of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisedome obteineth his lone.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lorde is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shal receiue the fruite of immortalitie.

20 The feare of the Lorde is all wisedome, and the performing of the Lawe is perfit wisdome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he do it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisdome, neither is there prudencie where as the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voyde of wisedome.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, & feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisedome, and transgresseth the Lawe of the most High.

24 There is a certeine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Lawe: yet there is that is wise & iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, do bow downe them selues, and are sad, whose inward partes burne altogether with deceit: he looketh downe with his face, and faineth him selfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunitie, he wil do euil.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his looke, & one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

Chap. 21. 20, 23. 28 * A mans garment, and his excessiue laughter, & going declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The theefe and the murtherer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wise.

1 THere is some rebuke þ is not comely: again, some man holdeth his tongue, & he is wise.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will: and he that acknowledgeth his faut, shalbe preserued from hurt.

3 As * when a gelded man through lust would defile a maid, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement. Chap. 30. 20.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shew repentance: for so shalt thou escape wilful sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is founde wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hateful.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answere: & some keepeth silence, waiting a conuenient * time. Eccles. 3. 7.

7 * A wise man will holde his tongue till he see opportunitie: but a trifler & a foole will regarde no time. Chap. 32. 4.

8 He that vseth many wordes, shalbe abhorred, & he that taketh authoritie to him selfe, shalbe hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is founde, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth him selfe for glories sake, and some by humblenes lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man byeth much for a litle price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

13 * A wise man with his wordes maketh him selfe to be loued, but the merie tales of fooles shalbe powred out. Chap. 6. 5.

14 The gifte receiued of a foole, shall do thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth litle, and he vpbraydeth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne crier: to day he lēdeth, to morrow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friende: I haue no thanke for all my good dedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euil of me.

16 How oft, and of howe many shall he be laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgemēt that which he hath, and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is verie sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his own soule, because he is ashamed, & for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for nought.

Chap.25.2. 23 * A lye is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A theefe is better, then a man that is accustomed to lye: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liars are vnhoneſt, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shal bring him self to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shal please great men.

Prou.12.11. & 28.19. 27 * He that tilleth his land, shal increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousnes, shal be exalted,] and he that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

Exod.23.8. deut.16.19. 28 * Rewardes and giftes blynd the eyes of the wise, and make them domme, that they can not reproue faultes.

29 Wisdome that is hid, & treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is he þ keepeth his ignorance secrete, then a man that hideth his wisdome.

31 The necessarie patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate take reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

1 My sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for the fore sinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.]

Chap.5.5. 1 Ioh.1.9. luke.15.21. 2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too nere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.

Exod.3.9. & 22.23. 5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth þ Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he þ is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buyldeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

Chap.16.6. 9 * The congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hel, [darkenes and paines.]

a Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof. 11 He þ keepeth the Law of the Lord, a ruleth his owne affections thereby: the increase of wisdome is the end of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternes.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth ouer, & his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

Chap.33.5. 14 * The inner partes of a foole are like a broken vessell: he can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise worde, he wil commend it, & increase it: but if an ignoyant man heare it, he will disallow it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is sometimes in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, & they shal ponder his wordes in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdome vnto a foole, & the knowledge of the vnwise is as wordes without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, & like manicles vpon the right hand.

Chap.19. 27,28. 20 * A foole liffeth vp his voyce to laughter, but a wise man doeth scarse smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise men a iewel of gold, & like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is wel nurtured, will stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for he that is wise, wil be grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will be telling such things as perteine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

Chap.28.13. 28 * A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wheresoeuer he is: [but he that keepeth his tongue, and is discrete, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

1 A Slouthfull man is like a a filthie stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

a.b. That is, like as the idle stone gathereth moſſe and filth: so doth the slouthful both sicknes of body, and corruptiō of mind. And as euery man doth auoide the filthines of dongue, and shake it off: so doth he auoid the companie of idle loyterers, lest he be accounted like vnto them.

2 A slouthfull man is to be compared to the b dongue of oxen, & euery one that taketh it vp, wil shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that liueth dishoneſtly, is her fathers heauines.

5 She that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father & her husband, [and is not inferior to the vngodly,] but they both shal despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisdome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that glueth a potsheard together, and as he that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hautines and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man, which speaketh to one þ is a sléepe: when he hath tolde his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

Chap.38.16. 11 * Wéepe for the dead, for he hath lost the light: so wéepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small wéeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not

Chap.12.12. to him that hath no vnderstanding: * beware of him, lest it turne thée to paine, & lest thou be defiled when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, & thou shalt find rest, and shalt not receiue sorow by his foolishnes.

14 What is heauier then lead? & what other name should a foole haue?

Prou.27.3. 15 * Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building can not be losed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shal feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisedome, is as a fayre plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, can not abide the winde, so the feareful heart with foolish imagination can indure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth foorth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth foorth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and he that vpbraydeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a swoorde at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbrayding or pryde or disclosing of secretes or a trapterous wound do not let: for by these things euery friend wil depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the riche that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour, & smoke of the chimney goeth before þ fire, so euil woordes, [rebukes and threatnings] go before bloodshedding.

25 I wil not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: who so euer heareth it, shal beware of him.

Psal.141.3. 26 Who shall set * a watche before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lippes, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blasphemie, and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kindes of sinne. 23 Many sinnes proceede of adulterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsel, and let me not fall by * them.

2 Who wil correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisedome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faultes passe?

‖ That is, of the tongue and lippes.

3 Lest mine ignorances increase, & my sinnes abound to my destruction, and lest I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imagination] neither giue me a proude looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stoute minde.

5 Take from me vayne hope, and concupiscence, and reteine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thée.

6 Let not the griedines of the belly, nor lust of the flesh holde me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an vnprudent minde.

7 ¶ Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lippes, [nor be hurt by wicked workes.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lippes: for the euil speaker and the proude doe offend by them.

Exod.20.7. chap.27.15. mat.5.33,34. 9 * Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holie one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, can not be without some skarre, so he that sweareth, and naméth God continually, shal not be faultlesse.

11 A man þ vseth much swearing, shalbe filled with wickednes, & the plague shall neuer go from his house: when he shal offend, his fault shalbe vpō him, & if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shal not be innocent, but his house shalbe ful of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed w̄ death: God graunt that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they þ feare God, eschew all such, & are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to * ignorant rashnes: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

*Or, inordinate swearing.

14 ¶ Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou haddest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

15 * The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, wil neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

2 Sam.16.7.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that aboūd in sinne, & the third bringeth wrath [& destruction:] a minde hote as fire, þ can not be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he he hane kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger he will not leaue off til he perish)
18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, & thinketh thus in his heart, "Who seeth me? I Isa.29.15. am compassed about with darkenesse: the walles couer me: no body seeth me: whom neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.
19 Such a man onely feareth þ eies of men, and knoweth not that the eies of the Lorde are tenne thousande times brighter then the sunne, beholding al the wayes of men, [and the grounde of the deepe,] and considereth the most secrete partes.
20 He knewe all thinges or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.
Lev.20.10. 21 * The same man shalbe punished in the deut.22.22. streetes of the citie, [and shalbe chased like a pong horsefoale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shalbe taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstād the feare of þ Lorde.]
22 And thus shal it go also with euery wife, that leaueth her husbande, and getteth inheritance by another.
Exod.20.14. 23 * For first she hath disobeied the Lawe of the most High, and secondly, she hath trespaced against her owne husband, & thirdly, she hath played the whore in aduulterie, and gotten her children by an other man.
24 She shalbe brought out into the congregation, and examination shalbe made of her children.
25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruite.
26 A shamefull report shall she leaue, and her reproche shall not be put out.
27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lorde, and that there is nothing swéter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lorde.
28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisedome proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her woorkes and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

1 WIsdome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the middes of her people.
2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumphe before his power.
3 [In the middes of her people shall she be exalted, & wondered at in þ holy assembly.
4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shalbe praised, and thus say,]
5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before al creatures.
6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloude.
7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.
8 I alone haue gone rounde about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.
9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and lowe.]
10 In all these thinges I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.
11 So the creator of all thinges gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.
12 * He created me from the beginning, and Prou.8.23.
before the worlde, and I shall neuer faile:
* In the holy habitation haue I serued be- Exod.31.3.
fore him, and so was I stablished in Sion.
13 *In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, Psal.132.8.
and in Jerusalem was my power.
14 I tooke roote in an honorable people, euen in the portiō of the Lords inheritāce.
15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypres trée vpon the mountaines of Hermon.
16 I am exalted like a palme trée [1] about the [1] Or, in Cades.
bankes, and as a rose plant in Jericho, as a faire olive trée in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane trée by the water.
17 I smelled as the cinnamom, & as a bag of spices: I gaue a swéte odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, & onix, and swéte storax, and perfume of incense in an house.
18 As the *terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace. a Terebinth is a hard tree spread abroad with many boughes, whereout runneth the gumme called a pure turpentine which cleanseth the stomacke of putrified humors, & purifieth the eares: so the wisdome of God declared in his scriptures, spreadeth abroad her manifolde branches of knowledge and vnderstanding, to purge the inward eares, and corruption of the soule.
19 * As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] Iohn.15.1.
of swéte sauour, and my flowres are the fruite of honour and riches.
20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holie hope: I giue eternal things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.
21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]
22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruites.
23 * For the remembrance of me is swéter Psa.19.10,11.
then honie, and mine inheritāce [sweeter] Exod.20.1.
then the honie combe: [the remembrance and 24.3.
of me endureth for euermore.]
24 They that eate me, shall haue the more deut.4.1. and hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst 29.9.
the more.
25 Who so hearkneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make me to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]
26 All these thinges are the booke [of life,] & the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * & the Law that Moyses [in the precepts of righteousnes] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Jacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]
27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lorde, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord almightie is but one God, & besides him there is none other Sauiour.
28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a most mightie King þ should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all thinges with his wisedome, as Phyſon, and as Tygris, in the time of the newe frutes.
30 He maketh the vnderſtanding to abound like Euphrates, & as Jordan in the time of the haruest.
31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerflowerh as Geon in the time of the vintage.
32 The firſt man hath not knowen her perfitly: no more ſhall the laſt ſeeke her out.
33 For her conſiderations are more abounդant then the ſea, and her counſell is more founder then the great deepe.
34 I wiſedome [haue caſt out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradiſe as a water conduite.
35 I ſaide, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleaſant grounde: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a ſea.
36 For I make doctrine to ſhine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.
37 [I will pearce thorowe all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all ſuch as be aſleepe, & lighten all them that truſt in the Lorde.]
38 I wil yet powre out doctrine, as prophecie, and leaue it vnto al ages for euer.
39 * Beholde that I haue not laboured for my ſelfe onely, but for all them that ſeeke wiſdome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three thinges which pleaſe God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be ſuſpect. 15 Of the malice of a woman.

1 THeſe thinges reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.
2 ¶ Three ſortes of men my ſoule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud: a rich man that is a liar, and an olde aduulterer that doteth.
3 ¶ If thou haſt gathered nothing in thy youth, what canſt thou finde in thine age?
4 ¶ Oh, howe pleaſant a thing is it when grap headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counſell!
5 Oh, howe comely a thing is wiſedome vnto aged men, and vnderſtanding and prudencie to men of honour!
6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experiẽce, & the feare of God is their glorie.
7 ¶ There be nine thinges, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happie, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and ſeeth the fall of his enemies.
8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderſtãding, * and that hath not ſlidden with his tongue, and that hath not ſerued ſuch as are vnworthie of him.
9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, and he that ſpeaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

ſam. 3. 2.

10 ¶ Oh, howe great is he that findeth wiſedome! yet is there none aboue him that feareth the Lord.
11 The feare of the Lorde paſſeth all thinges in clearenesſe.
12 [Bleſſed is the mã, vnto whõ it is graunted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom ſhal he be likened that hath attained it?
13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.
14 [¶ The greateſt heauineſſe is the heauineſſe of the heart, and the greateſt malice is the malice of a woman.]
15 Giue me any plague, ſaue onely þ plague of the heart, and any malice, ſaue the mãlice of a woman:
16 Or any aſſault, ſaue the aſſault of them that hate, or any vengeance, ſaue the vẽgeance of the enemie.
17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the ſerpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemie.
18 * I had rather dwell vpon and dragon, then to keepe houſe with a wicked wife.
19 The wickednesſe of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance blacke as ‖ a ſacke.
20 Her huſband is ſitting among his neighbours: becauſe of her he ſigheth ſore or he beware.
21 All wickednes is but litle to the wickednesſe of a woman: let the portion of the ſinner fall vpon her.
22 As the climing vp of a ſandie way is to the feete of the aged, ſo is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.
23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a womã, and deſire her not for thy pleaſure.
24 If a woman nourith her huſband, ſhe is angrie and impudent and ful of reproche.
25 A wicked wife maketh a ſore heart, an heauie countenance, & a wounded mind, weake handes and feeble knees, and can not comfort her huſband in heauines.
26 Of the * woman came the beginning of ſinne, and through her we al die.
27 Giue the water no paſſage, [no not a litle,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.
28 If ſhe walke not in thine obedience, [ſhe ſhall confounde thee in the ſight of thine enemies,] Cut her off then from thy fleſh: ‖ Giue her, and forſake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The prayſe of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cauſe ſorow, and of the thirde which mouth wrath.

BLeſſed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his peeres ſhall be double.
2 An honeſt woman reioyceth her huſband, & ſhe ſhal fill the peres of his life with peace.
3 A vertuous woman is a good portion which ſhall be giuen for a gift vnto ſuch as feare the Lord.
4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they ſhall at al times haue a cheareful countenance.

5 ¶ There

5 ¶ There be three thinges that mine heart feareth, & my face is afraide of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorowe and griefe of the heart is a woman that is iealous ouer another: and the that communeth withall, is a scourge of a tongue.

7 An euil wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he helde a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as can not be tamed, is a great plague: for she can not couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eye liddes.

Chap. 42. 11. 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest she abuse her selfe through ouer much libertie.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, & is thirstie, so shal she open her mouth, & drinke of euery nere water: by euery hedge shal she sit downe, & open her quiuer against euery arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, & feedeth his bones vp her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman & of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman wel instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lorde, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are fayre feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be layed vpon a strong rocke: so are the commaundements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fieldes, sowe it with thine owne seede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is coūted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameles woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shameleſſe woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuereneth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shalbe iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shalbe blazed for her pride.

28 A lowde crying woman and a babbler let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the minde of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh me angrie: a man of warre that suffreth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perilous.] A marchant can not lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The inconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euil which turneth vpon him selfe.

1 BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside. 1. Tim. 6. 9. Prou. 23. 4.

2 As a naple in ꝑ wall sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sine, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessell: * so doeth [tentation] trie mens thoughts. Prou. 27. 21.

6 * The fruite declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hath in his heart. Mat. 7. 17.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [& shalt dwel with her, & she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find stedfastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doeth the trueth turne vnto them that are practised in her.

10 As the lyon waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscrete, obserue the time, but haunt still the assemblie of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, & their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 * The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the heare to stand vp: and to strine with such, stoppeth the eares. Chap. 23. 9. 10.

15 The strife of the proud is bloodsheading, & their scouldings are grieuous to heare.

16 * Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will. Chap. 19. 10. and 22. 22.

17 Loue thy friend, & be faythfull vnto him:

but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemie, so doest thou destroy the friendshippe of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, so if thou give ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Followe after him no more, for hee is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his sorie is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may be bound vp againe, and an evil worde may be reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

Prou.10.10. 22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth evill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speake swetely, & praise thy wordes: but at the last he will turne his tale, & slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so evill as such one: for the Lorde also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wounde.

Psal.7.15. prou.26.27. eccle.10.8. 26 Who so * diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and he that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon,] and he that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it him selfe.

27 He that worketh evil, shalbe wrapped in evill, and shall not knowe from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproche folow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shalbe taken in the snare, & anguish shal consume them before they dye.

30 Despite & anger are abominable things, and the sinnefull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

Deut.32 35. rom.12.19. 1 HE * that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, & he will surely keepe his sinnes.

‖Man ought not to seeke vengeance. 2 ‖ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and * desire forgiuenesse of the Lord?

Mat.6.14. 4 He will shewe no mercie to a man, which is like him selfe: and will he aske forgiuenes of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [& aske pardon of God,] who will intreat for his sinnes?

6 Remember the ende, and let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another though anger, but persuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the covenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

Chap.8 1. 8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes lewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, & the more vehement the anger is, the more he inflameth. Pro.26.21.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheadeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnes, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blowe the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 ‖ * Abhorre the slaunderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace. ‖The tongue. Chap.21.28.

14 The * double tongue hath disquieted many a nation, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mightie nations.] a That is, the tongue which saith and vnfaith, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh an other. Or the tongue which speaketh neither out of the new or olde testament, but of their own braine.

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, & robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and never dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rodde maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sworde, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an evill tongue, & commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in þ yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of braste.

21 The death thereof is an evill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: it shall burne them, & no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and golde, and weigh thy wordes in a balance, & make a doore & a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in waite, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Do lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a fruitfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

1 HE that will shewe mercie, ‖ lendeth to his neighbour: and hee that hath power ouer him self, keepeth the commandements. ‖ Of wel doing.

2 * Lende to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season. Deut.15.7. mat.5.42. luke 6.35.

3 Keepe

3 Keepe thy worde, & deale faythfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessarie for thee.
4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckened it to be founde, and grieued them that had helped them.
5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voice: but when they should pay again, they prolong the time, and giue a careleſſe answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.
6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and reckeneth the other as a thing found: els he deceiueth him of his money, & maketh him an enemie without a cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, & giueth him euill woordes for his good deede.
7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded without cause.
8 Yet haue thou pacience with him that humbleth him selfe, and deferre not mercie from him.
9 Helpe the poore for the commaundements sake, and turne him not away, because of his powertie.
10 Loſe thy money for thy brothers & neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.
Dan.4 24. mat.6.20. luke 11.41. and 12.33. all.10.4. 1.tim.6.18, 19.
11 *Bestow the treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shal bring thee more profite then golde.
*or, giue thine almes secretly. Tobit.4.8, 9,10,11.
12 *Lay vp thine almes in thy secrete chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.
13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shal keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterwarde shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]
14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.
‖ Of suretiship.
15 An honest man is ‖ suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.
16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath layde his life for thee.
a As he is a foole that is suretie for euery man: so is he vngodly that in no wise will be suretie for any man.
17 The *wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.
18 The wicked wil not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankeful minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.
19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbor: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.]
20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, & remoued them as the waues of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.
21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lorde, shall fall into suretyshippe: and he that meddleth much with other mens business, is intangled in controuersies.
22 ¶ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.
23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. Chap.39.26.
24 ‖ The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans. ‖ Sober living.
25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euil of thee.
26 For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darest not open thy mouth.
27 Thou shalt lodge & feed vnthankful men, and after shalt haue bitter woordes for the same, saying, 28 Come, thou stranger, & prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.
29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be lodged, and I haue nede of mine house.
30 These things are beaute to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproche of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a sorowfull life. 22 Of the sore and sorowe of the heart.

1 HE that loueth his sonne, * causeth him oft to feele the rodde, that he may haue iop of him in the ende. *Pro.13.24 and 23.13.
2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shal haue iope in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.
3 He that *teacheth his sonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him. *Deut.6.7.
4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behinde him that is like him.
5 In his life he sawe him, & had iope in him, & was not sorie in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]
6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.
7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieued at euery crie.
8 An vntamed horse will be stubburne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.
9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shal make thee afrayde: if thou play with him, he shal bring thee to heauines.
10 Laugh not with him, least thou be sorie with him, and left thou gnash thy teeth in the ende.
11 *Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folie. *Chap.7.23.
12 Bow downe his necke while he is yong, and beate him on the sides, while he is a childe, lest he ware stubburne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorowe to thine heart.
13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.
14 ¶ ‖ Better is the poore, being whole and strong, then a riche man that is afflicted in his body. ‖ The prayse of health.
15 Health and strength is aboue al gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.
16 There is no riches aboue a sound body,

and

and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.
17 Death is better then a bitter life, [& long rest,] then continual sickneſſe.
a. Like as meate that is set vpon the graues of dead men is vnprofitable, for that they eate it not: euen so knowledge in him that openeth not his mouth to vtter it, is vnprofitable, Chap. 41.14. Chap.20.3. Pro.12.25. and 15.13. & 17.22.
18 a The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meate set vpon a graue.
19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate, nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lorde, [and heareth the rewarde of iniquitie.]
20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man, that lyeth with a virgin and sigheth.
21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauineſſe, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.
22 The ioye of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnes is the prolonging of his dayes.
23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorowe farre from thee: for sorowe hath slayne many, & there is no profite therein.
24 Enuie and wrath shorten the life, & carefulnes bringeth age before the time.
25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of couetousnes. 3 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The prayse of a rich man without a fawte. 12 We ought to flee drunkennes & follow soberneſſe.

‖Couetousnes.
1 WAking ‖ after * riches pineth away the body, and the care thereof driueth away slepe.
1.Tim.6.9, 10.
2 This waking care breaketh the slepe, as a great sickнes breaketh the slepe.
3 The riche hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.
4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.
5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and he that followeth corruption, shal haue enough thereof.
Chap.8.2.
6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of golde, and haue found their destruction before them.
7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.
Luke 6.24.
8 Blessed is the * riche which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after golde, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]
9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderfull things hath he done among his people.
10 Who hath bene tryed thereby, and found perfit? let him be an example of glory, who might offende, and hath not offended, or do euil, and hath not done it.
11 Therefore shall his goods be stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.
‖Temperancie.
12 If thou sit at a costlie table, ‖ open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Beholde much meat.
13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrewe: & what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.
14 Stretch not thyne hande whereseuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.
15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.
16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, lest thou be hated.
17 Leaue thou off first for nurtours sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offende.
18 When thou sittest among many, reache not thine hand out first of all.
19 * How litle is sufficient for a man well taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any payne.]
Chap.37.29.
20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: he ryseth vp in the morning, and is wel at ease in himselfe: but payne in watching and cholericke diseases, & pangs of the belly are with an insatiable man.
21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, a vomit, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sickнes vnto thy body.]
a. This cōfell only cōcerning the health of the bodie, is here alleaged, rather for a remedie to helpe digestion vnto a weake stomacke, then for an instruction to tolerate intemperācie for surfeting is forbidden vs, Luke 21.
22 My sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes be quicke, so shall there no sickнes come vnto thee.
23 * Who so is ‖ liberall in his meate, men shall bleſſe him: and the testimonie of his honestie shalbe beleeued.
34. Prou.22.9. ‖Liberalitie. Iudith 13.2, 8.
24 But against him that is a nigard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmure: the testimonies of his nigardnes shalbe sure.
25 Shewe not thy valiantnes in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.
26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proude by drunkennes.
27 * Wine soberly dronken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?
Pſal. 104.15. pro.31.4,5,6, 7.
28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennes.] Wine measurably dronken and in time, bringeth gladnes and cherefulnes of the minde.
29 But wine dronken with excesse, maketh bitternes of mind with braulings & scoldings.
30 Drunkennes increaseth the courage of a foole, til he offende: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.
31 * Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despiteful wordes, and presse not vpon him with contrarie wordes.
Chap.20.1.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modeſtie. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thanks after the repaſt. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

‖ Humbleneſſe.
1 IF thou be made the master of the feast, lift not thy selfe vp, but be among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe.
2 And when thou hast done all thy duetie, sit downe, that thou mayest be merye with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.
3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musike.

4 Powre

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is no audience, * and shewe not forth wisdome out of time.
Eccles.3.7. chap.20.7.
5 The consent of musicians at a banket is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.
6 And as þ signet of an emerauld wel trimmed with golde, so is the melody of musike in a pleasant banket.
7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be loued.]
8 Thou that art yong, speake if nede be, and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.
9 Comprehend much in fewe wordes: [in many things be as one þ is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.
Iob.31.6. 10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.
11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.
12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay, 13 And there take thy pastime, and do what thou wilt, so that thou do none euil, for vse proud wordes.
14 But aboue all things, giue thankes vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.
15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall finde fauour.
16 He that seeketh the Law, shalbe filled therwith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.
17 They that feare the Lorde, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kindle iustice as a light.
18 An vngodly man will not bee reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.
19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsel: but a lewde and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.
20 [Vse sonne,] do nothing vnout aduisemẽt: so shalt it not repent thee after the deede.
21 Goe not in the way where thou mayest fall, nor where thou maiest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.
22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them þ be thine owne housholde.]
23 In euery good worke be of a faythfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commaundements.
*Or, the Law. 24 Who so beleeueth in * the Lorde, keepeth the commaundementes: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shal take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

1 THere shal no euil come vnto him that ‖ feareth the Lorde: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.
‖ The feare of God.
2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a storme.
3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faythfully in the Lawe, and the Lawe is faithful vnto him.
4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.
5 The heart of the * fowlishe is like a cartes wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree. Chap.21.18.
6 As a wilde horse nepeth vnder eneric one þ sitteth vpõ him, so is a scornefull friend.
7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the daies of the yere come of the sunne?
8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feastes.
9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.
10 And all men are of the * ground, & Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, & made their wayes diuerse. Gen.1.27. & 2.7.
11 Some of them hath he blessed & exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, & appropriate to him selfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and bronght them lowe, & put them out of their estate.
12 *As þ clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in þ hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best. Isa.45.9. rom.9.20,21.
13 Against euill is good, & against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.
14 So in all the workes of the most High thou maist see that there are euer two, one against another.
15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In þ blessing of the Lord I am increased, & haue filled my winepresse, like a grape gatherer.
16 *Beholde, how I haue not laboured one- ly for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge. Chap.24.39.
17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, ye rulers of the congregation.
18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, & thou intreate for the same againe.
19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, *giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.
20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then þ thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.
21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thine honour be neuer stayned.
22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy daies, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.
23 ¶ The fodder, the whippe & the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.
24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shall seeke libertie.

a That is, let no man vse thee as his seruant, when thou hast committed all thy goods into his hands.

25 The

25 The yoke and the whippe bowe downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whippes and correction.
26 Send him to labour that he goe not idle: for idlenes bringeth much euill.
27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, ‖ put on more heauie fetters.

‖ Howe slaues were ordered in olde time.

28 But be not excessiue toward any, & without discretion do nothing.
29 * If thou haue a faithful seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in bloud hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreate him as thy brother: for thou hast nede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreat him euil, and he runne away, wilt thou seeke him?

Chap.7.20.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The prayse of them that feare God. 18 The offrings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doth not allowe the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

1 The hope of a foolishe man is vayne and falle, ‖ and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

‖ Dreames.

2 Whoso regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a shadowe, and followe after the winde.
3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenes of a face is before another face.
4 Who can be clensed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?
5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, & dreaming is but vanity, & a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauayleth.
6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpō the.
7 For dreames haue deceiued many, & they haue failed that put their trust therein.
8 The Law shalbe fulfilled without lies, and wisdome is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]
9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, & he that hath good experience, can talke of wisdome.
10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is full of craft.
11 When I wandred to and fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.
12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.
13 ¶ The spirite of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.
14 Who so ‖ feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraide: for he is his hope.

‖ The feare of the Lord.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust? who is his strength?
16 * For the eyes of the Lorde haue respect vnto the, that loue him: he is their * mightie protection, & strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadowe for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, & an helpe from falling.

Psal.33.18. Psal.91.1,2.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lightneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.
18 ¶ He that * giueth an offring of vnrighteous goods, offreth a mocking sacrifice, and the giftes of the vnrighteous, please not him.

Pro.21.27.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousnes.]
20 The most High doeth not alow the ‖ offrings of the wicked, * neither is he pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

‖ The offrings of the wicked and their prayer.

21 Who so bringeth an offring of the goodes of the poore, doth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

Prou. 15.8.

22 The bread of the needeful is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.
23 He that taketh away his neighbors liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hyre, is a bloudsheader.

Deut.24. 14,15

24 ¶ When one buyldeth, and an other breaketh downe, what profit haue they the but labour?
25 When one prayeth, and an other curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?
26 * He that washeth him selfe because of a dead bodie, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

Num.19. 11,12.

27 * So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doth his fasting helpe him?

2.Pet.2.20. 21,22.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherles, & of the widow, and him that humbleth him selfe.

1 Whoso keepeth the Lawe, * bringeth offrings inowe: he that holdeth fast the commaundementes, ‖ offreth an offring of saluation.

1.Sam.15.22 Ierem.7.3,5, 6,7.

‖ True sacrifices.

2 He that is thankful to them that haue wel deserued, offreth fine flowre: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise.

Phil.4.18.

3 To depart from euill is a thankfull thing to the Lord, & to forsake vnrighteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.
4 * Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lorde.

Exo.23.15. & 34.20. deut.16.16.

5 For all these things are done because of the commaundement.
6 * The offring of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smel thereof is sweete before the most High.

Gen.4.4,5.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgotten.
8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberal eye, & diminish not the first fruites of thine handes.
9 * In al thy gifts shew a iopfull countenāce, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnes.

2.Cor.9.7.

10 Giue vnto the most High according as he hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheereful eye.

Tob.4.8. Leu.22.21, 22.deut.15.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and wil giue thee seuentimes as much.

21. Deu.10.17.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he wil not receiue it, & abstaine from wrongful sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and regardeth no * mans person.

2.chr.19.7. iob.34.19. wisd.6.7. act.10.34.

13 He accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

rom.2,11. galat.2.6.

15 Doeth not the teares runne down the wi-dowes cheekes: and her cry is against him that caused them: [for from her cheekes do they go vp vnto heauen, & the Lorde which heareth them, doeth accept them.]
16 He that serueth the Lord, shalbe accepted with fauour, and his prayer shal reach vnto the cloudes.
17 The prayer of him that humbleth himself, goeth thorow the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart til the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.
18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Al-mightie will tarie long from them, till he hath smitten in sunder the loines of the vnmerciful, & auenged himself of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruel, and broken the sceptre of the vn-righteous, til he giue euery man after his workes, & reward them after their deuises, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercie.
19 Oh, howe faire a thing is mercie in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloude of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, a- gainst those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

1 HAue mercie vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, and beholde vs, and [shew vs the light of thy mercies,] [Against the wicked.] 2 And send thy feare ‖ among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may knowe þ there is no God but thou, & that they may shewe thy wonderous workes.]
Iere.10.25. 3 Lift vp thine * hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.
4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among the before vs.
5 That they may know thee, as we knowe thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.
6 Renue the signes, and change the wonders: shewe the glorie of thine hande, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous actes.
7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemie.
8 Make þ time short: remember thine othe,
þ thy wonderous workes may be praised.
9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that op-presse the people.
10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.
[A prayer for the godly.] 11 ‖ Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may knowe that there is none other God but onely thou, & that they may shew thy wonderous workes,] and inherit thou them as from the beginning.
12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, Exod.4.22. * whome thou hast likened to a first borne
sonne.
13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuarie, the citie of thy rest.
14 Fil Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glorie.
15 Giue witnesse vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.
16 Reward them that waite for thee, that thy Prophetes may be found faithfull.
17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to the * blessing of Aaron ouer Num.6.23.
thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnes,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may knowe that thou art
the Lord the eternall God.
18 ¶ The belie deuoureth all meates, yet is one meate better then another.
19 As the throte tasteth venison, so doeth a wise minde discerne false wordes.
20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.
21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man:
yet is one daughter better then another.
22 The beautie of a woman cheereth þ face, and a man loueth nothing better.
23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.
[The prayse of a good woman.] 24 He that hath ‖ gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begot to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto him selfe, & a pillar to rest vpon.
25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that hath no wife, wan-dereth to and fro, mourning.
26 Who will trust a thiefe þ is alwap ready and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth where soeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should knowe friendes and counsellers. 12
To keepe his companie that feareth God.

[Of friendship.] 1 EVerie friend saith, ‖ I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friende, which is onely a friend in name.
2 Remaineth there not heauinesse vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?
3 O wicked presumption, frō whence art thou sprong vp to couer the earth with deceite?
Chap.6.10. 4 * There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.
5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.
6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.
[Of whome we should take counsell.] 7 Seeke ‖ no counsel at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.
Chap.8.19. & 9.16. 8 * Euery counseler praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counseleth for him selfe.
9 Beware of the counseler, and be admonished afore * wherto thou wilt vse him: for he will Or, what counsell for him selfe, least he cast the lot needs be hath.
vpon thee,
10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsel for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice, nor of a woman touching her of whome he is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a byer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnes, nor of the vnmerciful touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie,] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, & is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an high towre.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he wil direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason go before euery enterprise, and counsel before euery action.

17 ¶ The [chaunging] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euil, life & death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, & hath instructed many, & yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man wil be wise in wordes, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all [a] foode,

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 An other is wise for himselfe, & the fruites of vnderstanding are faithful in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome fayle not.

23 A wise man shall be plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obteine credite among his people, & his name shalbe perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, & see what is euil for it, & permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

‖ Of temperancie.

28 Be not ‖ gredie in all delites, and be not too hastie vpon all meates.

Chap. 31.19, 20.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknes, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he that [a] dieteth him selfe, prolongeth his life.

[a] or, taketh heede.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physition is commendable. 16 To burie the dead.
24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

‖ Of physitions, & physicke.

1 HOnour the ‖ Physition for that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shal receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physition lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made swete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof?

Exod. 15.25

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that he might be glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the apothecarie make a confection, and yet he can not finish his owne workes: for of the Lorde commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, fayle not in thy sickenesse, but * pray vnto the Lord, and he wil make thee whole.

Isai. 38.2, 5.

10 Leane off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednes.

11 Offer sweete incense, & fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offring fatte, for thou art not the ‖ first giuer.

‖ God beloweth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the Physition: for the Lorde hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou hast needs of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lorde, that he would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 He that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physition.

16 My sonne, * powre forth teares ouer the dead, ‖ & begin to mourne, as if thou hadst suffred great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to [a] his appointment, and neglect not his burriall.

Chap. 22.12. ‖ Of mourning.

[a] Or, the custome.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, & be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation as he is worthie, and that, a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thyne heauines.

18 * For of heauines commeth death, & the heauines of ꝑ heart breaketh the strength.

Pro. 15.13. and 17.22.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the last ende.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning again: thou shalt do him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be likewise, vnto me yesterday, & vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

2. Sam. 12.20

24 ¶ The wisdome of a learned man commeth by ‖ ling well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters

and

and labour, may come by wisdome.
25 Howe can he get wisedome that holdeth the plough, & he that hath pleasure in the goad, and in dryuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullockes?
26 He giueth his minde to make forowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.
27 So is it of euery carpenter, and worke master that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue them selues to counterfaite imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.
28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuil, & doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fyre dryeth his flesh, and he must fight with the heat of the fornace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, & his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: he setteth his minde to make vp his worke: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfitly.
29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feete: he is carefull alwaye at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.
30 He facioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with lead, & his diligence is to clense the ouen.
31 All these hope in their handes, and euery one bestoweth his wisdome in his worke.
32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.
33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they can not declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not mete for hard matters.
34 But they maintaine the state of ỳ world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wiseman. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profit, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

1 HE only that applieth his mind to the Lawe of the most High, & is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisedome of all the ancient, & exercyseth himselfe in the prophecies. ‖ Of true wisdome.
2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.
3 He seeketh out ỳ mysterie of graue sentences, & exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.
4 He shal serue among great men & appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countreys: for hee hath tried the good and the euill among men.
5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.
6 When the great Lord will, hee shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that he may powre out wise sentences, & giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.
7 * He shall direct his counsell, and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secretes. * Or, the Lord
8 He shall shewe forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and couenãt of the Lord.
9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.
10 * The congregation shal declare his wisdome, and shewe it. Chap.44.15.
11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shal get the same.
12 Yet will I speake of moe thinges: for I am full as the mone.
13 Hearken vnto me, ye holy children, and bring forth fruite, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field.
14 And giue ye a swete smell as * incense, & bring forth flowres as the lilie: giue a smell, and sing a song of praise: bleese the Lord in all his workes. * Or, Libanus.
15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe forth his praise with the songes of your lippes, and with harpes, and ye shall say after this maner, 16 * All the works of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commaundementes are done in due season. Gen.1.31. mar.7.37.
17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stoode as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered them selues.
18 His whole fauour appeared by his commaundement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.
19 The workes of all flesh are before him, & nothing can be hid from his eyes.
20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderful vnto him.
21 A man nede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.
22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.
23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnes, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.
24 As his wayes are plaine & right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.
25 ¶ For the good, are good thinges created from the beginning, & euill thinges for the sinners.
26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fyre, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheat and honie, & milke, the blood of the grape, & ople, and clothing. Chap.29.21.
27 All these things are for good to the godlie: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.
28 There bee spirits ỳ are created for vengeance, which in their rigour laye on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplish the wrath wrath of him that made them.

Chap.40.9,10. 29 * Fyre, and haile, and famine, and death:
all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the swoorde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shalbe glad to do his commandements: and when neede is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, & haue put them in writing.

Gen.1.31. 33 * All the workes of the Lord are good, and he giueth euery one in due seasō, and when neede is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and bleſſe the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiues of the feare of God.

‖ The mise-ries of mans life. 1 GReat ‖ trauaile is created for al men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, til the day they returne to the mother of al things,

2 Namely their thoughtes, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquiet-nesse, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, chāge his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch towre in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, & mar-uelleth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto al flesh, both man and beast, but seuen folde to the vngodly:

Chap.39.29,30 9 Moreouer, * death and blood, and strife, & swoorde, oppression, famine, destruction, & punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, & for their sakes came the * flood also.

Gen.7.11. Gen.3.19. Chap.41.10. Eccles.1.7. 11 * All thinges that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shall returne into the sea.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shalbe put away: but ‖ faithfulnesse shall endure
for euer.

‖ Faithful-nes. 13 The substance of the vngodlie shalbe dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sounde like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth:
but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obteine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soe-uer it be or waterbanke, it shalbe pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for euer.

18 * To labour and to be content with that Phil.4.12. 1.Tim.6.6.
a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that fin-deth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, & the building of the citie ma-keth a perpetual name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and muſicke reioyce the heart:
but the loue of wisedome is aboue them
both.

21 The pipe & the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue the both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie:
but a greene seede time, rather then them
both.

23 A friend, and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friendes and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feet: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde:
but the feare of the Lorde is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lorde, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lorde is a pleasant garden of blessing, & there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormenteth him selfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nourtured, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there bur-neth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhorta-tion to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

1 O ‖ Death, howe bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that li-ueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, & that hath prosperitie in all thinges: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meat!

‖ Of death.

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needefull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, & to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou be against þ pleasure of the most High? whether it be tenne or an hundreth, or a thousand yeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodlie are abominable children, and so are they that keepe companie with the vngodlie.

6 The inheritance of vngodlie children shall perish, and their posteritie shall haue a perpetual shame.

7 The children complayne of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O ye vngodlie, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the moste high God: for though you increase, yet shal you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shalbe borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shalbe your portion.

Chap.40.11. 10 * All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodlie go from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shalbe put out.

12 Haue regarde to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but ‖ A good name endureth euer.

‖ A good name.

14 Thy children, keepe wisedome in peace: Chap.20.29. * for wisdome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnes, is better then a man that hideth his wisdome.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to be ‖ ashamed: neither are al things alowed as faithfull in all men.

‖ Of shamefastnes.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: bee ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnes before a companiõ and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, & before the trueth of God and his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the * bread, or to be reproued for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face frõ thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward an other mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans mayde, or to stãd by her bed, or to reproche thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueile secret wordes.

24 Thus maiest thou well be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Lawe of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth al things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

1 OF these thinges be not thou ‖ ashamed, neither haue regarde to offende for any person:

‖ In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

2 Of the Lawe of the moste High and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godlie:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friendes:

4 To bee diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euil seruant to the bloud:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, & the aged, that contende against the young: thus shalt thou be wel instructed, & approued of all men liuing.

9 ¶ The daughter * maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnes that he hath for her, taketh away his sléepe in the youth, least shee should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, least shee should be hated:

Or, is afeered watch to the father.

10 In her virginitie, least shee should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, least she misbehaue her selfe: and when she is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter be vnshamefast, keepe her straightly, least she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and diffame thée among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

Chap.26.10.

12 * Behold not euerie bodies beautie, and companie not among women.

Chap.25.23.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: * so doeth wickednes of þ woman.

Gen.3.6.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the worde of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glorie of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, & knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

Iob.41.4. Eſa.29.15.

20 * No thought may eſcape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

21 Hee hath garniſhed the excellent workes of his wiſdome, & he is from euerlaſting to euerlaſting, & for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be miniſhed: he hath no neede of any counſeler.

22 Oh, howe delectable are all his workes, and to be conſidered euen vnto the ſparkes of fire!

23 They liue al, & endure for euer: & whenſoeuer neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one againſt another: he hath made nothing that hath any faute.

*Or, ſtabliſheth.

25 The one *commendeth the goodnes of the other, and who can be ſatisfied with beholding Gods glorie?

CHAP. XLIII.

The ſumme of the creation of the workes of God.

‖ The wonderfull workes of God.

1 THis high ornament of the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heauen ſo glorious to beholde,

2 The ſunne alſo, a marueilous inſtrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the moſt high.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The ſunne burneth the mountaines thꝛee times more then he that kepeth a fornace with continuall heat: it caſteth out the fiꝛie vapours, & with the ſhining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lorde that made it, and by his commandement he cauſeth it to runne haſtily.

Gen.1.16.

6 * The moone alſo hath hee made to appeare according to her ſeaſon, that it ſhould be a declaration of the time, and a ſigne for the world.

Exo.12.2.

7 * The feaſtes are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminiſheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderouſly in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, ſhining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious ſtarres, and the ornament that ſhineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watche.

Gen.9.13,14.

11 ¶ * Looke vpon the raine bowe, and praiſe him that made it: verie beautifull is it in the brightnes thereof.

Iſa.40.12.

12 * It compaſſeth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the handes of the moſt high haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement he maketh the ſnow to haſte, and ſendeth ſwiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treaſures, and the cloudes flie forth as the fowles.

15 In his power hath hee ſtrengthened the cloudes, and broken the haileſtones.

16 The mountains leape at the ſight of him: the Southwinde bloweth according to his will.

17 The ſound of his thunder beateth the earth: ſo doth the ſtorme of the North: the whirlewinde alſo, as birdes that flie, ſcattereth the ſnowe, and the falling down thereof is as the graſſhoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenes thereof, & the heart is aſtoniſhed at the raine of it.

19 Hee alſo powꝛeth out the froſt vpon the earth like ſalt, and when it is froſen, it ſticketh on the toppes of pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, and yce is froſen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gathermings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a breaſtplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wildernes, and deſtroyeth that that is greene, like fyre.

22 The remedie of all theſe is when a cloud commeth haſtily, and when a dewe commeth vpon the heat, it refreſheth it.

23 [By his worde he ſtilleth the winde:] by his counſell he appeaſeth the deepe, and planteth plandes therein.

24 They that ſaile ouer the ſea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there be ſtrange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beaſtes, and the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all thinges directed to a good ende, and are ſtabliſhed by his worde.

27 And when we haue ſpoken much, we can not attaine vnto the: but this is the ſumme of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praiſe him: for he is aboue all his workes?

29 The Lord is terrible, & verie * great, and marueilous is his power. Pſal.96.4.

30 Praiſe the Lord, & magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre excede: exalt him with all your power, and bee not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 * Who hath ſeene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? Iohn.1.18. Pſal.100.2.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then theſe be, and we haue ſeene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wiſdome to ſuch as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praiſe of certayne holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Iſaac and Iacob.

1 LEt vs nowe commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glorie by the, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowmed for their power, and were wiſe in counſel, and declared prophecies.

4 * They gouerned the people by counſel and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whoſe doctrine were wiſe ſentences. Exo.18.25.

5 They

5 They inuented the melodie of muſike, and expounded the verſes that were written.
6 They were riche and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.
7 All theſe were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.
8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, ſo that their prayſe ſhall be ſpoken of.
9 There are ſome alſo which haue no memoriall, * and are periſhed, as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.
Gen.7.22.
10 But theſe former were merciful men, whoſe righteouſnes hath not bene forgotten.
11 For whoſe poſteritie a good inheritance is reſerued, and their ſeede is contained in the couenant.
12 Their ſtocke is contained in the couenant, and their poſteritie after them.
13 Their ſeede ſhall remaine for euer, & their prayſe ſhal neuer be taken away.
14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.
15 * The people ſpeake of their wiſedome, and the congregation talke of their prayſe.

19 This the Lord sawe, & it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

Num. 17.8. 20 *But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruites of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chiefe of the Sanctuarie and of his people, and that he and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the Priesthode for euer.

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seede. God giue vs wisedome in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glorie may endure for their posteritie.

CHAP. XLVI.

The prayse of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

§ Iosue. Num. 27. 18. deut. 34. 9 ios. 1.2. and 12.7. 1 IEsus ‖ *the sonne of Nave was valiant in the warres, and was the successour of Moyses in prophecies, who according vnto his name, was a great sauiour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

Ios. 8.1,2. 2 *What glorie gate he, when he lift vp his hand, and drew out his sword against the cities?

3 Who was there before him, like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

Ios. 10.12, 13,14. 4 *Stoode not the sunne still by his meanes, and one day was as long as two?

5 He called vnto the most high Gouernour when the enemies pressed vpon him on euery side, and the mightie Lorde heard him with the haile stones, with mightie power.

Ios. 10.11. *Or, that the Lord fauoured his battel. *Or, pursued the mightie men. 6 He rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the *going downe of Bethoron he destroyed the aduersaries, that they might knowe his weapons, and that he fought ‘in the sight of the Lorde: for he ‘followed the Almightie.

7 *In the time of Moyses also he did a good worke: he & ‖ Caleb the sonne of Jephunne stood against the enemie, and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

Num. 14.6. 1. mac. 2.55, 56. ‖ Caleb.

8 *And of sixe hundreth thousand people of foote, they two were preserued to bring them into the heritage, euen into the lande that floweth with milke and honie.

Num. 26.65. deu. 1.35,36.

9 *The Lorde gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that he went vp into the high places of the land and his seede obteined it for an heritage, Ios. 14.11.

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

11 Concerning the ‖ iudges, euery one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lorde, their memorie be blessed.

‖ Iudges.

12 Let *their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them that are most famous of their children.

Chap. 49.16.

13 ¶ ‖ Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloued of his Lord, *ordeined Kings, and anointed the princes ouer his people.

‖ Samuel. 1. Sam. 10.1, & 16.13.

14 By the Lawe of the Lorde he iudged the congregation, and the Lorde had respect vnto Jacob.

15 This Prophet was approoued for his faithfulnes, and he was knowen faythfull in his wordes and visions.

16 *He called vpon the Lorde almightie, when his enemies preassed vpon him on euery side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

1. Sam. 7.9, 10,11.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voyce to be heard with a great noyse.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians, and al the rulers of the Philistims.

19 *And before his long sleepe he made protestation in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, that he tooke no substance of any man, no, not so much as a shoe, and no man could accuse him.

1. Sam. 12.3.

20 *After his sleepe also he told of the kings death, and from the earth lift her vp his voyce, and prophecied that the wickednes of the people should perish.

1. Sam. 28, 18,16.

CHAP. XLVII.

The prayse of Nathan, Dauid and Salomon.

1 AFter him rose vp ‖ *Nathan to prophecie in the time of Dauid.

‖ Nathan. 2. Sam. 12.1.

2 For as the fatte is taken away from the peace offering, so was ‖ Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

‖ Dauid.

3 He played with the lyons, as with kidds, and with beares, as with lambes.

1. Sam. 17.34

4 *Slew he not a giant when he was yet but young, & tooke away the rebuke frō the people, when he lift vp his hand ‘with the stone in the sling, to beat down the pride of Goliah?

1. Sam. 17.49, 50,51.

5 For he called vpon the most High Lorde, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warriour, and that he might set vp þ horne of his people againe.

1. Sam. 18.7. *Or, the people. *Or, with his sling of the Lord.

6 *So ‘he gaue him the praise of ten thousand, & honoured him with *great praises, and and gaue him a crowne of glorie.

2.Sam.5.7. 7 * For he destroyed the enemies on euery side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes he praised the Holie one, and the most High with honourable words, and with his whole heart he sung songs, and loued him that made him.

1.Chro.16.4. 9 * He set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune he made sweete songs, that they might praise God daily with their songs.

10 He ordeined to kéepe þ feast daies comely, and appointed the times perfitly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sounde in the morning.

2.Sam.12.13 11 * The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glorie in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

‖ Salomon. 1.King.4. 21.24. 13 ‖ * Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet rounde about, that hee might builde an house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuarie for euer.

1.King.4.29, 30. 14 * How wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding, as with a flood!

15 Thy minde couered the whole earth, and hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy name went abroade in the yles, & for thy peace thou wast beloued.

1.King.4. 31,32. 17 * The countreis marueiled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lorde God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast * gathered golde as tinne, & hast had as much siluer as lead.

1.King.10.27.

1.King 11.1. 19 * Thou diddest bowe thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy bodie.

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, & hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorowe for thy folie.

1 King.12. 15,16,17. 21 * So the kingdome was deuided, and Ephraim bega to be a rebellious kingdome.

2.Sam.7.15. 22 * Neuertheles the Lorde left not off his mercie, neither was he destroyed for his workes, neither did he abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor take away þ seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnãt vnto Jacob, and a rote of him vnto Dauid.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede he left behinde him ‖ Roboam, euen * the foolishnes of the people, and one that had no vnderstãding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, & Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, * which caused Israel to sinne, & shewed Ephraim the way of sinne.

‖ Roboam. * Or, a most euident folie. 2.King.12. 10,11,13,14. ‖ Jeroboam. 1.King.12. 28,30. 24 So þ their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they sought out al wickednes, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Eliseus, Ezekias and Isaias.

1 Then stood vp ‖ * Elias the Prophet as a fire, & his word burnt like a lampe. ‖ Elias. 1.King.17.1.

2 He brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandements of the Lord.]

3 By the word of the Lord he shut the heauen, * and three times brought he the fire from heauen. 1.King.18.38 and 2.King.1.

4 O Elias, how honorable art thou by thy wonderous deedes! who may make his boast to be like thee! 10,12.

5 * Which hast raised vp the dead from death, and by the worde of the most High out of the graue: 1.King.17. 21,22.

6 Which hast brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honorable from their seate:

7 Which heardest the rebuke of the Lorde in Sina, * and in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance: 1.King.19.15.

8 * Which diddest anoint Kings that they might ‖ recompense, and Prophets to be thy successours: 1.King.19. 16,17. ‖ The wickednes of Achab and Iezabel.

9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirle winde of fire, and in a charet of fire horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reproue in due season, & to pacifie the wrath of the Lordes iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the childre, and to set vp the tribes of Jacob. 2.King.2.12. Mala.4.5.

11 Blessed were they that sawe thee, & slept in loue: for * we shall liue. a That is, they that are such.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, ‖ Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection. 2 King.2. ‖ Eliseus.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his bodie prophecied. 2.King.13.21

14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a verie fewe people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid. 2.King.18. 11,12.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, & some heaped vp sinnes.

17 ‖ * Ezekias made his citie strong, & conueyed water into the middes therof: he digged thorowe the rocke with yron, and made fountaines for waters. ‖ Ezekias. 2.King.18.2.

18 * In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabsaces, and lift vp his hãd against Sion, and boasted proudly. 2.King.18.13.

19 Then trembled their hearts & handes, so that they sorowed like a womã in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their handes vnto him, and immediatly the Holy one heard them out of heauen.

21 [He thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Esai. 2.King.19. 35. Isa.37.36. tob.1.18. 1.mac.7.41. 2.mac.8.19.

22 * He smote the host of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing þ pleaſed the Lorde, and remained ſtedfaſtly in || Iſaias. the waies of Dauid his father, as || Eſai the great Prophet, and faithfull in his viſion had commanded him.
2.King.20.10,11. 24 * In his time the ſunne went backward, and he lengthened the kings life.
Iſai.38.8. 25 He ſaw by an excellẽt Spirit what ſhould come to paſſe at the laſt, and he comforted them that were ſorowful in Sion.
26 He ſhewed what ſhould come to paſſe for euer, and ſecret things, or euer they came to paſſe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hezekiah, Dauid, Ieremie, Ezechiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem and Seth.

|| Ioſias. 1 THe remembrance of || * Ioſias is like
2.King.22.1. and 23.2. 2.chro.34.3. the compoſition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the apothecarie: it is ſwẽte as honie in all mouthes, and as muſicke at a banket of wine.
2 He behaued him ſelfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away al abominations of iniquitie.
2.King.23.4. 3 He * directed his heart vnto the Lorde, and in the time of the vngodly hee eſtabliſhed religion.
4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Ioſias, committed wickednesse: for euen the Kings of Iuda forſooke the Lawe of the moſt High, and failed.
* Or, power. 5 Therefore he gaue their * honne vnto other, and their honour to a ſtrange nation.
6 He burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuarie, * and deſtroyed the ſtrẽtes thereof according to the * prophecie of || Ieremias.
2.King.25.9. * Or, hand.
|| Ieremias. Iere.38.6. Ierem.1.5. 7 For they * intreated him euil, which neuertheles was a Prophet, * ſanctified from his mothers woombe, that he might roote out, and afflict, and deſtroy, and that hee might alſo builde vp, and plant.
|| Ezechiel. Eze.1.3,15. 8 || * Ezechiel ſaw the glorious viſion, which was ſhewed him vpon the charet of the Cherubims.
Ezek.13.9. & 38.11, 16. 9 * For he made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.
Chap.46.12. 10 ¶ * And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flouriſh out of their place, and let their memorie be bleſſed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by aſſured hope.
Hag.2.24. ezra.3.2. 11 ¶ * Howe ſhall we praiſe || Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!
||Zorobabel. ||Ieſus. 12 So was || * Ieſus alſo the ſonne of Joſedec: theſe men in their time builded the || Ioſeph. Gen.41.44.& 42.6.& 45.8. 15 Neither was there a like man vnto || * Ioſeph the gouernour of his brethren, and the vpholder of his people, whoſe bones were kept.

|| Sem. Gen.5.3. and 11.10. || Seth. || Adam. 16 || * Sem and || Seth were in great honour amõg men: and ſo was || Adam aboue euery liuing thing in the creation.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the ſonne of Onias. 22 An exhortation to praiſe the Lord. 27 The authour of this booke.

|| Simon. 2.Mac.3.4. * Or, people. 1 || SImon * ſonne of Onias the hie Prieſt, which in his life ſet vp the houſe again, & in his daies eſtabliſhed the * Temple,
2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height laied, & the hie walles that compaſſeth the Temple.
3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decaped, were reſtored, & the baſſe was about in meaſure as the * ſea.
2 Which Salomõ made, 1.King.7.23.
4 He tooke care for his people, þ they ſhould not fall, & fortified the citie againſt ſiege.
5 Howe honourable was his conuerſation among the people, and when he came out of the houſe couered with the vaile!
6 He was as the morning ſtarre in the middes of a cloude, & as the meone when it is full,
7 And as the ſunne ſhining vpon the Temple of the moſt High, and as the rainebowe that is bright in the faire cloudes,
8 And as the flowre of the roſes in þ ſpring of the yeere, and as lilies by the ſprings of waters, and as the branches of the ſranks incenſe tree in the time of ſommer,
9 As a fire and incenſe in the cenſer, and as a veſſel of maſſye golde, ſet with al maner of precious ſtones,
10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypreſſe tree, which groweth vp to the cloudes.
11 When he put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holie altar, & made the garment of holines honourable.
12 When he toke the portions out of the Prieſts hãds, he him ſelf ſtoode by þ herth of the altar, compaſſed with his brethren round about, as the branches do the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compaſſed him as the branches of the palme trees.
13 So were all the ſonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lorde in their hands before all the congregation of Iſrael.
14 And that he might accompliſhe his miniſterie vpon the altar, and garniſhe the offring of the moſt High, and almightie, 15 He ſtretched out his hande to the drinke offring, and powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good ſauour vnto þ moſt high King of all.
16 Then ſhouted the ſonnes of Aaron, and blowed with hafen trumpets, and made a great noiſe to be heard, for a remẽbrance before the moſt High.
17 Then all the people together haſted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worſhip their Lord God almightie, and moſt high.
18 The ſingers alſo ſang with their voices, ſo that the ſounde was great, and the melodie ſweete.

19 And

19 And ꝑ people prayed vnto the Lord most high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were per-fourmed, and they had accomplished his ſeruice.
20 Then went he downe, and ſtretched out his hands ouer the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould giue prayſe with their lippes vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.
21 He beganne againe to worſhip, that hee might receiue the bleſſing of the moſt High.
22 Nowe therefore giue prayſe all ye vnto
God, that worketh great thinges euery where, which hath increaſed our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie, 23 That hee would giue vs ioyfulneſſe of heart, and peace in our dayes in Iſrael, as in olde time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.
25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that mine heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:
26 They that ſit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philiſtims, and the fooliſh people that dwell in *Sicimus.
27 ¶ Jeſus the ſonne of Sirach, the ſonne of Eleazarus, of Jeruſalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderſtanding and knowledge in this booke, & hath powred out the wiſe-dome of his heart.
28 Bleſſed is hee that exerciſeth him ſelfe therein: and he that layeth vp theſe in his heart, ſhalbe wiſe.
29 For if he do theſe things, he ſhalbe ſtrong in all things: for he ſetteth his ſteppes in the light of the Lorde, which giueth wiſe-dome to the godly. The Lord be prayſed for euermore: So be it, ſo be it.

*Or, Sitchem.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach.

1 I Will confeſſe thee, O Lord and King, and prayſe thee, O God my Sauiour: I giue thankes vnto thy Name.
2 For thou art my defender and helper, and haſt preſerued my body from deſtruction, & from the ſnare of the ſlanderous tongue, and from ꝑ lippes that are occupied with lyes: thou haſt holpen me againſt mine aduerſaries,
3 And haſt deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, & for thy Names ſake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of ſuch as ſought after my life, & from the manifolde afflictions, which I had,
4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire that I burned not,
5 And from the bottome of the bellie of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from falſe accuſation to the King, and from the ſlaunder of an vnrighteous tongue.
6 [My ſoule ſhal prayſe ꝑ Lord vnto death:]
for my ſoule drewe neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.
7 They compaſſed me on euery ſide, & there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the ſuccour of men, but there was none.
8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine actes of olde, how thou deliuereſt ſuch as waite for thee, and ſaueſt them out of the hands of the *enemies. *Or, nations.
9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from ꝑ earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.
10 I called vpon the Lorde the father of my Lorde, that ye would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proude without helpe.
11 I wil prayſe thy Name continually, and wil ſing prayſe with thankeſgiuing: and my prayer was heard.
12 Thou ſaueſt me from deſtruction, and deliuereſt me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thankes, and prayſe thee, and bleſſe the Name of the Lord.
13 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroade, I deſired wiſedome openly in my prayer.
14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and ſought after her vnto farre countreys, and ſhe was as a grape that warely ripe out of the flower.
15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, and from my youth vp ſought I after her.
16 I bowed ſomewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wiſe-
dome:
17 And I profited by her: therefore will I aſcribe the glorie vnto him, that giueth me wiſedome.
18 For I am aduiſed to doe thereafter: I will be zelous of that that is good: ſo ſhall
I not be confounded.
19 My ſoule hath wreſtled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and conſidered the ignorances therof.
20 I directed my ſoule vnto her, & I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore ſhall I not be forſaken.
21 My bowels are troubled in ſeeking her:
therefore haue I gotten a good poſſeſſion.
22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I wil prayſe him.
23 Drawe neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the houſe of learning.
24 Wherefore are ye ſlowe? and what ſay you of theſe things, ſeeing your ſoules are verie thirſtie?
25 I opened my mouth, and ſayd,* Buye her *Iſa. 55. 1.
for you without money.
26 Bow downe your necke vnder the poke, and your ſoule ſhall receiue inſtruction: ſhe is ready that ye may finde her.
27 Beholde with your eyes, *howe that I *Chap. 6. 28.
haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much reſt.
28 Get learning with a great ſumme of money: for by her yee ſhall poſſeſſe much golde.
29 Let your ſoule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not aſhamed of his prayſe.
30 Doe your diuties betimes, and he wil giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

1 AND these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of Asadias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon,

[1] Or, Sedeias.

2 In the fift perre, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim King of Iuda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the Kings sonnes, & before the Elders, & before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer [2] Sud.

[2] Or, Sodi.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth [3] Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias King of Iuda had made,

[3] Or, Siban.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and carried them to Babylon.

10 And they said, Behold, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall bye burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a [4] meate offring, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God, [4] Or, Manna for Minhah, which was the euening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen,

12 And that God would giue vs strength & lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadowe of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadowe of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long do them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for wee haue sinned against the Lorde our God, & vnto this day the furie of the Lorde and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lorde) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnesse, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Chap.2.6.

16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, 17 Because we haue * sinned before the Lord our God, Dan.9.5.

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lorde our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lorde appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke & hony, as appeareth this day. Deut.28.15.

21 Neuertheless, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the wordes of the Prophets, whome he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 He promiseth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a newe and euerlasting Testament.

1 THerefore the Lord our God hath performed his worde, which he pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, & against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things, that were written in the Lawe of Moyses,

3 That some among vs shoulde * eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter. Deut.28.53

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lorde our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

Chap.1.15. 6 *To the Lord our God appertaineth righteousnesse, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.
7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lorde hath pronounced against vs.
8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lorde, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.
9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lorde is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commaunded vs.
10 Yet wee haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commaundements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.
Dan.9.15. 11 *And nowe, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mightie hande, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lorde our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.
13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.
14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may knowe that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.
16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.
Deut.28.15. ysa.65.15. Psal.6.5,6. & 115.17.18. Isa.38.18,19. 17 *Open thine eyes, and beholde: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, *giue vnto the Lorde neither *prayse, nor righteousnesse.
*or, glorie, nor prayse of righteousnesse. 18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnesse of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faple, and the hungrie soule will giue thee prayse & righteousnes, O Lord.
19 For we do not require mercy in thy sight, O Lorde our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our kings, 20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by *thy seruants the Prophets, saying, *or, by the hand of thy seruants. Leu.27.7. 21 *Thus saith the Lord, Bowe downe your shoulders, and serue the king of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.
22 But if ye wil not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the king of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Jerusalem, I wil cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegroome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.
24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the king of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the woordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caried out of their places.
25 And loe, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great misserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.
26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.
27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie, 28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest commaunde him to write thy Lawe before the children of Israel, saying,
Leuit.26.14. deut.28.15. 29 *If ye wil not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very fewe among the nations where I wil scatter them.
30 For I knowe that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffenecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues, 31 And knowe that I am the Lorde their God: then wil I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.
32 And they shal heare, and prayse me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.
33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill woorkes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.
34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an oth vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and they shall be lordes of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.
35 And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil be their God, and they shalbe my people: and I wil no more driue my people of Israel out of the lande that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 He praiseth wisedome vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 35 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord almightie, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirite that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.
2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.
3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vtterly perish.
4 O Lorde almightie, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, & not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we prayse.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and prayse thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproche and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commaundements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisedome.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence commeth long continuance, & life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the fowles of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer and golde, wherein men trust, & made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned siluer, and were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none ende, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steades.

20 When they were yong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstoode not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the paths thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdome vpon the earth, nor the marchants of Merran, & of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisedome haue knowen the way of wisedom, neither do they thinke vpon þ paths thereof.

24 O Israel, howe great is the house of God! and howe large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none ende: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lorde chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea, to finde her, & hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth al things, knoweth her, & he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here wee be: and so with chearefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, & there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The rewarde of them that keepe the Lawe, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

1 This is the booke of the commaundements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall dye.

2 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memorial of Israel.

6 Ye are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offring vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, & ye haue grieued Ierusalem, that nourished you.
9 When the sawe the wrath comming vpon you from God, she said, Hearken, yee that dwel about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.
10 I see the captiuitie of my sõnes & daughters, which the Euerlasting will bring vpon them.
11 With ioye did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.
12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widowe, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Lawe of God.
13 They would not knowe his righteousnes, nor walke in the wayes of his commaundements: neyther did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousnes.
14 Come, ye that dwel about Sion, and call to remẽbrance the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the Euerlasting hath brought vpon them.
15 For he hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue carped away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.
17 But what can I helpe you?
18 Surely he þ hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.
19 Go your way, O children, go your way: for I am left desolate.
20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.
21 Be of good comfort, O children: crye vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.
22 For I haue hope of your saluation thorough the Euerlasting, & ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shal quickly come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.
23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.
24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glorie, & brightnesse from the Euerlasting.
25 My children, suffer pacientlye the wrath that is come vpon you from GOD: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.
26 My darlings haue gone by rough waies, and were led away as a flock that is scattered by the enemies.
27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crye vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.
28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God, so endeuour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.
29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy again, with your saluation.
30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.
31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.
32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is thee that hath taken thy sonnes.
33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, & was glad of thy fall, so shall thee be sory for her owne desolation.
34 For I wil take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shalbe turned into mourning.
35 For a fire shall come vpon her frõ the Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shal be inhabited of deuils for a great season.
36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and beholde the ioye that commeth vnto thee from thy God.
37 Lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the worde of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnes for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

1 PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worthyppe and honour, that cõmeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.
2 Put on the garment of righteousnes, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glorie of the Euerlasting.
3 For God wil declare thy brightnes to euery countrey vnder the heauen.
4 And God wil name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousnes, and the glorie of the worship of God.
5 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, & looke about thee toward the East, & behold thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the Holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.
6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God wil bring thẽ againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.
7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, & the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.
8 The woodes and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadowe Israel at the commaũdement of God.
9 For God shal bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousnes that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

In this chapter are the makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent vnto them þ were led awap captiues into Babylon bp the king of the Babylonians, to certifp them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

1 BEcause of the sinnes, that pe haue committed against GOD, pe shalbe led awap captiues vnto Babylon, bp Nabuchodonosor, king of the Babylonians.

2 So when pe be come into Babylon, pe shall remaine there manp peres, & a long season, euen [a] seuen generations, and after that will I bring pou awap peaceablp from thence.

a That is, seuentie yeeres. Isa.44.8,9, 10.and 46. 5, 7.psal.115. 4.wis.13.10.

3 * Now shall pe see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that pe in no wise be like the strangers, neither be pe afrapde of them, when pe see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say pe in pour heartes, O Lorde, we must worshiþ thee.

6 For mine Angel shalbe with pou, & shall care for pour soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished bp the carpenter, and they them selues are gilted, and lapd ouer with siluer: pet are they but lyes, and can not speake.

8 And as they take gold for a maide that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heades of their gods: sometimes also the priestes them selues conuey awap the gold, and siluer from their gods, and bestowe it vpon them selues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet can not they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slap such as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defende him selfe from battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust bp reason of the feete of those that come in:

17 And as the [b] gates are shut in rounde about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that should be ledde to be put to death, so the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, & with barres, least their gods should be spoiled bp robbers.

b Or, couerth.

18 They light vp candles before them: yea, moze then for them selues, whereof they can not see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the house.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth, eat them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through þ smoke that is in the Temple.

21 The owles, swalowes and birds flie vpon them bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cattes also.

22 Bp this pe may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the gold, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they can not shine: neyther when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The thinges wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 * They are borne vpon mens shoulders, Isa.46.7. because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worshippe them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they can not rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vp right, can they moue of theselues, neither if they be bowed down, can they make theselues streight: but they set giftes before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the thinges that are offered vnto them, their priestes sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childebed, touche their sacrifices: bp these thinges pe may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 Frome whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring giftes to the gods of siluer, and golde, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heades and beards are shauen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare, and crye before their gods, as men do at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priestes also take awap of their garments, and clothe their wiues & children.

33 Whether it be euill that one doeth vnto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a king nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They can not restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They

37 They can shew no mercie to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.
38 Their gods of wood, golde and siluer, are as stones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shalbe confounded.
39 Howe should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?
40 Moreouer the Chaldeans them selues dishonour them: for when thy see a dombe man, that can not speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that he would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these thinges, can not leaue them: for they also haue no sense.
42 Furthermore the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne *strawe.
43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lye with any such as come by, she casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because she was not so worthily reputed, nor her coarde broken.
44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lyes: how may it then be thought or sayde, that they are gods?
45 Carpenters and goldesmithes make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.
46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?
47 Therefore they leaue lyes, and shame for their posteritie.
48 For when there commeth any warre or plague vpon them, the Priests imagine with them selues, where they may hide them selues with them.
49 Howe then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defende them selues from warre, nor from plagues?
Psal. 115. 4. & 135. 13. 50 For *seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, men shall knowe hereafter that they are but lyes, and it shall be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they be no gods, but the workes of mens handes, and that there is no worke of God in them.
51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.
52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue rayne vnto men.
53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.
54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, the Priestes will escape and saue them selues, but they burne as the balkes therein.
55 They can not withstand any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or sayde that they be gods?
56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend them selues from theeues nor robbers.
57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and apparel, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe them selues.
58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shewe his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby he that ouerth it, might haue profite, then such falle gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such thinges safe as be therein, then such falle gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such falle gods.
59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent down for necessarie vses, obey.
60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery countrey.
61 And when God commandeth the clouds to goe about the whole worlde, they doe as they are bidden.
62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doeth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these thinges, neither in fayre, nor power.
63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.
64 For so much now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.
65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse kings:
66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.
67 The beastes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe them selues good.
68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.
69 For as a skarcrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:
70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery birde sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is cast in the darke.
71 Ye by the purple also and brightnes, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they them selues shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the countrey.
72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

The

THE SONG OF THE three holy children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bounde into the middes of the hote firie fornace.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The crueltie of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lorde was in the fornace. 51 The three children prayse the Lorde and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, prayſing God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias ſtood vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, ſayd, 26 Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthie to be prayſed and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou haſt done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and vpon Jeruſalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou haſt executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie haſt thou brought all theſe things vpon vs, because of our ſinnes.

29 For we haue ſinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we treſpaſſed,

30 And not obeyed thy commaundements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddeſt commaunded vs, that we might proſper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou haſt done to vs, thou haſt done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and moſt hatefull traytours, and to an vnrighteous king, and the moſt wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a ſhame and reproofe vnto thy ſeruants, and to them that worſhip thee.

34 Yet for thy Names ſake, we beſeech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams ſake, and for thy ſeruant Iſaacs ſake, and for thine holy Iſraels ſake, 36 To whome thou haſt ſpoken and promiſed, that thou wouldeſt multiplie their ſeed as the ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſande, that is vpon the ſea ſhore.

37 For we, O Lorde, are become leſſe then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, becauſe of our ſinnes:

38 So that nowe we haue neither prince, nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offring, nor ſacrifice, nor oblation, nor incenſe, nor place to offer the firſt fruites before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuertheleſſe in a contrite heart, and an humble ſpirite, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullocks, and as in tenne thouſand of fatte lambes, ſo let our offering be in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion vnto them that put their truſt in thee.

41 And nowe we followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and ſeeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to ſhame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnes, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs alſo by thy mpracles, & giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they which doe thy ſeruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their ſtrength be broken,

45 That they may knowe, that thou onely art the Lorde God, and glorious ouer the whole worlde.

46 ¶ Nowe the kings ſeruants that had caſt them in, ceaſed not to make the ouen hote with * naphtha, and with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt thoſe Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and ſmote the flame of the fire out of the fornace,

50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moyſt ſpylling winde, ſo that the fire touched them not at all, neyther grieued,

[1] Or, Susanna.

THE HISTORIE OF [1]SVSANNA, which some ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth chapter.

The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednes. 23 She chooseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel letteth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

1 There dwelt a man in Babylon called Joacim,

2 And he tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Lawe of Moyses.

4 Now Joacim was a great riche man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yere were appointed two of the ancients of þ people to be iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that þ iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These haunted Joacims house, and all such as had any thing to do in the Lawe, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbandes garden to walke.

8 And the two elders saw her that she went in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therfore they turned away their [a] minde, & cast downe their eyes, that they shoulde not see heauē, nor remēber iust iudgemēts.

[a] To wit, from God.

10 And albeit they both were wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shewe another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, þ they desired to haue to do with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs goe nowe home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, & departed one from another: yet they returned againe, & came into the same place, & after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: the appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a conuenient time, that she went in, as her maner was, with two maydes onely, & thought to wash her selfe in the garden (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid them selues, and watched for her:

17 She said to her maydes, Bring me oyle and soye, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash mee.

18 And they did as she bade them, & shut the garden doores, & went out them selues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that she had commanded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp & ranne vnto her, saying,

20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, þ no man can see vs, & we burne in loue wt thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lye with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we wil beare witnesse against thee, that a yong mā was with thee, and therefore thou diddest send away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, and said, I am in trouble on euerie side: for if I do this thing it is death vnto me: & if I do it not, I can not escape your handes.

23 It is better for me to fal into your hāds, & not do it, thē to sinne in the sight of þ Lord.

24 With that Susanna cryed with a loude voice, & þ two Elders cried out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of þ house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at the back doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a reporte made of Susanna.

28 On the morowe after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischeuous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediately they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, & faire of face,

32 And these wicked men cōmanded to vncouer her face (for she was couered) þ they might so be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knewe her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stoode vp in the middes of the people, & laide their handes vpon her head, 35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders said, As we walked in þ garden alone, she came in wt two maides, whom she sent away from her, & shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then we which stoode in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednes, ranne vnto them, and we sawe them as they were together, 39 But we could not holde him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now

40 Now when we had taken this woman, we asked her what yoūg man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.
41 Then the assembly beleeued them, as those that were the Elders and iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.
42 Then Sulanna cried out with a lowde voyce, and saide, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secretes, & knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnes against me, & beholde, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.
44 And the Lord heard her voice.
45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.
46 Who cried vp a loud voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.
47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?
48 Then Daniel stoode in the middes of thē, and saide, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, ye haue cōdemned a daughter of Israel?
49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnes against her.
50 Wherefore the people turned againe in al haste, & the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shewe it vs, seeing God hath giuē thee the office of an Elder.
51 Then saide Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.
52 So when they were put a sunder, one frō another, he called one of them & said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time, are come to light.
53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. Exod.23.7.
54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, Vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentisk tree.
55 Then saide Daniel, Verely thou hast lied against thine owne ᵃ head: for lo, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ᵃ or, life.
56 So put he him aside, and commaunded to bring the other, and saide vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.
57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, & they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednes.
58 Now therefore tell me, Vnder what tree biddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a ᵃ pinne tree. ᵃ or, mirtle tree.
59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head: for ꝑ Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.
60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a loud voyce, & praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.
61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth)
62 * And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, & put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. Deut.19.19. prou.19.5.
63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praised God for their daughter Sulanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.
64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of ꝑ people.
65 And King Astyages was laide with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.

The historie of Bel and of the dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Latin.

1 NOw whē King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.
2 And Daniel did eate at the kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friendes.
3 Nowe the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day, twelue * great measures of fine flowre, and fourtie sheepe, and fiue great ᵇ pots of wine.
4 And the king worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the king saide vnto him, Why dost not thou worship Bel?
5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauē and the earth, & hath power vpon all flesh.
6 Then saide the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not howe much he eateth and drinketh euery day?
7 Then Daniel smiled and saide, O King, be not deceiued: for this is but claie within, and brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.
8 So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and saide vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expences, ye shall die:

a Called Artaba, wherof euery one conteined somewhat more then nine galons, which make in al an hundreth and eight gallōs at the least.
b Called Metreta, and euery one of these measures conteined about ten gallons, which in all make three score.

9 But if ye can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel ſhal die: for he hath ſpoken blaſphemie againſt Bel. And Daniel ſaide vnto the King, Let it be accoꝛding to thy woꝛde.

10 (Nowe the Prieſtes of Bel were three ſcoꝛe and ten, beſide their wiues and chyldꝛē:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels prieſtes ſaid, Beholde, we will goe out, and ſet thou the meat there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then ſhut the doꝛe faſt, and ſeale it with thine owne ſignet:

12 And to moꝛowe when thou commeſt in, if thou findeſt not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we wil ſuffer death, oꝛ els Daniel that hath lied vpon vs.

13 Nowe they thought them ſelues ſure ynough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke awap the things.

14 So when they were gone foꝛth, the King ſet meates befoꝛe Bel. Nowe Daniel had commanded his ſeruants to bring aſhes, and theſe they ſtrowed throughout all the temple, in the preſence of the King alone: then went they out, and ſhutte the doꝛe, and ſealed it with the Kings ſignet, and ſo departed.

15 Now in the night came the prieſts, with their wiues and chyldꝛen, (as they were woꝛt to do) and did eate and dꝛinke vp all.

16 In the moꝛning betimes, the King aroſe and Daniel with him.

17 And the King ſaid, Daniel, are the ſeales whole? Who anſwered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And aſſoone as he had opened the doꝛe, the King looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the King that he ſhould not go in, and ſaid, Behold now the pauement, and marke wel whoſe foꝛteſteppes are theſe.

20 And the King ſaid, I ſee the foꝛteſteppes of men, women, and chyldꝛen: therefoꝛe the King was angrie, 21 And tooke the prieſtes, with their wiues, and chyldꝛē, and they ſhewed him the priue doꝛes, where they came in, and conſumed ſuch things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefoꝛe the King ſlewe them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who deſtroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moꝛeouer in that ſame place there was a great dꝛagon, which the Babylonians woꝛſhipped.

24 And the King ſaide vnto Daniel, Sayeſt thou, that this is of braſſe alſoꝛ loe, he liueth and eateth and dꝛinketh, ſo that thou canſt not ſay that he is no liuing god: therefoꝛe woꝛſhippe him.

25 Then ſaide Daniel vnto the King, I wil woꝛſhip the Loꝛde my God: foꝛ he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O King, and I will ſlay this dꝛagon without ſwoꝛde oꝛ ſtaffe. And the King ſaide, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitche, and fatte, and heare, and did ſeethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this he put in the dꝛagons mouth, and ſo the dꝛagon burſt in ſunder. And Daniel ſaid, Behold whom ye woꝛſhippe.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wꝛoth, & gathered them together againſt the King, ſaying, The King is become a Iewe: foꝛ he hath deſtroyed Bel, and hath ſlaine the dꝛagon, and put the prieſtes to death.

29 So they came to the King, and ſaid, Deliuer vs Daniel, oꝛ els we will deſtroy thee and thine houſe.

30 Nowe when the King ſawe, that they preaſſed ſoꝛe vpon him, and that neceſſitie conſtrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who caſt him into the lyons den, where he was ſixe daies.

32 In the denne there were ſeuen lions, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two ſheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Pꝛophet called Abbacuc, which had made poꝛtage, and broken bꝛead into a bowle, and was going into the fielde foꝛ to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Loꝛde ſaide vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carie the meate that thou haſt, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc ſaid, Loꝛde, I neuer ſawe Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the heare of the head, and through a mightie winde ſet him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cried, ſaying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath ſent thee.

38 Then ſaide Daniel, O God, thou haſt thought vpon me, and thou neuer faileſt them that ſeeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel aroſe, and did eate, & the Angel of the Loꝛd ſet Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the ſeuenth day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and beholde, Daniel ſate in the middes of the Lyons.

41 Then cried the King with a lounde voice, ſaying, Great art thou, O Loꝛd God of Daniel, and there is none other beſides thee.

42 And he dꝛewe him out of the denne, and caſt them that were the cauſe of his deſtruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment befoꝛe his face.
